- (f) That the provisional apportionment is incorrect in respect of some matter of fact to be specified in the objection or (where the provisional apportionment is made with regard to other considerations than frontage as hereinafter provided) in respect of the degree of benefit to be derived by any persons, or the amount or value of any work already done by the owner or occupier of any premises (g).

For the purposes of this Act joint tenants or tenants in common may object through one of their number authorised in writing under the hands of the majority of such joint tenants or tenants in common.

(a) The expressions "owner" and "premises" are defined, ante, p. 4335. If a mistake has been made as to who is the owner, the real owner can object under this section, although his name is not shown in the provisional apportionment.

(b) There is no duty on the part of a frontager to inspect the plans, so as to cast on him any liability for the leaving of a dangerous hole in the street consequent on the raising of the level of the street as shown in the plans (Horridge v. Makinson (1915), 79 J. P. 484; 84 L. J. K. B. 1294; 26 Digest 542, 2407). No mode of service is prescribed. Presumably a notice addressed to the authority, and left at their office during business hours, will be sufficient. See form of notice of objection in the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. XII., p. 570.

Certain frontagers addressed a memorial to a corporation stating that they had no desire to have the road taken over by the authority and that the proposed works were unreasonable and unnecessary, and asking that before any further steps were taken to carry out the works, an inquiry should be held upon the point. It was held that such a memorial was not an "objection" within the meaning of this section (Southampton Corporation v. Lord (1903), 67 J. P. 189; 26 Digest 543, 2414).

No objection which might be raised under the Act can be subsequently taken in any court, proceeding, or manner whatsoever (s. 8 (2), post, p. 4858). See as to this, Wallasey U. D. C. v. Walker, and Porthcawl U. D. C. v. Brogden, post, pp. 4856, 4857; Hayles v. Sandown U. D. C., [1903] 1 K. B. 169; 67 J. P. 177; 26 Digest 547, 2443, where it was alleged that there had been a departure from the specifications; and Teddington U. D. C. v. Vile (1906), 70 J. P. 381; 4 L. G. R. 782; 26 Digest 547, 2444, where a frontager failed to object at the proper time that a sewer had already been laid in front of her house by the former owner under an agreement with the authority.

(c) In consequence of the very wide definition of "street" in the P. H. A., 1875, s. 4, p. 4336, ante, objection is seldom taken that the place in question is not a "street" as therein defined. See, however, Bell & Sons v. Great Crosby U. D. C. (1912), 77 J. P. 37; 26 Digest 540, 2386, for a dispute as to whether a strip of ground in front of a house formed part of an admitted "street" or was purely private property. But the definition of a street in this Act (s. 5, ante, p. 4851) adds the words "not being a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large," and these words, as used either here or in the corresponding s. 150 of the P. H. A., 1875, have been the subject of much litigation. The decisions will be found in the notes to ss. 149, 150, ante, pp. 1947, 4393. Under the Act of 1875, ante, p. 4388, the objection that the street is a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large has always been within the cognisance of a court of summary jurisdiction on proceedings taken to enforce payment of the sum apportioned: see the cases cited, ante, p. 4408. Cases in which the objection has been taken under this Act are referred to in note (h) under s. 5, ante, p. 4851.

The objection "that a street or part of a street is (in whole or in part) a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large" is open under the objection that it is not a "street" (Carey v. Bexhill Corporation, [1904] 1 K. B. 142; 68 J. P. 78; 26 Digest 543, 2417).

(d) This ground of objection is, as pointed out in the last note, open under an "Highway objection under (a). It is to be observed that an owner may object that part of the repairable," width of the street is a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large, and the Act etc. is silent as to what is to be done if the objection is made out. Under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 150, the owner would have been liable to pay in respect of the entire street, including the old highway (Evans v. Newport Sanitary Authority, ante, p. 4418). In this Act there is no provision to that effect, and it is generally assumed that in such case the court of summary jurisdiction may, under s. 8 (1), post, p. 4857, amend the resolution, plans, etc. by limiting the scheme to the remaining portion of the street. See on this point R. v. Cheshire J.J., Ex parte Vyner (1909), 73 J. P. 499; 101 L. T. 683; 26 Digest 542, 2403, but note that Twickenham U. D. C. v. Muntion, [1899] 1 Ch. 168; 63 J. P. 23; [1899] 2 Ch. 603; 26 Digest 544, 2426, is not (as might appear from the report) really an authority upon the point; for there the justices excluded not one strip of a street but one length of it. Where on the evidence a road appeared to be a highway repairable by the local authority as to the carriageway but not as to the footway, it was held that the authority could not in any event recover more than half the cost of making up the whole (Finney v. Birkenhead Corporation, [1936] 2 All E. R. 590; Digest Supp.).

Where a court of summary jurisdiction have decided upon an objection under this Act that a street is a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large, the matter is res judicata, and the authority cannot again raise the point, even on fresh evidence, in other proceedings under the Act in respect of the same length of street (Wakefield Corporation v. Cooke, [1904] A. C. 31; 68 J. P. 225; 26 Digest 543, 2419).

Justices cannot, even by agreement, enforce an apportionment, if the street is a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large. Therefore, an agreement by which an authority "take over" a street, but purport to reserve their rights to do paving work, etc. under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 150, or under this Act, will not enable them to enforce payment under those statutes by summary proceedings (Folkestone Corporation v. Marsh (1905), 70 J. P. 113; 94 L. T. 511; 26 Digest 544, 2420), unless, indeed, a frontager has failed to give notice of objection (see Folkestone (Mayor of) v. Rook, ante, p. 4368).

(e) Under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 150, justices have no jurisdiction to entertain objections of this kind, it being for the authority to determine whether the proposed works are or are not insufficient or unreasonable, subject only to an appeal to the Minister of Health under s. 268, ante, p. 4495. The provision in the text virtually makes the justices a court of review in respect of matters which are peculiarly within the cognisance of the authority, and this has been strongly urged as a reason for not adopting the Act.

Under this head the objection cannot be taken that the street at one point is too narrow and that nevertheless the authority do not propose to widen it (Mansfield Corporation v. Butterworth, [1898] 2 Q. B. 274; 62 J. P. 500; 26 Digest 544, 2424). The ground of this decision was that the expression "insufficient" means insufficient to effect the objects proposed to be effected by the works; and "unreasonable" means unreasonable with reference to the scheme itself. The court can take into consideration the existing state of the drainage in a street proposed to be sewered. Therefore, where houses were drained from the back into a sewer, a magistrate was held justified in finding it unreasonable to provide a sewer in the street in front, except for surface and sink water (Sheffield Corporation v. Anderson (1894), 64 L. J. M. C. 44; 72 L. T. 242; 26 Digest 544, 2422).

An authority would not under the present Act alone be entitled to provide at the expense of the frontagers a larger sewer than the street requires in order to facilitate the drainage of other parts of the town, but they might construct an unnecessarily large sewer provided they themselves bear the extra cost (Acton U. D. C. v. Watts

"Insufficient, unreasonable," etc.

Note to
Section 7.

(1903), 67 J. P. 400; 26 Digest 529, 2279). See, however, s. 19 of the P. H. A., 1936, and note (a) thereon, ante, p. 45.

The dictum of Salter, J., in Chester Corporation v. Briggs, [1924] 1 K. B. 239, at p. 247; 88 J. P. 1, at p. 3; 26 Digest 547, 2447, that "in considering an objection under s. 7 (d) that the proposed works are unreasonable, the justices are entitled to consider among other things, whether the proposed works are reasonable in the sense that it is reasonable that such work shall be done at the frontager's expense" was expressly disapproved of by the Divisional Court in Allen v. Hornchurch U. D. C., [1938] 2 K. B. 654; [1938] 2 All E. R. 431; 102 J. P. 393; Digest Supp. In the first mentioned case it was held that whatever conclusion the justices came to on this question they could not amend the apportionment by attributing part of the cost to the local authority under s. 15, post, p. 4865. It was further held in Chatham Corporation v. Wright (1929), 94 J. P. 43; Digest Supp., that it is not within the province of the justices, directly or indirectly, to compel the urban sanitary authority to make a larger contribution than that which they have already agreed to grant.

Under a similar provision in a local Act, it was held that the justices could not find that work was unnecessary without hearing evidence upon the point (Birmingham Corporation v. Mother-General of Convent of Sisters of Charity of St. Paul (1927), 91 J. P. 186; 25 L. G. R. 517; Digest Supp.).

Incorrect

(f) If the apportionment is according to frontage, the objection will usually be that the premises do not "front, adjoin, or abut"; as to which see ante, p. 4400. Under s. 10, post, p. 4859, the apportionment may be made having regard to the benefit derived by premises, but an owner cannot object on the ground that this principle should have, but has not, been adopted (Bridgwater Corporation v. Stone, p. 4860, post); his proper remedy for that grievance is by appeal to the Minister of Health under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 268, ante, p. 4495 (R. v. Minister of Health, Ex parte Aldridge, [1925] 2 K. B. 363; 89 J. P. 114; 26 Digest 545, 2433). Section 10 also enables premises to be included in a provisional apportionment on the ground of benefit of access, and it would seem that an owner of premises so included may object under this head that they ought to be excluded, but the justices cannot include any such premises (Hornchurch U. D. C. v. Webber, [1938] 1 K. B. 698; 102 J. P. 167).

In Dodworth U. D. C. v. Ibbotson (1903), 67 J. P. 132; 26 Digest 542, 2400, an owner objected under this sub-section upon the following facts: In 1878 the authority did some work to the pavement of a private street, and part of the expenses were paid by J. and S., two frontagers. In the following year the authority passed a resolution to the effect that "an indemnity be given to J. and S. on account of further expenses that may be occasioned in connection with Street." In 1902 the authority resolved to make up the street under this Act, and included the premises of J. and S. in the apportionment. The justices ordered the premises to be excluded. The decision was reversed by the Divisional Court, who held that the resolution referred only to expenses to be incurred at the time of, or shortly after, its date. Apparently, too, if the resolution had referred to future expenses for all future time, it would have been held to be ultra vires and invalid (Ibid.; Folkestone (Mayor, etc. of) v. Rook, ante, p. 4368). On this latter point, however, Bromley L. B. v. Lansbury (1894), Times, December 5th, should be considered. In that case a new road was laid out in 1878, and in 1884 the frontagers and the local board agreed that the road should be properly made up and maintained for six months by the frontagers and then adopted by the board. The work was duly done, but the defendants gave no notice of adoption under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 152, ante, p. 4423. It was, however, held in 1894 that the local board were bound by the agreement, and could not require the frontagers again to pave the road under s. 150, ante, p. 4388.

An authority made an apportionment on certain premises, and served notice on the reputed owners. When sued for the amount, the owners for the first time discovered and pleaded that the frontage wall belonged to another person, and that therefore their premises did not abut on the street. It was held that they could not rely upon the point, since their names appeared in the apportionment, and they had been served, as owners of premises abutting upon the street, and they ought therefore to have objected under s. 7 (e) (Wallasey U. D. C. v. Walker & Co. (1906), 70 J. P. 199; 26 Digest 547, 2445).

An objection by a frontager on the ground that by agreement with the urban authority he has been exempted from liability in respect of his property is, if not an objection within the meaning of head (e) of this section, at any rate an objection within the meaning of head (f), and must be raised accordingly. The objection cannot be taken in proceedings to enforce his charge on the property: Porthcawl U. D. C. v. Brogden, [1917] 1 Ch. 534; 81 J. P. 137; 26 Digest 547, 2446.

Note to

(g) As to this, see s. 10, post, p. 4859.

8.—(1) The urban authority at any time after the expiration of the said month may (a) apply to a court of summary jurisdiction (b) to appoint a time for determining the matter of all objections (c) made as in this Act mentioned, and shall publish a notice of the time and place appointed, and copies of such notice shall be served upon the objectors; and at the time and place so appointed any such court may proceed to hear and determine the matter of all such objections in the same manner as nearly as may be, and with the same powers and subject to the same provisions with respect to stating a case, as if the urban authority were proceeding summarily against the objectors to enforce payment of a sum of money summarily recoverable (d). The court may quash in whole or in part or may amend the resolution, plans, sections, estimates, and provisional apportionments, or any of them, on the application either of any objector or of the urban authority (e). The court may also, if it thinks fit, adjourn the hearing and direct any further notices to be given (f).

Hearing and determination of objections.

A form of notice of hearing of objections for use under this section will be found in the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. XII., p. 570.

(a) "May" here means "shall," and all objections must be determined before any works are done. After the works have been done, the court has no jurisdiction to entertain an application under this section (Faulkner v. Hythe Corporation, [1927] 1 K. B. 532; 91 J. P. 22; Digest Supp.).

(b) See the definition, ante, p. 4345.

(c) It appears to be contemplated that the whole of the objections shall be heard together.

(d) That is to say, the procedure is to be the same as if the urban authority were complainants and the objectors were summoned for the recovery of the expenses. One result of this is that the burden of proof will be on the urban authority. See hereon Rishton v. Haslingden Corporation, ante, p. 4394; Vyner v. Wirral R. D. C. (1909), 73 J. P. 242, per JELF, J.; 26 Digest 303, 351; but see Folkestone Corporation v. Brockman, [1914] A. C. 338; 78 J. P. 273 (ante, p. 1948), per Lord KINNEAR; and see, generally, as to the onus of proof, Robins v. National Trust Co., [1927] A. C. 515; 43 T. L. R. 243.

An appeal to quarter sessions lies from the justices' decision (Pearce v. Maidenhead Corporation, post, p. 4858).

(e) The powers conferred on the justices are very wide, and enable them to correct any mistake at any step in the procedure. For instance, if an objection be made out that a length of the street is a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large, the justices may amend the scheme by limiting it to the remainder, and in such case it will not be necessary for the authority before proceeding with the amended scheme to begin proceedings de novo or pass a resolution approving the amended scheme (Twickenham U. D. C. v. Muntion, [1899] 2 Ch. 603; 26 Digest 544, 2426). The authority may point out, and the justice may correct, any mistake in the apportionment although it has not been challenged by any objection (Hall v. Bolsover U. D. C. (1909), 73 J. P. 140; 100 L. T. 372; 26 Digest 545, 2429).

Justices cannot, however, amend the resolution by inserting a resolution under s. 15, post, that the local authority shall bear part of the cost (Chester Corporation v. Briggs, [1924] 1 K. B. 239; 88 J. P. 1; 26 Digest 547, 2447), nor vary the resolution so as to alter the amount of any contribution which the local authority have resolved to make (90 J. P. N. 486). See also Chatham Corporation v. Wright, post, p. 4865. Nor can they include premises which do not front on the street (Hornchurch U. D. C. v. Webber, ante, p. 4852).

See as to the creation of an estoppel by the justices' decision, Wakefield Corporation v. Cooke, ante, p. 4855.

Note to
Section 8.

(f) This will as a rule be the proper course to adopt where (e.g.) notice has been served on the wrong person under s. 6, ante, p. 4851, or it is intended to add an owner of premises who is suggested to derive benefit from the proposed works. As a matter of pure law, where the justices have decided upon amending the scheme, it is within their discretion whether they will adjourn the hearing and direct further notices to be given; but where the amendment is of a material character, it is desirable, though not obligatory, to do so in order that persons affected by the amendment may have an opportunity of being heard (Twickenham U. D. C. v. Muntion, ante, p. 4857).

(2) No objection which could be made under this Act shall be otherwise made or allowed in any court proceeding or manner whatsoever.

Therefore an owner cannot, when proceedings are taken against him under s. 14, post, p. 4864, for recovery of the expenses finally apportioned, raise by way of defence any objection which might have been raised and determined in manner provided by this and the preceding section (Woodford U. D. C. v. Henwood (1899), 64 J. P. 148; 26 Digest 543, 2418; see also Hayles v. Sandown U. D. C., ante, p. 4854; Teddington U. D. C. v. Vile, ante, p. 4854; Wallasey U. D. C. v. Walker, ante, p. 4856, and Porthcawl U. D. C. v. Brogden, ante, p. 4857). This provision takes away the jurisdiction of the Minister of Health under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 268, ante, p. 4495, so far as relates to any ground of objection specified in ss. 7 and 12, but an appeal will lie on other grounds (e.g., that the resolution has not provided for an apportionment on the basis of degree of benefit under s. 10 (a), post, p. 4859 (R. v. Minister of Health, Ex parte Aldridge, [1925] 2 K. B. 363; 89 J. P. 114; 26 Digest 545, 2433). As to appeals to the Minister of Health under s. 268 on grounds other than those specified in ss. 7 and 12 of this Act, see Pearce v. Maidenhead Corporation, [1907] 2 K. B. 96; 71 J. P. 230; 26 Digest 545, 2432, explaining Hayles v. Sandown U. D. C., ante, p. 4854.

In connection with appeals to the Minister of Health under s. 268 in respect of matters arising under this Act the question arises what is the "decision" referred to in s. 268. Upon this depends the question of the time within which an appeal can be made. There is no "notice of demand" (see cases noted under s. 268 of the Act of 1875) under the Private Street Works Act, 1892, and the final apportionment is not necessarily a final settlement of the amount due, for it can be objected to within one month.

It is understood that in the view of the department one month must elapse from the service of the final apportionment and that an owner can then appeal within twenty-one days of the service by the local authority of a valid request or demand for payment.

(3) The costs of any proceedings before a court of summary jurisdiction in relation to objections under this Act shall be in the discretion of the court, and the court shall have power, if it thinks fit, to direct that the whole or any part of such costs ordered to be paid by an objector or objectors shall be paid in the first instance by the urban authority, and charged as part of the expenses of the works on the premises of the objector or objectors in such proportions as may appear just.

Under this sub-section the court may order each objector to pay at once his share of the authority's costs, or it may order that the share payable by each shall be added to the expenses for which he may ultimately be liable, and recovered accordingly.

Incidental

9.—(1) The urban authority may include in any works to be done under this Act with respect to any street or part of a street any works which they think necessary for bringing the street or part of a street, as regards sewerage, drainage, level, or other matters, into conformity with any other streets (whether repairable or not by the inhabitants at large), including the provision of separate sewers for the reception of sewage and of surface water respectively.

Under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 150, ante, p. 4388, a street dealt with must be regarded as an isolated street, and frontagers cannot be required to make it on a level, etc., with other streets: see Caley v. Kingston-upon-Hull L. B., ante, p. 4397. This provision was evidently inserted with a view to that decision. See also s. 35 of the P. H. A., 1925, Vol. V., post, which enables a local authority to vary the respective widths of carriageway and footway when making up a street in an urban district where that section has been adopted, and in any rural district (s. 30 (2), and Sched. I., L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 904, 975).

The section does not, however, enable them to charge the cost of altering gullies and drains connected to a sewer which have been in position for some time (East Barnet U. D. C. v. Stacey, ante, p. 4852).

The authority may drain the surface water into any natural or artificial stream or watercourse provided they observe the restrictions of the P. H. A., 1936, s. 30, ante, p. 87. If the watercourse thereby becomes silted up with sand off the surface of the road, the remedy of riparian owners is by proceeding for compensation under s. 308 of P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 4515 (Durrant v. Branksome U. D. C., [1897] 2 Ch. 291; 61 J. P. 472; 38 Digest 56, 327).

(2) The urban authority in any estimate of the expenses of private street works may include a commission not exceeding five pounds per centum (in addition to the estimated actual cost) in respect of surveys, superintendence, and notices, and such commission when received shall be carried to the credit of the district fund.

The commission must be entered when received in the separate accounts kept under s. 21, post, p. 4868, though it will be applied differently from the expenses. It is doubtful whether such charges can be recovered under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 150, ante, p. 4388; see Walthamstow L. B. v. Staines, [1891] 2 Ch. 606; 26 Digest 538, 2372; and cases cited therewith at p. 4408, ante.

10. In a provisional apportionment of expenses of private street works the apportionment of expenses against the premises fronting, adjoining, or abutting on the street or part of a street in respect of which the expenses are to be incurred shall, unless the urban authority otherwise resolve, be apportioned according to the frontage of the respective premises; but the urban authority may, if they think just, resolve that in settling the apportionment regard shall be had to the following considerations; (that is to say,)

Apportionment of expenses.

- (a) The greater or less degree of benefit to be derived by any premises from such works;
- (b) The amount and value of any work already done by the owners or occupiers of any such premises.

They may also, if they think just, include any premises which do not front, adjoin, or abut on the street or part of a street, but access to which is obtained from the street through a court, passage, or otherwise, and which in their opinion will be benefited by the works, and may fix the sum or proportion to be charged against any such premises accordingly.

The apportionment should be made upon each separate house or plot, and different premises belonging to one owner should not be lumped together (Croydon R. D. C. v. Betts, [1914] 1 Ch. 870; 78 J. P. N. 160; 26 Digest 536, 2358; Pontypridd U. D. C. v. Jones, p. 4863, post); if subsequently rendered necessary by subdivision of a property, a court could probably divide the apportioned sum (cf. Sydney Municipal Council v. Fleay, [1911] A. C. 371). As to what constitutes one close for the purpose of apportionment where adjoining plots have been purchased at different times, see Altrincham U. D. C. v. O'Brien (1927), 91 J. P. 149; 25 L. G. R. 369; Digest Supp.

Under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 150, ante, p. 4388, the expenses must be apportioned according to frontage. Under this Act also they are to be so apportioned unless the authority resolve to exercise one or both of the powers here conferred upon them. If they do so resolve, it will be the duty of the surveyor to take the consideration indicated into account in making his apportionment. The apportionment of the surveyor must be approved by the authority under s. 6, ante, p. 4851, and may be objected to under s. 7, ante, p. 4853.

See, as to an authority's discretionary power to vary the normal rule of frontage apportionment, Hornchurch U. D. C. v. Webber, [1938] 1 K. B. 698; [1938] 1 All E. R. 309; 102 J. P. 167; Digest Supp.; Allen v. Hornchurch U. D. C., [1938] 2 K. B. 654; 102 J. P. 393; sub nom. Hornchurch U. D. C. v. Allen, [1938] 2 All E. R. 431; Digest Supp.

It is for the authority alone to decide whether to make use of this section; and the justices cannot entertain an objection that they ought to have, but have not, done so (Bridgwater Corporation v. Stone (1908), 72 J. P. 487; 99 L. T. 806; 26 Digest 545, 2428). An appeal will, however, lie to the Minister of Health under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 268, ante, p. 4495, against the decision of the local authority (R. v. Minister of Health, Ex parte Aldridge, [1925] 2 K. B. 363; 89 J. P. 114; 26 Digest 545, 2433).

A local board resolved to execute certain private street works in a street which had buildings on the north side only, and was bounded on the south side chiefly by land of the local board. The works comprised the making up of the roadway, and the paving and kerbing of a footpath on the north side only, no footpath being made on the south side. By the provisional apportionment the expenses of paving and kerbing the footpath were apportioned amongst the owners of premises abutting on the north side only. All other expenses were apportioned amongst the owners of premises abutting on both sides of the street, including the local board as the owners of land on the south side. It was held that the expenses of the footpath were properly apportionable amongst the owners of premises on both sides of the street (Clacton L. B. v. Young, [1895] 1 Q. B. 395; 59 J. P. 581; 26 Digest 540, 2389).

The latter part of this section introduced a new provision, whereby premises may be made liable to contribute though not abutting on the street: see Baddeley v. Giggell and London School Board v. Vestry of St. Mary, Islington, ante, p. 4402. The conditions are that such premises have access to the street and are benefited by the works. The owner of such premises may object under s. 7 (f), ante, p. 4854. If it is decided to bring in premises under the latter part of the section it is not essential but is advisable to state in the resolution approving the provisional apportionment that the authority "think just" to include the premises (Oakley v. Merthyr Tydfil Corporation, [1922] 1 K. B. 409; 86 J. P. 1; 26 Digest 541, 2396).

As to the meaning of the words "court, passage or otherwise," see Newquay U. D. C. v. Rickeard, [1911] 2 K. B. 846; 75 J. P. 382; 26 Digest 541, 2391: apparently they include anything which gives access to the premises in the same way as a court or passage, but not a public street or a road made for a purpose other than that of giving access to the premises in question (ibid.). The appellant's premises did not front or abut on that portion of a street called Grange Lane upon which works were being carried out, but access therefrom to his premises was obtained through the remaining portion of Grange Lane. It was held that the words "court, passage or otherwise" mean a court or passage or something in the nature of a court or passage, but do not mean a portion of the street-itself, and that the section did not empower the authority to include the appellant's premises in the provisional apportionment: Chatterton v. Glanford R. D. C., [1915] 3 K. B. 707; 79 J. P. 441; 26 Digest 541, 2395. The word "passage" in this section means something in the nature of a feeder of the street to be made up, though it need not be the only means of approaching the street (Oakley v. Merthyr Tydfil Corporation, supra).

of plan, etc.

11. The urban authority may from time to time amend the specifications, plans, and sections (if any), estimates, and provisional apportionments for any private street works, but if the total amount of the estimate in respect of any street or part of a street is increased, such estimate and the provisional apportionment shall be published in the manner prescribed in Part II. of the Schedule to this Act, and shall be open to inspection at the urban authority offices at all reasonable times, and copies thereof shall be served on the owners of the premises affected thereby; and objections may be made to the increase and apportionment and, if made, shall be dealt with and determined in like manner as objections to the original estimate and apportionment.

If the amendment does not increase the estimate nothing more need be done ; if it does, it will be necessary to proceed de novo, and to advertise and give notices as mentioned in Schedule, Part II, post, p. 4870. As to objections, see s. 7, ante, p. 4853

Section 11.

12.—(1) When any private street works have been completed and, the expenses thereof ascertained, the surveyor shall make a final apportionment by dividing the expenses in the same proportions in which the estimated expenses were divided in the original or amended provisional apportionment (as the case may be), and such final apportionment shall be conclusive for all purposes ; and notice of such final apportionment shall be served upon the owners of the premises affected thereby ; and the sums apportioned thereby shall be recoverable in manner provided by this Act, or in the same manner as private improvement expenses are recoverable under the Public Health Act, 1875, including the power to declare any such expenses to be payable by instalments.

Final apportionment and recovery of expenses.

See forms of final apportionment and notice thereof in the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. XII., pp. 571, 572.

The final apportionment may be objected to in manner provided by the next subsection. Notices may be authenticated in manner provided by the P. H. A., 1875, s. 266, ante, p. 4494, and served in accordance with ibid., s. 267, ante, p. 4495.

As to the recovery of sums under this Act, see s. 13, post, p. 4862, and s. 14, post, p. 4864.

As to the power to declare expenses payable by instalments, see the P. H. A., 1875, s. 257, ante, p. 4489.

The combined effect of this Act and s. 257 of the P. H. A., 1875, is that the apportioned amount becomes charged on the premises at the time of completion of the works as from that date (Surtees v. Woodhouse, [1903] 1 K. B. 396 ; 67 J. P. 232 ; 26 Digest 546, 2437), but there is no personal liability on the owner until the sum is demanded from him (Dennerley v. Prestwich U. D. C., [1930] 1 K. B. 334 ; 94 J. P. 34 ; Digest Supp.).

As to the incidence of paving expenses between limited owners and reversioners, landlords and tenants, and vendors and purchasers, see the cases cited on pp. 589—603' ante. See also s. 17, post, p. 4866.

(2) Within one month after such notice the owner of any premises charged with any expenses under such apportionment may, by a written notice to the urban authority, object to such final apportionment on the following grounds, or any of them :

- (a) That the actual expenses have without sufficient reason exceeded the estimated expenses by more than fifteen per cent. .
- (b) That the final apportionment has not been made in accordance with this section.
- (c) That there has been an unreasonable departure from the specification, plans, and sections.

The Act is silent as to what is to happen if the objector makes good his objection, but in Hayles v. Sandown U. D. C., infra, Lord ALVERSTONE, C.J., said that the justices might correct the figures and in effect make a fresh apportionment.

A frontager, on proceedings being taken to recover from him his apportioned share of expenses, attempted to establish that the surveyor had allowed the contractor to deviate from the specifications, and that the works had never been "completed." It was held that such an objection could probably have been raised under the above section at the proper time ; but that in any case the justices were right in not allowing it to be raised before them (Hayles v. Sandown U. D. C., [1903] 1 K. B. 169 ; 67 J. P. 177 ; 26 Digest 546, 2443).

(3) Objections under this section shall be determined in the same manner as objections to the provisional apportionment.

See s. 8, ante, p. 4857.

Section 13.

Charge on premises.

13.—(1) Any premises included in the final apportionment, and all estates and interests from time to time therein, shall stand and remain charged (to the like extent and effect as under section two hundred and fifty-seven of the Public Health Act, 1875) with the sum finally apportioned on them, or if objection has been made against the final apportionment with the sum determined to be due as from the date of the final apportionment, with interest at the rate of four (a) pounds per centum per annum, and the urban authority shall, for the recovery of such sum and interest, have all the same powers and remedies under the Conveyancing and Law of Property Act, 1881, and otherwise as if they were mortgagees having powers of sale and lease and of appointing a receiver.

See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 257, ante, p. 4489, and the notes thereon.

The section does not state from what date the interest is to run, but it has been decided that it runs from the date of the final apportionment (Stock v. Meakin, [1900] 1 Ch. 683; 26 Digest 545, 2436). Under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 257, it runs from date of demand. Under the same section the rate of interest was to be a rate not exceeding 5 per cent. Now, however, s. 77, P. H. A., 1925, Vol. V., post, provides that both under the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 4331, and this Act the rate is to be 5 per cent. or such other rate as the Minister may by order fix, and the present rate so fixed is 4 per cent. (M. of H. (Rate of Interest on Private Improvement Expenses) Order, 1934, ante, p. 3191). A frontager cannot deduct income tax on the interest due from him (Gateshead Corporation v. Lumsden, p. 588, ante).

The charge on the property operates as from the date of the completion of the works (Stock v. Meakin, supra; Surtees v. Woodhouse, ante, p. 598). But of course, unless the notices required by this Act to be served on the owner have been duly served the council have no charge upon the premises and no right to sell them (Maquire v. Leigh-on-Sea U. D. C. (1906), 70 J. P. 479; 95 L. T. 319; 26 Digest 545, 2435).

The provisions of the Conveyancing Act, 1881, referred to are ss. 18—24. The Act of 1881 (15 Halsbury's Statutes 136) has now been repealed and the sections referred to, together with the amendments to the Act of 1881 contained in ss. 3—5 of the Conveyancing Act, 1911 (also repealed), are now reproduced in ss. 99—109 of the Law of Property Act, 1925, Vol. V., post. See also s. 196, ibid., as to notices. The power to appoint a receiver is the most useful of the powers hereby conferred on an authority: see Tottenham U. D. C. v. Smith (1897), Times, March 6th, where ROMER, J., appointed a receiver under a local Act conferring on the local authority in respect of a charge for street expenses all the rights and remedies of mortgagees under the Act of 1881. There would, however, appear to be some doubt whether on a sale under the Conveyancing Act an authority will have power to pass the legal estate (see the argument in West Ham Corporation v. Sharp, infra, and the cases there cited).

It will be observed that it is not necessary under this Act, as it is under the P. H. A., 1875, to bring an action in order to enforce the charge. But the authority may do so, if it is more convenient (West Ham Corporation v. Sharp, [1907] 1 K. B. 445; 71 J. P. 100; 26 Digest 546, 2439), and it would obviously be convenient if the doubt expressed above as to the power to pass the legal estate is well founded, for under an Order the authority would be able to sell the fee simple: see Birmingham Corporation v. Baker, ante, p. 605. As a result of paving works under this Act a sum of £137 was apportioned on 9 houses belonging to the defendant. The authority took out an originating summons in the Chancery Division asking for a declaration of charge for the £137 and interest thereon at 5 per cent., the usual inquiries, an order for sale and a receiver. The defendant paid the £137 with 4 per cent. interest, and objected that (1) proceedings had been commenced before three months had expired from the date of the notice; (2) 4 per cent. only should have been asked; (3) the £137 was asked as a whole sum and not apportioned on the houses individually; and (4) the proceedings ought to have been brought in the county court. An application for leave to interrogate was adjourned into court to come on with the summons, and the summons was amended by stating in a schedule how the £137 was apportioned upon the various houses. It was held that the defendant showed no defence and must pay the costs. Semble, an originating summons, if it is not adjourned into court, is cheaper and more expeditious than a plaint in the county court (Pontypridd U. D. C. v. Jones (1911), 75 J. P. 345; 26 Digest 546, 2441); see also Croydon R. D. C. v. Betts, on p. 4859, ante. As to the difficulty which arises where the owner of premises cannot be traced, see Wealdstone U. D. C. v. Evershed, and Friern Barnet U. D. C. v. Adams, on p. 577, ante.

Note to
Section 18.

In a case which arose under a local Act the urban authority obtained a declaration that they were entitled to a charge on the defendant's premises for the costs incurred as private street expenses. An order was obtained directing an inquiry as to whether there were other incumbrances, and directing the defendant to answer the inquiry by affidavit. The defendant ignored this order and failed to appear in obedience to an order for his examination. It was held that a writ of attachment must issue against him for disobeying the order and that the urban authority might add the costs of the motion for attachment to their security (Tottenham U. D. C. v. Nielsen (1915), 79 J. P. 504; 85 L. J. Ch. 272; 26 Digest 551, 2473).

The authority have power to sell the premises under this section and s. 101 of the Law of Property Act, 1925, Vol. V., post, when a sum charged on premises has been ordered to be paid by instalments and there has been default in the payment of one instalment in order to discharge the instalment in arrear with interest and costs (Payne v. Cardiff R. D. C., [1932] 1 K. B. 241; 95 J. P. 173; Digest Supp.).

As to the extent of the land subject to the charge where adjoining plots have been purchased by the owner at different times, see Altrincham U. D. C. v. O'Brien (1927), 91 J. P. 149; 25 L. G. R. 369; Digest Supp. The charge affects the total ownership of the land charged, see Birmingham Corporation v. Baker, and other cases cited therewith, at p. 605, ante.

Where a tenant for life has paid paving expenses he has a charge on the fee simple of the premises, notwithstanding the provisions of s. 17, post, p. 4866, which provides that a limited owner may raise money by mortgage for the payment of such expenses so that the principal due on the mortgage may be repaid within twenty years (In re Pizzi, Scrieuer v. Aldridge, [1907] 1 Ch. 67; 71 J. P. 58; 26 Digest 546, 2438).

A council executed street works under this Act, but when recovering their expenses were unable to determine the ownership of certain vacant land abutting on the street. The land, therefore, was sold, under the powers of s. 13, and the council found themselves with a surplus. The L. G. B., on being applied to, stated that they did not consider themselves in a position to give any formal directions in such a case, but, assuming that the council recovered "in respect of street works" in the case of every frontager all that was sufficient to enable them to repay with interest the money borrowed for the execution of the works in respect of which the premises were charged under the final apportionment, as the instalments became due and payable, they referred the council to s. 21 (3) of the Conveyancing and Law of Property Act, 1881 (no repealed and reproduced in s. 105, Law of Property Act, 1925, Vol. V., post), as applied by s. 13 (1), as indicating what would appear to be an appropriate application of the surplus sum in question. The sub-section is as follows: "The money which is received by the mortgagee, arising from the sale, after discharge of prior encumbrances to which the sale is not made subject, if any, or after payment into court under this Act of a sum to meet any prior encumbrance, shall be held by him in trust to be applied by him, first, in payment of all costs, charges, and expenses, properly incurred by him, as incident to the sale or any attempted sale, or otherwise; and secondly, in discharge of the mortgage money, interest, and costs, and other money, if any, due under the mortgage; and the residue of the money so received shall be paid to the person entitled to the mortgaged property, or authorised to give receipts for the proceeds of the sale thereof." See hereon West London Commercial Bank v. Reliance Permanent Building Society (1885), 29 Ch. D. 954; 35 Digest 519, 2477.

(a) The rate of interest is now "five per cent. or such other rate of interest as the Minister of Health may from time to time by order fix" (s. 77, P. H. A., 1925, Vol. V., post). The present rate is 4 per cent. (see ante, pp. 3191, 4862).

Section 13. (2) The urban authority shall keep a register of charges under this Act and of the payments made in satisfaction thereof, and the register shall be open to inspection to all persons at all reasonable times on payment of not exceeding one shilling in respect of each name or property searched for, and the urban authority shall furnish copies of any part of such register to any person applying for the same on payment of such reasonable sum as may be fixed by the urban authority.

It is submitted that this sub-section is in effect obsolete in consequence of the provisions of the Land Charges Act, 1925, Vol. V., post. Charges under this section now require registration as "local land charges" under s. 15 of that Act, and the necessity for this sub-section no longer arises. In respect of charges arising prior to the passing of the 1925 Act, provision is made by r. 14 of the Local Land Charges Rules, 1934, ante, p. 3181, whereby charges registered in existing registers (which would include the register kept under this section) may be regarded as sufficient compliance with the Rules if the register contains the particulars required by the Rules and is open to inspection.

Recovery of

14. The urban authority, if they think fit, may from time to time (in default and without prejudice to any other remedy) recover summarily in a court of summary jurisdiction, or as a simple contract debt by action in any court of competent jurisdiction, from the owner for the time being of any premises in respect of which any sum is due for expenses of private street works the whole or any portion of such sum, together with interest at a rate not exceeding four (a) pounds per centum per annum, from the date of the final apportionment till payment thereof.

Under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 150, ante, p. 4388, the only remedies for recovery of expenses were by summary proceedings, or, in cases where the expenses were under £50, by action in the county court under s. 261, ante, p. 4491. See the note at p. 4408, ante. Under this Act an action may be brought in the High Court if it is thought desirable. It would seem that the six months' limitation imposed by the S. J. A., 1848, s. 11 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 278), does not apply to actions brought in either the High Court or the county court under this section (Blackburn (Mayor, etc. of) v. Sanderson, [1902] 1 K. B. 794; 66 J. P. 452; 26 Digest 548, 2452; cf. Metropolitan Water Board v. Bunn, [1913] 3 K. B. 181; 77 J. P. 353; 38 Digest 119, 860). In previous editions the opinion was expressed that the period of limitation was probably twenty years, as the action would seem to be founded on a specialty, and reference was made to a note by Sir F. POLLOCK at [1903] 2 K. B. 3, and cases there cited, and In re Cornwall Minerals Rail. Co., [1897] 2 Ch. 74; 61 J. P. 535; 10 Digest 1192, 8458, but in Dennerley v. Prestwich U. D. C. (1929), 45 T. L. R. 493, SHEARMAN, J., "pointed out that as the section made the claim equivalent to a simple contract debt the period of limitation applicable would be only six years." This period runs only from the date of demand and as a new demand may be made on each successive owner, the statute only runs in favour of each owner from the date of demand upon him (ibid., in C. A., [1930] 1 K. B. 334). There is no express provision in the Act requiring a formal demand for payment unless an authority intend to proceed summarily (see per BRETT, L.J., in R. v. Local Government Board, ante, at p. 611), but it may well be argued that one is necessary: see Hampstead Corporation v. Caunt, [1903] 2 K. B. 1; 67 J. P. 344; 26 Digest 499, 2076. The expenses being recoverable from the owner "for the time being," a purchaser may become liable for expenses incurred before the date of the purchase: see East London Waterworks Co. v. Kellerman, [1892] 2 Q. B. 72; 56 J. P. 773; 43 Digest 1093, 242; Rowland v. Willis (1899), 105 L. T. Newsp. 319, and Hampstead Borough Council v. Caunt, supra.

No objection to the proceedings of the authority, which could have, but has not been raised under the Act can afterwards be raised when the authority seek to recover.

the expenses. See s. 8 (2), ante, p. 4858, Teddington U. D. C. v. Vile, and other cases cited therewith, at p. 4854, ante.

In Hayles v. Sandown U. D. C., ante, p. 4854, a frontager, against whom proceedings were taken before justices to recover his apportioned share of the expenses, attempted to establish that the surveyor had allowed the contractor to deviate from the specifications, and that the works had never been "completed." It was held that such an objection could probably have been raised under s. 12, ante, p. 4861, at the proper time; but that, in any case, the justices were right in not allowing it to be raised before them.

Semble, the right of action given by this section could only be enforced in the courts of this country (Sydney Municipal Council v. Bull, [1909] 1 K. B. 7; 11 Digest 307, 6).

(a) The rate of interest is now "five per cent. or such other rate of interest as the Minister of Health may from time to time by order fix" (s. 77, P. H. A., 1925, Vol. V., post). The present rate is 4 per cent. (see ante, pp. 3191, 4862).

15. The urban authority, if they think fit, may at any time resolve to contribute the whole or a portion of the expenses of any private street works, and may pay the same out of the district fund or general district rate or other rate out of which the general expenses incurred under the Public Health Act, 1875, are payable.

Contribution by urban authority to expenses.

No provision of this kind was included in the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 4331, and under that Act a council could not defray part of the expenses out of the rates (see Dryden v. Putney (Overseers of), ante, p. 4412). Power to contribute under that Act was given by s. 81 of the P. H. A., 1925, Vol. V., post. The general expenses were made payable out of the general rate or general rate fund, but the concluding words of the section were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, and the general provisions of that Act substituted (see ibid., ss. 181, 185, 188, ante, pp. 1009, 1013, 1015). As to contributions by rural district councils, see s. 36 (2) (b), L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 912.

The discretion as to contributions under this section can only be exercised by the local authority, and accordingly it is not open to justices on the hearing of objection to a provisional apportionment to amend the resolution under s. 8 (1), ante, p. 4857, by including a contribution by the local authority under this section to the cost of the works (Chester Corporation v. Briggs, [1924] 1 K. B. 239; 88 J. P. 1; 26 Digest 547, 2447). In an unreported case, referred to in an article at 90 J. P. N. 486, it was held that the justices have no power under s. 8 to alter the amount of any contribution which the local authority have resolved to make under this section. Nor can they, by reducing the apportionment against individual frontagers, indirectly do that which they cannot do directly (Chatham Corporation v. Wright (1930), 94 J. P. 43; 28 L. G. R. 4; Digest Supp.).

16. The incumbent or minister or trustee of any church, chapel, or place appropriated to public religious worship, which is for the time being by law exempt from rates for the relief of the poor, shall not be liable to any expenses of private street works as the owner of such church, chapel, or place, or of any churchyard or burial ground attached thereto, nor shall any such expenses be deemed to be a charge on such church, chapel, or other place, or on such churchyard or burial ground, or to subject the same to distress, execution, or other legal process, but the proportion of expenses in respect of which an exemption is allowed under this section shall be borne and paid by the urban authority.

Exemption from expenses of incumbent of church.

This section is in substitution for the P. H. A., 1875, s. 151, ante, p. 4445; but there are some points of difference which should be noted. It exempts not only

Note to Section 14.

Section 16.

incumbents and ministers, but trustees also, thus meeting the decision in Hornsey L. B. v. Brewis, ante, p. 4421. And the text requires, not simply enables, the authority to bear the proportion in respect of which an exemption is allowed. As to the exemption of churches, chapels, etc., from poor rates, see note (a), ante, pp. 4420 et seq., and Walton-le-Dale v. Greenwood there cited, a case decided under this Act.

The expression "private street works" is defined in s. 6, ante, p. 4851.

As to the meaning of the words "churchyard or burial ground attached thereto," see Holy Law, etc. Burial Board v. Failsworth U. D. C., [1928] 1 K. B. 231; 91 J. P. 104; Digest Supp. The attachment must be physical, it is not enough that a burial ground at a distance is maintained by the members of a congregation. A piece of vacant land adjoining a building appropriated to religious worship, and on which a Sunday school is to be erected, is not to be excluded from provisional apportionment under this section (Ilford Corpn. v. Mallinson (1932), 96 J. P. 185; Digest Supp.).

limited owners to
expenses.

17. All owners of buildings or lands, being persons who under the Lands Clauses Acts are empowered to sell and convey or release lands, may charge such buildings or lands with such sum as may be necessary to defray the whole or any part of any expenses which the owners or or any persons in respect of such buildings or lands for the time being are liable to pay under this Act and the expenses of making such charge, and for securing the repayment of such sum with interest may mortgage such buildings or lands to any person advancing such sum, but so that the principal due on any such mortgage shall be repaid by equal yearly or half-yearly payments within twenty years.

See the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, ss. 7, 8, ante, pp. 4107, 4108, as to the persons under disability or limited owners, such as tenants for life, who have power to sell and convey or release lands under that Act.

Under this section a limited owner may charge or mortgage the premises, and not merely his interest in them.

Where a tenant for life has paid to a local authority the expenses of paving a private street, he has a charge under s. 13, ante, p. 4862, on the fee simple of the premises in respect of which the expenses were incurred, notwithstanding the provisions of this section (In re Pizzi, Scrivener v. Aldridge, ante, p. 4863).

Power for urban authority to borrow for
works.

18. The urban authority may from time to time, with the sanction of the Local Government Board, borrow, on the security of the district fund and general district rates or other rate out of which the general expenses incurred under the Public Health Act, 1875, are payable, moneys for the purpose of temporarily providing for expenses of private street works, and the powers of the urban authority to borrow under the Public Health Acts shall be available as if the execution of private street works under this Act were one of the purposes of the Public Health Act, 1875.

The words printed in italics were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, ante, and equivalent powers are now contained in ibid., s. 195, ante, p. 1023.

Applications to the Ministry of Health under this section must be accompanied by a copy of the resolution of the council authorising it, and by certain particulars in a prescribed form. The Minister used rarely to allow a longer term than seven years for repayment, but ten years is now allowed, upon the understanding that a similar period is allowed to frontagers for repayment of the cost to the authority.

Adoption
streets.

19. Whenever all or any of the private street works in this Act mentioned have been executed in a street or part of a street, and the urban authority are of opinion that such street or part of a street ought to become a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large, they may by notice to be fixed up in such street or part of a street declare the whole of such street or part of a street to be a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large, and thereupon such street or part of a street as defined in the notice shall become a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large. Section 19.

This section does not extend to making the site on which a wall stands a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large; and a local authority cannot, acting under this section, remove the end wall of what is physically a cul-de-sac, thereby making it a continuous street with another on the other side of the boundary wall (Urban Housing Co., Ltd. v. Oxford Corporation, [1940] Ch. 70; [1939] 4 All E. R. 211; 104 J. P. 15; Digest Supp.). The council can only make up the street as they find it (Robertson v. Bristol Corporation, ante, p. 4852).

The fact that a private street has been made up at the cost of the frontagers does not in itself (i.e. apart from formal adoption) confer any rights as against the owner of the soil upon either the public or frontagers who have paid their share (Moubray, Rowan and Hicks v. Drew, [1893] A. C. 295; 26 Digest 518, b). See also as to rights in a private street, Kirby v. Paignton U. D. C., p. 4393, ante.

This section is in substitution for the P. H. A., 1875, s. 152, ante, p. 4423, or, where the P. H. A. Amendment A., 1890, has been adopted, for s. 41 of that Act, ante, p. 4815.

It is to be observed, however, that under this section the works need not have been executed by the authority, nor can the owners of the street object to its being declared a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large. Under this Act, therefore, a street in all respects private may be opened for public traffic without the consent of the owners, and possibly to their detriment.

An authority will have no discretion under this section if a street has been made up in pursuance of a request made by a majority of the owners under the P. H. A. Amendment A., 1907, s. 19 (4), post, p. 5047.

A form of notice will be found in the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. XII., p. 584.

Local authorities must keep a list of all streets in their district repairable by the inhabitants at large and permit inspection of the list without payment (P. H. A., 1925, s. 84, Vol. V. and 13 Halsbury's Statutes 1153).

20. If any street is now or shall hereafter be sewered, levelled, paved, metalled, flagged, channelled, and made good (all such works being done to the satisfaction of the urban authority), then, on the application in writing of the greater part in value of the owners of the houses and land in such street, the urban authority shall, within three months from the time of such application, by notice put up in such street, declare the same to be a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large, and thereupon such street shall become a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large. On street being paved, etc., urban authority to declare same public highway.

A form of application and notice for use under this section will be found in the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. XII., pp. 585, 586.

This section will apply only when all the works above mentioned have been executed in the street. The expression "houses and land in such street" avoids the ambiguity pointed out in the note to s. 41 (2) of the Act of 1890, ante, p. 4816. The authority will have no discretion under this section. A provision similar in its terms to this section now applies to proceedings under s. 150, P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 4388; see s. 82 of the P. H. A., 1925, Vol. V. and 13 Halsbury's Statutes 1153.

An application under this section will not be necessary when an authority make up a street in consequence of a counter-notice from owners under the P. H. A. Amendment A., 1907, s. 19 (4), post, p. 5047.

See, as to keeping a list of all streets repairable by the inhabitants at large, P. H. A., 1925, s. 84, Vol. V., post, referred to in the note to the preceding section.

Where a declaration is made under this section in respect of a street, part of which is outside the district of the authority, the declaration is not severable but is wholly invalid (Newton v. Lambton Hetton and Joicey Collieries, Ltd., [1937] 2 All E. R. 150; 35 L. G. R. 607).

Section 21.

Separate accounts of
works.

21.—(1) The urban authority shall keep separate accounts of all moneys expended and recovered by them in the execution of the provisions of this Act relating to private street works.

(2) All moneys recovered by the urban authority under this Act in respect of street works shall be applied in repayment of moneys borrowed for the purpose of executing private street works (a), or if there is no such loan outstanding then in such manner as may be directed by the Local Government Board (b).

(a) The authority may borrow for private street works under s. 18, ante, p. 4866. If any loan in respect of private street works in the district is outstanding, the subsection must be complied with. This must sometimes work inconveniently.

(b) The Minister of Health will presumably direct payment into the general rate fund.

Railways and canals abutting but not communicating with streets not to be chargeable with private
expenses.

22. No railway or canal company shall be deemed to be an owner or occupier for the purposes of this Act in respect of any land of such company upon which any street shall wholly or partially front or abut, and which shall at the time of the laying out of such street be used by such company solely as a part of their line of railway, canal, or siding, station, towing path, or works, and shall have no direct communication with such street (a); and the expenses incurred by the urban authority under the powers of this Act which, but for this provision, such company would be liable to pay, shall be repaid to the urban authority by the owners of the premises included in the apportionments, and in such proportion as shall be settled by the surveyor (b); and in the event of such company subsequently making a communication with such street they shall, notwithstanding such repayment as last aforesaid, pay to the urban authority the expenses which, but for the foregoing provision, such company would in the first instance have been liable to pay, and the urban authority shall divide among the owners for the time being included in the apportionment the amount so paid by such company to the urban authority, less the costs and expenses attendant upon such division, in such proportion as shall be settled by the surveyor, whose decision shall be final and conclusive (c). This section shall not apply to any street existing at the date of the adoption of this Act.

(a) This provision is intended to meet the decisions in Higgins v. Harding and L. & N. W. Rail. Co. v. St. Pancras (Vestry of), ante, p. 4401, followed in Caledonian Rail. Co. v. Edinburgh Magistrates (1901), 3 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 645. It will only apply where there is no communication between the railway and the street.

A railway company objected to the inclusion of a piece of land belonging to them in a provisional apportionment for a street on which the land abutted, but with which it had no direct communication, on the ground that such land was at the time of the laying out of the street used by them solely as a part of their line of railway or works within the meaning of this section. The land had been acquired by the company solely for the purpose of their railway and works, but they allowed their servants, for the time being, to use it as garden ground on payment of a nominal rent. The justices found as a fact that it was not used in any way as part of the company's railway, sidings, station or works, and that, therefore, the company's objection failed, and they refused to state a case on the ground that the question was one of fact. It was held that as there was no evidence contrary to the justices' finding, the court would not compel them to state a case (R. v. Jones and Barry U. D. C., Ex parte Mein (1907), 71 J. P. 326; 96 L. T. 723; 26 Digest 542, 2401).

It has also been held that land used by a railway company for the purpose of depositing ashes thereon did not fall within a similarly worded exemption in a local

Act (In re Carlisle Corporation and Saul's Executors (1907), 71 J. P. 502; 97 L. T. 514; Digest Supp.).

Note to Section 22.

See also, as to words "part of a railway," Glasgow & S. W. Rail. Co. v. Ayr Magistrates, [1912] A. C. 520, where under the Burgh Police (Scotland) Act, 1892, s. 4, it was held that a strip of a road purchased in 1889 by the company for "extraordinary purposes," but put to no use for 20 years, was not a part of their railway.

(b) This is rather hard on the owners in question. The sum which otherwise would have been apportioned to the company is to be paid by other owners in proportions settled by the surveyor. The whole of the expenses are not to be apportioned in the first instance among all the owners other than the company.

(c) No provision is here made for the case where there have been changes of ownership.

23. All expenses incurred or payable by an urban authority and a rural sanitary authority respectively in the execution of this Act, and not otherwise provided for, may be charged and defrayed as part of the expenses incurred by them respectively in the execution of the Public Health Acts. Expenses of local authority.

This section was repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, ante, and the general provisions of that Act substituted (see ibid., ss. 181, 185, 188, ante, pp. 1009, 1013, 1015).

24. All powers given to a local authority under this Act shall be deemed to be in addition to and not in derogation of any other powers conferred upon such local authority by any Act of Parliament, law, or custom, and such other powers may be exercised in the same manner as if this Act had not been passed. Powers of Act cumulative.

This section preserves the effect of local Acts, and where there is such an Act in force the authority will have an alternative remedy. Compare the P. H. A., 1875, s. 341, ante, p. 4522, and the P. H. A. Amendment A., 1890, s. 10 (1), ante, p. 4806.

25. Neither sections one hundred and fifty, one hundred and fifty-one, and one hundred and fifty-two of the Public Health Act, 1875, nor section forty-one of the Public Health Acts Amendment Act, 1890, shall apply to any district or part of a district in which this Act is in force. Certain sections of Public Health Acts not to apply.

This Act when in force takes the place of the sections named in the text. But proceedings already commenced under s. 150 are not made void by the adoption of this Act (Heston and Isleworth U. D. C. v. Grout, [1897] 2 Ch. 306; 26 Digest 539, 2387).

When an urban authority have adopted the Act the adoption cannot afterwards be revoked, so that they will no longer be able to exercise in any case powers under ss. 150 and 152 of the Act of 1875, ante, pp. 4388, 4423.

26. This Act shall not extend to prejudice or derogate from the estates, rights, and privileges of the Conservators of the River Thames, or render them liable to any charges or payments in respect of any of their works on or upon the shores of the River Thames. For protection of Conservators of River Thames.

See the Thames Conservancy Act, 1932.

As to that part of the Thames within the Port of London, the Port of London Authority are now the Conservators (Port of London (Consolidation) Act, 1920).

Schedule.

Part 1.

THE SCHEDULE.

PRIVATE STREET WORKS.

Sections 6, 11.

PART I.

PARTICULARS TO BE STATED IN SPECIFICATIONS, PLANS AND SECTIONS, ESTIMATES, AND PROVISIONAL APPORTIONMENTS.

Specifications.—These shall describe generally the works and things to be done, and in the case of structural works shall specify as far as may be the foundation, form, material, and dimensions thereof.

Plans and Sections.—These shall show the constructive character of the works, and the connexions (if any) with existing streets, sewers, or other works, and the lines and levels of the works, subject to such limits of deviation (if any) as shall be indicated on the plans and sections respectively.

Estimates.—These shall show the particulars of the probable cost of the whole works, including the commission provided for by this Act.

Provisional Apportionments.—These shall state the amounts charged on the respective premises and the names of the respective owners, or reputed owners (a), and shall also state whether the apportionment is made according to the frontage of the respective premises or not, and the measurements of the frontages, and the other considerations (if any) on which the apportionment is based.

The M. of H. announced in their Annual Report for 1924—25 that in view of the increase in the cost of street works since the Great War and the consequently increased burden upon frontagers in private streets their technical advisers had been in consultation with the Institution of Municipal and County Engineers with the result that a standard specification of reasonable requirements in normal circumstances had been agreed with the institution. This standard specification was published in the Journal of the Institution on June 17th, 1924.

(a) This expression means “a person whom the local authority really believe to be the owner; and a person who has been the owner, and whom the local authority has dealt with as such, is certainly a reputed owner” (per CHANNELL, J., in Wirral R. D. C. v. Carter, [1903] 1 K. B. 646; 67 J. P. 31; 26 Digest 543, 2409).

PART II.

PUBLICATION OF NOTICE.

Any resolution, notice, or other document required by this Act to be published in the manner prescribed by this Schedule shall be published once in each of two successive weeks in some local newspaper circulating within the district, and shall be publicly posted in or near the street to which it relates once at least in each of three successive weeks (a).

(a) It is not necessary that seven days should intervene between successive publications (Aberdeen (City of) v. Watt (1901), 3 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 787).

THE PUBLIC WORKS LOANS ACT, 1892.

(55 & 56 VICT. c. 61) (a).

An Act to grant Money for the purpose of certain Local Loans, and for other purposes relating to Local Loans. [28th June, 1892.]

* * * * *

2. Section ten of the Public Works Loans Act, 1875 (b), and section two of the Public Works Loans Act, 1879 (c) (which sections fix the minimum rate of interest on loans), shall, in their application to loans granted after the passing of this Act, have effect as if four per cent. were therein substituted for five per cent.

Reduction of minimum rate of interest on loans.
38 & 39 Vict. c. 89.
42 & 43 Vict. c. 77.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARIES (AMENDMENT) ACT, 1893.

(56 & 57 VICT. c. 11) (a).

An Act to amend the Public Libraries Act, 1892. [9th June, 1893.]

1. This Act may be cited as "The Public Libraries (Amendment) Act, 1893," and shall be construed as one with the Public Libraries Act, 1892 (in this Act referred to as the principal Act), and these two Acts may be together cited as the Public Libraries Acts, 1892 and 1893.

Short title.
55 & 56 Vict. c. 53

(a) See the Public Libraries Act, 1892, ante, p. 4840, the Libraries Offences Act, 1898, post, p. 4948, the Public Libraries Act, 1901, post, p. 4995, and the Public Libraries Act, 1919, post, p. 5238. As to the omission of the clause of enactment, see s. 4 of the S. L. R. A., 1894 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1020). Italicised words repealed by S. L. R. A., 1908 (op. cit. 1175).

2.—(1) Where a library district is an urban district—

(i) The principal Act may, subject to the conditions contained in the second section of that Act be adopted, and the limitation of the maximum rate to be levied for the purposes of that Act may within the limits fixed by that Act be fixed, raised, or removed (a), by a resolution of the urban authority under this Act:

Modification as to adoption, etc., in urban districts.

(ii) The consent of the urban authority given by a resolution of that authority under this Act shall be substituted in an urban district for the consent of the voters in any case when the consent of the voters is required under the principal Act.

(2) Section three of the principal Act is hereby repealed, so far as it relates to an urban district.

(a) The words in italics were repealed by Public Libraries Act, 1919, post, p. 5238.

3. (a).

(a) Section 3, which contained provisions for a resolution of an urban authority for the adoption, etc., of the principal Act, ante, p. 4840, was repealed by Public Libraries Act, 1919, s. 7, post, p. 5246. A simple resolution is alone required in an urban district.

Section 4.

Power to two or more library authorities to combine.

4.—(1) Where the principal Act is adopted for two or more neighbouring urban districts, the library authorities of those districts may by agreement combine (a) for any period for carrying the Act into execution; and the expenses of carrying the Act into execution shall be defrayed by such authorities in such proportions as may be agreed on by them.

(2) For the purposes of the Act a joint committee may be formed, the members whereof shall be appointed by the several combining authorities in such proportions as may be agreed on, but need not be members of any of the combining authorities. Any such committee shall have such of the powers of a library authority under the principal Act, except the power of borrowing money (b), as the combining authorities may agree to confer upon them.

(3) Where any of the combining authorities are improvement commissioners or a local board the provisions of the principal Act with respect to accounts and audit shall apply to such committee as if they were a local board who were a library authority under the Act (c).

(a) Power to neighbouring parishes to combine was given by the Public Libraries Act, 1892, ante, p. 4840. But see now L. G. A., 1933, ss. 91, 219, ante, pp. 854, 1057.

(b) See Public Libraries Act, 1892, s. 19, ante, p. 4846.

(c) See Public Libraries Act, 1892, s. 20, ante, p. 4846.

THE RIVERS POLLUTION PREVENTION ACT, 1893.

(56 & 57 VICT. c. 31).

An Act to explain the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876.

[27th July 1893.]

See the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876, ante, p. 4581, and the Rivers Pollution Prevention (Border Councils) Act, 1893, post, p. 4947. This Act appears to provide for a case like that before the court in Att.-Gen. v. Dorking Union Guardians, ante, p. 97, where it was held that proceedings under the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876, could not be taken against a local authority merely because a sewer vested in them polluted a stream, they themselves not having constructed or interfered with the sewer. See the notes to s. 3 of the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876, ante, p. 4583, and especially Rockford R. D. C. v. Port of London Authority, ante, p. 4585. The mere fact that a sewer is vested in a local authority under s. 20 of the P. H. A., 1936, ante, p. 47, does not make the local authority ipso facto liable for the discharge of sewage matter from the sewer into a brook (Waltham Holy Cross U. D. C. v. Lea Conservancy Board (1910), 74 J. P. 253; 103 L. T. 192; 44 Digest 47, 329, which was decided under a special Act; Titterton v. Kingsbury Collieries, Ltd. (1911), 75 J. P. 295; 104 L. T. 569; 41 Digest 35, 259).

Explanation of 39 & 40 Vict. c. 75, s. 3, as to drainage into streams.

1. Where any sewage matter falls or flows or is carried into any stream after passing through or along a channel which is vested in a sanitary authority, the sanitary authority shall, for the purposes of section three of the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876, be deemed to knowingly permit the sewage matter so to fall, flow, or be carried.

As to what sewers are vested in a local authority, see the P. H. A., 1936, s. 20, and the notes to that section, ante, p. 47. See also West Riding Rivers Board v. Linthwaite U. D. C., ante, p. 101.

Construction and short title.

2. This Act shall be construed as one with the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876; and the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876, and this Act may be cited for all purposes as the Rivers Pollution Prevention Acts, 1876 and 1893.

THE BARBED WIRE ACT, 1893.

(56 & 57 VICT. c. 32) (a).

An Act to prevent the use of Barbed Wire for Fences in Roads, Streets, Lanes, and other Thoroughfares (b). [27th July, 1893].

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as "The Barbed Wire Act, Short title. 1893."

(a) This Act concerns local authorities more in their capacity as highway authorities than as sanitary authorities.

A landowner erected upon his own land by the side of a public road in Scotland a fence of barbed wire, and the road trustees brought an action to have it removed on the ground that it was dangerous to persons and cattle lawfully using the road. The fence was placed about three feet from the boundary line between the road and the landowner's property, and stood entirely upon his land:—Held, that the action lay, but upon the defender undertaking so to alter and protect the fence as to remove the danger, the action was dismissed (Elgin Road Trustees v. Innes (1886), 14 Ct. Sess. Cas. (4th ser.) 48). The occupier of certain land adjoining a public footpath fenced it off from the footpath by barbed wire set back nine feet from the path:—Held, that he was liable in damages to a man who tore his clothes on the barbs whilst making way for other persons to pass him on the footpath (Bird v. Frost (1892), 56 J. P. 164). Plaintiff and defendant were adjoining landowners, and defendant was bound to maintain a boundary fence between their lands for their mutual benefit. Defendant caused a gap in the fence to be made up with barbed wire which was placed three feet within his own boundary. Plaintiff afterwards put a mare into his field, and she injured herself on the wire:—Held, that the wire was so placed as to be dangerous to cattle lawfully put by the plaintiff into his field, and that defendant was liable in damages for the injury to the mare (Bennett v. Blackmore (1890), 26 L. J. Newsp. 228; 90 L. T. N. 395 (Crediton County Court)). Defendants erected a fence of barbed wire between their railway line and plaintiff's farm. Sheep grazing on plaintiff's farm were injured by coming in contact with the wire:—Held, that the defendants were liable for the damage occasioned to the sheep (McQuillan v. Crommelin Iron Ore Co. (1892), 26 Ir. L. T. Rep. 15). Lands belonging to plaintiff and defendant, who were adjoining owners, were separated by an old quickset fence. This hedge the defendant dug up and replaced by a new one of young quicks, which he protected by a barbed wire fence of a very severe character, set up with the plaintiff's acquiescence on plaintiff's land. Plaintiff then turned out a mare to graze on his land, and she was injured:—Held, that the defendant was liable (Shipton v. Lucas (1892), 92 L. T. N. 297). Defendant put up a barbed wire fence separating his land from a public footpath, and plaintiff was walking along the footpath when a sudden gust of wind blew his coat against the fence and it was torn. No negligence or want of skill or care in the erection of the fence was imputed to the defendant, but the county court judge held that the fence as constructed and placed was dangerous to the public using the footpath and a nuisance. This decision was affirmed on appeal to the High Court (Stewart v. Wright (1893), 57 J. P. 137; affirmed 9 T. L. R. 480; 7 Digest 286, 153). And in an Irish case of Collen v. Ellis (1893), 32 L. R. Ir. 491, it was held that a barbed wire fence by the side of a highway may be an obstruction to the free passage thereof.

A valuable collection and review of the American cases on the subject will be found in 95 L. T. Jo. 419.

Upon similar principles a rotten fence abutting a highway is a nuisance, and if it be the cause of any accident, the owner of the fence is liable (Harrold v. Watney, [1898] 2 Q. B. 320; 36 Digest 69, 443). But a defendant is not liable in respect of a nuisance created on his premises by trespassers (Barker v. Herbert, [1911] 2 K. B. 633; 75 J. P. 481; 36 Digest 197, 374), if he does not, and cannot reasonably be expected to know of its existence. This case was distinguished in Horridge v. Makinson (1915), 79 J. P. 484; 84 L. J. K. B. 1294; 26 Digest 542, 2407. And see Robbins v. Jones, ante, p. 4211, and Sedleigh-Denfield v. O'Callaghan, [1940] A. C. 880; [1940] 3 All E. R. 349; Digest Supp.

(b) This title must not be taken to limit the meaning of the term "highway" as used in the Act. A cul-de-sac may be a highway (Bateman v. Bluck (1852), 18 Q. B. 870; 17 J. P. 4; 26 Digest 263, 41; Young v. Cuihbertson (1854), 1 Macq. 455; 26 Digest 264, 43).

2. In this Act—

The expression "barbed wire" means any wire with spikes or jagged projections; and the expression "nuisance to a highway" as applied to barbed wire, means barbed wire which may probably be injurious to persons or animals lawfully using such highway:

Interpretation.

Section 2.

In England and Wales the expression "local authority" means any county council, any urban sanitary authority, any sanitary authority in London, any highway board, and any other local authorities existing, or that may be hereafter created by Parliament, having control over highways (a).

(a) Italicised words repealed by S. L. R. A., 1908 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1175). The remainder of this section only applies to Scotland and Ireland. The Act no longer applies to rural district councils whose highway functions ceased on their transference to county councils by the L. G. A., 1929, s. 30, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 904.

Removal of barbed wire
to highway.

3.—(1) Where there is on any land adjoining a highway within the county or district of a local authority a fence made with barbed wire, or in or on which barbed wire has been placed, and such barbed wire is a nuisance to such highway, it shall be lawful for such local authority to serve (a) notice in writing upon the occupier of such land requiring him within a time therein stated (not to be less than one month nor more than six months after the date of the notice) to abate such nuisance.

(2) If on the expiration of the time stated in the notice the occupier shall have failed to comply therewith, it shall be lawful for the local authority to apply to a court of summary jurisdiction (b), and such court, if satisfied that the said barbed wire is a nuisance to such highway, may by summary order (c) direct the occupier to abate such nuisance; and on his failure to comply with such order within a reasonable time the local authority may do whatever may be necessary in execution of the order, and recover in a summary manner the expenses incurred in connexion therewith (d).

(a) As to service of notices, see s. 26 of the Highway Act, 1864 (9 Halsbury's Statutes 150). And upon the whole text compare s. 93 of the P. H. A., 1936, ante, p. 300.

(b) As defined by s. 13 (11) of the Interpretation Act, 1889 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 997).

(c) Without appeal, except by case stated under s. 33 of the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 341).

(d) The next sub-section relates only to Ireland.

Proceedings where local authority is occupier of the land.

4. Where the local authority are the occupiers of the land, proceedings under this Act may be taken by any ratepayer within the district of the local authority, and a notice to the local authority to abate the nuisance shall be deemed to be properly served if it is served upon the clerk of the local authority, and any ratepayer taking proceedings may do all acts and things which a local authority is empowered to do.

local authority.

5. Any expenses incurred by a local authority in the execution of this Act shall be defrayed in like manner as the expenses of the local authority incurred in respect of any highways (a).

(a) See L. G. A., 1933, ss. 181, 185, 188, 191, ante, pp. 1009, 1013, 1015, 1019.

THE LAW OF COMMONS AMENDMENT ACT, 1893.

Section 1.

(56 & 57 VICT. c. 57.)

An Act to amend the Law relating to Commons (a). [22nd September, 1893.]

1. This Act may be cited for all purposes as the "Law of Commons Amendment Act, 1893." Short title of Act.

(a) See the Commons Act, 1876, ante, p. 4563. Reference may also be made to the Law of Property Act, 1925, ss. 193 and 194, Vol. V. and 15 Halsbury's Statutes 371, 373.

2. An inclosure or approvement of any part of a common purporting to be made under the Statute of Merton (a) and the Statute of Westminster the Second (b), or either of such statutes, shall not be valid unless it is made with the consent of the Board of Agriculture (c). Consent of Board of Agriculture essential to inclosure.

(a) 1235; 2 Halsbury's Statutes 424.

(b) 1285; op. cit. 426.

(c) Now Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries.

3. In giving or withholding their consent under this Act, the Board (a) shall have regard to the same considerations, and shall, if necessary, hold the same inquiries as are directed by the Commons Act, 1876 (b), to be taken into consideration, and held by the Board before forming an opinion whether an application under the Inclosure Acts shall be acceded to or not. Conditions of consent.

(a) Now Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries.

(b) Commons Act, 1876, ante, p. 4563.

4. Nothing in this Act shall preclude his Majesty, his heirs and successors, or any person whatsoever whose rights or interests are affected by any inclosure or approvement, from taking any proceedings by way of information, action, or otherwise, for the abatement of such inclosure or approvement, and the protection of such rights and interests. Saving of existing rights.

THE PUBLIC AUTHORITIES PROTECTION ACT, 1893 (a).

(56 & 57 VICT. c. 61.)

An Act to generalise and amend certain statutory provisions for the Protection of Persons acting in the execution of Statutory and other Public Duties. [5th December 1893.]

1. Where [after the commencement of this Act] any action, prosecution, or other proceeding (b) is commenced in the United Kingdom against any person (bb) for any act done in pursuance, or execution, or intended execution of any Act of Parliament (c), or of any public duty or authority (d), or in respect of any alleged neglect or default in the execution of any such Act, duty, or authority, the following provisions shall (dd) have effect: Protection of persons acting in execution of statutory or other public duty.

(a) The action, prosecution, or proceeding shall not lie or be instituted unless it is commenced within six months next after the act, neglect, or default complained of, or, in case of a continuance of injury or damage, within six months next after the ceasing thereof (e):

(b) Wherever in any such action a judgment is obtained by the defendant, it shall carry costs to be taxed as between solicitor and client (f):

Section 1.

- (c) Where the proceeding is an action for damages, tender of amends before the action was commenced may, in lieu of or in addition to any other plea, be pleaded. If the action was commenced after the tender, or is proceeded with after payment into court of any money in satisfaction of the plaintiff's claim, and the plaintiff does not recover more than the sum tendered or paid, he shall not recover any costs incurred after the tender or payment, and the defendant shall be entitled to costs, to be taxed as between solicitor and client, as from the time of the tender or payment (g) : but this provision shall not affect costs on any injunction in the action :
- (d) If, in the opinion of the court, the plaintiff has not given the defendant a sufficient opportunity of tendering amends before the commencement of the proceeding the court may award to the defendant costs to be taxed as between solicitor and client.

This section shall not affect any proceedings by any department of the Government against any local authority or officer of a local authority (h).

(a) This Act took the place of s. 264 of the P. H. A., 1875, and similar sections in other Acts, which it repealed. It abolished notice of action in every case, but limits the time within which proceedings may be instituted against a local authority. It was held applicable to an action in respect of a right of action accrued before it was passed (The Ydun, [1899] P. 236 ; 38 Digest 101, 727).

"Action,
or other proceeding."

(b) It is rather doubtful if these words now amount to anything more than the single word "action." Formerly they were repeated in para. (a), but now do not appear in any of the paragraphs of the section or in s. 21 of the Limitation Act, 1939, Vol. V., post (see note (e), post, p. 4885). Consequently there now are no "following provisions" dealing with anything but actions. To such extent as they still have any effect, however, the words do not include interlocutory applications or appeals ; they include actions for an injunction or declaration, whether coupled with a claim for damages or not (Fielden v. Morley Corporation, [1900] A. C. 133 ; 64 J. P. 484 ; 38 Digest 120, 864 ; Harrop v. Ossett Corporation, [1898] 1 Ch. 525 ; 62 J. P. 297 ; 38 Digest 120, 863 ; Toms v. Clacton U. D. C. (1898), 62 J. P. 505 ; 38 Digest 107, 766 ; Grand Junction Waterworks Co. v. Hampton U. D. C. (1899), 63 J. P. 503 ; 15 T. L. R. 412 ; 38 Digest 112, 803 ; Ambler v. Bradford Corporation, infra). These cases were followed and approved in Graigola Merthyr Co., Ltd. v. Swansea Corporation, [1929] A. C. 344 ; 93 J. P. 121 ; 38 Digest 113, 804, in which the House of Lords held that the Act applied to a quia timet action. See, however, Farquhar and Gill v. Aberdeen Magistrates, [1912] S. C. 1294 ; 28 Digest 469, q, where the LORD PRESIDENT said that he did not see how the Act could be prayed in aid in a question of interdict, since the court can only grant interdict against a continuing wrong. And see also Att.-Gen. v. West Ham Corporation, [1910] 2 Ch. 560, at p. 570 ; 74 J. P. 406, at p. 408 ; 38 Digest 121, 873, where the court held that the Act applied in respect of Acts completed more than six months before action, but granted a declaration in respect of overdrafts from a bank which amounted to a continuing illegality. And see Att.-Gen. v. Lewes Corporation, [1911] 2 Ch. 495 ; 76 J. P. 1 ; 38 Digest 130, 959 ; Hart v. St. Marylebone Borough Council (1912), 76 J. P. 257.

The Act applies to claims by infants against a public authority (Jacobs v. L. C. C., Shaw v. L. C. C., [1935] 1 K. B. 67 ; 99 J. P. 10 ; Digest Supp.).

An action for an account of fair tolls is within the Act (Newcastle (Duke of) v. Workson U. D. C., [1902] 2 Ch. 145 ; 38 Digest 108, 775) ; but it has no application to an action in rem (The Burns, [1907] P. 137 ; 71 J. P. 193 ; 38 Digest 122, 894) ; nor to claims for compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Acts (Fry v. Cheltenham Corporation (1911), 76 J. P. 89 ; 81 L. J. K. B. 41 ; 38 Digest 123, 910), or under the Lands Clauses Acts (Glasgow Corporation v. Miller (1905), 13 Sc. L. T. 167), or indeed, it would seem, under any Act (Delany v. Metropolitan Board of Works, post, p. 4888 ; Glasgow Corporation v. Smithfield and Argentine Meat Co., [1912] S. C. 364 (compensation for condemned meat). The Act does not apply to an action brought against a police authority for compensation under the Riot (Damages) Act, 1886 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 844) (Kaufmann Brothers v. Liverpool Corporation, [1916] 1 K. B. 860; 80 J. P. 223; 38 Digest 122, 899). Nor does it apply to an action for an indemnity brought against a public authority under s. 6 (2) of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, by the employer of a workman injured by the negligence of the defendant's servant (Tuckwood v. Rotherham Corporation, [1921] 1 K. B. 526; 85 J. P. 101; 38 Digest 123, 911). Nor does it apply to proceedings for a rule nisi for quo warranto against a clerk claiming to act as returning officer (R. v. Carter (1904), 68 J. P. 466; 38 Digest 121, 887); nor to an application for a certiorari to quash an auditor's surcharge (Roberts v. Battersea Borough Council (1914), 78 J. P. 265; 38 Digest 119, 861). See also R. v. L. G. C., Ex parte Swan & Edgar (1927), Ltd. (1929), 141 L. T. 590; 45 T. L. R. 512; Digest Supp. Whether it applies to applications for a prohibition or a mandamus was discussed but not decided in R. v. Kensington Income Tax Commissioners, [1913] 3 K. B. 870; 38 Digest 121, 888. In R. v. Hertford Union, Ex parte Pollard (1914), 78 J. P. 405; 38 Digest 121, 884, AVORY, J., held that the now repealed six months' limitation did not apply to the prerogative writ of mandamus. See the decision of the Court of Appeal in R. v. Port of London Authority, Ex parte Kynoch, Ltd., [1919] 1 K. B. 176; 83 J. P. 41; 38 Digest 121, 885; and see also R. v. Marshland, Smeth and Fen District Commissioners, [1920] 1 K. B. 155; 83 J. P. 253; 38 Digest 121, 886.

Where an action for damages for a personal injury was begun within the then limit of six months and after the expiration of the now repealed six months but before trial a motion to amend the amount of damages claimed was made, the amendment was allowed (Mackie v. Glasgow Corporation, [1924] S. L. T. 510), but after the expiration of the period neither the writ (Marshall v. London Passenger Transport Board, [1936] 3 All E. R. 83; Digest Supp.; National Provincial Board v. Gaint, [1942] 2 All E. R. 112) nor the statement of claim (Batting v. London Passenger Transport Board, [1941] 1 All E. R. 228) can be amended so as to raise a fresh cause of action.

It appears to be somewhat doubtful whether the Act applies to a case in which a claim to land is in question. See Cross v. Rix (1912), 77 J. P. 84; 29 T. L. R. 85; 38 Digest 121, 876. Where an authority procured themselves to be added as defendants in an action, it was held that it had not been "commenced" against them, and that the Act did not apply to it (McRobert v. Reid (1914), 51 Sc. L. R. 500).

(bb) The protection of the Act extends to municipal or local authorities in the "Any execution of duties not strictly municipal or official, but arising in connection with person." commercial enterprises which they are empowered by Parliament to undertake, such as building a hospital (Harrop v. Ossett, ante, p. 4876), supplying water (Fielden v. Morley Corporation, ante, p. 4876), or acting as a port and harbour authority (The Ydun, ante, p. 4876), or as a tramway authority (Parker v. London C. C., infra; Lyles v. Southend-on-Sea Corporation, p. 4880, post; Spittal v. City of Glasgow Corporation (1904), 6 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 828; 38 Digest 129, i).

In The Johannesburg, [1907] P. 65; 38 Digest 103, 733, where many of the previous decisions were reviewed, it was argued that the Act only applied to persons exercising powers on behalf of the public as a whole, such as a municipal corporation, and did not apply to a port authority (the Tyne Commissioners), but the argument did not prevail. The Act applies to an authority's officers and servants acting under its orders (Greenwell v. Howell, p. 4880, post), but not to their contractors (Tilling, Ltd. v. Dick, Kerr & Co., Ltd., post, p. 4879). As to its applicability to independent officials and individuals performing a statutory duty, see Salisbury v. Gould and Wilson v. Mackay, p. 4880, post, and cf. Doust v. Slater, p. 4881, post. See also Weir v. Thomas (1914), 79 J. P. 54; 38 Digest 106, 758, where an action was brought against a medical officer of health and a sanitary inspector for alleged negligence in failing to inform the plaintiff that certain meat was unfit for human food and it was held that the officers in question were entitled to the protection of the Act. In a case where two assistant medical officers at a county council hospital were alleged to have performed an operation negligently, it was held that the protection of the Act applied, since the duty imposed on the county council was one which could only be performed by individuals and that consequently the officers were officers of a public authority performing the public duty imposed on that authority (Nelson v. Cookson, [1940] 1 K. B. 100; [1939] 4 All E. R. 30; 103 J. P. 363; Digest Supp.).

It has been held that a company incorporated by Act of Parliament not only for the performance of duties of public utility, but also for the purpose of earning profits, is not entitled to the benefit of the Act (Att.-Gen. v. Margate Pier and Harbour Co., [1900] 1 Ch. 749; 64 J. P. 405; 38 Digest 102, 734). In a later case the Court of Appeal pointedly refrained from expressing an opinion whether the Act applied to profit-earning companies (Jeremiah Ambler & Sons v. Bradford Corporation, [1902] 2 Ch. 585; 66 J. P. 708; 38 Digest 102, 736); but in a still later case CHANNELL, J., referred to Att.-Gen. v. Margate Pier and Harbour Co., supra, in terms which appear to show that the decision met with his approval (Parker v. London C. C., [1904] 2 K. B. 501; 68 J. P. 239; 38 Digest 103, 739); and see also the remarks of VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, L.J., in Lyles v. Southend-on-Sea Corporation, p. 4880, post, and English v. Metropolitan Water Board, infra. In a Scotch case it was held that the Act does not protect commercial companies, and that when the liabilities and powers of such a company are transferred to a public authority, such authority cannot as to a liability to which they have succeeded rely upon the statute any more than their predecessors could have done (Lanarkshire Upper Ward District Committee v. Airdrie, Coatbridge and District Water Trustees (1906), 8 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 777; 38 Digest 105, b). See also on the latter point, English v. Metropolitan Water Board, [1907] 1 K. B. 588; 71 J. P. 313; 38 Digest 106, 756. In Ireland it has been held that the Act has no application in the case of trustees of a loan fund society sued for breach and neglect of their duties as such trustees (O'Brien v. Mitchelstown Loan Fund, [1903] 1 I. R. 282).

Note to
Section 1.

(c) "The Public Authorities Protection Act, 1893, is wanted only if the acts complained of are illegal. It may be an answer to the action that those acts were legal or gave no cause of action; but it is unnecessary to consider this, if though the acts were illegal, they are acts in respect of which an action can only lie if brought within the statutory limit of time. . . . To require the application of the . . . Act, the acts must be acts not authorised by any statute or legal justification, but acts intended to be done in pursuance or execution of some statute or legal power. It would appear, therefore, if illegal acts are really done from some motive other than an honest desire to execute the statutory or other legal duty and an honest belief that they are justified by statutory or other legal authority; if they are done from a desire to injure a person or to assist some person or cause, without any honest belief that they are covered by statutory authority or are necessary in the execution of statutory authority, the . . . Act is no defence, for the acts complained of are not done in intended execution of a statute but only in pretended execution thereof. In the same way as to 'defaults' which in my view cover simple omissions to do something which is required by statute to be done, if it can be proved that the default is the result of motives or intentions specified above, motives other than the desire and intention to perform statutory duty, the Act would not give protection. But a default in executing the statute from no positive motive or intention, but from simple forgetfulness or ignorance, would not lose the protection of the statute. . . . In my opinion, when a defendant appears to be acting as a member of a public body under statutory authority and pleads the Public Authorities Protection Act, the plaintiff can defeat that claim by proving on sufficient evidence that the defendant was not really intending to act in pursuance of the statutory authority, but was using his pretended authority for some improper motive, such as spite, or a purpose entirely outside statutory justification. When defendants are found purporting to execute a statute, the burden of proof, in my opinion, is on the plaintiffs to prove the existence of the dishonest motives above described and the absence of any honest desire to execute the statute, and such existence and absence should only be found on strong and cogent evidence." Per SCRUTTON, L.J., in Scammell and Nephew, Ltd. v. Hurley, [1929] 1 K. B. 419, at p. 427; 93 J. P. 99; Digest Supp. In that case members of an electricity committee of a borough council who had cut off the supply of electric power during the general strike in order to preserve the supply of light, were held to be protected by the Act.

"Pursuance, execution or intended execution of Act."

The phrase "Act of Parliament" includes a private Act (Bennett v. Stepney Borough Council, p. 4880, post).

An action brought by a contractor, officer or servant against a local authority for breach of contract is not within this provision (Davies v. Swansea Corporation (1853), 8 Ex. 808; 17 J. P. 649; 38 Digest 108, 779; Clarke v. Lewisham Borough Council (1902), 67 J. P. 195; 19 T. L. R. 62; 38 Digest 109, 781). In National Telephone

Co. v. Kingston-upon-Hull Corporation (1903), 89 L. T. 291 ; 52 W. R. 26 ; 38 Digest 109, 782, BUCKLEY, J., held that the Act did not apply to a case which turned upon the construction of a contract and the effect of acts done under that contract ; and it has been held that it does not apply to an action brought by a contractor where the cause of action alleged is a fraud which induced him to make his contract with the authority (Pearson v. Dublin Corporation, [1907] A. C. 351 ; 38 Digest 101, 731). See also Sharpington v. Fulham Guardians, [1904] 2 Ch. 449 ; 68 J. P. 510 ; 38 Digest 109, 783 ; Lyles v. Southend-on-Sea Corporation, post, p. 4880 ; and M'Phie v. Greenock Magistrates (1904), 7 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 246 ; 38 Digest 108, 778 iii ; Bradford Corporation v. Myers, post, p. 4884 ; and Hayes v. King's County C. C., [1917] 2 I. R. 496 ; 38 Digest 122, 901 i. An act done in relation to a contract may be tortious (see Sachs v. Henderson, [1902] 1 K. B. 612 ; 42 Digest 971, 26 ; Du Pasquier v. Cadbury, Jones & Co., Limited, [1903] 1 K. B. 104 ; 42 Digest 969, 13). The Act does not apply to actions for the price of goods sold and delivered, and for work and labour done (Milford Docks Co. v. Milford Haven U. D. C. (1901), 65 J. P. 483 ; 38 Digest 109, 780) ; nor to an action brought in respect of an act done by an independent contractor employed by a public authority in pursuance of his contract with them (Kent C. C. v. Folkestone Corporation, [1905] 1 K. B. 620 ; 69 J. P. 125 ; 38 Digest 105, 755). In such circumstances neither the public authority (Kent C. C. v. Folkestone Corporation, supra), nor the contractor (Tilling (T.), Limited v. Dick, Kerr & Co., Limited, [1905] 1 K. B. 562 ; 69 J. P. 172 ; 38 Digest 103, 737), can claim the benefit of the Act. It was also held that an action brought to set aside an adjustment agreement made between two local authorities upon the creation of a new urban district was not within the Act (Holsworthy U. D. C. v. Holsworthy R. D. C., [1907] 2 Ch. 62 ; 71 J. P. 330 ; 38 Digest 121, 878). The council of a metropolitan borough in which the Public Libraries Act, 1892, ante, p. 4840, was in force, in the course of demolishing some old premises for the purpose of erecting a free library, made a hole in the wall of the adjoining owner's premises and did damage. In an action for damages brought by the adjoining owner subsequent to the expiration of six months after the act complained of, the council pleaded the statute, but it was held that it did not apply (Walsh v. Southwark Borough Council (1908), 72 J. P. 71 ; 38 Digest 108, 776).

A watch committee in dismissing a constable are acting in the intended performance of their duties under the M. C. Act, 1882, and are protected by the Statute (Kiduff v. Wilson, [1939] 1 All E. R. 429 ; 103 J. P. 59 ; Digest Supp.).

The P. H. A., 1875, s. 264 (now repealed), was held inapplicable to an action which was in substance merely an action of ejectment (Foat (or Holder) v. Margate Corporation (1883), 11 Q. B. D. 299 ; 47 J. P. 535 ; 38 Digest 121, 875), and it is doubtful if the present Act applies to such actions. See Gross v. Rix (1912), 77 J. P. 84 ; 29 T. L. R. 85 ; 38 Digest 121, 876, a claim for damage done in assertion of a proprietary right in land.

In Grant (William) and Sons, Ltd. v. Dufftown Magistrates, [1924] S. C. 952 ; [1924] S. L. T. 657 ; 38 Digest 131, m, the Scots courts held that an action to determine the question of competing water rights was not within the Act. In that case the defendants who were the water authority for the burgh did not rely upon any Act of Parliament or public duty as entitling them to impound the water objected to by the plaintiffs.

An action for an injunction to restrain a council from using land as a cemetery except beyond a radius of 100 yards from a dwelling-house (as required by s. 9 of the Burial Act, 1855 ; 2 Halsbury's Statutes 221) is an action against them for an act done in pursuance of a public duty within the meaning of the Act (Toms v. Clacton U. D. C. (1898), 62 J. P. 505 ; 78 L. T. 712 ; 38 Digest 107, 766). So also is an action to restrain a council from erecting a fire engine station on surplus land, part of which has been sold under restrictive conditions (Holford v. Acton U. D. C., [1898] 2 Ch. 240 ; 40 Digest 310, 2656).

Where a sanitary authority serve a notice requiring abatement of a nuisance in connection with a supposed "drain," and in the course of works carried out in compliance with the notice it is discovered that the supposed drain is a "sewer," and that the authority was liable to do the repairs required by the notice, an action to recover from the authority the cost of the repairs as money paid to their use is an action for an act done in pursuance and execution, or intended execution, of an Act of Parliament or of a public duty or authority within the meaning of the text (Gree v. St. Pancras Vestry, [1899] 1 Q. B. 693 ; 38 Digest 107, 764 ; following Waterhouse v. Keen, and Midland Rail. Co. v. Withington L. B., post, p. 4882). These cases were all discussed and followed in Brocklebank v. R., [1925] 1 K. B. 52 ; 132 L. T. 166.

Section 1.

The words of the section were held wide enough to embrace an action for damages by a passenger who, while travelling on a tramcar belonging to a municipal corporation, was injured owing to the negligence of the corporation's servants, his cause of action, in the opinion of the court, not depending on contract, but arising out of a breach of the duty to carry him safely cast upon the corporation by the fact of his being a passenger whom by the terms of their Light Railway Order they could not refuse to carry (Lyles v. Southend-on-Sea Corporation, [1905] 2 K. B. 1 ; 69 J. P. 193 ; 38 Digest 102, 733).

An officer of a county council, to which the duties of a district council as to a public right of way within their district under s. 26 of the L. G. A., 1894, post, p. 4907, had been duly transferred under ibid., sub-s. (4), drove along the way by direction of the county council in assertion of the public right to use it as a highway. The owner of the land having brought an action for trespass against the officer, judgment was for the defendant. Held, that the action was commenced for an act done in pursuance or execution of an Act of Parliament within the meaning of the text (Greenwell v. Howell, [1900] 1 Q. B. 535 ; 38 Digest 105, 751). Where a district council abated an encroachment upon a main road vested in the county council, and successfully defended an action brought against them for so doing, it was held that they were entitled under the Act to costs as between solicitor and client (Harvey v. Truro R. D. C., [1903] 2 Ch. 638 ; 68 J. P. 51 ; 38 Digest 107, 773).

Although not actually deciding the point, GRANTHAM, J., expressed the opinion that a medical practitioner in private practice, who negligently diagnoses a non-infectious illness and notifies it as an infectious one, thereby causing damage to the patient, would be within the protection of the Act (Salisbury v. Gould (1904), 68 J. P. 158 ; 38 Digest 104, 744). There would appear to be no doubt so far as regards medical practitioners employed by a local authority and acting as such at the time (see Nelson v. Cookson, ante, p. 4877).

An action was brought against the commanding officer of a Volunteer corps in respect of a street accident alleged to be due to his negligence in selecting horses and drivers for an ammunition waggon. It was held that as the cause of action alleged was his neglect of duty in his public capacity of commanding officer training his corps, the action was within the Act (Wilson v. Mackay (1904), 7 F. 168).

The Act was held to apply to an action for libel by a schoolmaster against a school board in whose employment he had been, in respect of statements contained in a resolution of the board stating the reasons for the master's dismissal (Reid v. Blisland School Board (1901), 17 T. L. R. 626 ; 38 Digest 107, 771) ; also to an action for malicious prosecution (Bostock v. Ramsey U. D. C., post, p. 4889). A public official acting in the exercise of a statutory or other authority is not protected by the Act if he acts maliciously, but malice cannot be presumed from the fact that he is mistaken as to his authority if he bona fide believes that he is acting under the powers conferred upon him. So held in an action by an Inspector of Schools against a Resident Commissioner in Ireland alleging malice and abuse of authority (Newell v. Starkie, [1919] 2 Ir. R. 325 ; 83 J. P. 113 ; 38 Digest 119, 854).

A servant of a council who for some years had paid contributions to a superannuation fund under a private Act was dismissed, and brought an action for the recovery of his contributions which he alleged to be due to him on his dismissal. It was held that as the action was brought more than six months (the then period of limitation) after the alleged default of the defendants, s. 1 of this Act applied, and the action was not maintainable (Bennett v. Stepney Borough Council (1912), 76 J. P. 473 ; 107 L. T. 383 ; 38 Digest 101, 730). See also McManus v. Boves, [1938] 1 K. B. 98 ; [1937] 3 All E. R. 227 ; 101 J. P. 455 ; Digest Supp. In a further case where an officer of a council sued for arrears of salary which the council had reduced during a long period of illness, it was held on the facts that he was entitled to recover but that his claim was barred in respect of salary accruing due more than six months before the issue of the writ since the council were entitled to the protection of this Act (Compton v. West Ham Borough Council, [1939] Ch. 771 ; [1939] 3 All E. R. 193 ; 103 J. P. 271 ; Digest Supp.). So too where an officer brought an action to recover his fees as registration officer (Mountain v. Bermondsey Borough Council, [1942] 1 K. B. 204 ; [1941] 3 All E. R. 498 ; 106 J. P. 71).

A shipowner brought an unsuccessful action against the Tyne Improvement Commissioners in respect of damage done by a fire on one of their staiths. He failed, and, in opposition to an application for solicitor and client costs, contended that the defendants were not sued in respect of an act done in the intended execution of a public duty, as the negligence and breach of duty alleged against them was in respect of unauthorised works. It was held that the defendants erected and worked the staith in "intended execution" of statutory powers; and, if in constructing it they had deviated a little from such powers, adjoining owners were the only people entitled to complain, and the plaintiff could not rely on that fact (The Johannesburg, [1907] P. 65; 38 Digest 103, 738).

The following cases, mostly as to the necessity for "notice before action," were decided under earlier Acts upon such expressions as "anything done or intended to be done or omitted to be done under the provisions of this Act," or the like.

A defendant contracted with a local board for the digging of wells, the work to be done to the satisfaction of the board or their surveyor, and the digging to be done under the direction of the surveyor. A hole made in digging one of the wells in a highway was left without sufficient light, and the plaintiff's horse fell into it. For the damage thereby occasioned, the plaintiff brought an action without notice. Held, that the defendant was a person acting under the direction of the local board within the meaning of s. 139 of the P. H. A., 1848, and that the action was in respect of something "done or intended to be done under the provisions of" the Act (Newton v. Ellis (1855), 5 El. & Bl. 115; 19 J. P. 805; 38 Digest 104, 745).

The plaintiff and defendant were occupiers of adjoining houses separated by a covered passage. The house of the defendant was a publichouse, and the public were accustomed to commit nuisances against the wall of the plaintiff's house. The district board thereupon directed their inspector of nuisances to cause a urinal to be put up against the plaintiff's wall, and the inspector gave authority to the defendant to erect it, which he accordingly did, the district board paying a portion of the expense. It was held that the defendant, having acted as the inspector's delegate, in a matter intended to be done under the provisions of the Act, was entitled to notice of action under the Metropolis Management Amendment Act, 1862, s. 106 (Chambers v. Reid (1866), 30 J. P. 231; 13 L. T. 703; 38 Digest 105, 753). But where under the same Act a district board required a person to drain into a sewer, and in doing so he committed a trespass, it was held that he was acting, not under the orders or directions of the board, or by their authority, but simply in performance of a duty imposed upon him by statute, which, if he omitted, the board were empowered to call upon him to perform (Doust v. Slater (1869), 10 B. & S. 400; 33 J. P. 581; 38 Digest 105, 754). But, semble, the present Act might apply to a person so acting.

A contractor, employed by the Metropolitan Board of Works to enlarge a sewer, erected in it a dam, the water above which was removed by pumping. Owing to his negligence in not working the pumps, the sewage flowed back into the plaintiff's premises and injured them. Held, that the injury was occasioned by acts "done or intended to be done" under the powers of the board under the Metropolis Management Amendment Act, 1862, within the meaning of s. 106 thereof (Poulsom v. Thirst (1867), L. R. 2 C. P. 449; 38 Digest 104, 747). A contractor under a district board was engaged in constructing a sewer, and employed men with horses and carts. The men were allowed an hour for dinner, but were not permitted to go home, or to leave their horses and carts. One of them went home, about a quarter of a mile out of the direct line of his work, to his dinner, and left his horse unattended in the street before his door. The horse ran away, and damaged certain railings belonging to the plaintiff. The jury found that the driver was acting within the scope of his employment. It was held that the thing complained of was not a thing "done or intended to be done under" the powers of the board under the Act of 1862 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 965) (Whitman v. Pearson (1868), L. R. 3 C. P. 422; 38 Digest 104, 748).

The plaintiff was a driver employed by contractors, who had contracted with the defendants to provide horses and drivers for their carts used in watering the streets under the powers of the Metropolis Management Acts. The defendants negligently supplied a cart with a defective axle, by reason whereof the plaintiff, while watering the streets, was thrown off and injured. It was held that the supply of the water-cart to the plaintiff for the purpose of watering the streets was a thing "done or intended to be done" under the Acts (Edwards v. St. Mary, Islington (Vestry of) (1889), 22 Q. B. D. 338; 53 J. P. 180; 38 Digest 107, 765).

Section 1.

The defendants, a local board, left unfenced a goit adjoining a public footpath within their district, by reason whereof the plaintiff's husband, while using the footpath, fell into the goit and was drowned. It was held that the alleged cause of action being the continued non-performance of a duty imposed upon them by the P. H. A., 1848, and therefore a thing "done or intended to be done under" the provisions of the Act, the defendants were entitled to notice of action (Wilson v. Halifax (Mayor, etc. of), ante, p. 4352). Per KELLY, C.B.: "It is now settled by authority that an omission to do something that ought to be done in order to the complete performance of a duty imposed upon a public body under an Act of Parliament, or the continuing to leave any such duty unperformed, amounts to an act done or intended to be done within the meaning of those clauses requiring notice of action for the protection of public bodies acting in the discharge of public duties under Acts of Parliament."

The defendants, surveyors of highways, received payment from the plaintiff of an assessment upon a highway rate which had been improperly or irregularly made. They had intended to act in the performance of the duties of their office. In an action to recover back the money, it was held that the acts complained of were done "in pursuance of" the Highway Act, 1835 (9 Halsbury's Statutes 50). Per LUSH, J.: "The question was whether the defendants in making the rate intended to do what they were authorised to do. It is clear that they bona fide believed they were doing what the law allowed, and that is all that is needed to entitle them to the protection of the statute." Per BLACKBURN, J.: "It has long been decided that such a provision is intended to protect persons from the consequences of committing illegal acts which are intended to be done under the authority of an Act of Parliament, but which by some mistake are not justified by its terms, and cannot be defended by its provisions" (Selmes v. Judge (1871), L. R. 6 Q. B. 724; sub nom. Judge v. Selmes, 35 J. P. 645; 38 Digest 117, 839).

Where a local board having authority to moor a landing-stage in a navigable river, fastened it with an anchor, but omitted to bury the same properly, by reason of which omission a vessel in navigating the river suffered damage, it was held that their omission amounted to an "act done or intended to be done" under the provisions of the statute in question (Jolliffe v. Wallacey L. B. (1873), L. R. 9 C. P. 62; 38 J. P. 40; 38 Digest 112, 800).

To an action for slander the defendant pleaded that the words were spoken while he was acting as clerk of the markets, in pursuance of the Acts relating to municipal corporations in Ireland, which entitled him to a month's notice of action for any act done "in pursuance of" them. The plea was held good, for the words spoken while acting in pursuance of the statutes were as much within their protection as acts done (Murray v. McSwinnney (1876), Ir. Rep. 9 C. L. 545); see, however, Royal Aquarium, etc. Society v. Parkinson, [1892] 1 Q. B. 431; 56 J. P. 404; 38 Digest 78, 553.

The omission to repair the handrail of a bridge over a brook was held to be something done in pursuance of, or under the authority of, the Highway Act, 1835, so as to require notice (under s. 109) of an action for an injury sustained by reason of such omission (Holland v. Northwich Highway Board (1876), 40 J. P. 517; 34 L. T. 137; 38 Digest 112, 801).

The defendant authority gave to the plaintiffs notice to pave a street under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 150, ante, p. 4388, and on default themselves executed the work, and the plaintiffs on demand paid the amount apportioned on them. Both parties then believed that the street was not a highway repairable by the inhabitants, but some time afterwards it was discovered that it was such a highway, and the plaintiffs sued to recover back the amount. It was held that the claim was for something "done, or omitted to be done," under the Act (Midland Rail. Co. v. Withington L. B. (1883), 11 Q. B. D. 788; 47 J. P. 789; 38 Digest 123, 905; following Waterhouse v. Keen (1825), 4 B. & C. 200; 38 Digest 123, 908, and Selmes v. Judge, supra).

A local board constructed a pier under powers given by Provisional Order and confirming Act. The Order vested the pier in the board, and provided that expenses incidental to it should be discharged out of the general district rate. The plaintiffs were admitted to the pier as passengers of a steamboat company, who paid a rent to the board for the right to land passengers. While so using the pier the plaintiffs were injured by the negligence of the board or their servants. It was held that an action for such negligence was not an action for anything "done or intended to be done or omitted to be done" under the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 4331 (Ongley v. Chatham L. B. (1887), 3 T. L. R. 706; affirmed 4 T. L. R. 6; 38 Digest 110, 787).

Section 1.

An action was brought to recover penalties under the local Acts authorising the construction of the Swansea Waterworks. By these Acts the defendants were bound to keep up a flow of minimum quantities of water into certain streams for the benefit of persons interested, including the plaintiff. In case of failure otherwise than through inevitable accident the defendants were liable to pay daily penalties and compensation. It was held that the claim was for things "done or intended to be done or omitted to be done" under the Acts (Lewis & Sons v. Swansea (Corporation of), W. N. (1887), p. 234).

(d) The institution of a prosecution is not a "public duty" because it cannot be legally enforced and the limitation of time imposed by the Act does not, therefore, apply to an action for malicious prosecution against a public authority (Hartin v. London C. C. (1929), 93 J. P. 160; 45 T. L. R. 318; Digest Supp.).

The words "public authority" include a Provisional Order for an electric lighting undertaking duly confirmed by statute: see Chamberlain and Hookham v. Bradford Corporation (1900), 64 J. P. 806; 83 L. T. 518; 38 Digest 107, 770; Ambler v. Bradford Corporation, ante, p. 4878.

The principle appears to be that a public authority act "in execution or intended execution of a public duty or authority" when they exercise the functions which are imposed upon them by statute and which they were incorporated by statute to perform even though the actual exercise may be, in form, voluntary. They do not so act if they voluntarily exercise a power which they have themselves sought and which was not imposed upon them. Thus in a case where a corporation were empowered by Provisional Order to erect an entertainment pavilion on a pier, and did so, and a person was later injured by a poster frame falling on her therein, the Act was held not to apply since the Order merely enabled the corporation to build the pavilion and did not compel them to build it or, having built it, to carry it on (Hawkes v. Torquay Corporation, [1938] 4 All E. R. 16; Digest Supp.). But when a council was empowered, but not obliged, under the P. H. (London) Act, 1936, s. 167 (30 Halsbury's Statutes 537), to provide public swimming baths, and did so, and personal injuries resulted from alleged negligence in the management therein but negligence in fact was not established, it was held that solicitor and client costs followed since the council were acting in pursuance of a public duty or authority and were entitled to the protection of this Act (Glarke v. Bethnal Green Borough Council, [1939] 2 All E. R. 54; 103 J. P. 160; Digest Supp.).

A borough council who were the water authority for their district were owners of a motor car, and they employed a chauffeur to drive it. The car was used for general purposes, but especially for the purpose of taking about the borough officials. On a certain day the car, containing, besides the chauffeur, the water engineer of the council, and a clerk from the treasurer's department, was taken out to visit three of the council's pumping stations, in order that the engineer might examine them and that the clerk might pay the wages of the persons employed there. After these officials had performed their duties, and while the car was returning to the garage, the engineer having left it but the clerk being still in it, it collided with and injured the plaintiff through the alleged negligence of the chauffeur. More than six months after the accident (the then period of limitation) the plaintiff brought his action. Held, that the action was not brought in respect of any alleged neglect or default in the execution of any Act of Parliament or of any public duty or authority within the meaning of that Act, and that the action lay notwithstanding that it had not been brought within six months after the accident (Clarke v. St. Helens Borough Council (1915), 79 J. P. 529; 85 L. J. K. B. 17; 38 Digest 111, 794).

The defendants were a water board having certain statutory duties and powers in relation to the supply of water in London and certain adjoining districts. They used motor lorries to convey piping and other stores to the depots established by them in their district. On September 17, 1919, they despatched from Battersea to their depot at Lea Bridge a lorry laden with water pipes and other stores for repairs and maintenance. Having arrived at Lea Bridge and discharged the water pipes there, certain empties were put on the lorry and, so loaded, the lorry returned to the place from which it started. During that return journey, loaded with empties, the lorry ran into and knocked down and seriously injured the plaintiff, who claimed damages from the defendants, but did not commence his action within six months (see supra) of the accident. It was held that the use of the lorry at the time of the accident was "in pursuance or execution or intended execution of" the statutory duty and authority of the defendants, and that, therefore, they were protected (Edwards v. Metropolitan Water Board, [1922] 1 K. B. 291; 86 J. P. 33; 38 Digest 111, 795). For two cases in which the managers of non-provided schools were held entitled to the protection of the Act, see Greenwood v. Atherton, [1939] 1 K. B. 388; [1938] 4 All E. R. 686; 103 J. P. 41; Digest Supp., and Griffiths v. Smith, [1941] A. C. 170; [1941] 1 All E. R. 66; 105 J. P. 63.

A municipal corporation who were also gas authority were empowered by their Act to sell the coke produced in the manufacture of gas. They contracted to sell and deliver a ton of coke to the plaintiff, and by the negligence of their agent the coke was shot through the plaintiff's shop window. More than six months (see supra) after the plaintiff commenced the action, and the Act was pleaded in defence. It was held that the act complained of was not an act done in the direct execution of a statute, or in the discharge of a public duty or the exercise of a public authority, and that the Act was not a defence to the action (Bradford Corporation v. Myers, [1916] A. C. 242; 80 J. P. 121; 38 Digest 110, 784). This decision was applied and followed in Hayes v. King's County C.C., [1917] 2 I. R. 496; 38 Digest 122, 901 i. But the Act was held applicable in an action against an insurance committee constituted under the National Health Insurance Act to set aside their decision with reference to a deduction for extravagant prescribing by a medical practitioner (Mitchell v. Aberdeen Insurance Committee, [1918] S. C. 415; 38 Digest 115, 825 vi). And it was held that the Act applies to servants of the Crown acting within the scope of their public duties (The Danube II., [1920] P. 104), but not to a railway company in respect of non-feasance where they should have repaired a road (Swain v. Southern Rail Co., [1939] 2 K. B. 560; [1939] 2 All E. R. 794; Digest Supp.).

A man who had been injured by being run over by an ambulance waggon belonging to an ambulance association, brought an action against the association more than six months after the accident. The association averred that they were incorporated by Royal Charter to do benevolent work, and that in running the waggon they were acting in execution of the public duty or authority entrusted to them by virtue of the charter. It was held that the association were not charged with any public duty or authority, and were not entitled to the protection of the Act (Ayr v. St. Andrews Ambulance Association, [1918] S. C. 158; 38 Digest 125, p). In another case of injury done by an ambulance the defendants were held entitled to the protection of s. 166 of the Public Health (Scotland) Act, 1897 (Baker v. Glasgow Corporation, [1916] S. C. 199; 38 Digest 125, o).

The plaintiff was injured by an escape of gas due to the negligence of the defendant's servant when fixing a meter, stoves and fittings, and connecting the pipes in a house where the plaintiff was employed. It was held that having regard to the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871, ante, p. 4307, the defendant's servant was acting in the execution or intended execution of an Act of Parliament, and that the defendants were entitled to the protection of the statute (Clayton v. Pontypridd U. D. C., [1918] 1 K. B. 219; 82 J. P. 246; 38 Digest 108, 777).

Handing over cloth apparently stolen to the apparent owners on the part of the Receiver of Metropolitan Police is acting in intended execution of a public duty, and the Act applies (Betts v. Metropolitan Police District Receiver and Carter Paterson & Co., Ltd., [1932] 2 K. B. 595; 96 J. P. 327; Digest Supp.).

(dd) But the statute must be pleaded if it is to be relied upon (R. S. C., Order XIX., r. 16; C. C. R., Order X., r. 14); see Gregory v. Torquay Corporation, [1912] 1 K. B. 442; 76 J. P. 73; 13 Digest 496, 460, as to what is a sufficient description of it in a county court pleading. If defendant ask at a late stage of an action for leave to amend by pleading the statute, leave may be refused altogether (Aronson v. Liverpool Corporation (1913), 77 J. P. 176; 32 Digest 545, 1984); and even if it be granted, the defendants, though succeeding on the plea, may have to bear the costs (Att.-Gen. v. West Ham Corporation, [1910] 2 Ch. 560; 74 J. P. 406; 38 Digest 121, 873). See Cross v. Rix, p. 4877, ante, for a case where a nonsuit on the plaintiff's opening was held not to be justified.

It would seem, too, that defendants may so conduct negotiations after a claim is made upon them as to debar them from relying upon the limitation provisions of the Act; see Paterson v. Glasgow Corporation (1908), 46 Sc. L. R. 10, where the court having regard to mistakes made and letters written by officials of the corporation, held that it would be inequitable to allow them to rely on a very similar provision. See upon this point, Hewlett v. London C. C. (1908), 72 J. P. 136; 24 T. L. R. 331;

38 Digest 136, 997; there the plaintiff, being injured, owing to the negligent driving of the defendants' servant, claimed compensation from the defendants, and negotiations were entered into with a view to settling her claim. More than six months (the then period of limitation) after the alleged act of negligence, the negotiations having broken down, the plaintiff commenced an action and the defendants pleaded the statute. The jury found that the defendants had by their conduct induced the plaintiff to delay commencing an action. It was held that the defendants were not debarred from setting up the statute in defence. See also Fraser v. British South Africa Co. (1911), Times, October 25th, Nov. 24th, where it was held that the terms of an alleged agreement would not debar the company from relying on a Statute of Limitations.

In Midland Rail. Co. v. Withington L. B., ante, p. 4882, the money was paid on October 30th, 1880, so that the six months (see supra) would expire on April 30th, 1881. On April 13th the plaintiffs' secretary wrote to the defendants for information as to the result of certain proceedings which were to determine whether the road was a highway or not, and stating that if the board were defeated the plaintiffs would expect a return of the money. The defendants replied that they were going to appeal, and would inform the plaintiffs of the result. The action was brought in March, 1882, after a month's notice had been given. It was held that the facts did not disclose a waiver by the defendants of the benefit of the section.

(e) The paragraph as enacted was repealed as from 1st July, 1940, by the Limitation Act, 1939, s. 34 (4), Schedule, Vol. V. and 32 Halsbury's Statutes 244, 245. of time. By s. 21 of the same Act it is provided as follows:—Limitation of actions against public authorities.—(1) No action shall be brought against any person for any act done in pursuance, or execution, or intended execution of any Act of Parliament, or of any public duty or authority, or in respect of any neglect or default in the execution of any such Act, duty or authority, unless it is commenced before the expiration of one year from the date on which the cause of the action accrued: Provided that where the act, neglect or default is a continuing one, no cause of action in respect thereof shall be deemed to have accrued, for the purposes of this subsection, until the act, neglect or default has ceased. (2) The foregoing provisions of this section shall not apply to any action to which the Public Authorities Protection Act, 1893, does not apply, or to any criminal proceedings.

The slight differences in wording between the former and the substituted provisions do not appear substantially to affect the interpretation of the Act, and it is to be observed that the same phrases "any person," "pursuance, execution or intended execution of any Act of Parliament" and "public duty or authority" (see notes, supra) are repeated with apparently exactly the same significations as in the original enactment. There are two amendments in that (1) the period of one year is substituted for six months, and (2) the period of limitation is to run from the date on which the cause of action accrued, but this still means from the act or the cesser of a continuing act. The accumulated case law need, therefore, be read with only the first of these two modifications in mind.

It is the duty of a solicitor, instructed to negotiate with a public authority in respect of a claim for negligence, and failing satisfactory negotiations, to bring an action, to be acquainted with this enactment, and when the public authority has made an offer, to intimate to his clients that they must make up their minds to act before the expiration of the year. For breach of this duty the solicitor must compensate his clients for the loss sustained by them by reason thereof (Fletcher & Son v. Jubb, Booth and Hellivell, [1920] 1 K. B. 275; 42 Digest 97, 894). As to the computation of the six months (now one year), see Freeman v. Read (1863), 4 B. & S. 174; 32 L. J. M. C. 226; 38 Digest 457, 225; Radcliffe v. Bartholomew, [1892] 1 Q. B. 161; 56 J. P. 262; 14 Digest 153, 1280; Goldsmiths' Co. v. West Metropolitan Rail. Co., [1904] 1 K. B. 1; 68 J. P. 41. According to a decision of the Court of Session in Scotland, when the six months expired on a Sunday, the writ was too late if issued on the following Monday (McNiven v. Glasgow Corporation, [1920] S. C. 584; 38 Digest 125, r). And see also Gelmini v. Moriggia, [1913] 2 K. B. 549; 32 Digest 330, 163, where, in principle, the same conclusion was arrived at.

Under the old provision, where the cause of action was the doing of the act itself, the time ran from the act; where it was the resulting damage, it ran from the date when the damage resulted, and where the injurious act was continuing and caused continuous damage, the right of action also continued. See Whitehouse v. Fellowes (1861), 10 C. B. (N.S.) 765; 26 J. P. 40; 38 Digest 127, 932; Backhouse v. Bonomi (1861), 9 H. L. Cas. 503; 34 L. J. Q. B. 181; 32 Digest 340, 237; Darley Main Colliery Co. v. Mitchell, ante, p. 4669, and West Leigh Colliery Co., Limited v. Tunnicliffe, ante, p. 4669; McClelland v. Manchester Corporation, [1912] 1 K. B. 118; 76 J. P. 21; 38 Digest 129, 948. Where, by an Improvement Act, actions for any injury done by the commissioners under the Act were to be brought within six months after the thing done, and the defendants, proceeding under the Act to dig a sewer, cracked the walls of the plaintiff's house, it was held that the plaintiff's right of action was limited to six months after the day on which the crack was occasioned, and did not continue for so long a time as the crack continued (Lloyd v. Wigney (1830), 6 Bing. 489; 38 Digest 129, 951).

Where an excavation made by a local authority under a street for the purpose of laying a sewer was not properly filled in, and in consequence a subsidence of the plaintiff's land with injury to houses thereon took place, which began at a period more than six months before, and went on continuously down to, the commencement of an action by the plaintiff in respect of such subsidence, it was held, on the authority of Darley Main Colliery Co. v. Mitchell, ante, p. 4669, that the further subsidence, which took place within the six months before action, constituted a distinct cause of action in respect of which the action was maintainable, notwithstanding the provisions of s. 264 of the P. H. A., 1875 (Crumbie v. Wallsend L. B., [1891] 1 Q. B. 503; 55 J. P. 421; 38 Digest 126, 925). And see, to the same effect, Fairbrother v. Bury R. S. A. (1889), 37 W. R. 544; 38 Digest 130, 952.

A plaintiff was injured on June 17th, 1901, in consequence of an alleged act of misfeasance done by the defendant's servants some few days previously, and, whilst still suffering from her injuries, brought her action on October 8th, 1902; it was held that the action was not maintainable, on the ground that the words "continuance of injury or damage" refer only to those cases where there is a continuing cause of action (Carey v. Bernondsey Borough Council (1903), 67 J. P. 111). This case was followed in Freeborn v. Leeming, [1926] 1 K. B. 160; 90 J. P. 53; 38 Digest 130, 955, where an action was brought for damages for negligent failure to diagnose injuries whereby permanent injury was caused. The action was not commenced till more than six months after the plaintiff had ceased to be under the defendant's care. The Act was held to apply since the time ran from the negligent act complained of. It would appear that both these cases would continue to apply under the new wording of the Act of 1939, since in the first case the cause of action "accrued" on June 17th, 1901, and, in the second, on the date of the examination; and it was not the "act, neglect or default," but only the injuries, which continued thereafter. In Ravilins v. Gillingham Corporation (1932), 96 J. P. 153; 146 L. T. 486; Digest Supp., it was held that the Act of 1893 applied in a case where an action was started on July 4th in respect of injuries alleged to have been sustained by negligence on January 3rd with no suggestion of damage through any subsequent act. See also Copley v. Leeds Corporation (1904), 68 J. P. N. 196. It has been held in Scotland also that a mere continuance of the injurious effects or damage caused by an accident is not a "continuance of injury or damage" (Spittal v. Glasgow Corporation (1904), 6 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 828; 38 Digest 129, t). In Harrington (Earl of) v. Derby Corporation, [1905] 1 Ch. 205; 69 J. P. 62; 38 Digest 127, 934, where damages were claimed for pollution of a river, BUCKLEY, J., said: "The defendants contend that, having regard to s. 1 of the Public Authorities Protection Act, 1893, the plaintiffs can recover damages for no longer period than six months before the issue of the writ. To determine this point it is necessary to ascertain the meaning of the words in the section, 'in case of a continuance of injury or damage.' It cannot be disputed that, for one cause of action all damages incident to it must be recovered once and once only, so that, for instance, if by the removal of the soil the defendant causes the walls of the plaintiff's house to crack, the plaintiff's cause of action is one and one only, and that none the less because the house does not at once show all the damage done to it, but manifests subsequently by degrees that the damage had been done. Upon this Lloyd v. Wigney (supra) was cited, being a case upon the words of an Act which provided that an action must be brought within six calendar months 'after the thing done.' But if the result of the act is that one damage is done to-day and another subsequently, there is nothing to prevent a fresh action toties quoties fresh damage is inflicted (Darley Main Colliery Co. v. Mitchell (1886), 11 App. Cas. 127; 51 J. P. 148; 32 Digest 341,

Section 1.

238). If as the result of an act done to-day damage results a year later, the cause of action arises, not at the date of the act, but a year later when damage results. No cause of action arises from the act if it at that date created no damage. The right of action arises, not from the act, but from the resulting of damage from the act. Backhouse v. Bonomi (1861), 9 H. L. Cas. 503; 32 Digest 340, 237, established that proposition. There is, however, a further case with which this action is particularly concerned, viz., a continuing act which produces subsequently from day to day a recurrent damage. There is thus created within the principle which I have stated a fresh cause of action every day, and this, I conceive, is what is referred to in the section by the words 'in case of a continuance of injury or damage.' The words do not mean or refer to a damage inflicted once and for all which continues unrepaired, but a new damage recurring day by day in respect of an act done, it may be, for once and for all at some prior time, or repeated, it may be, from day to day. In such a case there is what CHANNELL, J., in Carey v. Bermondsey Metropolitan Borough Council (1903), 67 J. P. 111, 447; 38 Digest 130, 953, calls a continuing cause of action. Where this is the case I think that, within s. 1 of the Public Authorities Protection Act, 1893, an action will lie when instituted six months next after the ceasing of the continuing injury or damage. That is, I think, the present case. These plaintiffs are therefore, I think, entitled to recover for a greater period than six months, and up to the period of six years limited by the Statute of Limitations."

In a later case where the defendants had, when pumping at a pumping station, polluted a stream by repeatedly pouring into it engine oil and grease during a period of three or four years prior to the date of the action, Lord ALVERSTONE, C.J., held that the plaintiffs could not recover damages for pollution caused more than six months before action brought (English v. Metropolitan Water Board, ante, p. 362). The same principle would seem to apply under s. 21 of the Act of 1939, ante, p. 4885, if the pollution had wholly ceased more than a year before action brought.

The decision in Harrington (Earl of) v. Derby Corporation, supra, was followed in Hague v. Doncaster R. D. C. (1908), 73 J. P. 69; 100 L. T. 121; 38 Digest 128, 942 (animals poisoned by pollution of a river); and in Att.-Gen. v. Lewes Corporation, [1911] 2 Ch. 495; 76 J. P. 1; 38 Digest 130, 959, a periodical influx of sewage from a sewer remaining unrepaired was held to be a continuing cause of action. Where, however, damage was caused by the regurgitation of a surcharged sewer in consequence of a heavy rainfall more than six months before action brought, it was held in Scotland that the Act applied notwithstanding that the sewer up to the date of the action remained insufficient in breach of the authority's statutory duty (Brownlie and Son v. Barrhead Magistrates, [1925] S. C. (H. L.) 41; [1925] S. L. T. 373). See also Hart v. St. Marylebone Borough Council (1912), 76 J. P. 257; 10 L. G. R. 502; 38 Digest 128, 945, as to a failure to repair a sewer and so support a road repairable by the plaintiffs being a "continuous wrong." For a case where the nuisance complained of had admittedly ceased more than six months before action, and the statute was held applicable, see Barnett v. Woolwich Borough Council (1910), 74 J. P. 441; 38 Digest 128, 943. "The net result of the authorities appears to be that in order to come within the words of the section (as to continuance of damage) there must be a continuing breach of duty together with a continuing damage," per McCARDIE, J., in R. v. Marshland, Smeeth and Fen District Commissioners, [1920] 1 K. B., at p. 173; 38 Digest 121, 886. For a case where the court held that there was a continuing injury and damage consisting of a continuing breach of duty together with a continuing damage, see Boynston v. Ancholme Drainage Commissioners, [1921] 2 K. B. 213; 85 J. P. 33; 38 Digest 37, 221. Where a local authority as waterworks undertaker after laying a main failed to fill in the trench properly and so deprived the plaintiffs' gaspipes of support whereby a series of fractures were caused, it was held that there was a continuing duty upon the authority under s. 32 of the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, ante, p. 4185, to remedy the neglect in the improper filling in of the ground and that time did not begin to run under this Act so long as that duty was undischarged, and that the defendants were entitled to recover in respect of the fractures which had occurred more than six months before action brought (Huyton and Roby Gas Co. v. Liverpool Corporation, [1926] 1 K. B. 146; 90 J. P. 45; 38 Digest 129, 949). Where, however, a dock company under statutory powers raised and repaired a wreck in their dock in February, 1930, but, having formed the opinion that the repairs were useless, sold the ship to breakers and issued a statutory statement, it was held that the act or default complained of was in substance the alleged negligence of the dock company in repairing the ship and that the six months' period ran from that date, and a contention by the cargo owners that it ran from the preparation of the adjustment statement, on the ground that their rights were not ascertainable until its preparation, was rejected (Copper Export Association Incorporated v. Mersey Docks and Harbour Board (1932), 147 L. T. 320; 48 T. L. R. 542; Digest Supp.).

In Cree v. St. Pancras Vestry, ante, p. 4879, it was held that the former limitation period of six months ran from the date of the expenditure of the money, because although it was not paid into the authority's own hands and kept by them as in Midland Rail. Co. v. Withington L. B., ante, p. 4882, yet it was paid in consequence of their request made in pursuance of the Act.

A man was convicted on February 11th for neglecting to have his children vaccinated, and, the fines not being paid, the magistrate issued a distress warrant under which the plaintiff's goods were distrained on April 17th. After quashing the conviction, the plaintiff, on August 26th, brought an action for damages for illegal distress; it was held that the trespass to his goods by the distress was "the act complained of" and not the conviction, and that, therefore, the action was brought in time (Polley v. Fordham (No. 1), [1904] 2 K. B. 345; 68 J. P. 321; 38 Digest 127, 930). In Turley v. Daw (1906), 94 L. T. 216; 22 T. L. R. 231; 38 Digest 127, 931, however, it was held in action against the high bailiff of a county court by a plaintiff who had been arrested under a committal order founded on a judgment summons never served upon him, that the six months ran not from the date of arrest but from the date when the bailiff wrongly informed the court that he had duly served the summons. In Morriss v. Winter, [1930] 1 K. B. 243; Digest Supp., a prison governor forfeited certain marks as a result of which a prisoner lost a certain remission of his sentence and the forfeiture was continued by the governor of another prison to which the prisoner was later transferred. It was held that both governors were within the protection of the Act, and that the period of limitation ran from the original forfeiture as that was the act which caused the damage and there was no continuance.

A plaintiff alleged that a highway authority had pulled down a fence erected by him round a roadside waste, and claimed such waste. He asked for a declaration and an injunction against trespassing. It was held that the action was barred at the expiration of six months from the pulling down of the fence (Offin v. Rockford R. D. C., [1906] 1 Ch. 342; 70 J. P. 97; 38 Digest 107, 774).

In an action for compensation awarded in respect of damage occasioned by the exercise of the powers of the Metropolis Management Acts, it was held to be no defence that the action was commenced more than six months after the damage was sustained, as s. 106 of the Metropolis Management Amendment Act, 1862, did not apply to such a claim, and still less to an action on an award made upon such claim (Delany v. Metropolitan Board of Works (1867), L. R. 3 C. P. 111; 31 J. P. 788; 11 Digest 295, 2249; followed by DAY, J., in Moreton v. Alfreton (unreported), May 6th, 1898). See also cases as to compensation claims in note (b), p. 4876, ante. In the case of an action upon an award of compensation for injurious affection of land, the time under the general Statutes of Limitation runs from the date of the award, not from the date of the execution of the works complained of (Turner v. Midland Rail. Co., [1911] 1 K. B. 832; 75 J. P. 283; 32 Digest 327, 133).

A plaintiff, whose houses were about to be closed as insanitary without compensation, complained that four years before the defendants had failed to pull down such houses when condemned by a jury and to compensate her in respect thereof, as required by a local Act; it was held that under the circumstances there was no continuing injury, for she had at the time elected to accept the status quo and not compel them to proceed (Merrick v. Liverpool Corporation, [1910] 2 Ch. 449; 74 J. P. 445; 38 Digest 218, 522).

A Divisional Court held that the six months' limit under the provision in the text superseded the twelve months provided for in the Fatal Accidents Act, 1846 ("Lord Campbell's Act") (12 Halsbury's Statutes 335), and applied to actions brought under that Act (Markey v. Tolworth Joint Isolation Hospital District Board, [1900] 2 Q. B. 454; 64 J. P. 647; 36 Digest 131, 869), but in British Columbia Electric Railway Co., Ltd. v. Gentile, [1914] A. C. 1034; 36 Digest 131, 1, the decision in Markey's case was disapproved, and in Venn v. Tedesco, [1926] 2 K. B. 227; 90 J. P. 185; 36 Digest 131, 871, the British Columbia case was followed and it was held that the twelve months' limit provided by Lord Campbell's Act applied. An action under that Act can only be maintained by the representative of a deceased person, where that person could, if alive, have himself maintained an action in respect of his injuries against the local authority. A plaintiff's husband met with an accident owing to the negligence of the defendants in the execution of a public duty. In consequence of the injury then received he died two years afterwards without having brought an action against the defendants. Within six months after his death the plaintiff, as his personal representative, brought an action against the defendants; it was held that it could not be maintained, inasmuch as the right of action of the deceased, if alive, would have been barred by s. 1 (a), supra (Williams v. Mersey Docks and Harbour Board, [1905] 1 K. B. 804; 69 J. P. 196; 36 Digest 131, 870). See also Gawley v. Belfast Corporation, [1908] 2 I. R. 34, where the injured man had issued a writ before his death.

An action was brought against a local authority to recover expenses caused by extraordinary traffic on a highway, but it was not commenced within six months of the damage being done. By s. 12 (1) (b) of the Locomotives Act, 1898, proceedings for the recovery of expenses of extraordinary traffic were to be commenced within twelve months after the damage had been done; it was held that the authority was entitled to the protection of the Act of 1893 (Kent C. C. v. Folkestone Corporation (1904), 68 J. P. 590; 20 T. L. R. 780). The decision in this case was reversed on appeal on another ground; but so far as regards the point for which it is here cited, it was approved. See Kent C. C. v. Folkestone Corporation, supra. Cf., however, Lanarkshire District Committee v. Airdrie Water Trustees (1906), 8 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 777; 38 Digest 105, b.

(f) A judgment by consent was held to be a judgment "obtained" within the meaning of this provision, and to carry costs as between solicitor and client unless otherwise agreed between the parties (Shaw v. Herefordshire C. C., [1899] 2 Q. B. 282; 63 J. P. 659; 38 Digest 131, 969); but in Aird v. Tarbert School Board (1906), 44 Sc. L. R. 26, Lord PEARSON doubted whether the provision applied where judgment is entered by consent. But a defendant does in substance obtain a judgment within the meaning of the section so as to entitle himself to solicitor and client costs, if an order is made dismissing the action for want of prosecution (Gilbert v. Gosport and Alverstoke U. D. C., [1916] 2 Ch. 587; 81 J. P. 89; 38 Digest 132, 973). So also where the court held that an action was useless and an abuse of legal process (Webster v. Bakewell R. D. C. (No. 2) (1916), 80 J. P. 437; 86 L. J. Ch. 89; 38 Digest 132, 974). But the court will not stay proceedings in an action on the ground that it has not been brought within six months as required by this Act (Wright v. Prescott U. D. C. (1916), 81 J. P. 43; 86 L. J. Ch. 221; 38 Digest 213, 479).

In a Scotch case it appeared that in an action against a public body for injury caused by the negligence of their servant, the Act was not pleaded. The defenders succeeded in the action and moved for their expenses to be taxed as between agent and client. It was held that it was competent to found on the Act with regard to expenses though it was not pleaded on the record: but that to entitle a public authority to take advantage of the Act the authority must either itself aver, and if necessary prove, that the act complained of was done in the execution of a public duty, or else it must be able to point to averments by the other party to that effect; and that as neither of these conditions was fulfilled, the expenses awarded fell to be taxed only as between party and party (Hunter v. Dundee Water Commissioners, [1920] S. C. 628).

Notwithstanding the use of the word "shall" in this provision, there is power for good cause to deprive the defendants of costs under R. S. C., Order LXV., r. 1: see Bostock v. Ramsey U. D. C., [1900] 2 Q. B. 616; 64 J. P. 660; 38 Digest 131, 964 (overruling on this point Cree v. St. Pancras Vestry, [1899] 1 Q. B. 693; 38 Digest 107, 764; and Roberts v. Mayor, etc. of Wrexham (1897), 102 L. T. News. 395 (a county court case)); Aird v. Tarbert School Board (1906), 44 Sc. L. R. 223; East v. Berkshire C. C. (1911), 76 J. P. 35; 106 L. T. 65; 38 Digest 131, 965; Att.-Gen. v. West Ham Corporation, p. 4884, ante. But otherwise no special direction is necessary for taxation as between solicitor and client, nor need the judgment show upon the face of it that the action was one falling within the Act (North Metropolitan Tramways Co. v. London C. C., [1898] 2 Ch. 145; 62 J. P. 488; 38 Digest 131, 966).

Section 1.

This Act has not repealed s. 118 of the County Courts Act, 1888 (3 Halsbury's Statutes 881), so far as actions against public authorities are concerned, and, therefore, where an authority are successful defendants in county court proceedings, their costs must be taxed as between solicitor and client according to the county court scale (Tory v. Dorchester Corporation, [1907] 1 K. B. 393; 71 J. P. 88; 38 Digest 132, 972).

Where the plaintiff failed on one issue, but otherwise succeeded, he was allowed his costs of the action as between party and party, but the defendants were allowed costs of the issue on which they succeeded as between solicitor and client, the two sets of costs to be set off (Roberts v. Gwyrfaï R. D. C., [1899] 1 Ch. 583; 63 J. P. 181; 38 Digest 132, 970).

In Leckhampton Quarries Co., Ltd. v. Ballinger and Cheltenham R. D. C. (1904), 68 J. P. 464; 20 T. L. R. 559; 38 Digest 132, 971, the plaintiffs claimed a declaration that their land was not subject to five alleged public rights of way. They succeeded as to the most important, but failed as to the remaining four, which were much less important. The judge gave them their general costs of the action, except so far as they had been increased by the issues upon which they had failed, and on those issues the defendants were given their costs as between solicitor and client. Upon a motion to vary the order (69 J. P. 54), the defendants asked for the general costs of the action as between solicitor and client, except so far as they were increased by any issue upon which they had failed, and contended in support that whenever there are several causes of action combined in one action or proceeding, then if the defendants, being a public authority, succeed as to any one of those causes of action, the result of the statute is that they are entitled to the whole costs of the action except so far as increased by any matter on which they have failed. The judge dismissed the motion on the ground that the plaintiffs had substantially succeeded in their action, and that therefore the case was brought within the ordinary rule that, when a plaintiff has substantially succeeded, he gets the general costs of the action except so far as they have been increased by any issues upon which he has failed. An appeal from this decision was dismissed (69 J. P. 377; 93 L. T. 93).

amends.

(g) Tender of amends is no answer at common law to a claim for unliquidated damages, nor is the common law altered in this respect by the Judicature Acts (Davys v. Richardson (1888), 21 Q. B. D. 202; 42 Digest 369, 4138). Where a statute makes a tender of amends a sufficient answer to an action, it is not necessary for the defendant to pay the money into court unless the statute requires it in addition to the tender (Jones v. Gooday (1842), 9 M. & W. 736; 38 Digest 116, 333; per PARKE, B.). On this principle it would seem that R. S. C., Order XXII., r. 3, is not applicable to cases of plea of tender under this Act. An offer of compensation under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 308, ante, p. 4515, where the defendants dispute the plaintiff's title, does not amount to a sufficient tender (Oleckheaton U. D. C. v. Firth (1898), 62 J. P. 536; 42 Sol. Jo. 669; 19 Digest 183, 1334).

In Smith v. Northleach R. D. C., [1902] 1 Ch. 197; 66 J. P. 88; 38 Digest 132, 976, the defendants paid money into court in respect of one issue out of several with a denial of liability. The plaintiff proceeded with the action for some time afterwards, but ultimately accepted the sum paid into court in satisfaction of all the issues. She recovered her costs of the one issue up to the date of payment in, and the defendants obtained party and party costs of the other issues, and also costs of the one issue after payment in, the court holding that they were not entitled to solicitor and client costs from the date of payment in, inasmuch as s. 1 (c), ante, p. 4876, is confined to cases in which an action is "proceeded with" to judgment, and does not apply to a discontinuance under Order XXVI., r. 1, where money is paid into court under Order XXII., with denial of liability and not in satisfaction.

The discretion which the trial judge possesses of depriving a successful defendant of costs for good cause so far as s. 1 (b), ante, p. 4876, is concerned, is apparently not exercisable so far as s. 1 (c) is concerned: see per VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, L.J., in Bostock v. Ramsey U. D. C., [1900] 2 Q. B. 616; 64 J. P. 660; 38 Digest 131, 964. It has already been pointed out that the Act does not apply in the case of an application for a certiorari to quash an auditor's surcharge. An application in such a case to tax the auditor's costs as between solicitor and client was therefore refused (Roberts v. Battersea Metropolitan Borough Council (1914), 78 J. P. 265; 38 Digest 119, 861).

(h) Therefore, this section will not apply to proceedings against a county borough council under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 299, ante, p. 4508, in so far as such proceedings can still be brought.

Note to
Section 1.

2. There shall be repealed as to the United Kingdom so much of any public general Act as enacts that in any proceeding to which this Act applies—

- (a) the proceeding is to be commenced in any particular place ; or
- (b) the proceeding is to be commenced within any particular time ;
or
- (c) notice of action is to be given ; or
- (d) the defendant is to be entitled to any particular kind or amount of costs, or the plaintiff is to be deprived of costs in any specified event ; or
- (e) the defendant may plead the general issue ;

and in particular there shall be so repealed the enactments specified in the Schedule to this Act to the extent in that Schedule mentioned.

This repeal shall not affect any proceeding pending at the commencement of this Act (a).

(a) The Schedule, infra, contains a long list of repealed enactments, and is here set out only in so far as it repeals portions of statutes included in the present Work.

3. This Act shall not apply to any action, prosecution, or other proceeding for any act done in pursuance or execution, or intended execution, of any Act of Parliament, or in respect of any alleged neglect or default in the execution of any Act of Parliament, or on account of any act done in any case instituted under an Act of Parliament (a), when that Act of Parliament applies to Scotland only, and contains a limitation of the time and other conditions for the action, prosecution, or proceeding.

Saving as to Scotland.

(a) The Public Health (Scotland) Act, 1897, is such an Act (Montgomerie & Co., Ltd. v. Haddington Corporation, [1908] S. C. 127).

4. [Commencement of Act.]

5. This Act may be cited as the Public Authorities Protection Act, Short title. 1893.

THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT ACT, 1894.

(56 & 57 VICT. c. 73.)

An Act to make further provision for Local Government in England and Wales. [5th March 1894.]

PART I. (a)

PARISH MEETINGS AND PARISH COUNCILS.

Constitution of Parish Meetings and Parish Councils.

* * * *

(a) Practically the whole of this Part of the Act is now repealed and replaced by the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 735. The only sections which now remain in force are ss. 5—8, 13, 14, 16 and 19, which are set out so far as unrepealed.

Except where otherwise stated italicised words were repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1908 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1175).

Powers and Duties of Parish Councils and Parish Meetings.

5.—(1) (a) . . .

(a) This sub-section was repealed by the R. and V. A., 1925, s. 69 (1), ante, p. 2233, and the R. and V. A. (Repeals, etc.) Order, 1927, ante, p. 3605, as from April 1st, 1927.

Overseers are abolished by s. 62 of that Act, ante, p. 2222, and their powers and duties are transferred to the rating authority unless otherwise provided by the Overseers Order, 1927 (1927, S. R. and O., No. 55), ante, p. 3595.

(2) As from the appointed day—

(a) The churchwardens of every rural parish shall cease to be overseers, and an additional number of overseers may be appointed to replace the churchwardens (a), and

(b) References in any Act to the churchwardens and overseers shall, as respects any rural parish, except so far as those references relate to the affairs of the church, be construed as references to the overseers, (b) and

(c) The legal interest in all property vested either in the overseers (b) or in the churchwardens and overseers (b) of a rural parish, other than property connected with the affairs of the church, or held for an ecclesiastical charity, shall, if there is a parish council, vest in that council, subject to all trusts and liabilities affecting the same, and all persons concerned shall make or concur in making such transfers, if any, as are requisite for giving effect to this enactment (c).

(a) This paragraph was repealed by the R. and V. A., 1925, s. 69 (1), and the R. and V. A. (Repeals, etc.) Order, 1927, as from April 1st, 1927.

(b) Overseers are abolished by s. 62 (1) of the R. and V. A., 1925, and by sub-s. (3) of that section references to overseers in any Act shall be construed as references to the rating authority or other person to whom the powers referred to are transferred by the Overseers Order, 1927, ante, p. 3595.

(c) This sub-section was repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, and reference should now be made to s. 48 of that Act, ante, p. 782.

6.—(1) Upon the parish council of a rural parish coming into office, Section 6.
there shall be transferred to that council :

- (a) The powers, duties, and liabilities of the vestry of the parish except—
- (i) so far as relates to the affairs of the church or to ecclesiastical charities ; and
- (ii) any power, duty, or liability transferred by this Act from the vestry to any other authority :
- (b) The powers, duties, and liabilities of the churchwardens of the parish, except so far as they relate to the affairs of the church or to charities, or are powers and duties of overseers (a), but inclusive of the obligations of the churchwardens with respect to maintaining and repairing closed churchyards wherever the expenses of such maintenance and repair are repayable out of the poor rate under the Burial Act, 1855 : Provided that such obligations shall not in the case of any particular parish be deemed to attach, unless or until the churchwardens subsequently to the passing of this Act shall give a certificate, as in the Burial Act, 1855, provided, in order to obtain the repayment of such expenses out of the poor rate (b) :
- (c) The powers, duties, and liabilities of the overseers (a) or of the churchwardens and overseers (a) of the parish with respect to—
- (i) appeals or objections by them in respect of the valuation list, or appeals in respect of the poor rate, or county rate, or the basis of the county rate (c) ; and
- (ii) the provisions of parish books and of a vestry room or parochial office, parish chest, fire engine, fire escape (d), or matters relating thereto ; and
- (iii) the holding or management of parish property, not being property relating to affairs of the church or held for an ecclesiastical charity, and the holding or management of village greens, or of allotments, whether for recreation grounds or for gardens or otherwise for the benefit of the inhabitants or any of them :
- (d) The powers exercisable with the approval of the Local Government Board by the board of guardians for the poor law union comprising the parish in respect of the sale, exchange, or letting of any parish property (e).

Transfer of certain powers of vestry and other authorities to parish

The provisions of this sub-section do not concern district councils, except in so far as they give to parish councils powers which may be conferred on urban district councils under L. G. A., 1933, s. 271, ante, p. 1152. Where, however, such powers have been conferred, some decisions must be observed.

An award under an Inclosure Act of 1799 ordered that the herbage on the awarded public and private roads should be let by auction yearly by the surveyor of highways for the parish or such other person and under such restrictions and regulations as the occupiers of lands and tenements in vestry should appoint, and that the proceeds should go towards the repair of the roads in the parish. G. Drove (a private road) was one of the roads mentioned in the award and the herbage on it was always let annually by auction. Before 1894 it was let by the vestry and the proceeds applied in repairing the roads of the parish. After 1894 it was let by the parish council and the proceeds handed to the district council who applied them in reduction of the amount due for road repair from the parish. An action was brought by the Attorney-General, on the relation of the district council, and by the district council, for damages for injury to the letting value of the herbage, alleged to be due to the defendants' wrongful depasturing the drove, and for an injunction. It was held that the title to the herbage was originally in the parishioners, or, under Poor Relief Act, 1819, s. 17 (14 Halsbury's Statutes 497), in the churchwardens and overseers as trustees for them, and was then, under the L. G. A., 1894, ss. 6 (1), supra, and 67, post, p. 4918, in the parish council; and that the district council had no right of action (Att.-Gen. v. Garner (1907), 71 J. P. 357). See, however, as to this case, Weir v. Fermanagh C. C., [1913] 1 I. R. 193.

The transfer of the powers, duties, and liabilities of the vestry do not make the parish council indictable for non-repair of highways (R. v. Shipley Parish Council (1897), 61 J. P. 488; 13 T. L. R. 486).

In the case of applications by urban councils for the powers of a parish council under s. 6 (1) (c) (iii), the Ministry of Health require definitely to be informed (a) what property there is to which these provisions would apply, and (b) when and how such property was acquired. It is also advisable to give a reference, if possible, to any correspondence which may have taken place at any time on the subject of this property either with the Minister or either of his predecessors, the L. G. B. and the Poor Law Board.

In regard to the power as to closed churchyards, it will be observed that even the issue of an order under s. 271 of the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 1152, will not give an urban council control over a closed churchyard unless and until a certificate is given under the Burial Act, 1855, s. 18 (2 Halsbury's Statutes 224). A churchyard may be wholly closed, closed subject to exceptions, or closed in part, but it is beyond the scope of this work to discuss the cases to which the provision in the Act of 1855 (op. cit. 218) does or does not apply. It should be noted, however, that by the Parochial Church Councils (Powers) Measure, 1921 (6 Halsbury's Statutes 73), which obtained the Royal Assent on July 1st, 1921, there was transferred to the parochial church council of every parish the care and maintenance of the churchyard (including a closed churchyard) with all rights possessed by the churchwardens to recover from overseers (now the rating authority) the cost of maintaining a closed churchyard. In pursuance of this Measure (which, under the Church of England Assembly (Powers) Act, 1919 (op. cit. 55), has the effect of an Act of Parliament) it is now for the parochial church council to issue a certificate if they find themselves without funds for maintenance purposes.

As regards Wales and Monmouthshire also the law has been altered. The Welsh Church Act, 1914, s. 8 (1) (a) (viii) (op. cit. 1167), provided that the Welsh Commissioners should by order, transfer to the "representative body," if so requested by that body, any closed burial grounds in Wales or Monmouthshire; if not so transferred, the burial ground of any parish was to be vested in the existing incumbent during his incumbency and on the determination thereof in the burial board, urban district council, parish council, or other local authority, according to circumstances, s. 8 (1) (b). Section 25 of the Act (op. cit. 1180) transferred to the council of every borough and urban district in Wales and Monmouthshire, except where a closed churchyard was transferred to the representative body, the obligations of churchwardens in the same terms as the L. G. A., 1894, transferred such obligations to parish councils, viz. wherever the expenses fell upon the poor rate, now general rate, see note (b), infra. By the Welsh Church (Temporalities) Act, 1919 (op. cit. 1192), the Welsh Commissioners might postpone the transfer of property vested in them to local authorities and the latter are not bound to accept the transfer until the Secretary of State so directs.

(a) Overseers were abolished by s. 62 (1) of the R. and V. A., 1925, ante, p. 2222. Their duties and powers are now transferred to the rating authority or other person appointed for the particular purpose by the Overseers Order, 1927, ante, p. 3595.

(b) The latter part of this paragraph has been repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1285.

(c) This paragraph was repealed by s. 69 of the R. and V. A., 1925, ante, p. 2233. See the R. and V. A. (Repeals, etc.) Order, 1927, ante, p. 3605.

(d) The words in italics in this paragraph have been repealed, partly by the

L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 735, and partly by the Fire Brigades Act, 1938, Sched. III. (Vol. V. and 31 Halsbury's Statutes 605).

(e) This paragraph was repealed by Sched. XII., Pt. VII., of the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 1019.

Note to
Section 6.

(2) . . .

This sub-section, which dealt with complaints or representations as to unhealthy dwellings and obstructive buildings by parish councils, was repealed by s. 136 and Sched. VI., Housing Act, 1925 (13 Halsbury's Statutes 1071, 1077). Power to make complaints or representations under the Housing Act, 1936, is conferred on parish councils by ss. 154 (2), 169 (1), ibid., ante, pp. 1746, 1756.

* * * * *

7.—(1) As from the appointed day (a), in every rural parish the parish meeting shall, exclusively, have the power of adopting any of the following Acts, inclusive of any Acts amending the same (all which Acts are in this Act referred to as "the adoptive Acts"); namely,—

Transfer of powers under adoptive Acts.

(a) The Lighting and Watching Act, 1833 ;

3 & 4 Will. 4,
c. 90.

(b) The Baths and Washhouses Acts, 1846 to 1882 (b) ;

9 & 10 Vict.
c. 74 ; 45 & 46
Vict. c. 30.

(c) The Burial Acts, 1852 to 1885 ;

15 & 16 Vict.
c. 85 ; 48 & 49
Vict. c. 21.

(d) The Public Improvements Act, 1860 ;

23 & 24 Vict.
c. 30.

(e) The Public Libraries Act, 1892.

55 & 56 Vict.
c. 53.

(2) Where under any of the said Acts a particular majority is required for the adoption or abandonment of the Act, or for any matter under such Act, the like majority of the parish meeting or, if a poll is taken, of the parochial electors, shall be required, and where under any of the said Acts the opinion of the voters is to be ascertained by voting papers, the opinion of the parochial electors shall be ascertained by a poll taken in manner provided by this Act.

(3) Where under any of the said Acts the consent or approval of, or other act on the part of, the vestry of a rural parish is required in relation to any expense or rate, the parish meeting shall be substituted for the vestry, and for this purpose the expression "vestry" shall include any meeting of ratepayers or voters.

(4) Where there is power to adopt any of the adoptive Acts for a part only of a rural parish, the Act may be adopted by a parish meeting held for that part.

(5) Where the area under any existing authority acting within a rural parish in the execution of any of the adoptive Acts is co-extensive with the parish, all powers, duties, and liabilities of that authority shall, on the parish council coming into office, be transferred to that council.

(6) This Act shall not alter the incidence of charge of any rate levied to defray expenses incurred under any of the adoptive Acts, and any such rate shall be made and charged as heretofore, and any property applicable to the payment of such expenses shall continue to be so applicable.

Section 7.

(7) When any of the adoptive Acts is adopted for the whole or part of a rural parish after the appointed day, and the parish has a parish council, the parish council shall be the authority for the execution of the Act.

(8) For the purposes of this Act the passing of a resolution to provide a burial ground under the Burial Acts, 1852 to 1885, shall be deemed an adoption of those Acts.

(a) The words in italics in sub-s. (1) are repealed by S. L. R. A., 1908 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1175).

(b) Sub-para. (b) is repealed by P. H. A., 1936, s. 346, Sched. III., ante, pp. 720, 731.

Additional
council.

8.—(1) A parish council shall have the following additional powers, namely, power—

- (a) To provide or acquire buildings for public officers and for meetings and for any purposes connected with parish business or with the powers or duties of the parish council or parish meeting (a) ; and
- (b) To provide or acquire land for such buildings and (a) for a recreation ground and for public walks ; and
- (c) To apply to the Board of Agriculture under section nine of the Commons Act, 1876 (b) ; and
- (d) To exercise with respect to any recreation ground, village green, open space, or public walk, which is for the time being under their control, or to the expense of which they have contributed, such powers as may be exercised by an urban authority under section one hundred and sixty-four of the Public Health Act, 1875, or section forty-four of the Public Health Acts Amendment Act, 1890, in relation to recreation grounds or public walks, and sections one hundred and eighty-three to one hundred and eighty-six of the Public Health Act, 1875, shall apply accordingly as if the parish council were a local authority within the meaning of those sections (c) ; and
- (e) To utilise any well, spring or stream, within their parish and provide facilities for obtaining water therefrom, but so as not to interfere with the rights of any corporation or person (d) ; and
- (f) To deal with any pond, pool, open ditch, drain, or place containing, or used for the collection of, any drainage, filth, stagnant water, or matter likely to be prejudicial to health, by draining, cleansing, covering it, or otherwise preventing it from being prejudicial to health, but so as not to interfere with any private right or the sewage or drainage works of any local authority (d) ; and
- (g) To acquire by agreement any right of way, whether within their parish or an adjoining parish, the acquisition of which is beneficial to the inhabitants of the parish or any part thereof (e) ; and
- (h) To accept and hold any gifts of property, real or personal, for the benefit of the inhabitants of the parish or any part thereof ; and (a)
- (i) To execute any works (including works of maintenance or improvement) incidental to or consequential on the exercise of any of the foregoing powers, or in relation to any parish pro- perty (f), not being property relating to affairs of the church (g) or held for an ecclesiastical charity; and

- (k) To contribute towards the expense of doing any of the things above mentioned, or to agree or combine with any other parish council to do or contribute towards the expense of doing any of the things above mentioned.

Many of the powers mentioned in this sub-section are already possessed by urban district councils under the Public Health and other Acts. See, as to offices, the L. G. A., 1933, s. 125, ante, p. 915; as to recreation grounds, the P. H. A., 1875, s. 164, ante, p. 4451; P. H. A., 1890, ss. 44, 45, ante, pp. 4818—9; P. H. A., 1925, s. 56, Vol. V., post; as to commons and open spaces, the Commons Acts and Open Spaces Acts; as to wells, springs, etc., the P. H. A., 1936, s. 116, ante, p. 353; as to ponds, ditches, etc., ibid., ss. 259 et seq., ante, pp. 520 et seq.; as to rights of way, P. H. A., 1875, s. 154, ante, p. 4425; as to combination with other councils, P. H. A., 1936, s. 272, ante, p. 550.

The L. G. B. (now the M. of H.) apparently attached a restricted meaning to paragraph (i) in relation to the former paragraph (h). Thus, where an urban council who, not being a burial authority, had not the powers of the Burial Act, 1852, s. 41 (2 Halsbury's Statutes 204), asked for the powers of s. 8 (1) (h) and (i), in order to accept and maintain a hearse and hearse house, the Board seemed to take the view that paragraph (i) would not enable the council to incur expense in maintenance.

(a) The words in italics were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1285.

(b) See this section, ante, p. 4567.

(c) Note that this power applies only to grounds, etc., which are for the time being under the control of the parish council, or to the expense of which they have contributed. The section does not itself confer any control on the council (still less, vest any property in them) and, semble, the provision as to grounds to the expense of which they have contributed does not entitle them to exercise the powers mentioned without the consent of the owner of the grounds. See also as to the powers of a parish council with respect to commons and open spaces the Commons Act, 1899, post, p. 4982, and the Open Spaces Act, 1906, post, p. 5016.

(d) This paragraph was repealed by the P. H. A., 1936, Sched. III., ante, p. 727.

A parish council cannot in their own name without the Attorney-General maintain an action to enforce a right of the inhabitants of the parish to the use of a well or spring (Stoke Parish Council v. Price, [1899] 2 Ch. 277; 63 J. P. 502; 33 Digest 34, 182; cf. Sheringham U. D. C. v. Holsey, [1904] W. N. 83; 68 J. P. 395; 36 Digest 213, 556). The Ministry of Health do not consider that a parish council are empowered by the paragraph to carry out any works of magnitude involving the laying of mains, the construction of reservoirs, etc. These are within the province of the district council, who also have the requisite powers for breaking up streets, charging of water rates, etc.

(e) It may be important for an urban authority to possess this power. See first note.

(f) The powers of this sub-section in relation to parish property are conferred upon the council of any county borough or urban district and the parish meeting of any rural parish not having a parish council by s. 115 (3) of the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 956. That section provides for the transfer of parish property vested in a board of guardians at April 1st, 1930.

(g) See as to the meaning of this term, St. George's, Hanover Square (Rector and Churchwardens) v. Westminster Corporation, [1910] A. C. 225; 74 J. P. 153; 7 Digest 551, 287.

(2) [Repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1285.]

(8) [Repealed by the P. H. A., 1936, Sched. III., ante, p. 731.]

Section 8.

(4) Notice of any application to the Board of Agriculture in relation to a common shall be served upon the council of every parish in which any part of the common to which the application relates is situate.

Notice of any application under the Commons Act, 1876, ante, p. 4563, in relation to any common within their district must also be served upon the district council. See s. 26 (2), post, p. 4908. The Board of Agriculture has now been superseded by the Minister of Agriculture (Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries Act, 1919; 3 Halsbury's Statutes 451).

* * * * *

and roads.

13.—(1) The consent of the parish council and of the district council shall be required for the stopping, in whole or in part, or diversion, of a public right of way within a rural parish (a), and the consent of the parish council shall be required for a declaration that a highway in a rural parish is unnecessary for public use and not repairable at the public expense (b), and the parish council shall give public notice of a resolution to give any such consent, and the resolution shall not operate—

- (a) Unless it is confirmed by the parish council at a meeting held not less than two months after the public notice is given; nor
- (b) If a parish meeting held before the confirmation resolve that the consent ought not to be given.

Forms for use under this sub-section will be found in the Encyclopædia of Forms and Precedents, Vol. VII., at pp. 195 et seq.

In considering this section and the notes thereto, it should be borne in mind that the word "highways" in the Highway Acts includes "roads, bridges (not being county bridges), carriageways, cartways, horseways, bridleways, footways, causeways, churchways and pavements" (Highway Act, 1835, s. 5; 9 Halsbury's Statutes 50); and further that the powers and duties of the "surveyor" of highways for any parish which were transferred to the rural district council (P. H. A., 1875, s. 144, ante, p. 4350, and s. 25 (1) of this Act, post, p. 4905, have now been transferred to the county councils by s. 30 of the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 904. County councils may delegate their highway functions to district councils, see ss. 35 and 36, ibid., Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 910, 911. As to who, prior to 1894, constituted the "vestry" for the purposes of the 1835 Act, see Wright v. Frant Overseers (1863), 4 B. & S. 118; 27 J. P. 645; 26 Digest 478, 1905.

The functions of the district council under this sub-section are expressly saved by the proviso to s. 30 (1) of the L. G. A., 1929.

The consents required by the sub-section in the text are therefore additional to the requirements prescribed by the sections referred to in the notes, infra.

See also s. 19 (8), post, p. 4904, as to the application of this section to parish meetings.

Diversion and stopping up.

(a) Under the Highway Act, 1835, ss. 84—92, 9 Halsbury's Statutes 97—104, as amended by the provisions just referred to, if an urban district (or borough) council deem it expedient that a highway should be stopped up or diverted, they must request two justices to view the same. "Any other party" who desires to stop up or divert a highway must submit his proposal to the council; if they do not agree to the proposal, there is an end of the matter; if they do agree, they must request two justices to view, as before. If upon such view it appears to the justices that the way may be diverted with advantage, or is unnecessary, they must direct the council's officer to fix notices at the place and by the side of each end of the highway from whence it is proposed to be diverted or stopped up, and to advertise the same notice in a local newspaper for four successive weeks, and to fix the like notice upon the church doors of every parish in which the highway lies for four successive Sundays. Since the coming into operation of the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 883, it would seem that in rural districts it is now again necessary to invoke action by the vestry inasmuch as the powers of the vestry are no longer vested in rural and are apparently not vested in county councils. Upon proof that all the requirements of the Act have been complied with, the justices grant their certificate, stating their reasons for thinking that the highway should be diverted or is unnecessary, and such certificate is enrolled at quarter sessions. As to the matters to be stated in a justices' certificate, see R. v. Wallace (1879), 4 Q. B. D. 641; 43 J. P. 493; 26 Digest 482, 1938; and as to what must be shown on the plan delivered to the justices certifying, see R. v. Surrey JJ., Ex parte Locke-King, [1908] 1 K. B. 374; 72 J. P. 53; 26 Digest 483, 1945. Any person thinking himself aggrieved by the proposed diversion or stopping up of the highway may appeal to quarter sessions by giving to the council fourteen days' notice in writing of such appeal (s. 88; and Quarter Sessions Act, 1849 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 293); see R. v. Maule (1871), 41 L. J. M. C. 47; 35 J. P. 596; 26 Digest 484, 1960); and upon such appeal a jury at sessions will determine whether the proposed diversion will be more commodious or whether the highway is unnecessary, and whether the appellant would be aggrieved by the diversion or stopping up (as to the effect of findings of the jury, see Walker v. York Corporation, [1906] 1 K. B. 724; 70 J. P. 270; 26 Digest 484, 1958), and if the appeal is upon the ground of defects in the certificate of the justices, the court will decide as to its sufficiency (R. v. Worcestershire JJ. (1854), 3 El. & Bl. 447; 18 J. P. 263; 26 Digest 482, 1940). If there is no appeal, or if the appeal fails, quarter sessions will make an order for the diversion or stopping up of the way. If the appeal succeeds, no such order will be made. For a fuller discussion of this subject and the numerous other decisions with reference thereto, see Pratt on Highways (17th edn.), pp. 291 et seq.

(b) The proceedings relating to a declaration that a highway is unnecessary for Discontinu- public use and not repairable at the public expense will be found in the Highway ance of Act, 1864, s. 21 (9 Halsbury's Statutes 148), and the Highways and Locomotives repair. Amendment Act, 1878, s. 24 (9 Halsbury's Statutes 179).

Under the Act of 1864 such proceedings can only be taken by an authority which is the successor of a highway board, e.g. a county council in relation to roads in a rural district (s. 30 (1), L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 904). The proceedings are commenced by a request to two justices to view the highway, and thereupon the proceedings are to go on in like manner as proceedings under the Highway Act, 1835 (9 Halsbury's Statutes 50), for the stopping up or diversion of a highway with the necessary variations.

Under the Act of 1878 the proceedings can be taken by any authority liable to keep the highway in question in repair, and differ from those which may be taken under the Act of 1864. The authority make an application to the court of summary jurisdiction of the petty sessional division in which any parish in which the highway lies is situate that two justices of the court shall view the highway. If on such view the court is of opinion that the application should be proceeded with, they must appoint a time and place for hearing objections to the application, such appointment to be made by a month's public notice, and also by a month's notice to the owners and occupiers of all lands abutting upon the highway in question. The applicant authority must also give public notice of the appointed time and place by advertisement in a local newspaper once in each of the four weeks preceding the hearing, and by causing a copy of such notice to be affixed fourteen days before the hearing to the doors of every church and chapel in the parish in which the highway is situate, or in a conspicuous position near the highway, and the application cannot be entertained by the court unless the giving of this public notice is proved to its satisfaction. On the day and at the place appointed the court must hear any objections, and must either dismiss the application or make an order declaring the highway unnecessary for public use and that it ought not to be repaired at the public expense. If such an order is made the expenses of repairing the highway will cease to be defrayed out of any public rate. An appeal lies from such an order to quarter sessions. Under both Acts (1864 and 1878) a court of quarter sessions, upon the application of any person interested in the maintenance of the highway in respect of which such an order has been made and upon certain evidence, may direct that the liability to repair such highway at the public expense shall be revived.

(2) A parish council may, subject to the provisions of this Act with respect to restrictions on expenditure, undertake the repair and maintenance of all or any of the public footpaths within their parish, not

Section 13. being footpaths at the side of a public road, but this power shall not nor shall the exercise thereof relieve any other authority or person from any liability with respect to such repair or maintenance.

Maintenance of footpaths.

Public footpaths which are highways repairable by the inhabitants at large, are, of course, under the control of the highway authority of the place in which they are situate. That authority remains liable for the repair and maintenance of such of the footpaths mentioned in the text as are repairable by the inhabitants at large, even where a parish council has undertaken to repair and maintain them. Footpaths at the side of a public road, even if such road is not repairable by the inhabitants at large, are exempted from the power here given to a parish council.

The powers of this sub-section are readily granted by the M. of H. to any urban district council desiring them. See notes to L. G. A., 1933, s. 271, ante, p. 1152.

It will be observed that a parish council (and an urban district council obtaining an order under the former s. 33) derive no power from this sub-section to compel a landowner to repair a footpath traversing his land. Neither can the council prevent a farmer from periodically ploughing up a footpath which has ordinarily been ploughed up. Cf. Mercer v. Woodgate (1869), L. R. 5 Q. B. 26; 34 J. P. 261; 26 Digest 417, 1357; Arnold v. Holbrook (1873), L. R. 8 Q. B. 96; 37 J. P. 229; 26 Digest 319, 515. But see Dennis & Sons, Ltd. v. Good (1918), 88 L. J. K. B. 388; 83 J. P. 110; 26 Digest 417, 1361.

As regards stiles on footpaths the L. G. B. expressed the opinion that, as a general rule, when an existing stile on a public footpath in a rural parish having a parish council is in so defective a state as to render it necessary for the enjoyment by the public of their right of using the path that such stile should be repaired, the parish council can execute the repairs. The same holds good with regard to gates, and bridges forming part of footpaths. As to the dedication of a highway subject to gates for farm purposes, see Att.-Gen. v. Meyrick (1915), 79 J. P. 515; 26 Digest 304, 357.

On the question of the power of a parish council to substitute gates for stiles the Board expressed themselves favourably as to a parish council's powers, provided, however, that the consent of the landowner is obtained to any consequent enlargement of the rights of the public.

A parish council has no power to expend money for the repair of any part of a footpath situate outside the parish. The council can, however, combine with the parish council in which the part of the footpath requiring repair is situate for the purpose of keeping the whole length of footpath in order, and a joint committee may be appointed under s. 91 of the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 854, for the purpose of exercising the powers of a parish council under s. 13 (2) in respect of the footpath.

Public
charities.

14.—(1) Where trustees hold any property for the purposes of a public recreation ground or of public meetings, or of allotments, whether under Inclosure Acts or otherwise, for the benefit of the inhabitants of a rural parish, or any of them, or for any public purpose connected with a rural parish, except for an ecclesiastical charity, they may, with the approval of the Charity Commissioners, transfer the property to the parish council of the parish, or to persons appointed by that council, and the parish council, if they accept the transfer, or their appointees, shall hold the property on the trusts and subject to the conditions on which the trustees held the same.

The powers hereby conferred upon a parish council may be conferred upon an urban authority by order under s. 271 of the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 1152. As to what is an ecclesiastical charity, see s. 75, post, at p. 4921.

(2) Where overseers of a rural parish as such are, either alone or jointly with any other persons, trustees of any parochial charity, such number of the councillors of the parish or other persons, not exceeding the number of the overseer trustees, as the council may appoint, shall be trustees in their place, and, when the charity is not an ecclesiastical charity, this enactment shall apply as if the churchwardens as such were specified therein as well as the overseers. Section 14.

Overseers were abolished by s. 62, R. and V. A., 1925, ante, p. 2222, and their powers and duties transferred to the rating authority or other person specified in the Overseers Order, 1927.

The expression "parochial charity" is defined by s. 75, post, p. 4921, to mean "a charity the benefits of which are or the separate distribution of the benefits of which is confined to inhabitants of a single parish, or of a single ancient ecclesiastical parish divided into two or more parishes, or of not more than five neighbouring parishes." The section also defines "ecclesiastical charity."

The effect of the last part of this sub-section is that the parish council can appoint trustees in the place of the churchwardens where they, whether joined with the overseers or not, are made trustees by the instrument creating a non-ecclesiastical charity (Re Perry Almshouses, Re Ross' Charity, [1899] 1 Ch. 21; 63 J. P. 52; 8 Digest 371, 1781).

The powers of a parish council under this sub-section may be conferred on an urban authority under s. 271 of the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 1152.

(3) Where the governing body of a parochial charity other than an ecclesiastical charity does not include any persons elected by the rate-payers or parochial electors or inhabitants of the parish, or appointed by the parish council or parish meeting, the parish council may appoint additional members of that governing body not exceeding the number allowed by the Charity Commissioners in each case; and if the management of any such charity is vested in a sole trustee, the number of trustees may, with the approval of the Charity Commissioners, be increased to three, one of whom may be nominated by such sole trustee and one by the parish council or parish meeting. Nothing in this sub-section shall prejudicially affect the power or authority of the Charity Commissioners, under any of the Acts relating to charities, to settle or alter schemes for the better administration of any charity.

The powers of a parish council under this sub-section may be conferred on an urban authority under L. G. A., 1933, s. 271, ante, p. 1152.

(4) Where the vestry of a rural parish are entitled, under the trusts of a charity other than an ecclesiastical charity, to appoint any trustees or beneficiaries of the charity, the appointment shall be made by the parish council of the parish, or in the case of beneficiaries, by persons appointed by the parish council.

(5) The draft of every scheme relating to a charity, not being an ecclesiastical charity, which affects a rural parish, shall, on or before the publication of the notice of the proposal to make an order for such scheme in accordance with section six of the Charitable Trusts Act, 1860, be communicated to the council of the parish, and where there is no parish council to the chairman of the parish meeting, and, in the case of a council, the council may, subject to the provisions of this Act with respect to restrictions on expenditure, and to the consent of the parish meeting, either support or oppose the scheme, and shall for that purpose have the same right as any inhabitants of a place directly affected by the scheme.

As to the meaning of this sub-section, see Re Berkhamsted Grammar School, [1908] 2 Ch. 25; 72 J. P. 273; 19 Digest 589, 194.

Section 14.

(6) The accounts of all parochial charities, not being ecclesiastical charities, shall annually be laid before the parish meeting of any parish affected thereby, and the Charitable Trusts Amendment Act, 1855, shall apply with the substitution in section forty-four of the parish meeting for the vestry, and of the chairman of the parish meeting for the churchwardens, and the names of the beneficiaries of dole charities shall be published annually in such form as the parish council, or where there is no parish council the parish meeting, think fit.

(7) The term of office of a trustee appointed under this section shall be four years, but of the trustees first appointed as aforesaid one-half, as nearly as may be, to be determined by lot, shall go out of office at the end of two years from the date of their appointment, but shall be eligible for re-appointment.

(8) The provisions of this section with respect to the appointment of trustees, except so far as the appointment is transferred from the vestry, shall not apply to any charity until the expiration of forty years from the date of the foundation thereof, or, in the case of a charity founded before the passing of this Act by a donor or by several donors any one of whom is living at the passing of this Act, until the expiration of forty years from the passing of this Act, unless with the consent of the surviving donor or donors.

(9) Whilst a person is trustee of a parochial charity he shall not, nor shall his wife or any of his children, receive any benefit from the charity.

15. [Repealed by the L. G. A., 1938, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1285.]

Complaint by parish council of default

16.—(1) Where a parish council resolve that a rural district council ought to have provided the parish with sufficient sewers, or to have maintained existing sewers, or to have provided the parish with a supply of water in cases where danger arises to the health of the inhabitants from the insufficiency or unwholesomeness of the existing supply of water, and a proper supply can be got at a reasonable cost, or to have enforced with regard to the parish any provisions of the Public Health Acts which it is their duty (a) to enforce, and have failed so to do (b), or that they have failed to maintain and repair any highway in a good and substantial manner (c), the parish council may complain to the county council, and the county council, if satisfied after due inquiry (d) that the district council have so failed as respects the subject-matter of the complaint, may resolve that the duties and powers of the district council for the purpose of the matter complained of shall be transferred to the county council, and they shall be transferred accordingly.

This section provides an alternative method of enforcing the execution of its duties by a rural district council to that given to the Minister of Health by s. 57 (3) of the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 923, or s. 322 of the P. H. A., 1936, ante, p. 665. Under this sub-section the Minister may function ex proprio motu; under the provision in the text, the matter does not come before the Minister, it is in each case a question only for the county council.

The M. of H. holds the view that a county council cannot act under this section where the power of the local authority is discretionary only.

A similar power of complaint is given to parish meetings by s. 19 (8), post, p. 4904.

This sub-section has been repealed so far as regards functions of a rural district council which are functions under the P. H. A., 1936, by ibid., s. 346, Sched. III., Pt. V., ante, pp. 720, 731; and so far as regards functions of a rural district council which are functions under the Food and Drugs Act, 1938, by ibid., s. 101, Sched. IV., Pt. I., ante, pp. 1451, 1456.

(a) As to the meaning of this word, see London C. C. v. Bermondsey Borough Council, [1915] 3 K. B. 305; 79 J. P. 449; 38 Digest 225, 563.

(b) Up to this point the section follows the words of the P. H. A., 1875, s. 299, ante, p. 4508, which is repealed in its application to district councils by the L. G. A., 1929, s. 57 (4) and Sched. XII., Pt. IV, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 923, 1016. Section 57 (3), ibid., which replaces s. 299, is wider in its terms and reference should be made to the text in Vol. V., post, and the notes thereto. Under that sub-section the necessity for a complaint has gone and the Minister may act under the section whenever it appears to him that a default has been made. His attention will no doubt be drawn to defaults in many cases by something in the nature of a complaint.

(c) These words are not repealed by the L. G. A., 1929, although under that Act rural district councils cease to be highway authorities and their functions as such authorities are transferred to the county council (s. 30, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 904).

Under s. 35, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 910, a county council may delegate its functions as highway authority to a district council, but the district council will then act as agents for the county council, and s. 36 (1), ibid., provides a remedy where a district council make default in exercising their delegated functions.

It will apparently, therefore, be open to a parish council to draw the attention of the county council to a default by a rural district council in exercising its delegated functions in respect of highways under this section, but the council will upon such a complaint doubtless take action under s. 36 (1) of the L. G. A., 1929; Vol. V., post.

(d) It would appear that in order to effect a "due inquiry," notice must be given to the district council of the complaint, and such council must be afforded an opportunity of explaining why they have not taken action, and that an order made without observing these requirements is not enforceable against the district council (R. v. Huntingdonshire C. C. (1902), C. C. Times Supp. 44).

Reference might be made to R. v. West Sussex C. C., Ex parte Arundel Corporation (1921), 85 J. P. 162; 26 Digest 293, 247, a case decided in connection with the hearing of a similar complaint under s. 10 of the Highways and Locomotives (Amendment) Act, 1878, ante, p. 4603.

Section 63 (2), post, p. 4917, makes provision for the mode of making such complaints if a district is situate in more than one county.

(2) Upon any complaint under this section the county council may, instead of resolving that the duties and powers of the rural district council be transferred to them, make such an order as is mentioned in section two hundred and ninety-nine of the Public Health Act, 1875, and may appoint a person to perform the duty mentioned in the order, and upon such appointment sections two hundred and ninety-nine to three hundred and two of the Public Health Act, 1875, shall apply with the substitution of the county council for the Local Government Board.

This sub-section is repealed by L. G. A., 1929, Sched. XII., Pt. IV.; Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 1016, consequent upon the repeal of the sections referred to in the text in so far as they relate to district councils.

(3) Where a rural district council have determined to adopt plans for the sewerage or water supply of any contributory place within the district, they shall give notice thereof to the parish council of any parish for which the works are to be provided before any contract is entered into by them for the execution of the works.

This sub-section was repealed by the P. H. A., 1936, Sched. III., Pt. V., ante, p. 731.

Section 16.

Section 19.

Provisions as to small parishes.

19. In a rural parish not having a separate parish council, the following provisions shall, as from the appointed day, but subject to provisions made by a grouping order, if the parish is grouped with some other parish or parishes, have effect :

- (8) The provisions of this Act with respect to the stopping or diversion of a public right of way, or the declaring of a highway to be unnecessary and not repairable at the public expense (a), and with respect to a complaint to a county council of a default by a district council (b), shall apply, with the substitution of the parish meeting for the parish council.

(b) See s. 16 (1), ante, p. 4902.

PART II.

GUARDIANS AND DISTRICT COUNCILS.

Practically the whole of this Part also of the Act has been repealed and replaced by the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 735, and the only sections remaining are now ss. 21, 25—27, 32 and 35, which are set out as amended.

Names of county districts and district councils.

21. As from the appointed day,—

- (1) Urban sanitary authorities shall be called urban district councils, and their districts shall be called urban districts ; but nothing in this section shall alter the style or title of the corporation or council of a borough :

Section 75, post, p. 4920, incorporates the L. G. A., 1888, s. 100, ante, p. 4765, which defines an urban authority. Urban sanitary districts were of three kinds : 1st, Municipal boroughs ; 2nd, Improvement Act districts ; and 3rd, Local Government districts. In these the urban sanitary authorities were respectively the borough council, the improvement commissioners, and the local board. The title of the borough and its council is not to be altered, but Improvement Act districts and local government districts are now called urban districts, and the urban sanitary authorities over these are now called urban district councils.

- (2) For every rural sanitary district there shall be a rural district council whose district shall be called a rural district :

This sub-section was repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1285.

- (3) In this and every other Act of Parliament, unless the context otherwise requires, the expression "district council" shall include the council of every urban district, whether a borough or not, and of every rural district, and the expression "county district" shall include every urban and rural district whether a borough or not.

Apparently (see s. 35, post, p. 4912) this provision does not apply to a county borough. See further, the first note to the P. H. A. A., 1907, s. 13, post, p. 5041. By

s. 134 of the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V., post, "district" is defined for the purposes of that Act as meaning a county district, that is to say, a non-county borough or other urban district or a rural district.

Note to
Section 24.

The words in italics were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1285, except so far as they apply to any enactment passed before June 1, 1933.

* * * * *

25.—(1) As from the appointed day, there shall be transferred do the district council of every rural district all the powers, duties, and liabilities of the rural sanitary authority in the district (a), and of any highway authority in the district (b), and highway boards shall cease to exist, and rural district councils shall be the successors of the rural sanitary authority and highway authority, and shall also have as respects highways all the powers, duties, and liabilities of an urban sanitary authority under sections one hundred and forty-four to one hundred and forty-eight of the Public Health Act, 1875, and those sections shall apply in the case of a rural district and of the council thereof in like manner as in the case of an urban district and an urban authority (b). Provided that the council of any county may by order postpone within their county or any part thereof the operation of this section, so far as it relates to highways, for a term not exceeding three years from the appointed day or such further period as the Local Government Board may on the application of such council allow (c).

Powers of district councils with respect to sanitary and highway matters.

This sub-section has been repealed so far as regards functions of a council which are functions under the P. H. A., 1936, by ibid., s. 346, Sched. III., Pt. V., ante, pp. 720, 731; and so far as regards functions of a council which are functions under the Food and Drugs Act, 1938, by ibid., s. 101, Sched. IV., Pt. I., ante, pp. 1451, 1456.

(a) These are the powers conferred upon a rural sanitary authority as such by Sanitary the Public Health Acts and other statutes, including powers under adoptive Acts powers. in cases where those Acts had been adopted by the rural sanitary authority. Any urban powers which might have been conferred upon the pre-existing rural authority by Order of the L. G. B. under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 276, ante, p. 4502, or the P. H. A., 1890, s. 5, ante, p. 4803 (now P. H. A., 1936, s. 13, ante, p. 19) were also transferred to the rural district council. The section would not seem to apply to the case of a rural district constituted after the appointed day by some order under the Act, but the Order would probably make all necessary provision.

(b) The words in italics were repealed by L. G. A., 1929, Sched. XII., Pt. III., Highway Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 1016, in consequence of the provisions of s. 30, powers. Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 904. Under that section rural district councils cease to be highway authorities and the county councils become the highway authority in respect of all rural districts in the county as from April 1st, 1930. Under s. 35, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 910, a county council may delegate its highway functions in respect of all or any of the roads in the district to the district council, but even when such delegation has taken place the district council will not be the highway authority, the roads will remain vested in the county council and the district council will act merely as agents for the county council upon the terms and conditions laid down in s. 36, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 911, and the resolution of delegation.

(c) All such postponement orders have expired.

(2) Where a highway repairable ratione tenuræ appears on the report of a competent surveyor not to be in proper repair, and the person liable to repair the same fails when requested so to do by the district council to place it in proper repair, the district council may place the highway in proper repair, and recover from the person liable to repair the highway the necessary expenses of so doing.

Note to Section 25.

Ratione tenuræ highways.

Consequent upon the transfer of the functions of highway authority in rural districts from the rural district council to the county council by s. 30 of the L. G. A., 1929; Vol. V., post, functions under this section cease to be exercisable by rural district councils (sub-s. (3)) and become exercisable only by county councils unless under s. 35 any functions have been delegated to the rural district council (s. 36 (2)).

The liability to repair a highway ratione tenuræ exists where an individual or corporation is bound to repair a highway by reason of a condition attached to his or its tenure of certain lands. For modern cases in which the nature or existence of such a liability has been under discussion, see R. v. Barker (1890), 25 Q. B. D. 213; 54 J. P. 615; 26 Digest 369, 944; Heath v. Weaverham Overseers, [1894] 2 Q. B. 108; 58 J. P. 557; 26 Digest 370, 954; Dalton Overseers v. N. E. Rail. Co., [1900] A. C. 345; 64 J. P. 612; 26 Digest 370, 956; Esher and Dittons U. D. C. v. Marks (1902), 66 J. P. 243; 71 L. J. K. B. 309; 26 Digest 368, 943; Ferrand v. Bingley U. D. C., [1903] 2 K. B. 445; sub nom. Bingley U. D. C. v. Ferrand, 67 J. P. 370; 26 Digest 370, 955; Maude v. Thirsk Union (1914), 78 J. P. N. 100; Re Earl of Stamford and Warrington, Payme v. Grey [1911] 1 Ch. 648; 75 J. P. 346; 26 Digest 371, 970. The text affords a simple remedy for enforcing the liability. There must be a report of a competent surveyor (not necessarily the surveyor to the council), and there must be a failure on the part of the person liable to put the highway into proper repair. The remedy given is confined to the occupier, and creates no liability in the owner of the land to repay the sums so expended (Cuckfield R. D. C. v. Goring, [1898] 1 Q. B. 865; 62 J. P. 358; 26 Digest 369, 945; Daventry R. D. C. v. Parker, [1900] 1 Q. B. 1; 63 J. P. 708; 26 Digest 369, 946).

The expenses appear to be recoverable by action only. A county court judge held that the jurisdiction of the county court in such an action was ousted under the County Courts Act, 1888, ss. 56 and 60 (3 Halsbury's Statutes 841, 846), on the ground that the estate sought to be charged ratione tenuræ was worth more than £50 per annum (Barnstaple R. D. C. v. Rudd (1897), 103 L. T. Newsp. 11); a new trial was afterwards granted, and resulted in a verdict for the plaintiffs. As to evidence of liability to repair ratione tenuræ, see Rundle v. Hearle, [1898] 2 Q. B. 83; 26 Digest 369, 951; L. & N. W. Rail. Co. v. Commissioners of Sewers for Fobbing Level (1896), 66 L. J. Q. B. 127; 75 L. T. 629; 44 Digest 83, 641; Esher and Dittons U. D. C. v. Marks, and Ferrand v. Bingley U. D. C., supra.

(3) Where a highway authority receives any contribution from the county council towards the cost of any highway under section eleven, sub-section (10), of the Local Government Act, 1888, such contribution may be made, subject to any such conditions for the proper maintenance and repair of such highways, as may be agreed on between the county council and the highway authority.

By the L. G. A., 1888, s. 11 (10), ante, p. 4732, a county council may, if they think fit, contribute towards the cost of the maintenance, repair, enlargement, and improvement of any public highway or public footpath in the county, though the same is not a "county road" (see the notes to that sub-section, at p. 4732, ante). The text amends this provision by enabling the council to impose terms and conditions upon making such contributions.

(4) Where the council of a rural district become the highway authority for that district, any excluded part of a parish under section two hundred and sixteen of the Public Health Act, 1875, which is situate in that district, shall cease to be part of any urban district for the purpose of highways, but until the council become the highway authority such excluded part of a parish shall continue subject to the said section.

Words in italics repealed by L. G. A., 1929, Sched. XII., Pt. III., Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 1016, consequent upon the transfer of highway powers in rural districts to the county council.

(5)—(6) [Repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1286.]

(7) The powers conferred on the Local Government Board by the said section two hundred and seventy-six, or by any enactment applying that section, may be exercised on the application of a county council, or with respect to any parish or part of a parish on the application of the parish council of that parish. Section 25.

This sub-section has been repealed so far as regards functions of a council which are functions under the P. H. A., 1936, by ibid., s. 346, Sched. III., Pt. V., ante, pp. 720, 731; and so far as regards functions of a council which are functions under the Food and Drugs Act, 1938, by ibid., s. 101, Sched. IV., Pt. I., ante, pp. 1451, 1456.

Under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 276, ante, p. 4502, the application for urban powers must come from the rural authority or from persons rated to the poor rate to the extent of one-tenth of the district or of any contributory place therein for which the urban powers are applied for. Under the text it may come from the county council or a parish council, but in either case the powers will be conferred on the rural district council alone. In some instances an order has been issued upon the application of a parish council, but no case is known to the editors in which a county council have been the applicants. If the particular provision in question is a power and not a duty and the rural district council are not willing to exercise this power, the precise value of such an order is not apparent, unless it be a power which it is their duty to discharge, in which case a remedy for default by the district council is provided by s. 57 (3) of the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 923. S. 276 of the Act of 1875 is repealed and replaced by s. 13 of the P. H. A., 1936, ante, p. 19, except so far as may be material for the purposes of any unrepealed enactment in the Act of 1875 or any Act directed to be construed therewith.

26.—(1) It shall be the duty of every district council to protect all public rights of way, and to prevent as far as possible the stopping or obstruction of any such right of way, whether within their district or in an adjoining district in the county or counties in which the district is situate, where the stoppage or obstruction thereof would in their opinion be prejudicial to the interests of their district, and to prevent any unlawful encroachment on any roadside waste within their district. Duties and powers of district council as to rights of way, rights of common and roadside waste.

The functions of rural district councils under this sub-section are expressly saved by the proviso to s. 30 (1) of the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 904.

In so far as it relates to highways within an urban district in respect of which the urban district council is the highway authority the provision is merely declaratory, for the duty mentioned is one which would by law devolve upon the highway authority as such. In rural districts and in respect of "county roads" in urban districts, in relation to which the county council is the highway authority, the duty therefore devolves upon both the county and district council. It is the duty of a highway authority to prevent the stopping up or obstruction of any highway, and with regard to encroachment on roadside wastes, it is to be observed that the greensward by the side of the highway and within the fences is in general part of the highway, as much as the metalled portion, and any obstruction thereof is a public nuisance, which may be prevented by indictment or injunction. See R. v. United Kingdom Telegraph Co., and cases cited therewith in note (I) to the L. G. A., 1888, s. 11 (1), ante, p. 4729. As to obstruction of a highway by the erection and maintenance of gates, see Att.-Gen. v. Meyrick (1915), 79 J. P. 515; 26 Digest 304, 357.

An urban council has power to remove encroachments upon any highway vested in it by the P. H. A., 1875, s. 149, ante, p. 4375, without first taking proceedings either summarily or by way of indictment against the person responsible for the encroachment (Reynolds v. Presteign U. D. C., [1896] 1 Q. B. 604; 60 J. P. 296; 26 Digest 449, 1654). And according to the dicta in Louth U. D. C. v. West (1896), 60 J. P. 600; 65 L. J. Q. B. 535; 26 Digest 391, 1176, it would appear that this power is exercisable by rural councils also on the ground that a statutory duty is cast upon all district councils to protect highways and roadside wastes. Note to
Section 26.

Harris v. Northamptonshire C. C., post, p. 4191, as to the position of a county council in this respect prior to the passing of the L. G. A., 1929. But it was strongly emphasized both in Reynolds v. Presteign U. D. C., [1896] 1 Q. B. 604; 60 J. P. 296; 26 Digest 449, 1654, and in Urban Housing Co., Ltd. v. Oxford Corporation, [1940] Ch. 40; [1939] 4 All E. R. 211; 104 J. P. 15, C. A.; Digest Supp., that direct action to remove alleged encroachments should not be taken in cases where there is a dispute whether in fact there has been an encroachment. In the Louth Case, supra, it was held that the authority might recover the expenses of removal by action from the person responsible. And see as to costs in the County Court in an action to recover expenses, Dartford R. D. C. v. Stone Court, &c. Co. (1917), 39 M. C. C. 169.

An urban council discharging duties under this sub-section is in the same position as a private individual protecting his own property, and is not acting judicially. Consequently if a member uses his influence in his own private interest, the acts of the council are not thereby invalidated (Murray v. Epsom L. B., [1897] 1 Ch 35; 61 J. P. 71; 33 Digest 17, 65).

Reference may be made to the cases collected in note (i) on p. 4385, ante, showing that a highway authority cannot legally sanction a permanent obstruction to a highway.

It should be observed that the duty of the district council extends to rights of way in an adjoining district, if their own district is prejudiced.

Sub-section (4) of this section requires the district council to take action upon the representation of a parish council.

(2) A district council may with the consent of the county council for the county within which any common land is situate aid persons in maintaining rights of common where, in the opinion of the council, the extinction of such rights would be prejudicial to the inhabitants of the district; and may with the like consent exercise in relation to any common within their district all such powers as may, under section eight of the Commons Act, 1876, be exercised by an urban sanitary authority in relation to any common referred to in that section; and notice of any application to the Board of Agriculture in relation to any common within their district shall be served upon the district council.

The necessity for the consent of the county council should be observed.

The aid which the district council may give is not specified, but presumably it includes a grant of money in aid of legal proceedings instituted with reference to the rights in dispute; and see the next sub-section. There is much misapprehension on the subject of rights of common. These consist strictly of the rights of tenants of the manor, whether freeholders or commoners, over the waste lands of the manor, which belong to the lord of the manor subject to such rights. They may consist of common of pasture, turbary, estovers, foldage, or the like. As to the right of action for interference with rights of common, see King v. Brown, Durant & Co. [1913] 2 Ch. 416; 11 Digest 50, 731; Hope v. Osborne, [1913] 2 Ch. 349; 77 J. P. 317; 11 Digest 46, 642.

Members of the public, as such, have, in strictness, no rights of common, but there may be in the inhabitants of any particular village or district a right depending on ancient custom to use the wastes or part of them for purposes of recreation. See Hall v. Nottingham (1875), 1 Ex. D. 1; 17 Digest 4, 8, and cases therein cited. A custom for the inhabitants of several adjoining parishes to exercise the right of recreation over land situate in one of such parishes only is bad (Edwards v. Jenkins, [1896] 1 Ch. 308; 60 J. P. 167; 17 Digest 16, 150). As to the distinction between a right of recreation and a right of way, see Abercromby v. Town Commissioners of Fermoy, [1900] 1 I. R. 302; Dyce v. Lady James Hay (1852), 1 Macq. H. L. 305; 19 Digest 16, 42.

Section 8 of the Commons Act, 1876, which contains important provisions, will be found ante, p. 4566. See also the Commons Act, 1899, post, p. 4982, and ss. 193 and 194 of the Law of Property Act, 1925, Vol. V., post. The Board of Agriculture has now been superseded by the Minister of Agriculture (Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries Act, 1919; 3 Halsbury's Statutes 451).

(3) A district council may, for the purpose of carrying into effect this section, institute or defend any legal proceedings, and generally take such steps as they deem expedient. Section 26.

This provision is to some extent explanatory of the preceding sub-sections, which enable the council to protect public rights of way and to aid in maintaining rights of common. But it does not exclude other methods of aiding in the maintenance of rights, e.g., by a grant of money. It expressly enables the council to institute or defend legal proceedings, if they think fit, for the protection of a right of way, and they might, where they are in possession of a right of common, institute proceedings to prevent any illegal enclosure of or encroachment on the common. The power of the court to make a declaration under R. S. C., Order XXV., r. 5, is important in this connection: see Locke-King v. Woking U. D. C., ante, p. 4729. It has apparently been assumed that the powers given by this sub-section include power to compromise proceedings (see Sprigg v. Warblington U. D. C. (1899), Times, November 18th, and Molynex v. Horsham R. D. C. (1900), Times, July 19th); but it may be doubted whether in the absence of the Attorney-General a council could effectually bind the public in purporting to abandon any right claimed (cf. Newton Abbot R. D. C. v. Wills, infra). See also note to sub-s. (4).

See, too, Greenwell v. Howell and R. v. Norfolk C. C., cited in the note to the next sub-section, and also the cases as to costs, where a local authority is unsuccessfully sued, collected at p. 4889, ante.

(4) Where a parish council have represented to the district council that any public right of way within the district or an adjoining district in the county or counties in which the district is situate has been unlawfully stopped or obstructed, or that an unlawful encroachment has taken place on any roadside waste within the district, it shall be the duty of the district council, unless satisfied that the allegations of such representation are incorrect, to take proper proceedings accordingly; and if the district council refuse or fail to take any proceedings in consequence of such representation, the parish council may petition the county council for the county within which the way or waste is situate, and if that council so resolve the powers and duties of the district council under this section shall be transferred to the county council.

In a rural parish not having a separate parish council a representation may be made under this sub-section by the parish meeting (see s. 19 (8), ante, p. 4904). When a representation is made to the district council under this sub-section they must consider it with a view to satisfying themselves whether it is well founded or not. If they think it is well founded they must take legal proceedings which may be (1) summary, under the Highway Act, 1835, s. 72, or the Highway Act, 1864, s. 51 (9 Halsbury's Statutes 86, 161); or (2) by indictment; or (3) by action for a declaration and injunction; or they may abate any nuisance or obstruction and defend any resulting action. In the case of an action by the council it has apparently been held that it is not necessary to join the Attorney-General as a plaintiff (Newton Abbot R. D. C. v. Wills (1913), 77 J. P. 333; 26 Digest 392, 1186); but see Wallasey L. B. v. Gracey, p. 653, ante. If the council think that the representation is not well founded, they may refuse to take proceedings, but upon such refusal an appeal lies to the county council, who may thereupon take the like proceedings upon resolution in manner provided by s. 63, post, p. 4916.

The county council are now under a similar duty in respect to all highways in rural districts and to certain county roads in urban districts as the highway authority in respect thereof (see note to sub-s. (1), ante, p. 4907). It will not, therefore, be necessary for a county council to transfer the powers of the district council by resolution.

If a council acting under this section assert the existence of a public right of way over a man's land and threaten and intend to exercise it by their servants and agents, an action for an injunction and declaration will lie against them. Quære whether a mere assertion of the existence of the right and the provision of assistance to individuals who are already litigating it on their own initiative would give a cause of action against the council (Thornhill v. Weeks, [1913] 1 Ch. 438; 77 J. P. 231; 26 Digest 391, 1180; Thornhill v. Weeks (No. 2), [1913] 2 Ch. 464; 77 J. P. 327; 26 Digest 392, 1183). An action was brought by certain land owners against private individuals for removing obstructions to an alleged public right of way. The district council having passed and acted on a resolution to defend the action under the above section, were themselves made defendants, and a declaration that there was no public right of way was asked against them. On an application by the district council to be struck out as defendants, the plaintiffs were allowed to amend by alleging that the district council threatened and intended to use the alleged public right of way by their servants or agents. The district council then put in a defence stating that they neither claimed nor denied that the public right of way claimed by their co-defendants in fact existed, and they denied any threat or intention to use it by their servants or agents, but, though really innocent of any such threat or intention, they in fact conducted the whole defence on the main issue, namely, the existence of the public right of way, up to the trial, and failed to establish it. It was held that the plaintiffs were entitled to a declaration with costs against all the defendants, including the district council (Thornhill v. Weeks (No. 3), [1915] 1 Ch. 106; 78 J. P. 154; 26 Digest 392, 1184). See also as to costs, Att.-Gen. v. Bowen (1914), 78 J. P. N. 220; London County Council v. Bermondsey Borough Council, [1915] 3 K. B. 305; 79 J. P. 449; 38 Digest 225, 563. Officials of a district council or a county council, acting in default of a district council, may, acting under direction of the council, assert the public right by removal of an obstruction, and in the event of an action against them failing, they will be entitled to costs as between solicitor and client, under the Public Authorities Protection Act, 1893, ante, p. 4875 (Greenwell v. Howell, [1900] 1 Q. B. 535; Digest, Pleading 45, 371). See further as to costs where an unsuccessful action is brought against a public authority, Leckhampton Quarries Co., Ltd. v. Ballinger and other cases collected therewith at p. 4890, ante. The district council, or, in their default, the county council, might also, if they thought fit, pay the costs of the defendants in an action brought by the owners of an estate against private persons for trespass in removing obstacles to an alleged public right of way (R. v. Norfolk C. C., Ex parte Green, [1901] 2 K. B. 268; 65 J. P. 454; 26 Digest 391, 1179). In Scotland it has been held that an authority who procure themselves to be added as defendants to an action cannot claim the benefits of the Public Authorities Protection Act, 1893, ante, p. 4875, as to costs (M'Robert v. Reid (1914), 51 Sc. L. R. 500).

The herbage at the side of a highway is in many cases the property of the district council or other public authority: see Coverdale v. Charlton (1878), 3 Q. B. D. 376; on appeal, 4 Q. B. D. 104; 43 J. P. 268; 26 Digest 329, 616; Haigh v. West, [1893] 2 Q. B. 19; 57 J. P. 358; 11 Digest 81, 1013; Neaverson v. Peterborough R. D. C., [1902] 1 Ch. 557; 66 J. P. 404; 11 Digest 34, 452.

Several orders were issued by county councils under this section transferring to themselves the powers and duties of rural district councils as to the taking of proceedings against persons for encroachments prior to the passing of the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 883.

(5) Any proceedings or steps taken by a district council or county council in relation to any alleged right of way shall not be deemed to be unauthorised by reason only of such right of way not being found to exist.

This means that the expenditure of a council incurred in pursuance of this section is not to be regarded as illegally incurred by reason of its being eventually found that the right of way sought to be asserted does not in fact exist.

The expenses of a rural council will presumably be chargeable as general expenses of the whole rural district, unless made special by the Ministry of Health by order under the L. G. A., 1933, s. 190 (3), ante, p. 1017 (a course not commonly adopted.)

In the event of a county council incurring expense in default of a rural district council, it is not clear that the debt can be thrown upon part of the district. See s. 63, post, p. 4916.

(6) Nothing in this section shall affect the powers of the county council in relation to roadside wastes. Section 26.

The powers of the county council as to roadside wastes depend upon the L. G. A., 1888, s. 11, ante, p. 4726, and s. 29 of the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 903, which impose upon the county council the duty of maintaining "county roads." Under s. 11 of the 1888 Act the county council have the same powers as a highway board for asserting the right of the public to the use and enjoyment of the roadside wastes, and they may abate an encroachment, although the soil is not vested in them (Harris v. Northamptonshire C. C. (1897), 61 J. P. 599; 13 T. L. R. 440; 26 Digest 449, 1656).

(7) Nothing in this section shall prejudice any powers exercisable by an urban sanitary authority at the passing of this Act, and the council of every county borough shall have the additional powers conferred on a district council by this section.

This preserved to an urban sanitary authority any special highway powers which they might possess.

27.—(1) As from the appointed day the powers, duties, and liabilities of justices out of session in relation to any of the matters following, that is to say,—

Transfer of certain powers of justices to district councils.

(a) The licensing of gang masters :

The Agricultural Gangs Act, 1867 (see ante, p. 4262), defines a "gang-master" as one "who hires children, young persons, or women with a view to their being employed in agricultural labour on lands not in his own occupation."

(b) The grant of pawnbrokers' certificates ;

These certificates were previously granted in areas where there was no stipendiary magistrate by the justices in petty sessions under the Pawnbrokers Act, 1872 (see ante, p. 4323), upon notice given in accordance with s. 42 of that Act, ante, p. 4325; they cannot be refused except on the ground that the applicant has failed to give satisfactory evidence of good character, or that his shop or any adjacent property of his is frequented by thieves or persons of bad character, or that he has failed to comply with the requirements of the Act as to notice (s. 43, ante, p. 4325).

Quarter sessions on an appeal against a district council's refusal to grant a pawnbroker's certificate have no jurisdiction to order the appellant's costs to be paid by the council where the council have taken no steps in relation to the appeal and have not appeared at the hearing (R. v. Northumberland J.J. (1907), 71 J. P. 331; 96 L. T. 700; 37 Digest 23, 177).

(c) The licensing of dealers in game ;

Until 1894 these licences were granted by justices in special sessions under the Game Act, 1831, s. 18 (see ante, p. 4102). There is no appeal against the refusal of such a licence. Two licences are required by every dealer in game, viz., a revenue licence granted by the county council (Finance Act, 1908, s. 6, post, p. 5066) and a licence issued by the district council under this section.

(d) The grant of licenses for passage brokers and emigrant runners ;

This paragraph was repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1286.

(e) The abolition of fairs and alteration of days for holding fairs ;

By the Fairs Act, 1871 (see ante, p. 4307), upon representation duly made to him by the magistrates of any petty sessional districts within which any fair is held, or by the owner of any fair, that it would be for the convenience and advantage of the public that any such fair shall be abolished, the Home Secretary may, with the consent of the owner of the fair, order its abolition. By the Fairs Act, 1873 (see ante, p. 4327), the Home Secretary, upon the like representation, may order that any fair shall be held upon other days than those on which it used to be held. The representations which were originally made by justices under these Acts will for the future be made by district councils. Under both Acts advertisements of the representation and of the Order (if any) must be published.

Section 27.

(f) The execution as the local authority of the Acts relating to petroleum and infant life protection ; when arising within a county district, shall be transferred to the district council of the district.

Paragraph (f) was repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1286.

(2) As from the appointed day, the powers, duties, and liabilities of quarter sessions in relation to the licensing of knackers' yards within a county district shall be transferred to the district council of the district.

The term "county district" includes every urban and rural district whether a borough or not (s. 21 (3), ante, p. 4904).

From the refusal of such a licence by a district council appeal lies to quarter sessions under s. 7 of the P. H. A. A., 1890, ante, p. 4804, notwithstanding the provision in the text (R. v. Essex J.J., Ex parte Barking U. D. C., [1916] 2 K. B. 406; 80 J. P. 345; 38 Digest 224, 557).

This sub-section has been repealed so far as regards functions of a council which are functions under the Food and Drugs Act, 1938, by ibid., s. 101, Sched. IV., Pt. I., ante, pp. 1451, 1456.

(3) All fees payable in respect of the powers, duties, and liabilities transferred by this section shall be payable to the district council.

32. The provisions of this Part of this Act respecting the powers, duties, and liabilities of justices out of sessions, or of quarter sessions, which are transferred to a district council, shall apply to a county borough as if it were an urban district, and the county borough council were a district council.

The provisions referred to are contained in s. 27, ante, p. 4911. These powers, duties, and liabilities are transferred to the council of a county borough, as in the case of any other urban district council, this express provision being rendered necessary by s. 35, infra.

Restrictions on application of Act to London, etc

35. Save as specially provided by this Act, this Part of this Act shall not apply to the administrative county of London or to a county borough.

The special provisions in this Part of the Act applicable to the county of London and to a county borough are contained in ss. 30—33 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 904, 905, supra; 10 Halsbury's Statutes 908) inclusive.

PART III.

AREAS AND BOUNDARIES.

The whole of this Part of the Act (ss. 36—42 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 911—915)) was repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1286.

PART IV.

SUPPLEMENTAL (a).

(a) The only remaining sections in this Part of the Act are ss. 53, 62, 63, 65—67, 70 and 75—77. Ss. 43 and 44 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 915, 916), which related to the registration of electors and to elections, were repealed by the Representation of the People Act, 1918, post, p. 5167; ss. 45—49 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 916—919) were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1286; s. 50 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 919) by the R. & V. A., 1925, Sched. VIII., ante, p. 2266; s. 51 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 920) by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1286; s. 52 (1) by the L. G. A., 1929, Sched. XII., Pt. VII., post; s. 52 (2) by the S. L. R. A., 1908; and s. 52 (3) (10 Halsbury's Statutes 921) by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1286. Other sections have been repealed as noted in the text.

53.—(1) Where on the appointed day any of the adoptive Acts is in force in a part only of a rural parish, the existing authority under the Act, or the parish meeting for that part, may transfer the powers, duties, and liabilities of the authority to the parish council, subject to any conditions with respect to the execution thereof by means of a committee as to the authority or parish meeting may seem fit, and any such conditions may be altered by any such parish meeting.

Supplemental provisions as to adoptive Acts.

The adoptive Acts are enumerated in s. 7 of this Act, ante, p. 4895. They are the Lighting and Watching Act, 1833 (8 Halsbury's Statutes 1186); the Baths and Washhouses Acts, 1846 to 1925 (13 Halsbury's Statutes 519, 1153); the Burial Acts, 1852 to 1906 (2 Halsbury's Statutes 190 and this Volume); the Public Improvements Act, 1860, ante, p. 4250; and the Public Libraries Acts, 1892 to 1919, in this Volume. The second named are now repealed (see note, ante, p. 1193).

(2) If the area on the appointed day under any authority under any of the adoptive Acts will not after that day be comprised within one rural parish, the powers and duties of the authority shall be transferred to the parish councils of the rural parishes wholly or partly comprised in the area, or, if the area is partly comprised in an urban district, to those parish councils and the district council of the urban district, and shall, until other provision is made in pursuance of this Act, be exercised by a joint committee appointed by those councils. Where any such rural parish has not a parish council the parish meeting shall, for the purposes of this provision, be substituted for the parish council.

Under sub-s. (1) the executive authority, e.g., a burial board, lighting inspectors, or parish meeting, "may transfer the powers, duties, and liabilities of the authority"; under this sub-section "the powers and duties of the authority shall be transferred." See sub-s. (3), infra, and s. 67, post, p. 4918, as to the effect of this transfer.

This sub-section had an extensive application, particularly in regard to burial authorities. In many instances before the passing of this Act a parish in which the Burial Acts were in force was partly in an urban district. That part, speaking generally, became a separate parish. In such cases the provisions of this sub-section applied, and the powers and duties of the board or other authority under the adoptive Act passed upon the appointed day to the governing bodies of the areas which were wholly or partly comprised in the area under the adoptive Act. These governing bodies are, in the case of a rural parish wholly or partly comprised in the area under the adoptive Act, the parish council, where it exists, and where it does not exist, the parish meeting; in the case of an urban district comprising part of the area under the adoptive Act, the urban district council.

The bodies to whom these powers and duties were jointly transferred were required to appoint a joint committee to exercise and perform them. Doubts having arisen whether the provisions of s. 57 (17 Halsbury's Statutes 813) (now repealed) were applicable to a joint committee appointed under this section, the Local Government (Joint Committees) Act, 1897, post, p. 4940, was passed and this cleared up part of the difficulty. By that Act in the case of a joint committee appointed under this section for the purposes of the Burial Acts, expenses are to be defrayed and money borrowed and receipts divided by the councils appointing the committee; the consent of the Minister of Health, but no other consent, is necessary to borrowing; and the proceedings of the committee are regulated by Part IV. of the First Schedule to this Act (10 Halsbury's Statutes 830). Differences as to the constitution of any committee may be determined by the Minister; and parish meetings joining in the appointment of a committee have the same power of borrowing as a parish council.

Notwithstanding the provision in the Act of 1897, post, p. 4940, that no other consent than that of the Minister of Health shall be necessary to the borrowing of money by the councils appointing the joint committee, the Minister requires evidence of the consent of the parish meeting of a rural parish and of the vestry of an urban parish to the incurring of the expenditure, having been advised that this is still necessary. The consents of those bodies are also required to the site selected for a burial ground; see s. 7 (3) of this Act, ante, p. 4895, and the Burial Act, 1852, ss. 19, 26 (2 Halsbury's Statutes 195, 198).

A grant of exclusive rights of burial or a conveyance of lands held for burial purposes cannot apparently be made by a joint committee formed under s. 53 (2). In order to be binding at law a grant or conveyance must be executed and sealed by all the councils or meetings covering the area of the superseded burial board. The action of the committee, however, binds all the councils, so that they can be compelled by suit for specific performance, or by mandamus, to affix their seals in order to carry out what has been agreed to by the joint committee.

Similarly lands purchased by a joint committee of this kind must be conveyed to the constituent councils.

In view of the M. of H. only members of the appointing councils are eligible to serve on a joint committee under s. 53.

The provision made by the text was not intended to be permanent; it is to hold good "until other provision is made in pursuance of this Act." The reference seems to be to the power given by sub-s. (4), infra, to a county council to alter the boundaries of an area under the adoptive Act.

(3) The property, debts, and liabilities of any authority under any of the adoptive Acts whose powers are transferred in pursuance of this Act shall continue to be the property, debts, and liabilities of the area of that authority, and the proceeds of the property shall be credited, and the debts and liabilities and the expenses incurred in respect of the said powers, duties, and liabilities, shall be charged to the account of the rates or contributions levied in that area, and where that area is situate in more than one parish the sums credited to and paid by each parish shall be apportioned in such manner as to give effect to this enactment.

This obscurely-worded sub-section must be interpreted in the light of s. 67, post, p. 4918. The meaning seems to be that when a parish council (under sub-s. (1)) or the governing bodies mentioned in sub-s. (2) become invested with the powers and duties of a previously existing authority under an adoptive Act, the benefit and the burden of the property, debts, and liabilities of the superseded authority are to remain the benefit and burden of the area of that authority. Where that area is a part of a rural parish and a transfer has been made under sub-s. (1), the parish council will be the authority for the execution of the Act, but the expenses of the execution must be levied upon the part of the parish which has adopted it, either as a "special rate" in cases within s. 3 of the R. and V. A., 1925, ante, p. 2124, or as an additional item of the general rate, and not out of a rate levied upon the whole parish. On the other hand, the income (if any) arising out of the execution of the adoptive Act goes in reduction of the special rate or additional item of the general rate, and not in augmentation of the general revenues of the parish. Where the area under the adoptive Act is made up of parts of different parishes (whether rural or not), the executive authority consists of the bodies mentioned in sub-s. (2), acting by their joint committee. The rate must be levied as before the transfer upon the area which has adopted the Act, each part of a parish contributing its apportioned part and having credited to it its apportioned share of the revenue arising under the Act. Provision is made by the Local Government (Joint Committees) Act, 1897, post, at p. 4940, as to how the apportionment is to be made in the case of a joint committee for the purposes of the Burial Acts, 1852—1906 (2 Halsbury's Statutes 190 and this Volume); in other cases no provision is made, but presumably the apportionment may be made by the bodies appointing the joint committee upon the basis of rateable value.

The fund for defraying expenses was not altered by the transfer of powers and duties. For instance, it would appear from R. v. Connaught's Quay Overseers, post, p. 4916, that the share of the expenses of a joint burial committee to be defrayed by an urban council was payable out of the poor rate, not the general district rate, but this point is no longer of practical importance in view of the R. and V. A., 1925, ante, p. 2113.

By the L. G. A., 1888, s. 100, ante, p. 4765 (incorporated with this Act by s. 75, post, p. 4920), the expression "liabilities" includes liability to any proceeding for enforcing any duty or for punishing the breach of any duty, and includes all debts and liabilities to which any authority are or would but for that Act be liable or subject to, whether accrued due at the date of the transfer or subsequently accruing, and includes any obligation to carry or apply any money to any sinking fund or to any particular purpose. See cases collected in note to the L. G. A., 1933, s. 151, ante, p. 962, as to the meaning to be attached to the word "liabilities." See also Nash v. Rochford R. D. C., [1917] 1 K. B. 384; 81 J. P. 57; 26 Digest 405, 1272.

Agreements may be made under L. G. A., 1933, s. 151 (2), ante, p. 967, as to the adjustment of property and liabilities between the authorities interested, and questions as to the transfer of powers, duties, and liabilities may be determined summarily by the High Court under s. 70, post, p. 4919.

(4) The county council on the application of a parish council may, by order, alter the boundaries of any such area if they consider that the alteration can properly be made without any undue alteration of the incidence of liability to rates and contributions or of the right to property belonging to the area, regard being had to any corresponding advantage to persons subject to the liability or entitled to the right.

The powers of a county council under this sub-section can only be exercised upon the application of a parish council. No power to apply is given to a district council but such a council may apply to the M. of H. under L. G. A., 1933, s. 271, ante, p. 1152, for an order, giving it the power of a parish council under the sub-section, and there are instances in which this procedure has been successfully adopted. The power to "alter the boundaries" does not empower a county council to divide an area into distinct areas and an order of a county council purporting to do this in relation to a burial area comprising two rural parishes would be ultra vires. It is also doubtful whether an order under this sub-section would be valid which purported to alter an area under the adoptive Acts which was not in existence on the appointed day. See the word "such" in the sub-section.

Section 54. [Ss. 54—61 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 811—816) were repealed by the L. G. A., 1938, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1286.]

Permissive transfer to urban district council of powers of
authorities.

62.—(1) Where there is in any urban district, or part of an urban district, any authority constituted under any of the adoptive Acts, the council of that district may resolve that the powers, duties, property debts, and liabilities of that authority shall be transferred to the council as from the date specified in the resolution, and upon that date the same shall be transferred accordingly, and the authority shall cease to exist, and the council shall be the successors of that authority.

As to the adoptive Acts, see the note to s. 53 (1), ante, p. 4913. The present provision refers to a case where such an Act has been adopted in an urban district or part thereof either before or after the appointed day. It has been held that it applies in a county borough (Kirkdale Burial Board v. Liverpool Corporation, [1904] 1 Ch. 829; 68 J. P. 289; 33 Digest 55, 337). The transfer is effected by a resolution of the council.

The power given to the councils of urban districts by this section has been used to a great extent and has resulted in the disappearance of numerous burial boards which existed at the date of the Act.

Where a district council takes over the powers, etc. of a special authority executing an adoptive Act, the expenditure of the council in administering the Act must be charged to the area from which the expenses of the superseded authority were defrayed. Thus, it was held that where an urban council takes over the powers and duties of a burial board the expenses incurred by the council in executing the Burial Acts, and the interest upon, and repayments of, money borrowed in pursuance of those Acts were chargeable on the poor rates of the parish or parishes for which the burial board was formed, and were not payable out of the general district rate (R. v. Connah's Quay Overseers, [1901] 2 K. B. 174; 65 J. P. 500; 7 Digest 547, 264). This decision supports the submission contained in a former edition "that upon such a transfer being effected the burden of the expenses incurred in the execution of the adoptive Act, and the benefit of the property and income applicable to or arising out of its execution will remain the burden and the benefit of the area under the adoptive Act, and will not be thrown upon or enjoyed by the parts of the urban districts which have not adopted the Act." But see now the R. and V. A., 1925, ante, p. 2113.

Reference may be made to Sanitary Act, 1866, s. 44, which is re-enacted by the P. H. A., 1875, Sched. V., ante, p. 4528. That section gives power to burial boards in certain cases to transfer their powers to an urban authority.

(2) After the appointed day any of the adoptive Acts shall not be adopted for any part of an urban district without the approval of the council of that district.

Provisions
as to county council acquiring powers
council.

63.—(1) Where the powers of a district council are by virtue of a resolution under this Act transferred to a county council, the following provisions shall have effect :

- (a) Notice of the resolution of the county council by virtue of which the transfer is made shall be forthwith sent to the district council and to the Local Government Board :
- (b) The expenses incurred by the county council shall be a debt from the district council to the county council, and shall be defrayed as part of the expenses of the district council in the execution of the Public Health Acts, and the district council shall have the like power of raising the money as for the defraying of those expenses :

- (c) The county council for the purpose of the powers transferred may on behalf of the district council borrow subject to the like conditions, in the like manner, and on the security of the like fund or rate, as the district council might have borrowed for the purpose of those powers :
- (d) The county council may charge the said fund or rate with the payment of the principal and interest of the loan, and the loan with the interest thereon shall be paid by the district council in like manner, and the charge shall have the like effect, as if the loan were lawfully raised and charged on that fund or rate by the district council :
- (e) The county council shall keep separate accounts of all receipts and expenditure in respect of the said powers :
- (f) The county council may by order vest in the district council all or any of the powers, duties, property, debts, and liabilities of the county council in relation to any of the said powers, and the property, debts, and liabilities so vested shall be deemed to have been acquired or incurred by the district council for the purpose of those powers.

This sub-section will apply where a county council resolves upon complaint by a parish council of the default of a district council that the duties and powers of the district council for the purpose of the matter complained of shall be transferred to the county council (s. 16 and s. 26 (4), ante, pp. 4902, 4909). It may also be applied where a county council resolves or is directed to act in default of a council under the Housing Act, 1936, ss. 169, 170—2, ante, pp. 1756—1759. The provisions of this section may also be applied with such modifications and adaptations as may be necessary or expedient by an order made by the Minister under s. 57 (3) of the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V., post, transferring to a county council functions in respect of which a district council is in default. It may also be applied in the same way where an order is made by the Minister under s. 36 (2), (4) of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1932 (see ibid., s. 36 (8), ante, pp. 1963—1965), or under s. 18 of the Restriction of Ribbon Development Act, 1935 (see ibid., s. 19 (4), ante, p. 2041). But it is now repealed so far as regards functions of a council which are functions under the P. H. A., 1936 (see ibid., s. 346, Sched. III., Pt. V., ante, pp. 720, 731). or under the Food and Drugs Act, 1938 (see ibid., s. 101, Sched. IV., Pt. I., ante, pp. 1451, 1456).

As to the manner in which the expenses of a rural council are to be defrayed, see L. G. A., 1933, s. 190, and notes, ante, p. 1016. With regard to the expenses of the county council, these are, under the provision in the text, recoverable as a debt in the High Court or the County Court. Compare the provisions of the P. H. (London) A., 1891, ss. 100, 117 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 1081, 1090) (London County Council v. Bermondsey Borough Council, [1915] 3 K. B. 305 ; 79 J. P. 449 ; 38 Digest 225, 563). As to the borrowing powers of a rural council, see notes to L. G. A., 1933, s. 195, ante, p. 1023.

Clause (f) enables the county council to hand over any property acquired for the purposes of the exercise of the powers of the district council by the county council, and to put the district council in the same position as regards powers, duties, debts, and liabilities relating to the subject-matter of the complaint, as if the powers of the district council had been exercised by that council in the first instance, and no complaint had been made.

(2) Where a rural district is situate in two or more counties a parish council complaining under this Act may complain to the county council of the county in which the parish is situate, and if the subject-matter of the complaint affects any other county the complaint shall be referred to a joint committee of the councils of the counties concerned, and any question arising as to the constitution of such joint committee shall be determined by the Local Government Board, and if any members of the joint committee are not appointed, the members who are actually appointed shall act as the joint committee.

Where a complaint is so referred to a joint committee, it appears that such committee will have power to determine whether any action is to be taken in the matter of the complaint, by taking over the powers of the defaulting council. The body to take action will be, it is submitted, the joint committee, and not the county council to whom the complaint was originally made.

Power to act through district council.

64. [Repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1286.]

Saving

65. Where any improvement commission affected by this Act have any powers, duties, property, debts, or liabilities in respect of any harbour, the improvement commission shall continue to exist and be elected for the purpose thereof, and shall continue as a separate body, as if this Act had not passed, and the property, debts, and liabilities shall be apportioned between the district council for the district and the commission so continuing, and the adjustment arising out of the apportionment shall be determined in manner provided by this Act.

This section met the case where the commissioners under an Improvement Act had powers, etc., in respect of a harbour. They continued to be elected and to have the same powers as to the harbour, and their property, debts, and liabilities were apportioned between the district council and the commissioners for harbour purposes.

Transfer of property and debts and liabilities.

67. Where any powers and duties are transferred by this Act from one authority to another authority—

- (1) All property held by the first authority for the purpose or by virtue of such powers and duties shall pass to and vest in the other authority, subject to all debts and liabilities affecting the same; and
- (2) The latter authority shall hold the same for the estate, interest, and purposes, and subject to the covenants, conditions, and restrictions for and subject to which the property would have been held if this Act had not passed, so far as the same are not modified by or in pursuance of this Act; and
- (3) All debts and liabilities of the first authority incurred by virtue of such powers and duties shall become debts and liabilities of the latter authority, and be defrayed out of the like property and funds out of which they would have been defrayed if this Act had not passed.

For instances see transfer of powers, etc., of authority under the adoptive Acts to urban district council (s. 62, ante, p. 4916); transfer to rural district council of powers, etc., of rural sanitary authority and highway authority (s. 25, ante, p. 4905); transfer to district councils of powers of justices out of sessions and of quarter sessions (ss. 27, 32, ante, pp. 4911, 4912).

The definition of "liabilities" in the L. G. A., 1888, s. 100, ante, p. 4765 (incorporated with this Act by s. 75, post, p. 4920), should be referred to. See also Jackson

v. Plympton St. Mary R. D. C. (1900), 64 J. P. 168 ; 33 Digest 58, 352, and other cases referred to in note to the L. G. A., 1933, s. 151, ante, at p. 962 (Nash v. Rochford R. D. C., [1917] 1 K. B. 384 ; 81 J. P. 57 ; 26 Digest 405, 1272). With reference to sub-s. (3) of the text generally, see R. v. Connah's Quay Overseers, ante, p. 4916.

See as to the transfer, for the purposes of this Act, of stock standing in the name of an authority, the Local Government Act, 1933, s. 275, ante, p. 1155.

[Ss. 68, 69 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 818, 819), repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1286.]

Section 67.

70.—(1) If any question arises, or is about to arise, as to whether any power, duty, or liability is or is not transferred by or under this Act to any parish council, parish meeting, or district council, or any property is or is not vested in the parish council, or in the chairman and overseers of a rural parish, or in a district council, that question, without prejudice to any other mode of trying it, may, on the application of the council, meeting, or other local authority concerned, be submitted for decision to the High Court in such summary manner as, subject to any rules of court, may be directed by the court ; and the court, after hearing such parties and taking such evidence (if any) as it thinks just, shall decide the question.

Summary proceeding
for determination of questions as to transfer of powers.

This provision resembles the L. G. A., 1888, s. 29, ante, p. 4740, under which many questions were decided. Rules under the section came into operation on October 1st, 1894, and April 6th, 1895. They provide that the summary proceeding for submitting any question under this section for the decision of the High Court shall be by special case to be agreed upon by the parties, or in default of such agreement to be settled by an arbitrator to be agreed on by the parties or appointed by a judge in chambers, or to be settled by a judge in chambers. The special case, when settled, is to be filed in the Crown Office within eight days, and to be put into the Crown Paper for argument. See 98 L. T. Jo. 169, 577.

Under the corresponding section of the Act of 1888, ante, p. 4740, it was held that the court would not answer abstract questions on the construction of the Act : see Re Cardigan C. C. (1890), 54 J. P. 792.

(2) If any question arises or is about to arise under this Act as to the appointment of the trustees or beneficiaries of any charity, or as to the persons in whom the property of any charity is vested, such question shall, at the request of any trustee, beneficiary, or other person interested, be determined in the first instance by the Charity Commissioners, subject to an appeal to the High Court brought within three months after such determination. Provided that an appeal to the High Court of Justice from any determination of the Charity Commissioners under this section may be presented only under the same conditions as are prescribed in the case of appeals to the High Court from orders made by the Charity Commissioners under the Charitable Trusts Acts, 1853 to 1891.

Under the Charitable Trusts Acts, 1860, s. 8 (2 Halsbury's Statutes 365), and 1869, ss. 10, 11 (op. cit. 374), the Attorney-General or any person authorised by him or by the commissioners may present a petition to the Chancery Division of the High Court in a summary way appealing from certain orders of the commissioners. The conditions of appeal which are there prescribed, and which will apply to appeals under this section, are the following : (1) The petition must be presented within three months after the definitive publication of the order ; and " definitive publication " has been held to mean " the final publication when the time expired for the receipt of suggestions and objections " (Re Hackney Charities (1864), 28 J. P. 692 ; 12 W. R. 1131 ; Re Diptford Parish Lands, [1934] Ch. 151 ; Digest Supp.). (2) Twenty-one days' written notice of the intention to appeal must be given to the Charity Commissioners, and to the Attorney-General. (3) The court may deal with the costs, and may require security for costs to be given by an appellant other than the Attorney-General.

A question having arisen as to whether the income of a local charity was or was not exclusively applicable for church purposes, a letter was sent to the Charity Commissioners by the chairman of the parish council setting forth his contention on the subject. The commissioners, after receiving a report, wrote a letter expressing their opinion. It was held that this letter constituted a determination under this sub-section, which was conclusive, not having been appealed against within three months (Att.-Gen. v. Hughes (1899), 81 L. T. 679; 48 W. R. 150; 8 Digest 393, 2150).

As to the liability of the Charity Commissioners for costs, see Re Perry Almshouses, [1898] 1 Ch. 391, at p. 402.

(3) An appeal shall, with the leave of the High Court or Court of Appeal, but not otherwise, lie to the Court of Appeal against any decision under this section.

Under the corresponding provision in the L. G. A., 1888, s. 29, ante, p. 4740, there is no appeal to the Court of Appeal (Ex parte Kent C. C. and Dover Council, [1891] 1 Q. B. 725; 55 J. P. 647; 33 Digest 21, 87). The text gives such an appeal, but only with leave; if the High Court refuses leave the Court of Appeal may grant it (Godman v. Moses (1900), 69 L. J. Q. B. 823; 83 L. T. 46; 13 Digest 534, 857).

[Ss. 71—74 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 820, 821) repealed by the L. G. A., 1938, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1286.]

Construction
of Act.

75.—(1) The definition of "parish" in section one hundred of the Local Government Act, 1888, shall not apply to this Act, but, save as aforesaid, expressions used in this Act shall, unless the context otherwise requires, have the same meaning as in the said Act.

By s. 68 (4) of the R. and V. A., 1925, ante, p. 2232, it is provided that in every Act whether passed before or after 1925, the expression "parish" shall, unless the contrary intention appears, and subject to any alteration of area made on or after the appointed day (i.e. April 1st, 1927) by or in pursuance of any Act, mean a place for which immediately before the appointed day (i.e. April 1st, 1927) a separate poor rate was or could be made, or a separate overseer was or could be appointed.

For expressions which are defined by the Act of 1888, ante, p. 4765, and have the same meaning when used in this Act, see the Act of 1888, s. 100, ante, p. 4765. Such expressions bear the meaning given to them by the earlier Act, "unless the context otherwise requires." It may be mentioned that the definition of "county" in the Act of 1888 is varied (infra, sub-s. (2)) so as to include a "county borough," and that the definitions of "district council" and "county district" (which had reference to future legislation which might establish district councils) must now be read as referring to the district councils established by this Act, and to the districts of such councils. See s. 21, ante, p. 4904.

(2) In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires—

Any reference to population means the population according to the census of one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

The expression "parochial elector," when used with reference to a parish in an urban district, or in the county of London or any county borough, means any person who would be a parochial elector of the parish if it were a rural parish.

As to "parochial electors," see the Representation of the People Act, 1918, Sched. 6, r. 2, post, p. 5185. The effect of that Act is to substitute the term "local government electors" for "parochial electors." As to who are "local government electors," see s. 3, post, p. 5168.

The expression "election" includes both the nomination and the poll. Section 75.

See now L. G. A., 1933, Pt. I., ante, pp. 736 et seq.

The expression "trustees" includes persons administering or managing any charity or recreation ground, or other property or thing in relation to which the word is used.

This definition has especial reference to s. 14, ante, p. 4900. Persons acting as trustees, though not trustees in the strict legal sense, are included in the term.

The expression "ecclesiastical charity" includes a charity, the endowment whereof is held for some one or more of the following purposes :

- (a) For any spiritual purpose which is a legal purpose ; or
- (b) For the benefit of any spiritual person or ecclesiastical officer as such ; or
- (c) For use, if a building, as a church, chapel, mission room, or Sunday school, or otherwise, by any particular church or denomination ; or
- (d) For the maintenance, repair, or improvement of any such building as aforesaid, or for the maintenance of divine service therein ; or
- (e) Otherwise for the benefit of any particular church or denomination, or of any members thereof as such.

Provided that where any endowment of a charity, other than a building held for any of the purposes aforesaid, is held in part only for some of the purposes aforesaid, the charity, so far as that endowment is concerned, shall be an ecclesiastical charity within the meaning of this Act ; and the Charity Commissioners shall, on application by any person interested, make such provision for the apportionment and management of that endowment as seems to them necessary or expedient for giving effect to this Act.

The expression shall also include any building which in the opinion of the Charity Commissioners has been erected or provided within forty years before the passing of this Act mainly by or at the cost of members of any particular church or denomination.

The words "as such" in clause (e) show that no charity is an ecclesiastical charity within that clause unless, upon the true construction of the instrument of endowment, its benefits are exclusively confined to members of a particular church or denomination. Ecclesiastical charities within the meaning of this definition are not confined to charities for the spiritual or religious benefit of a church, but include eleemosynary charities (Re Perry Almshouses, Re Ross' Charity, [1899] 1 Ch. 21 ; 63 J. P. 52 ; 3 Digest 371, 1781). See also Re Spendluffe's Charity (1900), 65 J. P. 72 ; 83 L. T. 498 ; 8 Digest 371, 1782.

The expression "affairs of the church" shall include the distribution of offertories or other collections made in any church.

Cf. as to this phrase, St. George's, Hanover Square v. Westminster Corporation, [1910] A. C. 225 ; 74 J. P. 153 ; 7 Digest 551, 287 (a closed burial ground).

The expression "parochial charity" means a charity the benefits of which are or the separate distribution of the benefits of which is confined to inhabitants of a single parish, or of a single ancient ecclesiastical parish divided into two or more parishes, or of not more than five neighbouring parishes.

The expression "vestry" in relation to a parish means the inhabitants of the parish whether in vestry assembled or not, and includes any select vestry either by statute or at common law.

See R. v. Shipley Parish Council, ante, p. 4362.

The expression "rateable value" means the rateable value stated in the valuation list in force, or, if there is no such list, in the last poor rate.

The expression "county" includes a county borough, and the expression "county council" includes the council of a county borough.

The expression "elementary school" means an elementary school within the meaning of the Elementary Education Act, 1870.

The Elementary Education Act, 1870 (7 Halsbury's Statutes 120), has been repealed and enacted by the Education Act, 1921, ss. 27, 172 (op. cit. 142, 215).

The expression "local and personal Act" includes a Provisional Order confirmed by an Act and the Act confirming the Order.

As to what is a local and personal Act, reference may be made to R. v. London C. C., [1893] 2 Q. B. 454; 58 J. P. 21; 42 Digest 602, 22.

The expression "prescribed" means prescribed by order of the Local Government Board.

Now Minister of Health (Ministry of Health Act, 1919, post, p. 5189).

Extent of Act.

76. This Act shall not extend to Scotland or Ireland.

Short title.

77. This Act may be cited as the Local Government Act, 1894.

PART V.

TRANSITORY PROVISIONS.

The only sections in this Part of the Act remaining unrepealed and operative are parts of ss. 81 and 82 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 824). S. 84 (op. cit. 825) remains unrepealed, but its effect is spent.

Existing
officers.

81.—(1) Where the powers and duties of any authority other than justices are transferred by this Act to any parish or district council, the officers of that authority shall become the officers of that council. . . .

Certain concluding words in this sub-section were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1286.

As an illustration of this sub-section, the officers of highway boards became officers of the rural district council when the latter became the highway authority under s. 25, ante, p. 4905. In a highway parish the body appointing a surveyor were the inhabitants in vestry, or meeting in the nature of a vestry (Highway Act, 1835, ss. 6, 18 (9 Halsbury's Statutes 52, 57)).

This sub-section did not prevent a council distributing the work as it liked amongst all its various officers, whether appointed by or transferred to it (Genn v. East Kerrier R. D. C. (1898), 62 J. P. 215; 33 Digest 100, 680).

As to the transfer of officers of rural district councils consequent upon the provisions of Pt. III. of the L. G. A., 1929, see s. 120, Vol. V., post.

Section 81.

Sub-s. (2) (10 Halsbury's Statutes 824) was repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1286.

Sub-s. (3) relates to officers now obsolete.

(4) Every such officer, vestry clerk, and assistant overseer, as above in this section mentioned shall hold his office by the same tenure and upon the same terms and conditions as heretofore, and while performing the same duties shall receive not less salary or remuneration than heretofore.

The words in italics were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1286.

The expression "salary or remuneration" apparently means "remuneration whether by salary or by fees." See Wyatt v. London C. C. (1901), 66 J. P. 325; 85 L. T. 629; 33 Digest 380, 894. And see generally notes to L. G. A., 1933, s. 105, ante, pp. 874 et seq.

[Sub-ss. (5), (6) (10 Halsbury's Statutes 824), repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1286.]

(7) Section one hundred and twenty of the Local Government Act, 1888, which relates to compensation to existing officers, shall apply in the case of existing officers affected by this Act, whether officers above in this section mentioned or not, as if references in that section to the county council were references to the parish council, or the district council, or board of guardians or other authority whose officer the person affected is when the claim for compensation arises as the case may require. . . .

The concluding part of sub-s. (7) was repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1286.

Section 120 of the L. G. A., 1888, was repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1276. In so far as any outstanding cases under the section in the text still exist, however, the repealed section continues to apply to them, and for this purpose provides as follows:—

Compensation to existing officers: incorporated provisions of L. G. A., 1888, s. 120.

"(1) Every existing officer declared by this Act to be entitled to compensation, and every other existing officer, whether before mentioned in this Act or not, who by virtue of this Act, or anything done in pursuance of or in consequence of this Act, suffers any direct pecuniary loss by abolition of office or by diminution or loss of fees or salary, shall be entitled to have compensation paid to him for such pecuniary loss by the county council, to whom the powers of the authority, whose officer he was, are transferred under this Act, regard being had to the conditions on which his appointment was made, to the nature of his office or employment, to the duration of his service, to any additional emoluments which he acquires by virtue of this Act or of anything done in pursuance of or in consequence of this Act, and to the emoluments which he might have acquired if he had not refused to accept any office offered by any council or other body acting under this Act, and to all the other circumstances of the case, and the compensation shall not exceed the amount which, under the Acts and rules relating to her Majesty's Civil Service, is paid to a person on abolition of office.

Section 81.

- “(2) Every person who is entitled to compensation, as above mentioned, shall deliver to the county council a claim under his hand setting forth the whole amount received and expended by him or his predecessors in office, in every year during the period of five years next before the passing of this Act, on account of the emoluments for which he claims compensation, distinguishing the offices in respect of which the same have been received, and accompanied by a statutory declaration under the Statutory Declaration Act, 1835, that the same is a true statement according to the best of his knowledge, information, and belief.
- “(3) Such statement shall be submitted to the county council, who shall forthwith take the same into consideration, and assess the just amount of compensation (if any), and shall forthwith inform the claimant of their decision.
- “(4) If a claimant is aggrieved by the refusal of the county council to grant any compensation, or by the amount of compensation assessed, or if not less than one-third of the members of such council subscribe a protest against the amount of the compensation as being excessive, the claimant or any subscriber to such protest (as the case may be) may, within three months after the decision of the council, appeal to the Treasury, who shall consider the case and determine whether any compensation, and if so, what amount ought to be granted to the claimant, and such determination shall be final.
- “(5) Any claimant under this section, if so required by any member of the county council, shall attend at a meeting of the council and answer upon oath, which any justice present may administer, all questions asked by any member of the council touching the matters set forth in his claim, and shall further produce all books, papers, and documents in his possession or under his control relating to such claim.
- “(6) The sum payable as compensation to any person in pursuance of this section shall commence to be payable at the date fixed by the council on granting the compensation, or, in case of appeal, by the Treasury, and shall be a specialty debt due to him from the county council, and may be enforced accordingly in like manner as if the council had entered into a bond to pay the same.
- “(7) If a person receiving compensation in pursuance of this section is appointed to any office under the same or any other county council, or by virtue of this Act, or anything done in pursuance of or in consequence of this Act, receives any increase of emoluments of the office held by him, he shall not, while receiving the emoluments of that office, receive any greater amount of his compensation, if any, than, with the emoluments of the said office, is equal to the emoluments for which compensation was granted to him, and if the emoluments of the office he holds are equal to or greater than the emoluments for which compensation was granted, his compensation shall be suspended while he holds such office.
- “(8) All expenses incurred by a county council in pursuance of this section shall be paid out of the county fund, as a payment for general county purposes.”

It will be observed that, under the section above set out, in fixing the amount of compensation, regard must be had to broadly the same considerations as under s. 150 and Sched. IV. of the L. G. A., 1933. See those provisions at ante, pp. 958, 1248.

It has been suggested that sub-s. (7) applies only to the case where an officer is appointed to an office under an authority of the same kind as that in which he was formerly employed. To provide for this the M. of H., in their orders extending boroughs, insert words to meet the case of an officer receiving an appointment under a different kind of authority.

The following is the text of the compensation clause inserted in an Order dated shortly before the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V., post :—

“Every officer in office on the passing of the Act of Parliament confirming this Order who by virtue of this Order or of anything done in pursuance or in consequence thereof suffers any direct pecuniary loss by abolition of office or by diminution or loss of fees salary or emoluments (and for whose compensation no other provision is made by any enactment for the time being in force) shall be entitled to compensation for that loss from the Corporation.

Note to
Section 81.

"If the services of any officer are dispensed with or his fees salary or emoluments are reduced within five years after the appointed day because his services are not required or his duties are diminished in consequence of this Order and not on the ground of misconduct that officer shall be deemed unless the contrary is shown to have suffered a direct pecuniary loss in consequence of this Order.

"In determining the compensation payable to any person who becomes entitled to compensation in pursuance of this Order regard shall be had to the conditions and circumstances mentioned in subsection (1) of section 120 of the Act of 1888 and the compensation shall not exceed the limit therein mentioned.

"Any compensation payable under this Order to any officer shall be paid out of the borough fund and borough rate of the Borough and the provisions of section 120 of the Act of 1888 shall apply subject to the following and any necessary modifications :—

- "(a) Any reference in that section to the county council shall be construed as a reference to the Corporation and in subsection (7) of that section for the words 'the same or any other county council' there shall be substituted the words 'the council of any county or county borough or under any district council' ;
- "(b) References in that section to 'the passing of this Act' shall be construed as references to the date on which the abolition of office takes effect or the direct pecuniary loss commences as the case may be ; and
- "(c) The expression in subsection (1) of that section 'the Acts and rules relating to Her Majesty's Civil Service' shall mean the Acts and rules relating to Her Majesty's Civil Service which were in operation at the date of the passing of the Act of 1888.

"All fees or remuneration received and retained by an officer in connection with the preparation of the jurors book or the register of electors under the Representation of the People Acts 1918 to 1926 shall subject to a reasonable deduction for any expenses incurred by the officer be regarded as part of the emoluments of the officer for the purpose of compensation.

"The compensation payable under this Order to an officer who on the passing of the Act of Parliament confirming this Order shall hold two or more offices under any local authority or local authorities and who shall have devoted the whole of his time to the duties of such offices shall not be reduced by reason of the fact that he has devoted only part of his time to each of such offices and for the purpose of this paragraph of this article a superintendent registrar of births and deaths or registrar of marriages shall be deemed to hold an office under a local authority.

"If any officer was temporarily absent from his employment during the war whilst serving in His Majesty's Forces or the Forces of the Allied or Associated Powers either compulsorily or with the sanction or permission of the local authority such period of temporary absence shall be reckoned as service under the local authority in whose employment he was immediately before and after such temporary absence :

"Provided that in the case of an officer who after the Armistice voluntarily extended his term of service with the Forces no period of absence during such extension shall be so reckoned.

"The Corporation may in their discretion and in consideration of the fact that any officer was appointed to his office as a specially qualified person or of the fact that he had prior to his appointment served as a deputy assistant or clerk to any officer not holding a temporary appointment add any number of years (not exceeding ten) to the number of years which such officer would otherwise be entitled to reckon for the purpose of computing the compensation to which he would be entitled under the Acts and rules relating to Her Majesty's Civil Service as applied by this Order.

"No officer shall be entitled to receive both compensation under this Order for pecuniary loss and a superannuation or retiring allowance in respect of the same period of service and the same pecuniary loss."

In local Acts it is the practice to substitute the M. of H. for the Treasury as the appellate authority ; this substitution is held to be beyond the powers of the Minister in a Provisional Order.

It should be noticed that not only is the decision of the Treasury final, but the appeal to the Treasury is the only means by which a claim for compensation can be enforced. An action does not lie to recover compensation (Rowse v. Metropolitan Water Board, ante, p. 1254. And see also Yorke v. R., [1915] 1 K. B. 852; 84 L. J. K. B. 947).

An officer means a person holding "any place, situation, or employment," and "existing" means existing at the appointed day (see L. G. A., 1888, s. 100, ante, p. 4765, and s. 75 (1) of this Act, ante, p. 4920).

The remainder of the section is now also omitted as spent.

PART II.

MASTERS AND SEAMEN.

* * * * *

Protection of seamen from Imposition.

214.—(1) A local authority hereinafter mentioned (b) whose district (b) includes a seaport may, with the approval of the Board of Trade, make byelaws relating to seamen's lodging-houses in their district, and those byelaws shall be binding upon all persons keeping houses in which seamen (c) are lodged and upon the owners thereof and persons employed therein.

Seamen's lodging-houses (a).

(2) The byelaws shall amongst other things provide for the licensing, inspection, and sanitary conditions of seamen's lodging-houses, for the publication of the fact of a house being licensed, for the due execution of the byelaws, for preventing the obstruction of persons engaged in securing that execution, for the preventing of persons not duly licensed holding themselves out as keeping or purporting to keep licensed houses, and for the exclusion from licensed houses of persons of improper character, and shall impose sufficient fines not exceeding fifty pounds for the breach of any byelaw (d).

(3) The byelaws shall come into force from a date therein named, and shall be published in the London Gazette (e) and in one newspaper at the least circulating in the district, and designated by the Board of Trade.

(4) If the local authority do not within a time in each case named by the Board of Trade make, revoke, or alter, any byelaws under this section. the Board of Trade may do so (f).

Note to
Section 214.

(5) Whenever her Majesty in Council orders (g) that in any district or any part thereof none but persons duly licensed in pursuance of byelaws under this section shall keep seamen's lodging-houses or let lodgings to seamen from a date therein named, a person acting in contravention of that order shall for each offence be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds (h).

(6) A local authority may defray all expenses incurred in the execution of this section out of any funds at their disposal as sanitary authority (i), and fines recovered for a contravention of this section or of any byelaw under this section shall be paid to such authority and added to those funds.

(7) In this section the expression "local authority" means in the administrative county of London the county council, and elsewhere in England the local authority under the Public Health Acts (k) . . . and the expression "district" means the area under the authority of such local authority.

(a) This section takes the place of s. 48 of the Merchant Shipping (Fishing Boats) Act, 1883, now repealed by this Act.

(c) Defined by s. 742, post, p. 4934.

(d) By s. 680 (2) (18 Halsbury's Statutes 393) of this Act, any offence committed or fine recoverable under a byelaw made in pursuance of this Act may be prosecuted or recovered in the same manner as an offence or fine under this Act. By s. 680 (1) (b) an offence under this Act, punishable by a fine not exceeding £100, shall be prosecuted summarily in manner provided by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts. Section 682 (op. cit. 393) gives an appeal to quarter sessions in case the fine inflicted exceeds five pounds; s. 683 (op. cit. 394) limits the time for commencing proceedings to within six months after the commission of the offence; s. 684 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 394) gives jurisdiction not only in the place where the offence was actually committed, but also in any place where the offender may happen to be. Sub-section (6) of the present section deals with the application of fines recovered.

(e) See s. 740, post, p. 4934.

(f) This power has not yet been exercised, nor has there been any exercise of the corresponding power under the repealed statute.

(g) No such Order in Council has yet been made, either under the present Act, or under the corresponding provision in the repealed statute.

Section 738 of this Act (op. cit. 410) gives power to revoke, alter, or add to any Order in Council, when made, and provides for the publication of Orders in Council in the London Gazette, for laying them before Parliament, and for their taking effect.

(h) As to recovery of such fine, see ss. 680—684 of the Act (op. cit. 393—394), and as to its application, when recovered, see ss. 699, 716 (op. cit. 401, 402).

(i) As to these funds, in the case of an urban sanitary authority, see ss. 185, 188, 191 of the L. G. A., 1933, ante, pp. 1013, 1015, 1019. In a rural district it is not clear whether it is intended that the expenses shall be general or special, i.e., chargeable only to the contributory place comprising the town. See s. 308 of the P. H. A., 1936, ante, p. 654.

(k) Formerly this obviously meant under the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 4331, and amending Acts. See the Short Titles Act, 1896 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1021).

Words relating to Scotland and Ireland only are here omitted.

PART III.

PASSENGER AND EMIGRANT SHIPS.

* * * * *

3. EMIGRANT SHIPS.

Passage Brokers (a).

341.—(1) Any person who sells or lets or agrees to sell or let, or is in anywise concerned in the sale or letting of steerage passages (b) in any ship proceeding from the British Islands to any place out of Europe not within the Mediterranean Sea shall for the purposes of this Part of this Act be a passage broker.

(2) The acts and defaults of any person acting under the authority, or as an agent, of a passage broker, shall for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be also the acts and defaults of the passage broker.

(a) The sections under this heading take the place of ss. 66—69 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 188, 189), inclusive, and 81 of the Passengers Act, 1855, now repealed by this Act.

By s. 23 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1906 (op. cit. 452), the provisions of Part III. of the principal Act (i.e., this Act) relating to passage brokers shall apply to any person who at any place in the British Isles sells or lets or agrees to sell or let or is anywise concerned in the sale or letting of steerage passages from any place in Europe not within the Mediterranean Sea.

(b) Defined by s. 268 (op. cit. 260). The selling or letting intended by this section is a selling or letting in a named ship of a passage to commence at a definite time for a specified voyage, and therefore that a person who agrees to procure a passage for another, no ship or time being specified, has not acted as a passage broker (Morris v. Horden, [1897] 1 Q. B. 378; 61 J. P. 246; 41 Digest 672, 5037).

Note to Section 341.

342.—(1) A person shall not act directly or indirectly as a passage broker unless he— Passage brokers to enter into bond and obtain licence.

(a) has entered, with two good and sufficient sureties approved by the emigration officer nearest to his place of business, into a joint and several bond (a) to the Crown, in the sum of one thousand pounds; and

(b) holds a licence for the time being in force to act as passage broker.

(2) The bond shall be renewed on each occasion of obtaining a licence, and shall not be liable to stamp duty; it shall be executed in duplicate, and one part shall be deposited at the office of the Board of Trade, and the other part with the said emigration officer.

(3) The emigration officer may, in lieu of two securities, accept the bond of any guarantee society approved by the Treasury.

(4) There shall be exempted from this section—

(a) the Board of Trade, and any person contracting with them or acting under their authority; and

(b) any passage broker's agent duly appointed under this Act (b).

(5) If any person fails (c) to comply with any requirement of this section, he shall for each offence be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds (d).

(a) The form of bond is prescribed by s. 360 and Schedule XIV., post, pp. 4933, 4935.

(b) A passage broker's agent, in order to be duly appointed under this Act, must, under s. 345 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 290), hold an appointment in writing from the passage broker, in the form required by the Act, and countersigned by the emigration officer at the port nearest to the place of business of the passage broker.

(c) Includes refusal; see s. 742, post, p. 4934.

(d) This fine cannot be sued for and recovered by the licensing authority, but only by the persons authorised under s. 356, post, p. 4933.

343.—(1) Application for a licence to act as passage broker shall be made to the licensing authority for the place in which the applicant has his place of business. Granting of licences to passage brokers.

(2) The licensing authority, upon the applicant proving to their satisfaction that he—

(a) has entered into and deposited one part of such bond as is required by this Act; and

(b) has given to the Board of Trade at least fourteen days' clear notice (a) of his intention to apply for a licence, may grant the licence (a), and shall forthwith send to the Board of Trade notice (a) of such grant.

(3) The licensing authority shall be—

(a) in the administrative county of London the justices of the peace at petty sessions;

(b) elsewhere in England, the council of a county borough or county district (b); . . .

Note to
Section 343.

(a) A form is prescribed by s. 360 and Schedule XIV, post, pp. 4933, 4935.

(b) Under the repealed statutes it was the justices in petty sessions who were the licensing authority, but their powers were transferred to district councils by ss. 27 and 32 of the L. G. A., 1894, ante, pp. 4911, 4912.

The remainder of this section relates to Scotland and Ireland only, and is, therefore, omitted.

licence.

344.—(1) A passage broker's licence shall, unless forfeited, remain in force until the thirty-first day of December in the year in which it is granted, and for thirty-one days afterwards.

(2) Any Court (a), when convicting a passage broker of an offence under this Part of this Act or of any breach or non-performance of the requirements thereof, may order that his licence be forfeited and the same shall be forfeited accordingly.

(3) The Court shall forthwith send to the Board of Trade a notice of any such order.

(a) Defined by s. 742, post, p. 4934.

345. [Passage broker's agents.]

346. [List of agents and runners to be exhibited by brokers, and sent to emigration officers.]

Emigrant Runners (a).

Emigrant
runner.

347. If any person other than a licensed passage broker or his bonâ fide salaried clerk, in or within five miles of the outer boundaries of any port (b), for hire or reward or the expectation thereof directly or indirectly conducts, solicits, influences, or recommends any intending emigrant (c) to or on behalf of any passage broker, or any owner charterer or master (b) of a ship, or any keeper of a lodging-house tavern or shop, or any money changer or other dealer or chapman, for any purpose connected with the preparations or arrangements for a passage, or gives or pretends to give to any intending emigrant any information or assistance in any way relating to emigration, that person shall for the purposes of this Part of this Act be an emigrant runner.

(a) The sections under this heading take the place of ss. 75—79, inclusive, and 80 of the Passengers Act, 1855, now repealed by this Act.

(b) Defined by s. 742, post, p. 4934.

(c) This word is not defined by the Act, and so probably would include any person proposing to take a steerage passage on board an emigrant ship as defined by s. 268 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 260).

Emigrant
runner's licence.

348.—(1) The licensing authority (a) for passage brokers for the place in which a person wishes to act as an emigrant runner, and to carry on his business, may, upon his application and on the recommendation in writing of an emigration officer, or of the chief constable or other head officer of police in such place (but not otherwise), grant, if they think fit, to the applicant a licence to act as emigrant runner.

(2) The emigrant runner shall, within forty-eight hours after his licence is granted, lodge the same with the nearest emigration officer, and that officer shall—

(a) register the name and abode of the emigrant runner in a book to be kept for the purpose, and number each name in arithmetical order; and

(b) upon receipt of a fee, not exceeding seven shillings, supply to the emigrant runner a badge of such form and description as the Board of Trade approve, but in case of a renewed licence, the officer need only note the renewal and its date in his registry book against the original entry of the emigrant runner's name.

(3) An emigrant runner's licence shall remain in force until the thirty-first day of December in the year in which it is granted, unless sooner revoked by any justice for any offence against this Act or for any other misconduct committed by the holder of such licence, or unless forfeited under the provisions hereinafter contained (b). Section 348.

(4) When an emigrant runner changes his abode, the emigration officer shall register the change in his registry book.

(a) See s. 343, ante, p. 4931.

(b) In s. 351 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 291). These provisions, however, do not concern the licensing authority.

349. [Renewal of badge.]

350.—(1) A person shall not—

- (a) act as an emigrant runner without being duly licensed and registered ; or
- (b) retain or use any emigrant runner's badge not issued to him in manner by this Act required ; or
- (c) counterfeit or forge any emigrant runner's badge ; or
- (d) employ as an emigrant runner any person not duly licensed and registered.

Penalties on persons acting without licence or badge, using badge not lawfully issued, or employing unlicensed person.

(2) If any person acts in contravention of this section, he shall for each offence be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds (a).

(a) This fine cannot be sued for and recovered by the licensing authority, but only by the persons authorised under s. 356, infra.

351. [Penalties on emigrant runners for certain acts of misconduct.]

352. [Emigrant runner's commission and fees.]

* * * * *

Legal Proceedings (a).

356. All fines and forfeitures under the provisions of this Part of the Act (other than the provisions relating to passenger steamers only) shall be sued for by the following officers ; that is to say, Recovery of fines.

- (a) Any emigration officer ;
- (b) Any chief officer of customs ; and also
- (c) In the British Islands, any person authorised by the Board of Trade and any officer of customs authorised by the Commissioners of Customs.

(a) The following section takes the place of s. 84 of the Passengers Act, 1855, now repealed by this Act, and is here inserted merely for the purpose of showing that the licensing authority cannot take proceedings for the recovery of fines.

Supplemental.

360.—(1) The forms set out in the Fourteenth Schedule to this Act or forms as near thereto as circumstances admit, shall be used in all cases to which such forms are applicable.

* * * * *

Application of Part III. as regards Emigrant Ships (a).

364. The provisions of this Part of this Act respecting emigrant ships shall apply to all voyages from the British Islands to any port out of Europe and not within the Mediterranean Sea. Application to certain voyages.

(a) The following sections are here inserted for the purpose of explaining the limits of application of the foregoing sections as to passage brokers and emigrant runners.

Section 365. 365.—(1) This Part of this Act, so far as the same is applicable, shall apply to every ship carrying steerage passengers on a colonial voyage as defined (a) by this Part of this Act, provided that the enactments thereof relating to—

Limited application of Part III. of Act to colonial voyages.

- (d) passage brokers ;
- (e) emigrant runners ;

shall not apply.

(a) By s. 270 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 261), for the purposes of this Part of this Act, a colonial voyage means a voyage from any port in a British possession, other than British India and Hong Kong, to any port whatever, where the distance between such ports exceeds 400 miles, or the duration of the voyage, as determined under this Part of this Act, exceeds three days.

SUPPLEMENTAL.

* * * * *

Transmission and Publication of Documents.

Publication in London Gazette. 56 & 57 Vict. c. 66.

740. Where a document is required by this Act to be published in the London Gazette (a), it shall be sufficient if notice thereof is published in accordance with the Rules Publication Act, 1893 (b).

(a) See s. 214 (3), ante, p. 4929, as to publication of byelaws.

(b) By s. 3 (3) of that Act (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1018), where any statutory rules are required by any Act to be published or notified in the London Gazette a notice in the Gazette of the rules having been made, and of the place where copies of them can be purchased, shall be sufficient compliance with the said requirement.

TWENTY-SECOND SCHEDULE (a).

(a) This schedule of Acts repealed (itself repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1908 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1175)) included two Acts germane to the provisions set out in the text, viz., the Passengers Act, 1855, and the Merchant Shipping (Fishing Boats) Act, 1883.

Section 1.

THE LANDS CLAUSES (TAXATION OF COSTS) ACT, 1895.

(58 & 59 VICT. c. 11) (a).

An Act to amend the Law relating to the Taxation of Costs under the Lands Clauses Acts. [14th May, 1895.]

Fees for taxing costs in compensation inquiries and arbitrations.

8 & 9 Vict. c. 18.

1.—(1) Where under the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, or any Act incorporating the same, any question of disputed compensation is determined by the verdict of a jury, or by arbitration, the costs of and incidental to the inquiry or to the arbitration and award (as the case may be), shall, if either party so requires, be taxed and settled as between the parties by one of the masters of the Supreme Court (b), and such fees shall be taken in respect of the taxation as may be fixed in pursuance of the enactments relating to the fees to be taken in the offices of those masters; and all those enactments (including the enactments relating to the taking of fees by means of stamps) shall extend to the fees in respect of such taxation (c).

31 & 32 Vict. c. 119.

32 & 33 Vict. c. 12.

(2) Section forty-five of the Regulation of Railways Act, 1868 (d), and section one of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1869 (e), are hereby repealed.

(a) See the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, ante, p. 4104, and the Acts and enactments referred to in note (a) on that page. Italicised words in s. 1 (2) are repealed by S. L. R. A., 1908 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1175).

(b) See Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, s. 52, ante, p. 4121, which is thus extended to costs of arbitration. The decision of the master cannot be reviewed (Sandback Charity Trustees v. North Staffordshire Rail. Co. (1877), 3 Q. B. D. 1) (and see Re Cannings, Ltd. and Middlesex C. C., [1907] 1 K. B. 51; 71 J. P. 46; Digest, Practice 947, 4871), nor can it be removed by certiorari (R. v. Goff, [1905] 2 I. R. 121; 11 Digest 201, w). But when the successful party has to pay the arbitrators and umpire excessive fees in order to obtain delivery of the award, he may recover back from them by action such sum as the Court thinks improperly charged, and in such action the certificate of the Taxing Master under this section is prima facie evidence of the unreasonableness of the fees (Llandrindod Wells Water Co. v. Hawksley (1904), 68 J. P. 242; 11 Digest 202, 813).

(c) See s. 213 of the Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (4 Halsbury's Statutes 194), and Treasury Order, dated 14th July, 1884, made thereunder as to fees to be taken by stamps.

(d) This enactment related to the fees payable to the masters for determining questions of disputed compensation under the provisions of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, ante, p. 4104, or of any Act incorporating, altering, or amending the same.

(e) This enactment corresponded to the first part of sub-s. (1) so far as it relates to the taxation of costs of arbitration.

Short title.

2. This Act may be cited as "The Lands Clauses (Taxation of Costs) Act, 1895."

THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT (DETERMINATION OF DIFFERENCES) ACT, 1896.

(59 & 60 VICT. c. 9.)

An Act to amend certain Provisions of the Local Government Act, 1888, with respect to the Determination of Differences by the Local Government Board. [21st May 1896.]

Amendment of 51 & 52 Vict. c. 44, s. 11, as to

1. The Local Government Act, 1888, shall have effect, as if in sub-sections three and four of section eleven (a) of that Act for the words "be determined by arbitration of the Local Government Board," and in sub-section nine of the same section for the words "be referred to the arbitration of the Local Government Board," were substituted the words "be determined by the Local Government Board either as arbitrators or otherwise at the option of the Board," and as if in section sixty-three of that Act for the words "are required in pursuance of this Act to decide," were inserted the words "determine as arbitrators."

Section 1.

determina-
differences.

The powers conferred upon the L. G. B. by this Act and by s. 11 of the L. G. A., 1888, ante, p. 4726, are now vested in the Minister of Transport in pursuance of the Ministry of Transport Act, 1919, post, p. 5195, which vested in that Minister with a certain reservation all powers and duties of any government department in relation (inter alia) to roads, bridges and ferries, and vehicles and traffic thereon.

(a) S. 11 of the L. G. A., 1888, is set out at, ante, p. 4786. Sub-ss. (3) and (4) have been repealed by the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 883, but sub-s. (9) is still operative as regards disputes as to whether a road has been put in proper condition before becoming a "county road." By that section, certain differences arising thereunder between a county council and a district council with reference to the maintenance, etc., of main roads and other matters connected with highway administration, might be referred to and determined by arbitration of the L. G. B. It was held in Re Kent C. C. and Sandgate L. B., [1895] 2 Q. B. 43; 59 J. P. 456; 2 Digest 457, 1045, that the Board should, when a difference under the section was referred to their arbitration, have proceeded to appoint an arbitrator in accordance with the provisions of s. 63 of the Act. The effect of the amendments hereby made in s. 11 is that the central department may decide any such dispute, either as arbitrators or otherwise at their option. It will only be where it determines a dispute as arbitrators that it will be required to appoint an arbitrator under s. 63, ante, p. 4754. See further the notes to s. 11 (9), p. 4732, ante. The validation of previous orders on this subject was provided for by s. 2, infra.

By the London G. A., 1899, s. 7 (1) (11 Halsbury's Statutes 1229) (now repealed), where any duty was transferred from the London County Council to a borough council by or under the Act, the county council was to contribute to the borough council such amount (if any) as might be finally determined by the L. G. B. (now M. of H.). By s. 28 (3) (op. cit. 1239), when the L. G. B. (now the Ministry of Health) are authorised by the Act to determine any matter, they may determine it as arbitrators or otherwise. An application was made by several metropolitan borough councils to the L. G. B. to determine the amount to be contributed by the county council in respect of the maintenance of main roads which was transferred to the borough councils by s. 6 (1) of the Act (op. cit. 1228). The Board came to the conclusion that on equitable grounds no contribution should be made, and they therefore decided "otherwise than as arbitrators" that none should be made. On an application for a mandamus directing the Board to hear and determine the application according to law, the court declined to interfere (R. v. L. G. B., Ex parte Hackney Borough Council (1908), 72 J. P. 211; 16 Digest 309, 1212).

2. [Validation of past orders.]

Repealed as spent by the S. L. R. A., 1908 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1175).

3. This Act may be cited as the Local Government (Determination Short title. of Differences) Act, 1896.

THE PUBLIC WORKS LOANS ACT, 1896.

Section 2.

THE PUBLIC WORKS LOANS ACT, 1896.

(59 & 60 VICT. c. 42) (a).

An Act to grant moneys for the purpose of certain Local Loans, and for other purposes relating to Local Loans. [14th August, 1896.]

* * * * *

Addition to purposes for which Public Works Loan Commissioners may lend.

38 & 39 Vict. c. 89.

2. There shall be added to the works for the purpose of which the Public Works Loan Commissioners may lend in Great Britain under the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, the following works, namely,—

Any work for which the council of a county, borough, district, or parish are authorised to borrow ;

The construction or improvement of any canal ;

Provided that where the repayment of a loan for the construction or improvement of a canal is collaterally secured to the satisfaction of the Public Works Loan Commissioners, the rate of interest on the loan may be three and a quarter per cent. per annum instead of the rate of four per cent. per annum authorised by the Public Works Loans Act, 1892.

55 & 56 Vict. c. 61, s. 2.

(a) This Act, so far as material, extends the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, and First Schedule, ante, pp. 4544, 4560.

6. This Act may be cited as “ The Public Works Loans Act, 1896.”

THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT (JOINT COMMITTEES) ACT, 1897.

(60 & 61 VICT. c. 40.)

An Act to amend the Local Government Act, 1894, with regard to Joint Committees for the purposes of the Burial Acts.

[6th August 1897.]

Joint committees for Burial Acts.

1.—(1) Where a joint committee is appointed under section fifty-three of the Local Government Act, 1894 (a), for the purposes of the Burial Acts, 1852 to 1885—

(a) Any expenses incurred in carrying out those purposes shall be defrayed, any money borrowed for those purposes shall be borrowed, and any receipts arising from those purposes shall be divided, by the councils appointing the committee in such proportion as they may agree upon, or, as in default of agreement, may be determined by the county council, or, if one of the councils so appointing is the council of a county borough, by the Local Government Board (b) ;

(b) The consent of the Local Government Board shall be required to the borrowing by any council of any money required to be borrowed for those purposes, but that consent shall be conclusive as to the power of the council to borrow, and no other consent shall be required either under the said Burial Acts, or the Local Government Act, 1894, or any other Act (c) ;

(c) Part IV. of the First Schedule to the Local Government Act, 1894, Section 1. shall apply to the proceedings of the committee (d).

(2) If any difference arises as to the constitution of any such committee it may be determined by order of the Local Government Board.

(3) For the purposes of this section references to a council shall, in the case of a parish not having a parish council, include the parish meeting, and the parish meeting shall have the same power of borrowing for the purposes of the Burial Acts as a parish council would have (e).

(a) See notes to this section, p. 4913, ante. Doubts had arisen as to the applicability of s. 57 of the Act of 1894 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 813) to joint committees appointed under s. 53, ante, p. 4913, and this Act removes difficulties as regards such joint committees when appointed for the purposes of the Burial Acts. But with regard to other joint committees (probably very few in number), those difficulties remain and can only be avoided by an alteration of areas.

(b) The determination of the county council or of the L. G. B. (now the Minister of Health), as the case may be, appears to be final. Expenses incurred in providing and laying out a burial ground for a parish and building the necessary chapels must not exceed the amount authorised by the parish meeting. See the Burial Act, 1852, s. 19 (2 Halsbury's Statutes 195), as amended by the L. G. A., 1894, s. 7 (3), ante, p. 4895. As explained in the note under s. 53 (2), ante, p. 4913, it would seem that this consent must still be obtained from the parish meeting of a parish appointing a joint committee under s. 53, ante, p. 4913, and that in the case of an urban district the consent of the vestry is required.

(c) Though the consent of the L. G. B. (now M. of H.) is sufficient to authorise the borrowing (thus dispensing with the necessity for such consents as those of the Treasury under s. 20 of the Burial Act, 1852 (op. cit. 196), or s. 1 of the Burial Act, 1862 (op. cit. 240), or of the county council under s. 12 of the L. G. A., 1894 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 784)), it would seem that consent by a vestry or parish meeting, as the case may be, is still required to the expenditure. See preceding note.

(d) This paragraph was repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1287.

(e) See ss. 195, 196 of the L. G. A., 1933, ante, pp. 1023, 1031.

2. This Act shall be construed as one with the Local Government Act, 1894, and may be cited as the Local Government (Joint Committees) Act, 1897.

THE DISTRICT COUNCILS (WATER SUPPLY FACILITIES) ACT, 1897.

(60 & 61 VICT. C. 44) (a).

An Act for giving Facilities for a Pure Water Supply in Rural Districts.

[6th August, 1897.]

1. Where any person who is a landowner within the meaning of the Improvement of Land Act, 1864 (b) (in this Act referred to as the principal Act), contributes any money towards the expenses incurred by a district council for the purpose of supplying water to any lands of such landowner, whether together with other lands or not, the amount so contributed may, with the sanction of the Board of Agriculture (c) given under this Act, be charged on the land of the landowner so supplied with water in the same manner (d), as nearly as may be, and with the like effect as in the case of a charge under the principal Act.

Lands may be charged by owners for water supply. 27 & 28 Vict. c. 114.

(a) As to this Act and its bearing on the law of public health, see s. 116 of the P. H. A., 1936, and notes thereon at p. 356, ante. See also the Limited Owners' Reservoirs and

Note to
Section 1.

Water Supply Further Facilities Act, 1877, ante, p. 4598, and the Improvement of Land Act, 1899, s. 1 (3) (10 Halsbury's Statutes 166), as amended by Improvement of Land Act (1899) Amendment Act, 1925 (op. cit. 168).

(b) By s. 8 of that Act (op. cit. 128), "the word 'landowner' shall mean . . . as to lands in England, the person who shall be in the actual possession or receipt of the rents or profits of any land, whether of freehold, copyhold, customary, or other tenure, except where such person shall be a tenant for life or lives holding under a lease for life or lives not renewable, or shall be a tenant for years holding under a lease or an agreement for a lease for a term of years not renewable, whereof less than twenty-five years shall be unexpired at the time of making any application to the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries, without regard to the real-amount of the interest of any person so excepted; and in the case where the person in the actual possession or receipt of the rents or profits of any land shall fall within the above exceptions, then the person who for the time being shall be in the actual receipt of the rent payable by the person so excepted, unless he shall also fall within the above exceptions, shall, jointly with the person who shall be liable to the payment thereof, be deemed for the purposes of this Act to be the owner of such lands; . . . and as to lands in any part of the United Kingdom, the word 'landowner' shall include a corporation, and also such persons as are empowered by the 23rd section hereof." This reference seems to be an obvious mistake for the 24th section (op. cit. 133), whereby it is provided that all husbands, guardians, committees, feoffees, trustees, executors, and administrators, shall respectively have the same rights and powers of making applications and signifying dissents and taking other proceedings under this Act as their respective wives, infants, lunatics and idiots, would have had if free from disability, or as such feoffees, trustess, executors or administrators respectively would have had if the estates or interests of which they shall be such feoffees or trustees, or which shall be vested in them as such executors or administrators, had been vested in them in their own right; but no guardian, committee, feoffee, trustee, executor or administrator, shall be in anywise compelled or obliged to signify a dissent from any application under this Act, or be in anywise responsible for the consequences of such application, or of any charge made in pursuance thereof.

(c) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries (Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries Act, 1919; 3 Halsbury's Statutes 451).

(d) But see s. 5, infra.

Charge to be in favour of
district council:

2. Where the landowner and the district council agree that the contribution shall be payable by half-yearly instalments, the charge under this Act may be granted in favour of the district council, to secure the payment to them of such contribution (a), and the sums payable in respect of the charge shall be in addition to any sums which may be payable for the water supply by way of water rate or water rent.

(a) By s. 63 of the Improvement of Land Act, 1864, every rent-charge on land by virtue of this Act may be recovered by the person or company for the time being entitled to the same as to lands in England by the same means, and with the like powers and in like manner in all respects as a rent-charge in lieu of tithes would be recoverable if charged on the same land under the Tithe Act, 1836 (19 Halsbury's Statutes 447), and the several Acts passed for amending the same, and as if such rent-charge, by virtue of this Act, were a rent-charge in lieu of tithes made payable to such person or company under the said Acts respectively.

By s. 81 of the Tithe Act, 1836 (op. cit. 477), a rent-charge in lieu of tithes is recoverable by distress and by s. 82 (op. cit.), in default of distress by delivery of the land charged in satisfaction.

A charge in favour of the district council must be registered as a local land charge under s. 15 of the Land Charges Act, 1925; Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes, 538.

Time limit for charge.

3. A charge under this Act shall not be made for any term exceeding twenty-five years.

Sanctioning of charge by Board of Agriculture (a).

4. When the supply of water to the lands of the landowner will be beneficial to persons residing or engaged in labour on such lands, the Board (a) may, if they think fit, sanction the charge, although it may not be shown that the supply of water will effect a direct yearly increase in the value of the lands or be productive of a yearly revenue to the owner of the lands exceeding the yearly amount proposed to be charged thereon (b).

(a) See note (c) to s. 1, supra.

(b) Cf. the last clause of Limited Owners Reservoirs and Water Supply Further Facilities Act, 1877, s. 5, ante, p. 4599. This section alters the application of Improvement of Land Act, 1864, s. 25 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 133), to the cases coming within its purview.

5. Where the annual sum to be made payable under a charge proposed to be granted by virtue of this Act in respect of the supply of water to any house or houses does not exceed the amount payable at the date of the charge for such water supply by way of water rate or water rent, the Board of Agriculture (a) may execute the charge upon such information as they think fit to require, and in such case the requirements of the principal Act (b) with respect to matters and proceedings previous to the execution of a charge shall not apply.

Section 5.

Power of Board of Agriculture (a) to execute charge.

(a) See note (c) to s. 1, supra.

(b) See Improvement of the Land Act, 1864, ss. 11—24 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 130—133) inclusive, noting that ss. 17 and 18 have been repealed by the Settled Land Act, 1882 (op. cit. 164), and s. 21 extended by the Improvement of Lands (Ecclesiastical Benefices) Act, 1884 (6 Halsbury's Statutes 900).

6. This Act shall not extend to Scotland or Ireland.

Extent of Act.

7. This Act may be cited as "The District Councils (Water Supply Facilities) Act, 1897," and shall be read with the Improvement of Land Act, 1864.

Short title.

THE PUBLIC WORKS LOANS ACT, 1897.

(60 & 61 VICT. c. 51) (a).

An Act to grant Moneys for the purpose of certain Local Loans, and to amend the Law respecting the Local Loans Fund and Loans made thereout, and for other purposes relating to Local Loans. [6th August, 1897.]

AMENDMENT OF ACTS.

1. The rates of interest at which loans may be made out of the Local Loans Fund on the security of local rates may be fixed by the Treasury, from time to time, having regard to the duration of the loans, and shall be such rates not less than two and three quarters per cent. per annum as in the opinion of the Treasury are sufficient to enable such loans to be made without loss to the Local Loans Fund (b).

Reduction of interest on future local loans on the security of local rates.

(a) See the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, ante, p. 4544.

(b) This provision supersedes the provisions of s. 243 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 4479, repealed by s. 12 (4), and the Second Schedule of this Act. Reference must be made to two later enactments, viz., By s. 4 of the Public Works Loans Act, 1917 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 304), it is enacted as follows: "Notwithstanding anything in any other Act the provisions of s. 1 of the Public Works Loans Act, 1897 (which relates to the rates of interest on future local loans on the security of local rates) shall apply to a loan made out of the local loans fund otherwise than on the security of local rates as they apply to a loan made out of that fund on such security, and where under any special Act any loan made out of the said fund is repayable by means of an annuity or rent-charge payable for any period the amount of the periodical payment on account of the annuity or rent-charge, and the redemption value of the loan, shall in the case of a loan made after the commencement of this Act be calculated by reference to the rate of interest payable in respect of the loan as fixed by the Treasury under the said section as amended by this section."

And by s. 4 of the Public Works Loans Act, 1918 (op. cit. 305), it is enacted as follows: "For the purpose of removing doubts it is hereby declared that the power of the Treasury under s. 1 of the Public Works Loans Act, 1897, as amended by s. 4 of the Public Works Loans Act, 1917, to fix rates of interest on loans made out of the local loans fund otherwise than on the security of local rates includes (subject always to the provisions of the said sections) a power to fix rates of interest differing from the rates fixed for loans made out of that fund on the security of local rates, and a power to fix different rates of interest in respect of different loans, and that in fixing the rate of interest the Treasury may take into account the nature and value of the security for the loan." See the latest scale prescribed by the Treasury (May 9th, 1939), at ante, p. 3211.

Section 3.

Abolition of maximum of loan.

42 & 43 Vict.
c. 77.

3. (a) The limit imposed by section three of the Public Works Loans Act, 1879, on the amount which can be advanced by the Public Works Loan Commissioners under any one Act in any one year to one borrower shall be repealed.

(a) Sections 3, 12 (4), and Schedule II. are repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1908 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1175). They repealed two provisions germane to the matter in the text, viz., s. 3 of the Public Works Loans Act, 1879, and s. 243 of the P. H. A., 1875, from "at the rate of three and a half" down to "loss to the Exchequer."

MISCELLANEOUS.

Definitions, repeal, construction, and
short title.

12.—(1) The expression "local rate" means any rate levied or assessed the proceeds of which are applicable to public local purposes, and which is levied on the basis of a valuation of property, and includes any sum which, though obtained in the first instance by a precept, certificate, or other instrument requiring payment from some authority or officer, is or can be ultimately raised out of a rate as before defined.

(2) The expression "security of a local rate" includes a security guaranteed by any such local rate.

(3) This Act shall be deemed to be a special Act within the meaning of the Public Works Loans Act, 1875.

(4) [Repeal of Acts in Second Schedule] (a).

(5) This Act may be cited as "The Public Works Loans Act, 1897."

(a) See note (a) to s. 3, supra.

38 & 39 Vict.
c. 89.

THE LOCOMOTIVES ACT, 1898.

(61 & 62 VICT. c. 29.)

An Act to amend the Law with respect to the use of Locomotives on Highways, and with respect to Extraordinary Traffic. [2nd August 1898.]

This Act was originally inserted here as amending the Highways and Locomotives (Amendment) Act, 1878, ante, p. 4602. See also the Locomotives on Highways Act, 1896 (19 Halsbury's Statutes 64). The whole of the sections of the Act have now been repealed, but ss. 7, 8, 14, 15, 17, 19 and 20, post, only from the date to be fixed for the coming into operation of s. 25 of the Road Traffic Act, 1930 (23 Halsbury's Statutes 629), which itself has been repealed and replaced by s. 30 of the Road and Rail Traffic Act, 1933 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 870) (see ss. 122, 123 (2), Sched. V., of the Act of 1930 (23 Halsbury's Statutes 687, 688, 696) and s. 48, Sched. III. of the Act of 1933 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 912, 916)). Since, at the date of writing, no date has yet been fixed for the coming into operation of the new section, the seven sections above specified of this Act are still in force and are set out accordingly.

Appeal against restrictions on passing over bridges.

24 & 25 Vict.
c. 70.

7.—(1) Where the owner of a locomotive is aggrieved by any restriction or prohibition placed, either before or after the passing of this Act, on the passing of locomotives over any bridge (a), either under section six of the Locomotive Act, 1861 (b), or under any byelaw made under this Act, or any enactment repealed by this Act, that owner may appeal to the [Minister of Transport] (c), and that [Minister], [if] he consider that the bridge is sufficient to bear the weight of locomotives, and that there is no other reasonable cause for imposing the restriction or prohibition, may order the restriction or prohibition to be removed, or, if [he] consider that it may reasonably be varied in any respect, to be varied.

Section 7.

(2) The authority by whom a restriction or prohibition has been imposed shall comply within a time to be specified in the order with any order of the [Minister of Transport] (c) made under this section.

(3) The [Minister of Transport] (c) may determine any appeal under this section either as arbitrator or otherwise at [his] option, and, where [he] determine[s] any such appeal as arbitrators, section sixty-three of the Local Government Act, 1888, as amended by the Local Government (Determination of Differences) Act, 1896 (d), shall apply for the purpose. 51 & 52 Vict.
c. 41.
59 & 60 Vict.
c. 9.

(4) An order of the [Minister of Transport] (c) under this section with regard to any bridge shall not prevent the imposition of any restriction or prohibition with regard to the bridge at a future time, if the authority having power to impose the restriction or prohibition consider that it is necessary to do so, having regard to any change in the circumstances of the bridge or the traffic, but the imposition of any such restriction or prohibition shall be subject to appeal under this section.

(5) The [Minister of Transport] (c) may refuse to consider any appeal under this section with regard to any bridge if the question raised by the appeal has been already considered by [him] either on the confirmation of a byelaw or under a former appeal.

(6) In the case of any bridge which a railway company is liable to repair, the Board of Trade (c) shall be substituted for the Local Government Board (c), and this section shall be read and construed accordingly.

(a) The Menai Bridge was excepted by s. 16 (19 Halsbury's Statutes 73) (now repealed). As to light locomotives on the Menai Bridge, see the Light Locomotives (Menai Bridge) Order, 1897 (Stat. R. & O., 1897, p. 452). The Act does not expressly apply to a "culvert," though it is sometimes difficult to distinguish between a bridge and a culvert.

(b) Section 6 of the Locomotive Act, 1861 (19 Halsbury's Statutes 56) (to which the same remarks as those in the headnote to this Act apply), prohibits the owner or driver of a locomotive from driving it over a suspension bridge, or over any bridge on which a conspicuous notice has been placed by the authority of the surveyor or persons liable to the repair of the bridge, that the bridge is insufficient to carry weights beyond the ordinary traffic of the district, without previously obtaining the consent of the surveyor of the road, or the bridgemaster in charge of the bridge, or of the persons liable to the repair of the bridge. As to the extent of the liability of a canal company at the present day in respect to a bridge built many years ago, see Sharpness New Docks and Gloucester and Birmingham Navigation Co. v. Att.-Gen., [1915] A. C. 654; 79 J. P. 305; 26 Digest 581, 2716; and as to a railway company, see Att.-Gen. v. G. N. Rail. Co., [1916] 2 A. C. 356; 80 J. P. 337; 26 Digest 582, 2719; Lloyd v. Ross, [1913] 2 K. B. 332; 77 J. P. 341; and as to a liability to maintain under a local Act, see Manchester Corporation v. Audenshaw U. D. C., [1928] Ch. 763; 92 J. P. 163; Digest Supp. See also the Bridges Act, 1929, post.

(c) The Local Government Board was superseded by the Minister of Health, but the powers of that Minister in relation to bridges have now passed to the Minister of Transport (Ministry of Transport Act, 1919, and the Orders in Council made thereunder). See now also the right of appeal as to bridges given by s. 11 of the Ministry of Transport Act, 1915, post, p. 5204. The powers of the Board of Trade in relation to bridges have also now passed to the Minister of Transport (Ministry of Transport Act, 1919, and the Orders in Council made thereunder).

(d) Ante, pp. 4754, 4938.

8. No locomotive shall be taken across any bridge so as to meet or pass any other locomotive upon such bridge, and any person who acts in contravention of this section shall be subject, on summary conviction, to a penalty not exceeding five pounds for every offence. Locomotives not to meet on a bridge.

14. For the purposes of this Act the council of a county or borough may act through their surveyor or other authorized officer. Action of county councils.

15.—(1) The [Minister of Transport] (a) may direct any inquiries to be held by [his] inspectors which [he] may deem necessary in regard to the exercise of any of [his] powers under this Act, and the [Minister] and [his] Inquiries by inspectors of
Transport] (a).

Section 15. inspectors shall for the purposes of any such inquiry have the same powers as they respectively have for the purpose of an inquiry under the Public Health Act, 1875 (b).

(2) The expenses incurred by the [Minister of Transport] (a) in respect of inquiries under this Act shall be paid by such authorities and persons, and out of such funds and rates as the [Minister] may by order direct, and the [Minister] may certify the amount of the expenses so incurred, and any sum so certified and directed by the [Minister] to be paid by any authority or person shall be a debt from that authority or person to the Crown (c).

(3) Such expenses may include the salary of any inspector or officer of the [Ministry] engaged in the inquiry, not exceeding three guineas a day.

(a) See note (c) to s. 7, ante, p. 4945.

(b) I.e., under s. 296 of that Act (13 Halsbury's Statutes 749). But since that section is repealed and replaced by s. 290 of the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 1170, the reference is now to the latter section (see notes, ante, pp. 724, 1195).

(c) Compare s. 290 (4) of the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 1173.

* * * * *

Interpretation
and saving.

17.—(1) In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,—

The expression “county” means an administrative county, and includes a county borough;

The expressions “council of a county” and “county council” include the council of a county borough;

In the case of a county borough the expression “chairman” includes the mayor, and the expression “county fund” includes borough fund;

The expression “locomotive” means a locomotive propelled by steam or other than animal power (a);

The expression “waggon” includes any truck, cart, carriage, or other vehicle (b);

The expression “agricultural locomotive” (c) includes—

(a) any locomotive used solely for threshing, ploughing, or any other agricultural purpose; and

(b) any locomotive, the property of one or more owners or occupiers of agricultural land employed solely for the purposes of their farms, and not let out on hire.

(2) Nothing in this Act shall affect light locomotives within the meaning of the Locomotives of Highways Act, 1896 (d).

(3) The mayor, aldermen, and commons of the city of London shall have the same powers with regard to the licensing and registration of locomotives in the city of London as the council of a county have in their county, and shall apply as part of their income any fees or other money received in connection with such powers.

(a) A steam roller is a locomotive within this definition (Waters v. Eddison Steam Rolling Co., [1914] 3 K. B. 818; 78 J. P. 327; 42 Digest 866, 170).

(b) A threshing machine and a straw-pressing machine were held to be waggons in Smith & Sons v. Pickering, [1915] 1 K. B. 326; 79 J. P. 118; 42 Digest 863, 152.

(c) This definition was repealed by s. 20 (3) and Third Schedule to the Roads Act, 1920, Vol. V., post. This repeal was consequent on the repeal of s. 9.

(d) This means that nothing in this Act is to affect light locomotives as distinguished from other vehicles, but it does not mean that light locomotives as far as they have characteristics in common with other vehicles (one of which is that they may cause extraordinary traffic) are not to be dealt with by the new procedure under s. 12 (1) (19 Halsbury's Statutes 72), R. v. Judge James and Midland Rail. Co., Ex parte Bath R. D. Co., [1908] 1 K. B. 958; sub nom. R. v. Bath County Court Judge and Midland Rail. Co., 72 J. P. 67; 26 Digest 474, 1869. And see Frans v. Nicholl, [1909] 1 K. B. 778; 73 J. P. 154.

THE RIVERS POLLUTION PREVENTION (BORDER COUNCILS) ACT, 1898.

(61 & 62 VICT. c. 34.)

An Act to enable the County Councils on either side of the Border to act together for the Prevention of the Pollution of Rivers. [2nd August 1898.]

See the Rivers Pollution Prevention Acts, 1876 and 1893, ante, pp. 4581, 4872.

1. Where a river or tributary thereof is situate partly in England and partly in Scotland (a), the Local Government Board (b) for England and the Secretary for Scotland, by Provisional Order made on the application of the council of any of the counties concerned, may together constitute a joint committee or other body representing all or any of the counties through or by which such river or any specified portion or tributary thereof passes, and may confer on such committee or body all of the powers of a sanitary authority under the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876, or such of them as may be specified in the order; and the order may contain such provisions respecting the constitution and proceedings of the said committee or body as may seem proper, and may provide for the payment of the expenses of such committee or body by the counties represented by it, and for the audit of the accounts of such committee or body and their officers.

Provision for enforcement of 39 & 40 Vict. c. 75 in Border counties.

39 & 40 Vict. c. 75.

(a) As to rivers wholly in England, see L. G. A., 1888, s. 14 (2), ante, p. 4737.

(b) The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Minister of Health (Ministry of Health Act, 1919, post, p. 5189).

2. Section two hundred and ninety-seven of the Public Health Act, 1875 (a) (which relates to the making of Provisional Orders by the Local Government Board), shall apply for the purposes of this Act as if the same was herein re-enacted, and in terms made applicable thereto, but with the substitution for the words "Local Government Board" of the words "Local Government Board (b) for England and Secretary for Scotland."

Application of 39 & 39 Vict. c. 55, s. 297.

(a) Ante, p. 4507.

(b) Now Minister of Health.

3. In this Act the term "county" means, as regards England, an administrative county (a), and includes a county borough (b), and means, as regards Scotland, a county or burgh as defined by the Local Government (Scotland) Act, 1889.

Interpretation of "county." 52 & 53 Vict. c. 50.

(a) Defined by the L. G. A., 1888, s. 100, ante, p. 4765.

THE LIBRARIES OFFENCES ACT, 1898.

(61 & 62 VICT. c. 53) (a).

An Act to provide for the Punishment of Offences in Libraries.

[12th August, 1898.]

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Libraries Offences Act, 1898."

(a) See the Public Libraries Act, 1892, ante, p. 4840, and the amending Acts of 1893, ante, p. 4871, 1901 and 1919, post, pp. 4995, 5238. By s. 15 of the 1892 Act, ante, p. 4844, the general management, regulation, and control of libraries under that Act was vested in the library authority, but there was no power to enforce their regulations by any penalty except, perhaps, by expulsion or exclusion from the library. Actual breach of the peace in a library was, and still is, punishable in the ordinary way. A library is a public place within the meaning of s. 8 of the Licensing Act, 1902 (9 Halsbury's Statutes 967), for the purpose of s. 12 of the Licensing Act, 1872 (op. cit. 939), as to drunk and disorderly persons. Profane swearing, whether in a library or not, would be punishable under the Profane Oaths Act, 1745 (4 Halsbury's Statutes 350). Obscene language might be punishable in some cases under byelaws (Mantle v. Jordan, [1897] 1 Q. B. 248; 61 J. P. 119; 38 Digest 159, 61; Brabham v. Wookey (1901), 18 T. L. R. 99; 15 Digest 751, 8100; Airton v. Scott (1909), 73 J. P. 148; 100 L. T. 393). A library is probably not a "public place" or "place of public resort" within the meaning of the Vagrancy Act, 1824, s. 4 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 915) (as to indecent exhibitions), nor an "open and public place" within the Vagrant Act Amendment Act, 1873, s. 3 (op. cit. 947) (as to gaming in a public place). See Langrish v. Archer (1882), 10 Q. B. D. 44; 47 J. P. 295; 25 Digest 433, 312. And, of course, apart from this Act, remaining in a library after closing hours was a mere trespass, unless some unlawful purpose, sufficient to bring the case within s. 4 of the Vagrancy Act, 1824, could be proved, as to which, see Hayes v. Stevenson (1860), 25 J. P. 39; 3 L. T. 296; 37 Digest 364, 1660.

Penalty for offences.

2. Any person who, in any library or reading-room to which this Act applies, to the annoyance or disturbance of any person using the same,—

- (1) behaves in a disorderly manner;
- (2) uses violent, abusive, or obscene language;
- (3) bets or gambles;
- (4) or who, after proper warning, persists in remaining therein beyond the hours fixed for the closing of such library or reading-room, shall be liable on summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

Application of Act.

56 & 57 Vict.
c. 39.
59 & 60 Vict.
c. 25.

3. This Act shall apply—

- (a) to any library (a) under the Public Libraries Act, 1892; and
- (b) to any library or reading-room maintained by a society registered under the Industrial and Provident Societies Act, 1893, or under the Friendly Societies Act, 1896, or by any registered trade union.

(a) The application of this Act is extended by the Public Libraries Act, 1901, s. 4, post, p. 4996, to any museum, art gallery, or school, provided under the Public Libraries Act, 1892, s. 11, ante, p. 4842.

Extent of Act.

4. This Act shall not apply to Scotland or Ireland.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHTING (CLAUSES) ACT, 1899.

Section 1.

(62 & 63 VICT. c. 19) (a).

An Act for incorporating in one Act certain provisions usually contained in Provisional Orders under the Acts relating to Electric Lighting.

[9th August, 1899.]

1. The provisions (b) contained in the Schedule to this Act shall be incorporated with and form part of every provisional order made by the [Minister of Transport] after the commencement of this Act under the Electric Lighting Acts, save so far as they are expressly varied or excepted by the order, and shall, subject to any such variations or exceptions, apply, so far as applicable, to the undertaking authorised by the order.

Provisions in Schedule to be incorporated in Electric Lighting Orders.

The said provisions shall also, with the necessary modifications, and in particular with the substitution of the words "special Act" for "special order," be incorporated with any special Act, save so far as they are expressly varied or excepted thereby.

The expression "Electric Lighting Acts" means in this Act the Electric Lighting Acts, 1882 and 1888, and, so far as respects Scotland, the Electric Lighting Acts, 1882 and 1888, and the Electric Lighting (Scotland) Act, 1890.

45 & 46 Vict. c. 56.

51 & 52 Vict. c. 12.

The expression "special Act" means in this Act any Act passed after the commencement of this Act authorising the supply of electricity for any public or private purposes within any area (c).

53 & 54 Vict. c. 13.

(a) See the Electric Lighting Acts, 1882 and 1888, ante, pp. 4642, 4700, and the Electric Lighting Act, 1909, post, p. 5096. See also the Electricity Supply Acts, 1919, post, p. 5243, 1922, 1926, 1928, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 778, 792, 826; 1933, 1935 and 1936 (26, 28, 29 Halsbury's Statutes 137, 51, 133). The powers and duties of the Board of Trade under these Acts were transferred to the Minister of Transport by s. 39 of the Electricity Supply Act, 1919, post, p. 5265, and the Ministry of Transport (Electricity Supply) Order, 1920, as from 23rd January, 1920.

(b) See note to Electric Lighting Act, 1882, s. 6, ante, p. 4646.

(c) A local Act authorising the construction of a generating station was held by LORDS SUMNER and BLANESBURGH, LORD DUNEDIN dissenting, not to be a special Act within this definition (Manchester Corporation v. Farnworth, [1930] A. C. 171; 94 J. P. 62; Digest Supp.).

2.—(1) This Act may be cited as "The Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act" 1899." Short title, extent, and commencement.

(2) Except so far as any of the provisions contained in the Schedule to this Act are incorporated with any provisional order made by the [Minister of Transport] under the Electric Lighting Acts extending to the county of London, or with any special Acts so extending, this Act shall not apply to the county of London.

(3) This Act shall come into operation on the first day of October, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine.

SCHEDULE (a).

1. The provisions of this Schedule are to be read and construed subject in all respects to the provisions of the Electric Lighting Acts, and of any other Acts or parts of Acts incorporated therewith, and those Acts and parts of Acts are in this Schedule collectively referred to as "the principal Act"; and the several words, terms, and expressions to which by the principal Act meanings are assigned, shall have in this Schedule the same respective meanings, provided that in this Schedule—

Interpretation.

The expression "the special order" means any provisional order made by the [Minister of Transport] under the principal Act with which the provisions of this Schedule are incorporated and includes those provisions as so incorporated:

(a) As to the application of the Schedule to this Act to the Central Electricity Board, see the Regulations of 1927, ante, p. 2649.

Schedule.

The expression "energy" means electrical energy, and for the purposes of applying the provisions of the principal Act to the special order electrical energy shall be deemed to be an agency within the meaning of electricity as defined in the Electric Lighting Act, 1882 (a):

The expression "power" means electrical power or the rate per unit of time at which energy is supplied:

The expression "main" means any electric line which may be laid down by the undertakers in any street or public place, and through which energy may be supplied or intended to be supplied by the undertakers for the purposes of general supply:

The expression "service line" means any electric line through which energy may be supplied or intended to be supplied by the undertakers to a consumer either from any main or directly from the premises of the undertakers:

The expression "distributing main" means the portion of any main which is used for the purpose of giving origin to service lines for the purposes of general supply:

The expression "general supply" means the general supply of energy to ordinary consumers, and includes, unless otherwise specially agreed with the local authority, the general supply of energy to the public lamps, where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, but shall not include the supply of energy to any one or more particular consumers under special agreement:

The expression "area of supply" means the area within which the undertakers are, for the time being, authorised to supply energy under the special order:

The expression "county council" means the county council of the county in which the area of supply is situated:

The expression "consumer" means any body or person supplied or entitled to be supplied with energy by the undertakers:

The expression "consumer's terminals" means the ends of the electric lines situate upon any consumer's premises and belonging to him, at which the supply of energy is delivered from the service lines:

The expression "telegraphic line," when used with respect to any telegraphic line of the Postmaster-General, has the same meaning as in the Telegraph Act, 1878 (b), and any such telegraphic line shall be deemed to be injuriously affected where telegraphic communication by means of that line is, whether through induction or otherwise, in any manner affected:

The expression "railway" includes any tramroad, that is to say, any tramway other than a tramway as hereinafter defined:

The expression "tramway" means any tramway laid along any street:

The expression "daily penalty" means a penalty for each day on which any offence is continued after conviction therefor (c):

The expression "Board of Trade regulations" means any regulations or conditions affecting the undertaking made by the [Minister of Transport] under the principal Act or the special order, for securing the safety of the public or for insuring a proper and sufficient supply of energy:

The expression "deposited map" means the map of the area of supply deposited at the [Ministry of Transport] by the undertakers together with the special order, and signed by an assistant secretary to the [Ministry of Transport]:

The expression "plan" means a plan drawn to a horizontal scale of at least one inch to eighty-eight feet, and where possible a section drawn to the same horizontal scale as the plan and to a vertical scale of at least one inch to eleven feet, or to such other scale as the [Ministry of Transport] may approve of for both plan and section, together with such detail plan and sections as may be necessary.

(a) See Electric Lighting Act, 1882, s. 32, ante, p. 4658.

(b) By s. 2 of the Telegraph Act, 1878 (19 Halsbury's Statutes 261), the expression "telegraphic line" means telegraphs, posts, and any work within the meaning of the Telegraph Act, 1863 (op. cit. 219), and also any cables, apparatus, pneumatic or other tube, pipe, or thing whatsoever used for the purpose of transmitting telegraphic messages or maintaining telegraphic communication, and includes any portion of a telegraphic line as defined by this Act. By s. 3 of the Telegraph Act, 1863 (op. cit.), the term "work" includes telegraphs and posts.

(c) See Chepstow Electric Light and Power Co. v. Chepstow Gas, etc., Co., Ltd., [1905] 1 K. B. 198; 69 J. P. 72; 20 Digest 203, 26.

PROVISIONS AS TO UNDERTAKERS.

Schedule.

2.—(1) The undertakers shall be the authority, company, or other person named for that purpose in the special order.

Description of undertakers.

(2) If, in a case where the undertakers are not the local authority, the undertaking or any part thereof is at any time purchased by the local authority in accordance with the special order or the principal Act the local authority shall from the date on which the purchase takes effect be the undertakers in relation to the undertaking or part thereof for the purposes of the special order in lieu of the persons mentioned therein as undertakers.

3.—(1) The undertakers shall not purchase or acquire the undertaking of or associate (a) themselves with any company or person supplying energy under any licence, provisional order, or special Act, unless the undertakers are authorised by Parliament to do so (b).

Undertakers not to purchase other undertakings.

(2) If in contravention of this section the undertakers purchase or acquire any such undertaking, or associate (a) themselves with any such other company or person, the [Ministry of Transport] may, if they think fit, revoke the special order upon such terms as they think just.

AREA OF SUPPLY.

4.—(1) The area of supply shall be the area named for that purpose in the special order.

Area of supply and prohibition of supply beyond area.

(2) The undertakers shall not at any time after the commencement of the special order supply energy or (except for the purposes of that order) erect or lay down any electric lines or works beyond the area of supply otherwise than under the authority of Parliament, or under a licence granted by the [Ministry of Transport] under the principal Act (c).

(3) If the undertakers supply energy or erect or lay down electric lines or works in contravention of this section, the [Ministry of Transport] may, if they think fit, revoke the special order on such terms as they think just (d).

SECURITY AND ACCOUNTS (e).

APPLICATION OF MONEY AND PURCHASE OF LAND, ETC., BY LOCAL AUTHORITY.

7. Where a local authority are the undertakers the following provisions shall have effect :—

Application of money received by local authority as undertakers.

(1) All moneys received by the undertakers in respect of the undertaking except

(a) This prohibition against "association" does not prohibit undertakers from taking a supply of electricity in bulk from any company or persons authorised to give such a supply: see Electric Lighting Act, 1909, s. 20, post, p. 5102. But see now the provisions of the Electricity Supply Acts, 1919, post, p. 5243, 1922, 1926, 1928, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 778, 792, 826; 1933, 1935 and 1936 (26, 28, 29 Halsbury's Statutes 137, 51, 133), as to the creation of electricity districts and the constitution of joint electricity authorities and particularly s. 19 of the 1919 Act, post, p. 5254, which enables undertakers to enter into agreements for mutual assistance pending the formation of joint electricity districts.

(b) See the Electric Lighting Act, 1888, s. 2, ante, p. 4643 and notes thereto.

(c) The prohibition does not operate merely in connection with and relation to the particular area in question, but is of universal application, so that the undertakers may be restrained by injunction from carrying on business and supplying energy in any other place whatsoever, however far removed from the area of supply, and although such business is carried on and supply furnished quite independently of any of the special statutory powers of the undertakers (Att.-Gen. v. Metropolitan Electric Supply Co., [1905] 1 Ch. 757; 69 J. P. 169; 20 Digest 206, 41).

Of late years it has become a common practice to include in special Acts of local authorities a section authorising them to supply electricity in bulk to adjoining districts. As to connecting two areas of supply under the London Electric Supply Act, 1908, see Battersea Borough Council v. County of London Electric Supply Co., Ltd., [1913] 2 Ch. 248; 77 J. P. 325; 20 Digest 217, 109.

(d) Energy is supplied at the point where it is consumed. See Gas Light and Coke Co. v. South Metropolitan Gas Co., ante, p. 4447. And see note (b), ante, p. 4163.

(e) Clauses 5 and 6 (7 Halsbury's Statutes 708, 709) relating to security for execution of works and to audit are expressly inapplicable where the undertakers are a local authority, because the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, s. 8, and the schedule to that Act, ante, pp. 4648, 4660, makes special provision for the like purposes.

Schedule. (a) borrowed money, (b) money arising from the disposal of land acquired for the purposes of the special order, and (c) other capital money received by them in respect of the undertaking, shall be applied by them as follows :—

- (a) In payment of the working and establishment expenses and cost of maintenance of the undertaking, including all costs, expenses, penalties, and damages incurred or payable by the undertakers consequent upon any proceedings by or against the undertakers, their officers or servants, in relation to the undertaking ;
- (b) In payment of the interest or dividend on any mortgages, stock, or other securities granted and issued by the undertakers in respect of money borrowed for electricity purposes ;
- (c) In providing any instalments or sinking fund (a) required to be provided in respect of moneys borrowed for electricity purposes ;
- (d) In payment of all other their expenses of executing the special order not being expenses properly chargeable to capital (b) ;
- (e) In providing a reserve fund, if they think fit, by setting aside such money as they think reasonable, and investing the money and the resulting income thereof in Government securities, or in any other securities in which trustees are by law for the time being authorised to invest other than stock or securities of the undertakers, and accumulating it at compound interest until the fund so formed amounts to one-tenth of the aggregate capital expenditure on the undertaking.

The reserve fund shall be applicable to answer any deficiency at any time happening in the income of the undertakers from the undertaking, or to meet any extraordinary claim or demand at any time arising against the undertakers in respect of the undertaking, and so that if that fund is at any time reduced it may thereafter be again restored to the prescribed limit, and so on as often as the reduction happens.

[The undertakers shall apply the net surplus remaining in any year and the annual proceeds of the reserve fund when amounting to the prescribed limit—

- (a) in reduction of the charges for the supply of energy ; or
- (b) in reduction of the capital moneys borrowed for electricity purposes ; or
- (c) with the consent of the Electricity Commissioners in payment of expenses chargeable to capital ; or
- (d) in aid of the local rate :

Provided that—

(i) The amount which may be applied in aid of the local rate in any year shall not exceed one and a half per cent. of the outstanding debt of the undertaking ; and

(ii) After the thirty-first day of March nineteen hundred and thirty, no sum shall be paid in aid of the local rate unless the reserve fund amounts to more than one-twentieth of the aggregate capital expenditure on the undertaking (c)].

(a) Payments into the sinking fund may be suspended under s. 2 of Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, whilst the expenditure of the capital monies remains unremunerative (see the section set out in Vol. V., post).

(b) The cost of providing a new generating engine at a cost of £20,000 is an expense properly chargeable to capital and is not authorised by this provision (A.-G. v. Ealing Corporation, [1924] 2 Ch. 545 ; 88 J. P. 153 ; 20 Digest 200, 15), see now the provision in (d) of the substituted words and note (c), infra.

(c) The words in brackets were substituted for the words :—

“The undertakers shall carry the net surplus remaining in any year and the annual proceeds of the reserve fund when amounting to the prescribed limit, to the credit of the local rate as defined by the principal Act or at their option shall apply that surplus, or any part thereof, to the improvement of the district for which they are the local authority, or in reduction of the capital moneys borrowed for electricity purposes.

“Provided always that if the surplus in any year exceed five pounds per centum per annum upon the aggregate capital expenditure on the undertaking, the undertakers shall make such a rateable reduction in the charge for the supply of energy as in their judgment will reduce the surplus to that maximum rate of profit.”

by s. 43 and Sched. V., Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V., post. The amended

Schedule.

Any deficiency of income in any year when not answered out of the reserve fund shall be charged upon and payable out of the local rate.

(2) All moneys arising from the disposal of lands acquired by the undertakers for the purposes of the special order, and all other capital moneys received by them, in respect of the undertaking, shall be applied by them as follows :—

(a) In the reduction of the capital moneys borrowed by them for electricity purposes ;

(b) In the reduction of the capital moneys borrowed by them for other than electricity purposes.

8. Where a local authority are the undertakers the following provisions shall have effect :—

Purchase and use of lands by local authority.

(1) Subject to the provisions of the special order and the principal Act the undertakers may acquire by purchase or on lease and use any lands for the purposes of the special order (a), and may also for those purposes use any other lands for the time being vested in or leased by them, but subject as to the last-mentioned lands to the approval of the [Minister of Health], and may dispose of any lands acquired by them under the provisions of this section which may not for the being be required for the purposes of the special order : Provided that the amount of land so used by them shall not at any one time exceed in the whole five acres except with the consent of the [Minister of Transport].

(2) The undertakers shall not purchase or acquire for the purposes of the special order ten or more houses which on the fifteenth day of December last before the commencement of the special order, or in the case of the transfer of an undertaking to a local authority before the date of the transfer, were occupied either wholly or partially by persons belonging to the labouring class as tenants or lodgers, or except with the consent of the [Minister of Health], ten or more houses which were not so occupied on the said fifteenth day of December but have been or shall be subsequently so occupied.

(3) For the purposes of this section the expression "labouring class" means mechanics, artisans, labourers, and others working for wages, hawkers, costermongers, persons not working for wages, but working at some trade or handicraft without employing others except members of their own family, and persons other than domestic servants whose income does not exceed an average of thirty shillings a week, and the families of any of those persons who may be residing with them (b).

provisions will apply whether incorporated before or after the passing of the 1926 Act and are also to be substituted for provisions similar to those repealed in any special Act or Order passed or confirmed before the passing of the 1926 Act.

The new provisions enable a local authority undertaker to apply the surplus for the benefit of consumers under (a) or to meet with the consent of the Electricity Commissioners expenses properly chargeable to capital (see A.-G. v. Ealing Corporation, supra) under (c), and limits the amount which can be applied in aid of the local rate. After March 31st, 1930, no surplus may be applied in aid of the local rate until the reserve fund amounts to more than one-twentieth of the aggregate capital expenditure on the undertaking. Both before and after that date the amount of surplus which may be applied in aid of the local rate must not exceed $1\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. of the outstanding debt of the undertaking.

(a) It is ultra vires for the local authority having acquired land for these purposes to use them for any other though within their statutory powers under other Acts, as, for instance, to use lands acquired for the purposes of the special order as a site for a refuse destructor although connected in such a way with the generating station that the refuse could be used as fuel for the purpose of generating electrical energy (Att.-Gen. v. Pontypridd U. C., [1906] 2 Ch. 257; 70 J. P. 394; 20 Digest 200, 13). And see Att.-Gen. v. Bradford Corporation (1911), 75 J. P. 553; 55 Sol. J. 715; 26 Digest 292, 243.

As to the power to acquire land compulsorily, see the Act of 1909, s. 1, post, p. 5096. And as to the use of the land, see s. 2 of the same Act, post, p. 5096, as amended by s. 15 (3) of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, post, p. 5251.

(b) As to the general restriction on the purchase under statutory powers of houses occupied by the working classes, see s. 137 and Sched. XI., Housing Act, 1936, ante, pp. 1736, 1794.

Schedule.

Incorporation of 38 & 39 Vict.
c. 55, s. 265.

9. Where a local authority are the undertakers section two hundred and sixty-five of the Public Health Act, 1875 (a), shall be incorporated with the special order, and in the construction of that section "this Act" shall not mean the Public Health Act, 1875, but shall mean the principal Act and the special order, and the "local authority" shall mean the local authority as such undertakers.

NATURE AND MODE OF SUPPLY.

Systems and mode of supply.

10. Subject to the provisions of the special order and the principal Act, the undertakers may supply energy within the area of supply for all public and private purposes as defined by the said Act, provided as follows:—

- (a) The energy shall be supplied only by means of some system approved in writing by the [Minister of Transport], and subject to the [Ministry of Transport] regulations; and
- (b) The undertakers shall not, without the express consent (b) of the [Ministry of Transport], and, where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers of the local authority also (c), place any electric line above ground except within premises in the sole occupation or control of the undertakers, and except so much of any service line as is necessarily so placed for the purpose of supply; and
- (c) The undertakers shall not permit any part of any circuit to be connected with earth except so far as may be necessary for carrying out the provisions of the [Ministry of Transport] regulations, unless the connection is for the time being approved by the [Minister of Transport], with the concurrence of the Postmaster-General, and is made in accordance with the conditions, if any, of that approval.

WORKS.

Additional provisions as to works.

11. The provisions of the special order as to works shall be in addition but subject to those of the principal Act, and in particular those of the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, with respect to breaking up streets, incorporated in the principal Act and set out in the Appendix to this Schedule (d).

Powers for execution of
works.

12.—(1) Subject to the provisions of the principal Act and the special order, the undertakers may exercise all or any of the powers conferred on them by that Act and order, and may break up such streets not repairable by the local authority and such railways and tramways (if any) as they are specially authorised to break up by the special order, so far as those streets, railways, and tramways may for the time being be included in the area of supply, and be, or be upon, land dedicated to

(a) This section was repealed by the P. H. A., 1936, ante, p. 1, except so far as may be material for the purposes of any unrepealed enactment in the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 4331 or any Act directed to be construed therewith. See also the Public Authorities Protection Act, 1893, ante, p. 4875. As regards the county of London, the corresponding section is s. 299 of the P. H. (London) A., 1936 (30 Halsbury's Statutes 600).

(b) In determining whether or not to give consent or approval under this section, the Minister must have regard to the provisions of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V., post.

(c) See the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, s. 14, ante, p. 4652. A derrick used in putting up a house in one of the streets of Montreal was brought into contact with the overhead wires of the respondent company, with the result that a current of electricity was diverted to the street and killed the appellant's husband. Held, that the respondents being authorised by the Quebec Act (1901), s. 10, in the alternative to place their wires either overhead or underground were not guilty of negligence in adopting one alternative rather than the other, or in neglecting to insulate or guard the wires in the absence of evidence that such precaution would have been effectual to avert the accident (Dumphy v. Montreal Light, Heat and Power Co., [1907] A. C. 454; 20 Digest 212, b). The consent of the local authority is now dispensed with by s. 21 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, post, p. 5255.

(d) See Electric Lighting Act, 1882, s. 12, ante, p. 4650; Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, ss. 6—12, 18—20, ante, pp. 4165—4168, 4169; Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871, ss. 38—42, 45, and 46, ante, pp. 4317, 4318. To save space these enactments, having been already fully set out once in this Work, are not repeated here.

By agreement the telegraphs of the Postmaster-General or his licensee may be placed in the trenches, tubes, pipes, or apparatus of an electric company or "person." (See s. 6 of the Telegraph Act, 1892 (19 Halsbury's Statutes 285).) In that section the word "person" includes any body of persons corporate or unincorporate (Interpretation Act, 1889, s. 19 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1001)).

public use: Provided, however, as respects any such railway, that the powers hereby granted shall extend only to such parts thereof as pass across or along any highway on the level.

Schedule.

(2) Nothing in the special order shall authorise or empower the undertakers to break up or interfere with any street or part of a street not repairable by the local authority or any railway or tramway, except such streets, railways or tramways (if any), or such parts thereof, as they are specially authorised to break up by the special order, without the consent of the authority, company, or person, by whom that street, railway, or tramway is repairable, or of the [Ministry of Transport] under section thirteen of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882 (a), and where the [Ministry of Transport] give that consent, the provisions of the special order shall apply to the street, railway, or tramway to which the consent relates as if the undertakers had been specially authorised to break it up by that order (b).

13.—(1) Subject to the provisions of the principal Act, and the special order Street boxes. and the [Ministry of Transport] regulations, the undertakers may construct in any street such boxes (c) as may be necessary for purposes in connection with the supply of energy, including apparatus for the proper ventilation of the boxes: Provided that, where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, no such box or apparatus shall be placed above ground, except with the consent of the authority, body, or person, by whom the street is repairable.

(2) Every such box shall be for the exclusive use of the undertakers and under their sole control, except so far as the [Minister of Transport] otherwise order, and shall be used by the undertakers only for the purpose of leading off service lines and other distributing conductors, or for examining, testing, regulating, measuring,

(b) A company to which the London Electric Supply Act, 1908, applied, had one area of supply north of and one south of the Thames, and wished to connect them by mains running through streets outside either area, which included a bridge belonging to the corporation as trustees of the Bridge House estates, and repairable by them as trustees and not by any local authority. It was held that s. 4 (3) (B) of the Act of 1903 gave power to the company to break up the intervening streets and bridge for the purpose of laying therein the connecting mains, subject to the consent either of the corporation or of the Board of Trade under s. 13 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, ante, p. 4651, and this sub-section (London Corporation v. County of London Electric Supply Co., [1910] 2 Ch. 208; 74 J. P. 269; 20 Digest 217, 108).

Under ss. 6 and 7 of the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, ante, p. 4165, as adapted to electric light undertakings by the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, ante, p. 4642, the undertakers are empowered to break up streets subject to certain restrictions. By s. 13 of the Act of 1882, ante, p. 4651 (which is substantially repeated in this sub-section) nothing in that Act or in any Act incorporated therewith shall authorise the undertakers to break up any street which is not repairable by the local authority without the consent of the person by whom such street is repairable or the written consent of the Board of Trade. It was held by the Court of Appeal (KENNEDY, L. J., dissentiente) that where there was no person by whom the street was repairable, the section operated as an absolute prohibition against the breaking up of the street by the undertakers, and that therefore where a strip of land adjoining a street repairable by the local authority had been dedicated to the public by the owner and had become part of the street but was not repairable either by the local authority or anyone else, the local authority as undertakers had no power to break up that portion of the street (Andrews v. Abertillery U. C., [1911] 2 Ch. 398; 75 J. P. 449; 20 Digest 201, 19).

(c) A transformer chamber (10' x 7' 6" x 5' 6") was held to be a "street box" in Wandsworth Board of Works v. County of London Electric Light Co. (1895), The Times, August 5th. Such boxes are "buildings, structures, or works" within s. 161 of the London Building Act, 1930 (23 Halsbury's Statutes 299), and notice under that section must be served on the district surveyor before they are commenced (Whitechapel Board of Works v. Crow (1901), 65 J. P. 549; 84 L. T. 595; 20 Digest 202, 21). The circumstance that the undertakers are required by their Provisional Order to give notice of the construction of such boxes to the local authority and to the Postmaster-General, and to construct boxes in accordance with plans approved by those authorities, does not relieve the undertakers from the obligation of giving notice to the district surveyor under s. 145 of the Act of 1894 (now repealed) (11 Halsbury's Statutes 1188) (Charing Cross and Strand Electricity Supply Corporation v. Woodthorpe (1903), 67 J. P. 286; 88 L. T. 772; 20 Digest 202, 22). These cases were followed again in County of London Electric Supply Co., Ltd. v. Perkins (1908), 72 J. P. 133; 6 L. G. R. 344; 20 Digest 202, 23. As to the liability of undertakers for damage caused by explosions of gas in such chambers, see cases in note (a) at p. 4980.

Schedule.

directing, or controlling, the supply of energy, or for examining or testing the condition of the mains or other portions of the works, or for other like purposes connected with the undertaking, and the undertakers may place therein meters, switches, and any other suitable and proper apparatus, for any of the above purposes.

(3) Every such box, including the upper surface or covering thereof, shall be constructed of such materials, and shall be constructed and maintained by the undertakers in such manner, as not to be a source of danger, whether by reason of inequality of surface or otherwise.

(4) Where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, they may, with the approval of the [Minister of Transport], prescribe the hours during which the undertakers are to have access to the boxes, and if the undertakers during any hours not so prescribed remove or displace or keep removed or displaced the upper surface or covering of any box without the consent of the local authority, they shall be liable for each offence to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, and to a daily penalty not exceeding five pounds: Provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalties as aforesaid if the court are of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances.

Notice of works, with plan, to be served on Postmaster-General and local authority.

14 (a).—(1) Where the exercise of any of the powers of the undertakers in relation to the execution of any works (including the construction of boxes) will involve the placing of any works in, under, along or across any street or public bridge, the following provisions shall have effect:—

(a) One month [or in the case of service lines, seven days (b)] before commencing the execution of the works (not being repairs, renewals, or amendments of existing works of which the character and position are not altered), the undertakers shall serve a notice upon the Postmaster-General and the local authority, describing the proposed works, together with a plan (c) of the works showing the mode and position in which the works are intended to be executed, and the manner in which it is intended that the street or bridge, or any sewer, drain, or tunnel, therein or thereunder, is to be interfered with, and shall, upon being required to do so by the Postmaster-General or the local authority, give him or them any such further information in relation thereto as he or they desire.

No part of the month of August shall be included in calculating the above-mentioned period of one month.

(b) The Postmaster-General or the local authority may, in his or their discretion, approve any such works or plan, subject to such amendments or conditions as may seem fit, or may disapprove them, and may give notice of that approval or disapproval to the undertakers.

(c) Where the Postmaster-General or the local authority approve any such works or plan, subject to any amendments or conditions with which the undertakers are dissatisfied, or disapprove any such works or plan, the undertakers may appeal to the [Minister of Transport], and the [Minister of Transport] may inquire into the matter, and allow or disallow the appeal, and may approve any such works or plan, subject to such amendments or conditions as seem fit, or may disapprove them.

(d) If the Postmaster-General or the local authority fail to give any such notice of approval or disapproval to the undertakers within one month after the service of the notice upon them, he or they shall be deemed to have approved the works and plan.

(e) Notwithstanding anything in the special order or the principal Act, the undertakers shall not be entitled to execute any such works as above specified,

(a) See further as to the protection and rights of the Postmaster-General, the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, s. 22, post, p. 5256.

(b) The words in brackets were added by s. 43 and Sched. V., Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V., post, and will apply not only where the provision in the text has been or is incorporated in any Act or Order but will be added to any corresponding provision in any special Act or Order. "Service lines" are defined in clause 1, ante, p. 4949.

(c) See definition, clause 1, ante, p. 4949. See also Edgware Highway Board v. Colne Valley Water Co., and East Molesey L. B. v. Lambeth Waterworks Co., ante, p. 4185.

Schedule.

except so far as they may be of a description and in accordance with a plan which has been approved, or is to be deemed to have been approved, by the Postmaster-General and the local authority, or by the [Minister of Transport], as above mentioned; but where any such works, description, and plan are so approved, or to be deemed to be approved, the undertakers may cause those works to be executed in accordance with the description and plan, subject in all respects to the provisions of the special order and the principal Act.

- (f) If the undertakers make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section, they shall (in addition to any other compensation which they may be liable to make under the provisions of the special order or the principal Act) make full compensation to the Postmaster-General and the local authority for any loss or damage which he or they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto, they shall be liable for each default to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds, and to a daily penalty not exceeding five pounds: Provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalty as aforesaid if the court are of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances.
- (2) In the application of this section to a street or public bridge (not within a county borough) which is repairable by the county council, a reference to the county council shall be substituted for a reference to the local authority.

(3) In the application of this section within any area where the undertakers are the local authority, the reference to the local authority and to sewers, drains, or tunnels in or under streets or bridges shall not apply, except so far as a reference to the county council is substituted for a reference to the local authority.

(4) Nothing in this section shall exempt the undertakers from any penalty or obligation to which they may be liable under the special order or otherwise by law in the event of any telegraphic line of the Postmaster-General being at any time injuriously affected by the undertakers' works or their supply of energy.

15 (a). Where the exercise of the powers of the undertakers in relation to the execution of any works will involve the placing of any works in, under, along, or across any street or part of a street not repairable by the local authority, including, where the area of supply is not wholly in a county borough, the county council, or over or under any railway, tramway or canal, the following provisions shall have effect (b) unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested:—

As to streets not repairable by local authority, railways, tramways, and canals (a).

- (a) One month before commencing the execution of the works (not being repairs, renewals, or amendments of existing works of which the character and position are not altered) the undertakers shall, in addition to any other notices which they may be required to give under the special order, or the principal Act, serve a notice upon the body or person liable to repair the street or part of a street, or the body or person for the time being entitled to work the railway or tramway, or the owners of the canal (as the case may be), in this section referred to as the "owners," describing the proposed works, together with a plan of the works showing the mode and position in which the works are intended to be executed and placed, and shall, upon being required to do so by any such owners, give them any such further information in relation thereto as they desire.
- (b) Every such notice shall contain a reference to this section, and direct the attention of the owners to whom it is given to the provisions thereof.
- (c) Within three weeks after the service of any such notice and plan upon any owners, those owners may, if they think fit, serve a requisition upon the undertakers requiring that any question in relation to the works, or to

- compensation in respect thereof, and any other question arising upon the notice or plan, shall be settled by arbitration: and thereupon that question, unless settled by agreement, shall be determined by arbitration accordingly.
- (d) In settling any question under this section an arbitrator shall have regard to any duties or obligations which the owners may be under in respect of the street, railway, tramway, or canal, and may, if he thinks fit, require the undertakers to execute any temporary or other works so as to avoid any interference with any traffic so far as may be possible.
- (e) Where no such requisition as in this section mentioned is served upon the undertakers, or where after any such requisition has been served upon them any question required to be settled by arbitration has been so settled, the undertakers may, upon paying or securing any compensation which they may be required to pay or secure, cause to be executed the works specified in such notice and plan as aforesaid, and may repair, renew, and amend them (provided that their character and position are not altered), but subject in all respects to the provisions of the special order and the principal Act, and only in accordance with the notice and plan so served by them as aforesaid, or such modifications thereof respectively as may have been determined by arbitration as hereinbefore mentioned, or as may be agreed upon between the parties.
- (f) All works to be executed by the undertakers under this section shall be carried out to the reasonable satisfaction of the owners, and those owners shall have the right to be present during the execution of the works.
- (g) Where the repair, renewal, or amendment of any existing works, of which the character or position is not altered, will involve any interference with any railway or with any tramway over or under which those works have been placed, the undertakers shall, unless it is otherwise agreed between the parties, or in cases of emergency, give to the owners not less than twenty-four hours' notice before commencing to effect the repair, renewal, or amendment, and the owners shall be entitled by their officer to superintend the works, and the undertakers shall conform to such reasonable requirements as may be made by the owners or that officer. The notice shall be in addition to any other notices which the undertakers may be required to give under the special order or the principal Act.
- (h) If the undertakers make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section they shall (in addition to any other compensation which they may be liable to make under the provisions of the special order or the principal Act) make full compensation to the owners affected thereby for any loss or damage which they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable for each default to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds and to a daily penalty not exceeding five pounds: Provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalty as aforesaid if the court are of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances.

Street authority, etc., may give notice of desire to break up streets, etc., on behalf of undertakers (a).

16. Any body or person for the time being liable to repair any street or part of a street, or entitled to work any railway or tramway which the undertakers are empowered to break up for the purposes of the special order, may, if they think fit, serve a notice upon the undertakers stating that they desire to exercise or discharge all or any part of any of the powers or duties of the undertakers as therein specified in relation to the breaking up, filling in, reinstating, or making good any streets, bridges, sewers, drains, tunnels, or other works vested in or under the control or management of that body or person, and may amend or revoke any such notice by another notice similarly served.

Where any such body or person (in this section referred to as the "givers of the notice") have given notice that they desire to exercise or discharge any such specified powers and duties of the undertakers, then so long as that notice remains in force the following provisions shall have effect, unless it is otherwise agreed between the parties interested:—

(a) See the note (a), ante, p. 4957.

Schedule.

- (a) The undertakers shall not be entitled to proceed themselves to exercise or discharge any such specified powers or duties as aforesaid, except where they have required the givers of the notice to exercise or discharge those powers or duties, and the givers of the notice have refused or neglected to comply with that requisition, as hereinafter provided, or in cases of emergency.
- (b) In addition to any other notices which they are required to give under the provisions of the special order or the principal Act, the undertakers shall, not more than four days and not less than two days before the exercise or discharge of any such powers or duties so specified as aforesaid is required to be commenced, serve a requisition upon the givers of the notice stating the time when that exercise or discharge is required to be commenced, and the manner in which any such powers or duties are required to be exercised or discharged.
- (c) Upon receipt of any such requisition as last aforesaid, the givers of the notice may proceed to exercise or discharge any such powers or duties as required by the undertakers, subject to the like restrictions and conditions, so far as they are applicable, as the undertakers would themselves be subject to in that exercise or discharge.
- (d) If the givers of the notice decline or, for twenty-four hours after the time when any such exercise or discharge of any powers or duties is by any requisition required to be commenced, neglect to comply with the requisition, the undertakers may themselves proceed to exercise or discharge the powers or duties therein specified in like manner as they might have done if such notice as aforesaid had not been given to them by the givers of the notice.
- (e) In any case of emergency the undertakers may themselves proceed at once to exercise or discharge so much of any such specified powers or duties as aforesaid as may be necessary for the actual remedying of any defect from which the emergency arises without serving any requisition on the givers of the notice: but in that case the undertakers shall, within twelve hours after they begin to exercise or discharge such powers or duties as aforesaid, give information thereof in writing to the givers of the notice.
- (f) If the undertakers exercise or discharge any such specified powers or duties as aforesaid otherwise than in accordance with the provisions of this section, they shall be liable for each offence to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds, and to a daily penalty not exceeding five pounds: Provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalties as aforesaid if the court are of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the undertakers complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances.
- (g) All expenses properly incurred by the givers of the notice in complying with any requisition of the undertakers under this section shall be repaid to them by the undertakers, and may be recovered summarily.
- (h) The givers of the notice may, if they think fit, require the undertakers where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, to give them such security for the repayment to them of any expenses incurred or to be incurred by them under this section as may be determined in manner provided by this Schedule. If the undertakers fail to give any such security within seven days after being required to do so, or in case of difference after the difference has been determined by a court of summary jurisdiction, they shall not be entitled to serve any further requisition upon the givers of the notice requiring them to exercise or discharge any powers or duties under this section until the security has been duly given.

Provided that nothing in this section shall in any way affect the rights of the undertakers to exercise or discharge any powers or duties conferred or imposed upon them by special order or the principal Act in relation to the execution of any works beyond the actual breaking up, filling in, reinstating or making good any such street or part of a street, or any such bridges, sewers, drains, tunnels, or other works, or railway or tramway as in this section mentioned.

17. The undertakers may alter the position (a) of any pipes (except, in a case

As to alteration of pipes, wires, etc., under streets.

(a) See the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, s. 16, and notes thereto, ante, p. 4652.

Schedule. where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, any pipe forming part of any sewer of the local authority), or any wires being under any street or place authorised to be broken up by them, which may interfere with the exercise of their powers under the principal Act or the special order; and any body or person may in like manner alter the position of any electric lines or works of the undertakers, being under any such street or place as aforesaid, which may interfere with the lawful exercise of any powers vested in that body or person in relation to that street or place (b), subject to the following provisions, unless it is otherwise agreed between the parties interested:

- (a) One month before commencing any such alterations the undertakers, or the body or person (as the case may be,) in this section referred to as the "operators," shall serve a notice upon the body or person for the time being entitled to the pipes, wires, electric lines, or works (as the case may be), in this section referred to as the "owners," describing the proposed alterations, together with a plan showing the manner in which it is intended that the alterations shall be made, and shall, upon being required to do so by any such owners, give them any such further information in relation thereto as they may desire.
- (b) Within three weeks after the service of any such notice and plan upon any owners those owners may, if they think fit, serve a requisition upon the operators requiring that any question in relation to the works or to compensation in respect thereof, or any other question arising upon such notice or plan as aforesaid shall be settled by arbitration; and thereupon that question, unless settled by agreement, shall be determined by arbitration accordingly.
- (c) In settling any question under this section an arbitrator shall have regard to any duties or obligations which the owners may be under in respect of the pipes, wires, electric lines, or works, and may, if he thinks fit, require the operators to execute any temporary or other works, so as to avoid interference with any purpose for which the pipes, wires, electric lines, or works are used so far as possible.
- (d) Where no such requisition as in this section mentioned is served upon the operators, the owners shall be held to have agreed to the notice or plan served on them as aforesaid, and in that case, or where, after any such requisition has been served upon them, any question required to be settled by arbitration has been so settled, the operators, upon paying or securing any compensation which they may be required to pay or secure, may cause the alterations specified in such notice and plan as aforesaid to be made, but subject in all respects to the provisions of the principal Act and the special order, and only in accordance with the notice and plan so served by them as aforesaid, or such modifications thereof respectively as may have been determined by arbitration as hereinbefore mentioned or as may be agreed upon between the parties.
- (e) At any time before any operators are entitled to commence any such alterations as aforesaid, the owners may serve a statement upon the operators stating that they desire to execute the alterations themselves, and where any such statement has been served upon the operators, they shall not be entitled to proceed themselves to execute the alterations, except where they have notified to the owners that they require them to execute the alterations, and the owners have refused or neglected to comply with the notification as hereinafter provided.
- (f) Where any such statement as last aforesaid has been served upon the operators, they shall, not more than forty-eight hours and not less than twenty-four hours before the execution of the alterations is required to be commenced, serve a notification upon the owners stating the time when the alterations are required to be commenced, and the manner in which the alterations are required to be made.
- (g) Upon receipt of any such notification as last aforesaid, the owners may proceed to execute the alterations as required by the operators, subject to the like restrictions and conditions, so far as they are applicable, as the operators would themselves be subject to in executing the alterations.

(b) See s. 149 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 4375, and Southwark and Vauxhall Water Co. v. Wandsworth Board of Works, [1898] 2 Ch. 603; 62 J. P. 756; 26 Digest 488, 1997.

Schedule.

- (h) If the owners decline or, for twenty-four hours after the time when any such alterations are required to be commenced, neglect to comply with the notification, the operators may themselves proceed to execute the alterations in like manner as they might have done if no such statement as aforesaid had been served upon them.
- (i) All expenses properly incurred by any owners in complying with any notification of any operators under this section shall be repaid to them by the operators, and may be recovered summarily.
- (j) Any owners may, if they think fit, by any statement served by them under this section upon any operators, not being a local authority, require the operators to give them such security for the repayment to them of any expenses to be incurred by them in executing any alterations as above mentioned as may be determined in manner provided by the special order, and where any operators have been so required to give security, they shall not be entitled to serve a notification upon the owners requiring them to execute the alterations until the security has been duly given.
- (k) If the operators make default in complying with any of the requirements or restrictions of this section they shall (in addition to any other compensation which they may be liable to make under the provisions of the special order or the principal Act) make full compensation to the owners affected thereby for any loss, damage, or penalty which they may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable for each default to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds, and to a daily penalty not exceeding five pounds: Provided that the operators shall not be subject to any such penalty as aforesaid if the court are of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the operators complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances.

18.—(1) Where the undertakers require to dig or sink any trench for laying down or constructing any new electric lines (other than service lines) or other works near to which any sewer, drain, watercourse, defence, or work under the jurisdiction or control of the local authority, or any main, pipe, syphon, electric line, or other work belonging to any gas, electric supply, or water company has been lawfully placed, or where any gas or water company require to dig or sink any trench for laying down or constructing any new mains or pipes (other than service pipes) or other works near to which any lines or works of the undertakers have been lawfully placed, the undertakers or the gas or water company (as the case may be), in this section referred to as the "operators," shall, unless it is otherwise agreed between the parties interested, or in case of a sudden emergency, give to the local authority or to the gas, electric supply, or water company, or to the undertakers (as the case may be), in this section referred to as the "owners," not less than three days' notice before commencing to dig or sink such trench as aforesaid, and those owners shall be entitled by their officer to superintend the work, and the operators shall conform with such reasonable requirements as may be made by the owners or the officer for protecting from injury every such sewer, drain, watercourse, defence, main, pipe, syphon, electric line, or work, and for securing access thereto, and they shall also, if required by the owners thereof, repair any damage that may be done thereto (a).

Laying of electric lines, etc., near sewers, etc., or gas or water pipes, or other electric lines.

(2) Where the operators find it necessary to undermine but not alter the position of any pipe, electric line, or work, they shall temporarily support it in position during the execution of their works, and before completion provide a suitable and proper foundation for it where so undermined.

(a) For a case in which the Postmaster-General was held entitled to recover, under the provisions of a local tramway Act, for injury to a telephone cable through a leakage of electricity, see Postmaster-General v. Blackpool, etc. Tramroad Co., [1921] 1 K. B. 114; 85 J. P. 71; 20 Digest 212, 77. As to the effect of an agreement between a corporation and the National Telephone Company, whereby the company agreed to hold the corporation free from liability for damage to the wires of the company arising from the existence in the streets of the mains and services of the corporation, see Postmaster-General v. Liverpool Corporation, 86 J. P. 157; affirmed in H. of L., [1923] A. C. 587; 87 J. P. 157; 20 Digest 212, 79.

Schedule.

(3) Where the operators (being the undertakers) lay any electric line, crossing or liable to touch any mains, pipes, lines, or services belonging to any gas, electric supply, or water company, the conducting portion of the electric line shall be effectively insulated in a manner approved by the [Minister of Transport]; and the undertakers shall not, except with the consent of the gas, electric supply, or water company, as the case may be, and of the [Minister of Transport], lay their electric lines so as to come into contact with any such mains, pipes, lines, or services, or, except with the like consent, employ any such mains, pipes, lines, or services as conductors for the purposes of their supply of energy (a).

(4) Any question or difference which may arise under this section shall be determined by arbitration (b).

(5) If the operators make default in complying with any of the requirements of this section they shall make full compensation to all owners affected thereby for any loss, damage, penalty, or costs which they may incur by reason thereof; and in addition thereto they shall be liable for each default to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds, and to a daily penalty not exceeding five pounds (c): Provided that the operators shall not be subject to any such penalty if the court are of opinion that the case was one of emergency, and that the operators complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances, or that the default in question was due to the fact that the operators were ignorant of the position of the sewer, drain, watercourse, defence, main, pipe, syphon, electric line, or work affected thereby, and that that ignorance was not owing to any negligence on the part of the operators.

(6) For the purposes of this section the expression "gas company" shall mean any body or person lawfully supplying gas; the expression "water company" shall mean any body or person lawfully supplying water or water power; and the expression "electric supply company" shall mean any body or person supplying energy in pursuance of the principal Act but not in pursuance of the special order.

(7) Where the local authority are themselves the undertakers, the references in this section to the local authority, and to sewers, drains, watercourses, defences, or works under the jurisdiction or control of that local authority, shall not apply.

For protection of railway and canal companies.

19. In the exercise of any of the powers of the special order relating to the execution of works, the undertakers shall not in any way injure the railways, tunnels, arches, works, or conveniences belonging to any railway or canal (d) company, nor obstruct or interfere with the working of the traffic passing along any railway or canal.

For protection of telegraphic and telephonic wires (e).

20.—(1) The undertakers shall take all reasonable precautions in constructing, laying down, and placing their electric lines and other works of all descriptions, and in working their undertaking so as not injuriously to affect, whether by induction or otherwise, the working of any wire or line used for the purpose of telegraphic, telephonic, or electric signalling communication, or the currents in that wire or line, whether that wire or line be or be not in existence at the time of the laying down or placing of the electric lines or other works.

If any question arises between the undertakers and the owner of any such wire or line as to whether the undertakers have constructed, laid down, or placed their electric lines or other works or worked their undertaking in contravention of this sub-section, and as to whether the working of that wire or line or the current therein is or is not injuriously affected thereby, that question shall be determined by arbitration; and the arbitrator (unless he is of opinion that the wire or line, not having

(b) As to appointment of arbitrator, see s. 28 of Electric Lighting Act, 1882, ante, p. 4657.

(c) As to recovery of penalties, see clause 76, post, p. 4979. The offence of non-compliance with the requirements of the section is a continuing offence, and therefore s. 11 of the S. J. A., 1848 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 278), does not apply. The right to recover penalties is not barred by the reference to arbitration and the award (Chepstow Electric Light and Power Co. v. Chepstow Gas and Coke Consumers' Co., Ltd., [1905] 1 K. B. 198; 69 J. P. 72; 20 Digest 203, 26).

(d) As to canals, see also the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, s. 16, ante, p. 4652. And see further note (a), ante, p. 4957, and the provisions of the Act of 1919, post, p. 5243, therein referred to.

been so in existence at such time as aforesaid, has been placed in unreasonable proximity to the electric lines or works of the undertakers) may direct the undertakers to make any alterations in, or additions to, their system, so as to comply with the provisions of this section, and the undertakers shall make those alterations or additions accordingly.

(2) Seven days before commencing to lay down or place any electric line, or to use any electric line in any manner whereby the work of telegraphic or telephonic or electric signalling communication through any wire or line lawfully laid down or placed in any position may be injuriously affected, the undertakers shall, unless otherwise agreed between the parties interested, give to the owner of the wire or line notice in writing specifying the course, nature and gauge of the electric line, and the manner in which the electric line is intended to be used, and the amount and nature of the currents intended to be transmitted thereby, and the extent to and manner in which (if at all) earth returns are proposed to be used; and any owner entitled to receive that notice may serve a requisition on the undertakers, requiring them to adopt such precautions as may be therein specified in regard to the laying, placing, or user of the electric line for the purpose of preventing the injurious affection; and the undertakers shall conform with such reasonable requirements as may be made by the owner for the purpose of preventing the communication through the wire or line from being injuriously affected as aforesaid.

If any difference arises between any such owner and the undertakers with respect to the reasonableness of any requirements so made, that difference shall be determined by arbitration.

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply to repairs or renewals of any electric line so long as the course, nature, and gauge of the electric line, and the amount and nature of the current transmitted thereby, are not altered.

(3) If in any case the undertakers make default in complying with the requirements of this section, they shall make full compensation to every such owner as aforesaid for any loss or damage which he may incur by reason thereof, and in addition thereto they shall be liable for each default to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, and to a daily penalty not exceeding forty shillings: Provided that the undertakers shall not be subject to any such penalty as aforesaid if the court are of opinion that the case was one of emergency and that the undertakers complied with the requirements of this section so far as was reasonable under the circumstances, or that the default was due to the fact that the undertakers were ignorant of the position of the wire or line affected thereby, and that that ignorance was not owing to any negligence on the part of the undertakers.

(4) Nothing in this section contained shall be held to deprive any owner of any existing rights to proceed against the undertakers by indictment, action, or otherwise, in relation to any of the matters aforesaid.

COMPULSORY WORKS.

21.—(1) The undertakers shall, within a period of two years after the commencement of the special order, lay down suitable and sufficient distributing mains for the purposes of general supply throughout every street or part of a street specified in that behalf in the special order, and shall thereafter maintain those mains.

(2) In addition to the mains hereinbefore specified the undertakers shall, at any time after the expiration of eighteen months after the commencement of the special order, lay down suitable and sufficient distributing mains for the purposes of general supply throughout every other street or part of a street within the area of supply, upon being required to do so in manner provided by the special order.

All such mains as last above mentioned (unless already laid down) shall be laid down by the undertakers within six months after any requisition in that behalf served upon them in accordance with the provisions of the special order has become binding upon them, or within such further time as may in any case be approved by the [Ministry of Transport].

(3) When any such requisition is made in respect of any street not repairable by the local authority, which the undertakers are not specially authorised to break up by the special order, the undertakers shall (unless the authority, or person by whom that street is repairable, consent to the breaking up thereof) forthwith apply to the [Ministry of Transport] under section thirteen of the Electric Lighting Act,

Mains, etc., to be laid down in streets specified in special order and in remainder of area of supply.

Schedule. 1882 (a), for the written consent of the [Minister] authorising and empowering the undertakers to break up that street, and the requisition shall not be binding upon them if the [Ministry of Transport] refuse their consent in that behalf.

As to laying of electric line under special agreement.

22. Where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, the undertakers shall, twenty-eight days at least before commencing to lay in any street any electric line which is intended for supplying energy to any particular consumer, and not for the purposes of general supply, serve upon the local authority, and upon the owner or occupier of all premises abutting on so much of the street as lies between the points of origin and termination of the electric line so to be laid, a notice stating that the undertakers intend to lay the electric line, and setting forth the effect of this section, and if within that period any two or more of those owners or occupiers require in accordance with the provisions of the special order that a supply shall be given to their premises, the necessary distributing main shall be laid by the undertakers at the same time as the electric line intended for the particular consumer.

If undertakers fall to lay down mains, etc., order may be revoked.

23.—(1) If the undertakers, not being a local authority, make default in laying down any distributing mains in accordance with the provisions of the special order within the periods prescribed in that behalf respectively, they shall be liable for each default to a penalty not exceeding five pounds for each day during which the default continues, and if the [Ministry of Transport] are of opinion in any case that the default is wilful and unreasonably prolonged they may, after considering any representations of the local authority, deal with the special order in manner provided by this section.

(2) If the local authority are themselves the undertakers, and make default in laying down any distributing main in accordance with the provisions of the special order, within the periods prescribed in that behalf respectively, the [Ministry of Transport] may deal with the special order in manner provided by this section.

(3) Where the [Ministry of Transport] are authorised under this section to deal with a special order, they may either revoke the order as to the whole or any part of the area of supply, or, if the undertakers so desire, suffer it to remain in force as to that area or part thereof, subject to such conditions as they think fit to impose, and any conditions so imposed shall be binding on and observed by the undertakers, and shall be of the like force and effect in every respect as though they were contained in the special order: Provided that the [Ministry of Transport] shall not revoke the special order as to part only of the area of supply where the undertakers make a representation that they desire to be relieved of their liabilities as respects the rest of the area of supply, and in that case the [Ministry of Transport] shall not under this section revoke the special order otherwise than as to the whole of the area of supply.

Manner in which requisition is to be made.

24.—(1) Any requisition requiring the undertakers to lay down distributing mains for the purposes of general supply throughout any street or part of a street may be made by six or more owners or occupiers of premises along that street or part of a street, or, where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers and have the control and management of the public lamps in that street or part of a street, by the local authority.

(2) Every such requisition shall be signed by the persons making it, or by the local authority (as the case may be), and shall be served upon the undertakers.

(3) Forms of requisition shall be kept by the undertakers at their office, and a copy shall, on application, be supplied free of charge to any owner or occupier of premises within the area of supply and, where necessary, to the local authority, and any requisition so supplied shall be deemed valid in point of form.

Provisions on requisition by owners or occupiers.

25.—(1) Where any such requisition is made by any such owners or occupiers as aforesaid, the undertakers (if they think fit) may, within fourteen days after the service of the requisition upon them, serve a notice on all the persons by whom the requisition is signed, stating that they decline to be bound by the requisition unless those persons or some of them will bind themselves to take, or will guarantee that there shall be taken, a supply of energy for a period of three years at least, of such amount in the aggregate (to be specified by the undertakers in the notice) as will, at the rates of charge for the time being charged by the undertakers for a supply of energy from distributing mains to the ordinary consumers within the area of supply, produce annually such reasonable sum as is specified by the undertakers in the notice: Provided that in the notice the undertakers shall not, without the authority of the [Minister of Transport], specify any sum exceeding twenty per centum upon the expense of providing and laying down the required distributing mains and any other mains or additions to existing mains which may be necessary for the purpose of connecting those distributing mains with the nearest available source of supply.

(2) Where such a notice is served the requisition shall not be binding on the undertakers unless, within fourteen days after the service of the notice on all the persons signing the requisition has been effected, or in case of difference within fourteen days after the delivery of the arbitrator's award, there be tendered to the undertakers an agreement severally executed by those persons or some of them, binding them to take or guaranteeing that there shall be taken a supply of energy for a period of three years at the least of such amount as will in the aggregate at the rates of charge above specified produce an annual sum amounting to the sum specified in the notice or determined by arbitration under this section, nor unless sufficient security for the payment to the undertakers of all moneys which may become due to them from those persons under the agreement is offered to the undertakers (if required by them by such notice as aforesaid) within the period limited for the tender of the agreement as aforesaid.

(3) If the undertakers consider that the requisition is unreasonable, or that, under the circumstances of the case, the provisions of this section ought to be varied, they may, within fourteen days after the service of the requisition upon them, appeal to the [Minister of Transport], and [the Minister] after such inquiry (if any) as [he] think[s] fit, may, by order, either determine that the requisition is unreasonable, and shall not be binding upon the undertakers, or may authorise the undertakers by their notice to require a supply of energy to be taken for such longer period than three years, and to specify such sum or percentage, whether calculated as hereinbefore provided or otherwise, as is fixed or directed by the order, and the terms of the above-mentioned agreement shall be varied accordingly.

(4) In case of any appeal to the [Minister of Transport] under this section, any notice by the undertakers under this section may be served by them within fourteen days after the decision of the [Minister of Transport].

(5) If any difference arises between the undertakers and any persons signing any such requisition as to any such notice or agreement, that difference shall, subject to the provisions of this section and to the decision of the [Minister of Transport] upon any such appeal as aforesaid, be determined by arbitration.

26. Where any such requisition is made by the local authority it shall not be binding on the undertakers, unless at the time when the service is effected, or within fourteen days thereafter, there be tendered to the undertakers (if required by them) an agreement executed by the local authority, and binding them to take for a period of three years at the least a supply of energy for lighting such public lamps in the street or part of a street in respect of which the requisition is made as may be under their management or control.

27.—(1) The undertakers shall, upon being required to do so by the owner or occupier of any premises situate within fifty yards from any distributing main of

Undertakers to furnish sufficient supply of energy to owners and occupiers within the area of supply.

(a) See also as to the application of this section to lines across railways, etc., the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, s. 22, post, p. 5256. Undertakers were under a contract to supply light to the inhabitants of a district and to the streets, public places and private property therein, and in order to carry out the undertaking to do certain specified things and to provide everything which might be necessary whether specified or not for the purpose of supplying electric light to the street lamps. In consideration of these requirements the appellants who were consumers were bound to pay "at such rates as will yield to the contractors a return equal to 10 per cent. over the actual cost of generating the light." It was held that the words "generating the light" covered the whole series of operations leading up to the production of light in the lamps and the "actual cost" included depreciation of plant, rent, rates, taxes and insurance (Bulawayo Municipality v. Bulawayo Water-works Co., Ltd., [1908] A. C. 241; 20 Digest 208, 51).

Schedule. the undertakers in which they are, for the time being, required to maintain or are maintaining a supply of energy for the purposes of general supply to private consumers under the special order or the [Ministry of Transport] regulations, give and continue to give a supply of energy for those premises in accordance with the provisions of the special order and of the said regulations, and they shall furnish and lay any electric lines (a) that may be necessary for the purpose of supplying the maximum power with which any such owner or occupier is entitled to be supplied under the special order (b) subject to the conditions following: (that is to say,)—

The cost of so much of any electric line for the supply of energy to any owner or occupier as may be laid upon the property of that owner or in the possession of that occupier, and of so much of any such electric lines as it may be necessary to lay for a greater distance than sixty feet from any distributing main of the undertakers, although not on that property, shall, if the undertakers so require be defrayed by that owner or occupier.

(2) Every owner or occupier of premises requiring a supply of energy shall—

(a) Serve a notice upon the undertakers specifying the premises in respect of which the supply is required and the maximum power required to be supplied, and the day (not being an earlier day than a reasonable time after the date of the service of the notice) upon which the supply is required to commence; and

(b) If required by the undertakers, enter into a written contract with them to continue to receive and pay for a supply of energy for a period of at least two years of such an amount that the payment to be made for the supply, at the rate of charge for the time being charged by the undertakers for a supply of energy to ordinary consumers within the area of supply, shall not be less than twenty per centum per annum on the outlay incurred by the undertakers in providing any electric lines required under this section to be provided by them for the purpose of the supply, and if required by the undertakers give to them security for the payment to them of all moneys which may become due to them by the owner or occupier in respect of any electric lines to be furnished by the undertakers, and in respect of energy to be supplied by them (c).

(3) Provided always, that the undertakers may, after they have given a supply of energy in respect of any premises, by notice in writing, require the owner or occupier of those premises, within seven days after the date of the service of the

(a) As to payment of the cost of an electric installation for a country mansion as between tenant for life and remainderman, see Re Freake's Settlement, Kinnaird v. Freake, [1902] 1 Ch. 97; 20 Digest 219, 112; but in a later case it was held that an electric installation was not an "addition" to a building within the meaning of s. 13 of the Settled Land Act, 1890 (Re Clarke's Settlement, [1902] 2 Ch. 327; 20 Digest 219, 113); see also Re Blagrove's Settled Estates (1902), 87 L. T. 62, on appeal, [1903] 1 Ch. 560; 20 Digest 219, 114. For a case in which undertakers were held liable for injury resulting to a workman owing to a live wire being left upon premises when they had previously disconnected the installation, see Wheeler v. Marylebone Corporation (1910), 32 M. C. C. 223.

(b) Where consent under their regulations was given by the Electricity Commissioners allowing undertakers to change over from direct current to alternating current, and a condition was imposed that the undertakers should pay to consumers affected the reasonable cost (to be determined by arbitration) of and incidental to the change-over, including compensation for any loss or damage incurred in consequence of the alteration, it was held that the arbitrator could award to a consumer the whole sum necessary to put himself into the same position with alternating current as he had been in with direct current, including (1) the cost of purchasing and installing new apparatus, and (2) damages incurred through loss of business during the period of transition (Lakeman v. Chester Corporation (1933), 97 J. P. 141; 148 L. T. 564; Digest Supp.).

(c) Where an owner who had complied with all the statutory conditions demanded a supply it was held that the undertaker could not successfully set up by way of defence to an information that certain trade unions would not permit the work to be done and that they were prevented by force majeure from providing a supply (Hackney B. C. v. Doré, [1922] 1 K. B. 431; 86 J. P. 45; 20 Digest 205, 37). As to the liability of the members of an electricity committee of a council for failure to supply during the general strike, see Scammell & Nephew, Ltd. v. Hurley, [1929] 1 K. B. 419; 93 J. P. 99; Digest Supp. As to persons requiring a stand-by supply, see s. 23, Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, post, p. 5259.

Schedule.

notice, to give to them security for the payment of all moneys which may become due to them in respect of the supply, in case the owner or occupier has not already given that security, or in case any security given has become invalid or is insufficient; and in case any such owner or occupier fail to comply with the terms of the notice, the undertakers may, if they think fit, discontinue to supply energy for the premises so long as the failure continues (a).

(4) Provided also, that if the owner or occupier of any such premises as aforesaid uses any form of lamp or burner, or uses the energy supplied to him by the undertakers for any purposes, or deals with it in any manner so as to interfere unduly or improperly with the efficient supply of energy to any other body or person by the undertakers, the undertakers may, if they think fit, discontinue to supply energy to those premises so long as the lamp or burner is so used, or the energy is so used or dealt with.

(5) Provided also, that the undertakers shall not be compelled to give a supply of energy to any premises unless they are reasonably satisfied that the electric lines, fittings, and apparatus therein are in good order and condition, and not calculated to affect injuriously the use of energy by the undertakers or by other persons.

(6) If any difference arises under this section as to any improper use of energy or as to any alleged defect in any electric lines, fittings, or apparatus, that difference shall be determined by arbitration.

28.—(1) The maximum power with which any consumer shall be entitled to be supplied shall be of such amount as he may require to be supplied with, not exceeding what may be reasonably anticipated as the maximum consumption on his premises: Provided that where any consumer has required the undertakers to supply him with a maximum power of any specified amount he shall not be entitled to alter that maximum except upon one month's notice to the undertakers, and any expenses reasonably incurred by the undertakers in respect of the service lines by which energy is supplied to the premises of that consumer, or any fittings or apparatus of the undertakers upon those premises, consequent upon the alteration, shall be paid by him to the undertakers, and may be recovered summarily as a civil debt.

(2) If any difference arises between any such owner or occupier and the undertakers as to what may be reasonably anticipated as the consumption on his premises or as to the reasonableness of any expenses under this section, that difference shall be determined by arbitration.

29. Where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, the undertakers shall, upon receiving reasonable notice from the local authority requiring them to supply energy to any public lamps within the distance of seventy-five yards from any distributing main of the undertakers in which they are for the time being required to maintain a current of energy for the purposes of general supply under the special order, or the [Ministry of Transport] regulations, give and continue to give a supply of energy to those lamps in such quantities as the local authority may require to be supplied.

30.—(1) Whenever the undertakers make default in supplying energy to any owner or occupier of premises to whom they may be and are required to supply energy under the special order, they shall be liable in respect of each default to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for each day on which the default occurs (b).

(a) See also the power of refusing a supply given by s. 18, Electric Lighting Act, 1909, post, p. 5102.

(b) The fact that penalties are imposed prevents a consumer from having an action for damages for failure to supply. See Clegg, Parkinson & Co. v. Earby Gas Co., ante, p. 4316. Where a consumer receives a supply of electricity by virtue of statutory right and not by virtue of special contract, he cannot claim damages for failure to supply electricity at the declared voltage though penalties for doing so are imposed (Stevens v. Aldershot Gas, Water and District Lighting Co. (1932), 102 L. J. K. B. 12; Digest Supp.). But this section only applies in the case of consumers to whom the undertakers are bound to make a supply. In the case of other consumers supplied by special agreement an action is maintainable for breach of the agreement (Morris and Bastert, Ltd. v. Loughborough Corporation, [1908] 1 K. B. 205; 71 J. P. 521; 20 Digest 204, 31). An injunction was granted to restrain a corporation from discontinuing or curtailing a supply under an agreement owing to increased cost of production (Taylor v. West Bromwich Corporation (1916), 38 M. C. C. 13).

Schedule.

(2) Where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, and the undertakers make default in supplying energy to the public lamps to which they may be and are required to supply energy under the special order, the undertakers shall be liable in respect of each default to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings for each lamp, and for each day on which the default occurs.

(3) Whenever the undertakers make default in supplying energy in accordance with the terms of the [Ministry of Transport] regulations they shall be liable to such penalties as are prescribed by the regulations in that behalf.

(4) Provided that the penalties to be inflicted on the undertakers under this section shall in no case exceed in the aggregate in respect of any defaults not being wilful defaults on the part of the undertakers the sum of fifty pounds for any one day, and provided also that in no case shall any penalty be inflicted in respect of any default if the court are of opinion that the default was caused by inevitable accident or force majeure or was of so slight or unimportant a character as not materially to affect the value of the supply (a).

PRICE (b).

Methods of charging.

31.—(1) The undertakers may charge for energy supplied by them to any ordinary consumer (otherwise than by agreement)—

(1) By the actual amount of energy so supplied; or

(2) By the electrical quantity contained in the supply; or

(3) By such other method as may for the time being be approved by the [Minister of Transport].

(2) . . . (c).

(3) Provided also, that before commencing to supply energy through any distributing main for the purposes of general supply, the undertakers shall, if the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, give notice to the local authority, and, if the local authority are themselves the undertakers, by public advertisement, by what method they propose to charge for energy supplied through that main; and, where the undertakers have given any such notice, they shall not be entitled to change that method of charging except after one month's notice of the change has been given by them, if the local authority are not themselves the undertakers to the local authority, and in any case to every consumer of energy who is supplied by them from the main.

Maximum prices.

32.—(1) The prices to be charged by the undertakers for energy supplied by them shall not exceed those stated in that behalf in the special order or in the case of a method of charge approved by the [Minister of Transport], such price as the [Minister of Transport] determine[s] on approving the method.

(2) (d) Provided that if, in a case where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, either the local authority or the undertakers, at any time after the expiration of seven years after the commencement of the special order, make a representation to the [Minister of Transport] that the prices or methods of charge stated in the special order or approved by the [Minister of Transport] ought to be altered, the [Ministry of Transport], after such inquiry as they may think fit, may make an order varying the prices or methods of charge stated in the special order or so approved as aforesaid, or substituting

(a) As to what amounts to force majeure within the meaning of this clause, see Hackney B. C. v. Doré, ante, p. 4966. Where a corporation had made an agreement for the supply of energy for power purposes, an interim injunction was granted to restrain them from discontinuing or curtailing the supply on the ground of the enhanced cost of production consequent on the war (Taylor v. West Bromwich Corporation (1916), 38 M. C. C. 13). And see note (a), post, p. 4969.

(b) See the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, ss. 19—21, ante, pp. 4654, 4655, and notes, and s. 42, Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V., post. Orders authorising municipal electrical undertakings now frequently contain what is known as the Bermondsey clause. See The Times, June 29th, 1904.

(d) A new sub-section making three years the ordinary period of revision of prices and allowing representations by undertakers, consumers, local authorities not undertakers and in certain cases in the county of London the London County Council has been substituted for this sub-section by s. 22 (2), Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922. The new provision is set out; Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 789.

other prices or methods of charge in lieu thereof, and the prices or methods of charge so varied or substituted shall have effect on and after such day as may be mentioned in the order, as if they had been stated in the special order: Provided also that the prices and methods of charge for the time being in force may be altered in like manner at any time after the expiration of any or every period of seven years after they were last altered.

Schedule.

33. Subject to the provisions of the special order and of the principal Act, and to the right of the consumer to require that he shall be charged according to some one or other of the methods above mentioned, the undertakers may make any agreement with a consumer as to the price to be charged for energy, and the mode in which those charges are to be ascertained, and may charge accordingly (a). Other charges by agreement.

34. Where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, the price to be charged by the undertakers and to be paid to them for all energy supplied to the public lamps, and the mode in which those charges are to be ascertained, shall be settled by agreement between the local authority and the undertakers, and, in case of difference, shall be determined by arbitration, regard being had to the circumstances of the case and the distributing or other mains (if any) which may have to be laid for the purpose, and the prices charged to ordinary consumers in the district. Price to public lamps.

ELECTRIC INSPECTORS.

35.—(1) The local authority, so long as they are not themselves the undertakers, and, while the local authority are themselves the undertakers, the [Minister of Health], on the application of any consumer or of the undertakers, may appoint and keep appointed, one or more competent and impartial person or persons to be electric inspectors under the special order (b). Appointment of electric inspectors.

(2) If, in a case where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, no electric inspector is appointed by the local authority, or the inspection of electric lines and works is imperfectly attended to by the local authority, or the local authority themselves become the undertakers for the purposes of the special order, the [Minister of Transport], on the application of any consumer, or of the undertakers, may appoint and keep appointed, one or more competent and impartial person or persons to be electric inspectors under the special order.

36.—(1) The duties of an electric inspector under the special order shall be as follows:— Duties of electric inspectors.

- (a) The inspection and testing, periodically and in special cases, of the undertakers' electric lines and works and the supply of energy given by them;
- (b) The certifying and examination of meters (c): and
- (c) Such other duties in relation to the undertaking as may be required of him under the provisions of the special order or of the [Ministry of Transport] regulations.

(a) If persons who are not entitled to require a supply under the Act make an agreement with the undertakers for a supply of electrical energy, they may bring an action against the undertakers to recover damages for an alleged breach of the agreement, there being no clear words in the statute confining the remedy to proceedings to recover a penalty under clause 30, ante, p. 4967 (Morris and Bastert, Ltd. v. Loughborough Corporation, [1908] 1 K. B. 205; 71 J. P. 521; 20 Digest 204, 31). See also Taylor v. West Bromwich Corporation, ante, p. 4968.

See also Bourne & Hollingsworth v. Marylebone B. C. (1908), 72 J. P. 306; 24 T. L. R. 613; 20 Digest 204, 32.

An agreement for a two-part tariff may be made under this clause, which is not a power conferred for use in exceptional cases only (Att.-Gen. v. Wimbledon Corporation, [1940] Ch. 180; [1940] 1 All E. R. 76; Digest Supp.).

As to stamp duty, see the Electric Lighting Act, 1909, s. 19, post, p. 5102.

(b) Where a dispute arises between the undertakers and a consumer as to whether a meter is not in proper order for correctly registering the amount of electricity supplied such dispute is to be determined under clause 57, post, p. 4974, by the inspector appointed under the clause. If no inspector has been appointed, no cause of action arises against the consumer for electricity supplied (Hendon Electric Supply Co., Ltd. v. Banks (1917), 82 J. P. 228; 87 L. J. K. B. 790; 20 Digest 209, 58).

(c) The words in italics were repealed by the Electricity Supply (Meters) Act, 1936, s. 5 (2), Vol. V. and 29 Halsbury's Statutes 136.

Schedule.

(2) The local authority, with the approval of the [Minister of Transport], or the [Minister of Transport], if the inspector is appointed by [him], may prescribe the manner in which and the times at which any such duties are to be performed by an electric inspector, and also the fees to be taken by him, and those fees shall be accounted for and applied as may be directed by the local authority or the [Minister of Transport], as the case may be.

Remuneration

37.—(1) The local authority may pay to any electric inspector appointed by them under the special order such reasonable remuneration (if any) as they may determine, and that remuneration may be in addition to, or in substitution for, any fees directed to be paid to electric inspectors in respect of their duties under the special order or the [Ministry of Transport] regulations, according as the local authority determine.

(2) Where the local authority are themselves the undertakers, they shall pay to every electric inspector appointed under the provisions of the special order such reasonable remuneration (if any) as may be determined by the [Minister of Transport], and that remuneration may be in addition to, or in substitution for, any fees which are directed to be paid to electric inspectors for services rendered by them under the special order or the [Ministry of Transport] regulations, as may be settled by [the Minister]; and where any such remuneration is settled to be in substitution for fees, any fees payable by any party other than the undertakers, shall, in lieu of being paid to the electric inspector for his own use, be due and paid to him on behalf and for the use of the undertakers, and shall be carried by them to the credit of the local rate.

accidents and inquiries by
Transport].

38.—(1) The undertakers shall send to the [Minister of Transport] notice of any accident by explosion, or fire, and also of any other accident of such kind as to have caused, or to be likely to have caused, loss of life, or personal injury which has occurred in any part of the undertakers' works or their circuits, or in connection with those works or circuits, and also notice of any loss of life or personal injury occasioned by any such accident. The notice shall be sent by the earliest practicable post after the accident occurs, or, as the case may be, after the loss of life or personal injury becomes known to the undertakers (a).

If the undertakers fail to comply with the provisions of this sub-section they shall be liable, for each default, to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds.

(2) The [Minister of Transport] may also, if [he] deem[s] it necessary, appoint any electric inspector or other fit person to inquire and report as to the cause of any accident affecting the safety of the public, which may have been occasioned by or in connection with the undertakers' works, whether notice of the accident has or has not been received from the undertakers, or as to the manner and extent in and to which the provisions of the special order and the principal Act, and of the [Ministry of Transport] regulations, so far as those provisions affect the safety of the public, have been complied with by the undertakers; and any person appointed under this section, not being an electric inspector, shall for the purposes of his appointment have all the powers of an electric inspector under the special order.

TESTING AND INSPECTION.

mains.

39. On the occasion of the testing of any main of the undertakers reasonable notice thereof shall be given to the undertakers by the electric inspector, and the testing shall be carried out at such suitable hours as, in the opinion of the inspector, will least interfere with the supply of energy by the undertakers, and in such manner as the inspector thinks expedient, but, except under the provisions of an order made in each case in that behalf by the [Minister of Transport], he shall not be entitled to have access to or interfere with the mains of the undertakers at any points other than those at which the undertakers have reserved for themselves access to the said mains: Provided that the undertakers shall not be held responsible for any interruption in the supply of energy which may be occasioned by or required by the inspector for the purpose of any such testing as aforesaid. Provided also that the testings shall not be made in regard to any particular portion of a main oftener than once in any three months, unless in pursuance of an order made in each case in that behalf by the [Minister of Transport].

(a) As to the responsibility of the undertakers, see clause 77, post, p. 4979.

40. An electric inspector, if and when required to do so by any consumer, shall, on payment by the consumer of the prescribed fee, test the variation of electric pressure at the consumer's terminals, or make such other inspection and testing of the service lines, apparatus, and works of the undertakers upon the consumer's premises as may be necessary for the purpose of determining whether the undertakers have complied with the provisions of the special order and the [Ministry of Transport] regulations. Schedule.

Testing of works and supply on consumer's premises.

41.—(1) Where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, the undertakers shall at such places, within a reasonable distance from a distributing main, establish at their own cost and keep in proper condition such reasonable number of testing stations, as the local authority think proper and sufficient for testing the supply of energy by the undertakers through the main, and shall place thereat proper and suitable instruments of a pattern to be approved by the [Minister of Transport], and shall connect those stations by means of proper and sufficient electric lines with the mains, and supply energy thereto for the purpose of the testing. Undertakers, not being local authority, to establish testing stations.

(2) If any dispute arises between the local authorities and the undertakers as to whether the number of the testing stations and the distance from the main at which they are established is reasonable or excessive, or as to any excessive or improper use of energy for the testing, or as to the performance by the undertakers of their duties under this section, that dispute shall be determined by arbitration.

(3) Where the local authority are themselves the undertakers, a court of summary jurisdiction may upon the application of any ten consumers direct the undertakers, at their own cost, to establish at such places, within a reasonable distance from a distributing main, and keep in proper condition, such reasonable number of testing stations, as the court think proper and sufficient for testing the supply of energy by the undertakers through the main, and thereupon (a) the undertakers shall establish such testing places, and provide thereat such proper and suitable instruments of a pattern to be approved by the [Minister of Transport] as the court direct, and they shall connect those stations by means of proper and sufficient electric lines with the mains, and supply energy thereto for the purpose of the testing.

42. The undertakers shall set up and keep upon all premises from which they supply energy by any distributing mains such suitable and proper instruments of such pattern and construction as may be approved or prescribed by the [Minister of Transport], and shall take and record, and keep recorded, such observations as the [Minister of Transport] may prescribe, and any observations so recorded shall be receivable in evidence. Undertakers to keep instruments on their premises.

43.—(1) The undertakers shall keep in efficient working order all instruments which they are required by or under the special order to place, set up, or keep at any testing station or on their own premises, and any electric inspector appointed under the special order may examine and record the readings of those instruments, and any readings so recorded shall be receivable in evidence. Readings of instruments to be taken.

(2) Where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, the examinations and readings under this section must be made at such times and in such manner as may be directed by the authority by whom the inspector is appointed.

44. Any electric inspector appointed under the special order shall have the right to have access at all reasonable hours to the testing stations and premises of the undertakers for the purpose of testing the electric lines and instruments of the undertakers, and ascertaining if they are in order, and in case they are not in order he may require the undertakers forthwith to have them put in order. Electric inspector may test undertakers' instruments.

45. The undertakers may, if they think fit, on each occasion of the testing of any main or service line, or the testing or inspection of any instruments of the undertakers by any electric inspector, be represented by some officer or other agent, but that officer or agent shall not interfere with the testing or inspection. Representation of undertakers at testings.

(a) There seems to be no right of appeal, even from the refusal of the application by the court of summary jurisdiction.

Schedule.

Undertakers
to give facilities for testing.

46. The undertakers shall afford all facilities for the proper execution of the special order with respect to inspection and testing and the readings and inspection of instruments, and shall comply with all the requirements of or under the special order in that behalf; and in case the undertakers make default in complying with any of the provisions of this section they shall be liable in respect of each default to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, and to a daily penalty not exceeding one pound.

47.—(1) Every electric inspector shall, on the day immediately following that on which any testing has been completed by him under the special order, make and deliver a report of the results of his testing to the authority or person by whom he was required to make the testing, and to the undertakers, and that report shall be receivable in evidence.

(2) If the undertakers or any such authority or person are or is dissatisfied with any report of any electric inspector, they or he may appeal to the [Minister of Transport] against the report, and thereupon the [Minister of Transport] shall inquire into and decide upon the matter of the appeal, and [his] decision shall be final and binding on all parties.

inspector.

48.—(1) Save as otherwise provided by the special order or by the [Ministry of Transport] regulations, all fees and reasonable expenses (a) of an electric inspector shall, unless agreed be ascertained by a court of summary jurisdiction, or (where the inspector is appointed by them) by the [Minister of Transport], and shall be paid by the undertakers, and if a local authority are the undertakers may be recovered summarily as a civil debt (b).

(2) Provided that where the report of an electric inspector, or the decision of the [Minister of Transport], shows that any consumer was guilty of any default or negligence, the fees and expenses shall, on being ascertained as above mentioned, be paid by the consumer as the court or the [Minister], by whom the fees are ascertained, having regard to the report or decision, direct, and may be recovered summarily as a civil debt.

(3) Provided also, that in any proceedings for penalties under the special order the fees and expenses of an electric inspector incurred in connection with the proceedings shall be payable by the complainant or defendant as the court direct.

METERS.

Meters to be used except by agreement.

49 (c). The amount of energy supplied by the undertakers to any ordinary consumer under the special order, or the electrical quantity contained in the supply (according to the method by which the undertakers elect to charge), hereinafter referred to as "the value of the supply," shall, except as otherwise agreed (d) between the consumer and the undertakers, be ascertained by means of an appropriate meter duly certified under the provisions of the special order.

Meter to be certified.

50 (c). A meter shall be considered to be duly certified under the provisions of the special order if it be certified by an electric inspector appointed under the special order to be a correct meter, and to be of some construction and pattern, and to have been fixed and to have been connected with the service lines in some manner approved by the

(a) That is, expenses specifically incurred by an electric inspector in making tests and inspections, but not salary appointed to him, nor the general expenses of his laboratory and staff (Crawford v. City of London Electric Lighting Co. (1898), 67 L. J. Q. B. 942; 78 L. T. 841; 20 Digest 214, 89); and compare s. 49 of the City of London Electric Lighting Order, 1899, confirmed by Electric Lighting Order Confirmation (No. 20) Act, 1899.

(b) That is under ss. 6 and 35 of the S. J. A., 1879 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 325, 342).

(c) As to clauses 49, 50, 51, 53, see s. 11 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1909, post, p. 5100, which in effect repealed them and substituted new sections contained in the schedule thereto. The substitution takes effect "subject to such adaptations (if any) as may be necessary," even in the case of Acts and Orders passed or confirmed before the Act of 1909, post, p. 5096. As regards clauses 50, 51, see also the Electricity Supply (Meters) Act, 1936, s. 1 (4); Vol. V. and 29 Halsbury's Statutes 133, under which the powers of electricity inspectors under these sections are transferred to meter examiners.

(d) See Gravesend and Northfleet Electric Tramways, Ltd. v. Gravesend Corporation (1910), 74 J. P. 156; 8 L. G. R. 445; 20 Digest 208, 57.

[Minister of Transport], and every such meter is hereinafter referred to as a "certified meter": Provided that where any alteration is made in any certified meter, or where any meter is unfixed or disconnected from the service lines, that meter shall cease to be a certified meter unless and until it is again certified as a certified meter under the provisions of the special order.

Schedule.

51 (a). An electric inspector, on being required to do so by the undertakers or by any consumer, and on payment of the prescribed fee (b) by the party so requiring him, shall examine any meter intended for ascertaining the value of the supply, and shall certify it as a certified meter if he considers it entitled to be so certified.

Inspector to certify meter.

52. Where the value of the supply is under the special order required to be ascertained by means of an appropriate meter, the undertakers shall, if required by any consumer, supply him with an appropriate meter, and shall, if required, fix it upon the premises of the consumer and connect the service lines therewith and procure the meter to be duly certified under the provisions of the special order, and for those purposes may authorise and empower any officer or person to enter upon the premises at all reasonable times and execute all necessary works and do all necessary acts; provided that previously to supplying any such meter the undertakers may require the consumer to pay to them a reasonable sum in respect of the price of the meter, or to give security therefor, or (if he desires to hire the meter) may require him to enter into an agreement for the hire of the meter as hereinafter provided.

Undertakers to supply meters if required to do so.

53 (a). No consumer shall connect any meter used or to be used under the special order for ascertaining the value of the supply with any electric line through which energy is supplied by the undertakers, or disconnect any such meter from any such electric line, unless he has given to the undertakers not less than forty-eight hours' notice in writing of his intention to do so, and if any person acts in contravention of this section he shall be liable for each offence to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

Meters not to be connected or disconnected without notice.

54.—(1) Every consumer shall at all times at his own expense keep all meters belonging to him (c), whereby the value of the supply is to be ascertained, in proper order for correctly registering the value, and in default of his so doing the undertakers may cease to supply energy through the meter.

Consumer to keep his meter in proper order

(2) The undertakers shall have access to and be at liberty to take off, remove, test, inspect, and replace any such meter at all reasonable times. Provided that all reasonable expenses of and incident to any such taking off, removing, testing, inspecting, and replacing, and the procuring the meter to be again duly certified where the re-certifying is thereby rendered necessary, shall, if the meter is found to be not in proper order, be paid by the consumer, but if it is found to be in proper order all expenses connected therewith shall be paid by the undertakers.

55. The undertakers may let for hire any meter for ascertaining the value of the supply, and any fittings thereto, for such remuneration in money and on such terms with respect to the repair of the meter and fittings, and for securing the safety and return to the undertakers of the meter and fittings, as may be agreed upon between the hirer and the undertakers, or, in case of difference, determined by the [Minister of Transport], and that remuneration shall be recoverable by the undertakers summarily as a civil debt (d).

Power to the undertakers to let meters.

56. The undertakers shall, unless the agreement for hire otherwise provides, at all times, at their own expense, keep all meters let for hire by them to any consumer, whereby the value of the supply is ascertained, in proper order for correctly registering that value, and in default of their doing so the consumer shall not be liable to pay rent for the meters during such time as the default continues. The undertakers shall, for the purposes aforesaid, have access to and be at liberty to remove, test, inspect, and replace any such meter at all reasonable times: Provided that the expense of procuring any such meter to be again duly certified, where that re-certifying is thereby rendered necessary, shall be paid by the undertakers

Undertakers to keep meters let for hire in repair.

(a) See note (c), ante, p. 4972.

(b) Prescribed under clause 36 (2), ante, p. 4970.

(c) As to meters hired from the undertakers, see clauses 55, 56, supra.

(d) That is, under ss. 6 and 35 of the S. J. A., 1879 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 325, 342).

Schedule.

Differences as to correctness of meter to be settled by inspector.

57. If any difference arises between any consumer and the undertakers as to whether any meter, whereby the value of the supply is ascertained (whether belonging to the consumer or to the undertakers), is or is not in proper order for correctly registering the value, or as to whether that value has been correctly registered in any case by any meter, that difference shall be determined upon the application of either party by an electric inspector or, where the local authority are the consumers, by an inspector to be appointed by the [Minister of Transport], and that inspector shall also order by which of the parties the costs of and incidental to the proceedings before him shall be paid, and the decision of the inspector shall be final and binding on all parties (a).

Subject as aforesaid, the register of the meter shall be conclusive evidence (b) in the absence of fraud of the value of the supply.

Undertakers to pay expenses of providing new meters where method of charge altered.

58. Where any consumer who is supplied with energy by the undertakers from any distributing main is provided with a certified meter for the purpose of ascertaining the value of the supply and the undertakers change the method of charging for energy supplied by them from the main, the undertakers shall pay to that consumer the reasonable expenses to which he may be put in providing a new meter for the purpose of ascertaining the value of the supply according to the new method of charging, and those expenses may be recovered by the consumer from the undertakers summarily as a civil debt (c).

Undertakers may place meters to measure supply or to check measurement.

59. In addition to any meter which may be placed upon the premises of any consumer to ascertain the value of the supply, the undertakers may place upon his premises such meter or other apparatus as they may desire for the purpose of ascertaining or regulating either the amount of energy supplied to the consumer or the number of hours during which the supply is given, or the maximum power taken by the consumer, or any other quantity or time connected with the supply: Provided that the meter or apparatus shall be of some construction and pattern and shall be fixed and connected with the service lines in some manner approved by the [Minister of Transport], and shall be supplied and maintained entirely at the cost of the undertakers, and shall not, except by agreement, be placed otherwise than between the mains of the undertakers' and consumer's terminals.

MAPS.

Map of area of supply to be made.

60.—(1) The undertakers shall forthwith after commencing to supply energy under the special order cause a map to be made of the area of supply, and shall cause to be marked thereon the line and depth below the surface of all their then existing mains, service lines, and other underground works and street boxes, and shall once in every year cause that map to be duly corrected so as to show the then existing lines. The undertakers shall also, if so required by the [Minister of Transport] or the Postmaster-General, cause to be made sections showing the level of all their existing mains and underground works other than service lines. The said map and sections shall be made on such scale or scales as the [Minister of Transport] prescribe.

(2) Every map and section so made or corrected, or a copy thereof, marked with the date when it was made or last corrected, shall be kept by the undertakers at their principal office within the area of supply, and shall at all reasonable times be open to the inspection of all applicants, and those applicants may take copies of it or any part thereof. The undertakers may demand and take from every such applicant such fee not exceeding one shilling for each inspection of the map, section, or copy, and such further fee not exceeding five shillings for each copy of it, or any part thereof, taken by the applicant, as they prescribe.

(a) If no inspector has been appointed the undertakers cannot in case of dispute recover the value of electricity consumed. See Hendon Electric Supply Co. v. Banks, ante, p. 4969. The powers under this section are transferred from electricity inspectors to meter examiners by the Electricity Supply (Meters) Act, 1936, s. 1 (4), Vol. V. and 29 Halsbury's Statutes 133; and by ibid., s. 3 (1), Vol. V. and op. cit. 135, this section is excluded in certain cases from the transitional provisions as to existing meters.

(b) Compare the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871, s. 20, ante, p. 4312, as to registers of gas meters.

(c) That is, under ss. 6 and 35 of the S. J. A., 1879; 11 Halsbury's Statutes 325, 342.

(3) The undertakers shall, if required by the [Minister of Transport] or the Postmaster-General, or, where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, by the local authority, supply to them or him a copy of any such map or section and cause that copy to be duly corrected so as to agree with the original or originals thereof as kept for the time being at the office of the undertakers.

Schedule.

(4) If the undertakers fail to comply with any of the requirements of this section they shall for each default be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten pounds, and to a daily penalty not exceeding two pounds.

NOTICES, ETC.

61. Notices, orders, and other documents under the special order may be in writing or in print, or partly in writing and partly in print, and where any notice, order, or document requires authentication by the local authority, the signature thereof by the clerk or surveyor to the local authority shall be sufficient authentication. Notices, etc. may be printed or written.

62.—(1) Any notice, order, or document required or authorised to be served upon any body or person under the special order or the principal Act may be served by being addressed to that body or person, and being left or transmitted through the post to the following addresses respectively: Service of notices, etc.

- (a) in the case of the [Minister of Transport], the [Ministry of Transport].
- (b) in the case of the Postmaster-General, the General Post Office;
- (c) in the case of any county council, the office of that council;
- (d) in the case of any local authority, the office of that local authority;
- (e) in the case of the undertakers, where the undertakers are not a local authority, the registered office of the undertakers;
- (f) in the case of a company having a registered office, at that registered office, and in the case of a company having an office or offices, but no registered office, the principal office of that company;
- (g) in the case of any other person, the usual or last-known place of abode of that person.

(2) A notice, order, or document by this Schedule required or authorised to be served on the owner or occupier of any premises shall be deemed to be properly addressed if addressed by the description of the "owner" or "occupier" of the premises (naming the premises) without further name or description.

(3) A notice, order, or document by the special order required or authorised to be served on the owner or occupier of premises may be served by delivering it, or a true copy thereof, to some person on the premises, or, if there is no person on the premises to whom the same can with reasonable diligence be delivered, by fixing it on some conspicuous part of the premises.

(4) Subject to the provisions of the special order as to cases of emergency, where the interval of time between the service of any notice or document under the provisions of the special order and the execution of any works, or the performance of any duty or act, is less than seven days, the following days shall not be reckoned in the computation of that time: that is to say, Sunday, Christmas Day, Good Friday, any bank holiday under and within the meaning of the Bank Holiday Act, 1871, and any Act amending that Act, and any day appointed for public fast, humiliation, or thanksgiving. 34 & 35 Vict. c. 17.

REVOCATION OF SPECIAL ORDER.

63. If the [Minister of Transport], in any case where a local authority are not the undertakers, at any time after the commencement of the special order, have reason to believe that the undertakers have made any default in executing works or supplying energy in accordance with the provisions of that order, and that that default is in consequence of the insolvency of the undertakers, and that by reason of that insolvency the undertakers are unable fully and efficiently to discharge the duties and obligations imposed upon them by that order, the [Minister of Transport] may after such inquiry as they may think necessary, and after considering any representations of the local authority, revoke that order as to the whole or (with the consent of the undertakers) as to any part of the area of supply. Revocation of order where undertakers are insolvent.

Schedule.

Revocation of order where undertaking cannot be carried on with profit.

64. If in any case where a local authority are not the undertakers, the undertakers at any time after the commencement of the special order represent to the [Minister of Transport] that the undertaking cannot be carried on with profit, and ought to be abandoned, the [Minister of Transport] shall inquire into the truth of the representation, and if upon that inquiry they are satisfied of the truth of the representation they may, if in their discretion they think fit, revoke the special order as to the whole or (with the consent of the undertakers and of the local authority) as to any part of the area of supply.

Revocation where local authority are undertakers and works are not executed.

65. If in a case where the local authority are themselves the undertakers, the [Minister of Transport], at any time after the commencement of the special order, have reason to believe that the undertakers have made default in executing works or supplying energy in accordance with the provisions of the special order, the [Minister of Transport] may, after such inquiry as they may think necessary, revoke the special order as to the whole or (with the consent of the undertakers) any part of the area of supply upon such terms as the [Minister of Transport] think just.

Revocation of order with consent.

66. In addition to any other powers which the [Minister of Transport] may have in that behalf, they may revoke the special order at any time with the consent and concurrence of the undertakers, and, where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, also of the local authority upon such terms as the [Minister of Transport] think just.

Provisions where order revoked.

67. If the [Minister of Transport], in any case where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, at any time revoke the special order as to the whole or any part of the area of supply, under any of the provisions of the special order, the following provisions shall have effect :

- (a) The [Minister of Transport] shall serve a notice of the revocation upon the undertakers and upon the local authority, and shall in that notice fix a date at which the revocation shall take effect, and from and after that date all the powers and liabilities of the undertakers under the special order or this Act, for the supply of energy within such area. or part thereof as aforesaid, shall absolutely cease and determine.
- (b) Within two months after the service of the notice by the [Minister of Transport] upon the local authority, the local authority, if they think fit, may by notice in writing require the undertakers to sell, and thereupon the undertakers shall sell, to them so much of the undertaking or such part thereof as aforesaid as is within the district of the local authority, upon terms of paying the then value of all land, buildings, works, materials, and plant of the undertakers suitable to and used by them for the purposes of the undertaking or such part thereof as aforesaid, that value being agreed or estimated in manner directed by the Electric Lighting Act, 1888, in the case of purchases effected by the local authority under section two of that Act (a).
- (c) Where any purchase is so effected, the undertaking, or part thereof so purchased, shall vest in the local authority, freed from any debts, mortgages, or similar obligations of the undertakers, or attaching to the undertaking; and the revocation of the special order, as to the whole of the area of supply, or such part thereof as aforesaid, shall extend only to the revocation of the rights, powers, authorities, duties, and obligations of the undertakers from whom the undertaking, or such part thereof as aforesaid, is purchased in relation to the supply of energy within that area or part thereof, and, save as aforesaid, the special order shall remain in full force within that area or part thereof in favour of the local authority, by whom the undertaking or part thereof is purchased as aforesaid.
- (d) Where no purchase has been effected under the preceding provisions of this section, the local authority, and any body or person who may be liable to repair any street or part of a street in which any works of the undertaker have been placed, may (subject however to any agreement between the local authority or that body or person and the undertakers providing for the removal of those works by the undertakers) forthwith remove those works with all reasonable care, and the undertakers shall pay to the local authority, or other such body or person as aforesaid, such reasonable costs of the removal, and of the reinstatement of the street or part of a street as may be specified in a notice to be served on the undertakers by the local authority or other body or person, or (if so required by the undertakers, within one week after the service of the notice upon them) as may be determined by arbitration.

Schedule.

If the undertakers fail to pay such reasonable costs as aforesaid within one month after the service upon them of the notice, or the delivery of the award of the arbitrator (as the case may be) the local authority, or other such body or person as aforesaid may, without any previous notice to the undertakers (but without prejudice to any other remedy which they may have for the recovery of the amount), sell and dispose of any such works as aforesaid, either by public auction or private sale, and for such sum or sums and to such person or persons as they may think fit; and may, out of the proceeds of the sale, pay and reimburse themselves the amount of the costs so specified or settled as aforesaid and of the costs of sale and the balance (if any) of the proceeds of the sale shall be paid over by them to the undertakers.

- (e) In case the local authority or any body or person may be entitled to compensation for any damage sustained by them by reason or in consequence of the execution of any works within such area, or part thereof as aforesaid, or the exercise of any powers granted by the special order to the undertakers, or for any expenses to which that local authority, body, or person may have been put in removing any works of the undertakers within the area, or part thereof, under the provisions of the special order, that compensation shall be a first charge on any money that may have been deposited or secured by the undertakers under the provisions of the special order in respect of that area, or part thereof, and which may not have been repaid or released by the undertakers, and that money shall be applied rateably in satisfying those claims, and in every such case the amount of compensation to be paid in respect of the various claims and the persons to whom it is to be paid, shall be determined by arbitration.

68.—(1) If the [Minister of Transport], in a case where the local authority are themselves the undertakers, at any time revoke the special order as to the whole or any part of the area of supply, any persons who may be liable to repair any street or part of a street within that area or part thereof in which any works of the undertakers have been placed, may forthwith remove those works with all reasonable care, and the undertakers shall pay to those persons such reasonable costs of the removal as are specified in a notice to be served on the undertakers by those persons, or if so required by the undertakers within one week after the service of the notice upon them as may be determined by arbitration.

Provisions where local authority are undertakers and order is revoked.

(2) If the undertakers fail to pay such reasonable costs as aforesaid within one month after the service upon them of such notice or the delivery of the award of the arbitrator (as the case may be), such persons as aforesaid may without any previous notice to the undertakers (but without prejudice to any other remedy which they may have for the recovery of the amount), sell and dispose of any such works as aforesaid either by public auction or private sale, and for such sum or sums and to such person or persons as they think fit, and may out of the proceeds of the sale pay and reimburse themselves the amount of the costs so specified or determined as aforesaid, and of the costs of sale, and the balance (if any) of the proceeds of the sale shall be paid over by them to the undertakers.

GENERAL.

69.—(1) If at any time it is established to the satisfaction of the [Minister of Transport]—

Remedying of system and works.

- (a) that the undertakers are supplying energy otherwise than by means of a system which has been approved by the [Minister of Transport] or (except in accordance with the provisions of the special order) have permitted any part of their circuits to be connected with earth or placed any electric line above ground ; or

- (b) that any electric lines or works of the undertakers are defective, so as not to be in accordance with the provisions of the special order or the [Minister of Transport] regulations ; or
- (c) that any work of the undertakers or their supply of energy is attended with danger to the public safety, or injuriously affects any telegraphic line of the Postmaster-General.

the [Minister of Transport] may by order specify the matter complained of, and require the undertakers to abate or discontinue it within such period as is therein limited in that behalf, and if the undertakers make default in complying with the order they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds for every day during which the default continues.

(2) The [Ministry of Transport] may also if they think fit by the same or any other order forbid the use of any electric line or work as from such date as may be specified in that behalf until the order is complied with, or for such time as may be so specified, and if the undertakers make use of any such electric line or work while the use thereof is so forbidden they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred pounds for every day during which the user continues.

(3) In any case of non-compliance with an order under this section, whether a pecuniary penalty has been recovered or not the [Ministry of Transport], if in their opinion the public interest so requires, may revoke the special order on such terms as they think just.

Publication of regulations.

70.—(1) The [Ministry of Transport] regulations for the time being in force shall within one month after they have come into force, as made or last altered, be printed at the expense of the undertakers, and a true copy thereof, certified by or on behalf of the undertakers, shall be kept by the undertakers at their principal office within the area of supply, and supplied to any person demanding them at a price not exceeding sixpence for each copy, and where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, a like copy shall also be forthwith served upon the local authority.

(2) If the undertakers make default in complying with the provisions of this section they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, and to a daily penalty not exceeding five pounds.

Nature and amount of security.

71. Where any security is required under the special order to be given to or by the undertakers, that security may be by way of deposit or otherwise, and of such amount as may be agreed upon between the parties, or as in default of agreement may be determined, on the application of either party, by a court of summary jurisdiction, and that court may also order by which of the parties the costs of the proceedings before them shall be paid, and the decision of the court shall be final and binding on all parties : Provided that where any such security is given by way of deposit the party to whom the security is given shall pay interest at the rate of four per centum per annum on every sum of ten shillings so deposited for every six months during which it remains in their hands.

Proceedings of [Minister of Transport].

72.—(1) All things required or authorised under the special order to be done by, to, or before the [Minister of Transport], may be done by, to, or before the [Minister] or secretary or assistant secretary of the [Ministry].

(2) All documents purporting to be orders made by the [Minister of Transport] and to be sealed with the seal of the [Ministry] ; or to be signed by a secretary or assistant secretary of the [Ministry], or by any person authorised in that behalf by the [Minister], shall be received in evidence, and shall be deemed to be those orders without further proof, unless the contrary is shown.

(3) A certificate, signed by the [Ministry of Transport], that any order made or act done is the order or act of the [Minister], shall be conclusive evidence of the order or act so certified.

Approval or consent of [Minister of Transport].

73.—(1) Where the special order provides for any consent or approval of the [Minister of Transport], the [Minister] may give that consent or approval subject to terms or conditions, or may withhold [his] consent or approval, as in [his] discretion [he] may think fit.

(2) All costs and expenses of or incident to any approval, consent, certificate, or order of the [Minister of Transport] or of any inspector or person appointed by the [Minister of Transport], including the cost of any inquiry or tests for the purpose of determining whether the same should be given or made, to such an amount as the [Minister of Transport] certify to be due, shall be borne and paid by the applicant therefor.

Schedule.

Provided that where the approval is given by the [Minister of Transport] to any plan, pattern, or specification, they may require such copies of the plan, pattern, or specification as they think fit to be prepared and deposited at their office at the expense of the applicant, and may, as they think fit, revoke any approval so given, or permit the approval to be continued, subject to such modifications as they think necessary.

74. Where the [Minister of Transport]—

- (1) upon the application of the undertakers, give any approval or grant any extension of any time limited for the performance of any duties by the undertakers; or
 - (2) in a case where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, revoke the special order upon the application of the local authority or the undertakers as to the whole or any part of the area of supply; or
 - (3) in a case where the local authority are themselves the undertakers revoke the special order as to the whole or any part of the area of supply,
- notice that the approval has been given, or the extension of time granted, or the revocation made, shall, if the [Minister of Transport] so direct, be published by public advertisement once at least in each of two successive weeks in some one and the same local newspaper by the undertakers, or, where the application for revocation has been made by the local authority, by the local authority.

Notice of approval of [Minister of Transport], etc., to be given by advertisement.

75. If, in a case where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, any application is made to the [Minister of Transport] to extend any time limited for the performance of any duties by the undertakers, notice of the application shall be served on the local authority by the undertakers, and an opportunity shall be given to the local authority to make representations or objections with reference thereto

Notice of application for extension of time, etc., to be given to local authority.

76.—(1) All penalties, fees, expenses, and other moneys recoverable under the special order, or under the [Minister of Transport] regulations, the recovery of which is not otherwise specially provided for, may be recovered summarily in manner provided by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts.

Recovery and application of penalties.

(2) Any penalty recovered on prosecution by an officer of the local authority, in a case where the local authority are not themselves the undertakers, shall, if there is an electric inspector for the time being appointed by the local authority, be paid to that officer and by him to the local authority, and shall be applied in aid of the local rate.

(3) Any penalty recovered on prosecution by any other body or person, or any part thereof, may, if the court so direct, be paid to that body or person.

77. The undertakers shall be answerable for all accidents, damages, and injuries happening through the act or default of the undertakers, or of any person in their employment, by reason of or in consequence of any of the undertakers' works, and shall save harmless all authorities, bodies, and persons by whom any street is repairable, and all other authorities, companies, and bodies collectively and individually, and their officers and servants, from all damages and costs in respect of those accidents, damages and injuries (a).

Undertakers to be responsible for all damages.

78. Nothing in the special order shall prevent the undertakers, in a case where a local authority are not the undertakers, from borrowing money on the security of

Provided that every mortgage of the undertaking shall be deemed to comprise all purchase money which may be paid to the undertakers in the event of any sale or transfer of the undertaking or any part thereof, under section two of the Electric Lighting Act, 1888, or under the special order, and that any mortgage granted by the undertakers shall not be a charge upon the undertaking, or any part thereof, in the event of the undertaking or that part being sold or transferred as aforesaid, and that every mortgage deed granted by the undertakers shall be endorsed with notice to that effect.

Saving for Postmaster-
General.

79. Nothing in the special order shall affect any right or remedy of the Postmaster-General under the principal Act or the Telegraph Acts, 1863 to 1897, and all provisions contained in the special order in favour of the Postmaster-General shall be construed to be in addition to and not in modification of the provisions of those Acts.

Saving rights of the Crown in the aforeshore.

80. Although any shore, bed of the sea, river, channel, creek, bay, or estuary is included in the area of supply, nothing in the special order shall authorise the undertakers to take, use, or in any manner interfere with any portion of that shore or bed of the sea, or of the river, channel, creek, bay, or estuary, or any right in respect thereof belonging to the Queen's most Excellent Majesty in right of her Crown, and under the management of the Board of Trade, without the previous consent in writing of the Board of Trade on behalf of her Majesty (which consent the Board of Trade may give), neither shall anything in the special order contained extend to take away, prejudice, diminish, or alter any of the estates, rights, privileges, powers, or authorities vested in or enjoyed or exercisable by the Queen's Majesty.

Undertakers
not exempted from proceedings for

81. Nothing in the special order shall exonerate the undertakers from any indictment, action, or other proceedings for nuisance in the event of any nuisance being caused or permitted by them (a).

(a) Compare Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, s. 29, ante, p. 4172; and Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871, s. 9, ante, p. 4309, and see notes thereto. A plaintiff when walking in the public highway passed close to an electric lamp-post beside which was a chamber sunk into the street. As he passed, an explosion took place under ground which caused the metal plate to open and a flash to emanate. It was held that the fact of an explosion having happened was prima facie evidence of negligence (Farrell v. Limerick Corporation (1911), 45 Ir. L. T. 169). But in England at any rate negligence need not be proved. Thus where a municipal corporation supplied electricity under a provisional order under the Electric Lighting Acts, 1882 and 1888, ante, pp. 4642, 4700, and containing a clause in the terms of this section, it was held that they were liable in damages for an explosion occasioned by a leakage of electricity from one of their mains which generated a gas escaping into the plaintiff's premises in an adjoining street (Midwood & Co., Ltd. v. Manchester Corporation, [1905] 2 K. B. 597; 69 J. P. 348; 20 Digest 212, 76).

The plaintiffs were the owners of electric cables which had been laid under certain public streets. The defendants were the owners of hydraulic mains which had been laid under the same streets under statutory powers. The mains burst in four different places, in each case damaging the plaintiff's cables. No negligence was attributed to the defendants. It was held that the doctrine of Rylands v. Fletcher (1868), L. R. 3 H. L. 330; 33 J. P. 70; 20 Digest 210, 72 applies not only to cases in which the dangerous thing has escaped from the defendant's land on to the plaintiff's land and done damage there, but also to cases in which the site of the plaintiff's injury was occupied by him only under a licence and not under any right of property in the soil, and that in the absence of statutory authorisation of the nuisance the defendants were liable for the damage caused by the bursting of their mains, notwithstanding that they had not been guilty of any negligence (Charing Cross Electricity Supply Co. v. Hydraulic Power Co., [1914] 3 K. B. 772; 78 J. P. 305; 36 Digest 189, 315). Cf. Goodbody v. Poplar Borough Council (1914), 79 J. P. 218; 20 Digest 211, 75; Miles v. Forest Rock Granite Co., Ltd. (1918), 34 T. L. R. 500; 34 Digest 750, 1235; Belvedere Fish Guano Co. v. Rainham Chemical Works, Ltd., [1920] 2 K. B. 487; 84 J. P. 185; affirmed, H. L., [1921] 2 A. C. 466; 36 Digest 192, 332.

The effect of this clause was considered by the Court of Appeal in Farnworth v. Manchester Corporation, [1929] 1 K. B. 533; 93 J. P. 73. In the House of Lords it was held that this clause did not apply, but the corporation were none the less held liable for a nuisance caused by the emission of fumes from a generating station, on appeal sub nom. Manchester Corporation v. Farnworth, [1930] A. C. 171; 94 J. P. 62; Digest Supp.

THE BODIES CORPORATE (JOINT TENANCY) ACT, 1899.

(62 & 63 VICT. c. 20) (a).

An Act for enabling Bodies Corporate to hold Property in Joint Tenancy.

1.—(1) A body corporate shall be capable of acquiring and holding any real or personal property in joint tenancy in the same manner as if it were an individual; and where a body corporate and an individual, or two or more bodies corporate, become entitled to any such property under circumstances or by virtue of any instrument which would, if the body corporate had been an individual, have created a joint tenancy, they shall be entitled to the property as joint tenants. Power for corporations to hold property as joint tenants.

Provided that the acquisition and holding of property by a body corporate in joint tenancy shall be subject to the like conditions and restrictions (b) as attach to the acquisition and holding of property by a body corporate in severalty.

(2) Where a body corporate is joint tenant of any property, then on its dissolution the property shall devolve on the other joint tenant.

(a) This statute altered the law as it had existed ever since Litt. ss. 281, 296, 297; Co. Litt. 182, 189 b., 190; 2 Bla. Com. 184; Bennet v. Holbech (1672), 2 Saund. 316 a.; Law Guarantee and Trust Society v. Bank of England (1890), 24 Q. B. D. 406; 54 J. P. 582; 37 Digest 167, 99. But by s. 264 of the Lunacy Act, 1890 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 106), it had already been enacted that lands acquired for the purposes of that Act might be conveyed where more than one local authority was interested to all the local authorities interested as joint tenants; and by s. 6 of the National Debt (Stockholders Relief) Act, 1892 (16 Halsbury's Statutes 685), that stock [i.e. stock transferable in the books of the Bank of England] may be transferred to and held in the names of an individual and a body corporate, or of two or more bodies corporate, and any such holding shall in its relation to the Bank be deemed a joint tenancy.

(b) E.g., in certain cases the necessity for a licence in mortmain. See the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1888, ante, p. 4771, and note (a) thereto.

2. This Act may be cited as "The Bodies Corporate (Joint Tenancy) Act, 1899."

Section 1.

THE COMMONS ACT, 1899.

(62 & 63 VICT. c. 30) (a).

An Act to amend the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1882, and the Law relating to Commons and Open Spaces. [9th August, 1899.]

(a) See the Commons Act, 1876, ante, p. 4563. See further as to waste lands and commons the provisions of ss. 193 and 194 of the Law of Property Act, 1925; Vol. V. and 15 Halsbury's Statutes 371, 373.

PART I.

REGULATION OF COMMONS.

Power for district council to make scheme for regulation of common.

1.—(1) The council of an urban or rural district (a) may make (b) a scheme for the regulation and management of any common (c) within their district (d) with a view to the expenditure of money (e) on the drainage, levelling, and improvement (f) of the common, and to the making of byelaws (g) and regulations for the prevention of nuisances and the preservation of order on the common.

39 & 40 Vict. c. 56.

(2) The scheme may contain any of the statutory provisions for the benefit of the neighbourhood mentioned in section seven of the Commons Act, 1876 (h).

(3) The scheme shall be in the prescribed (i) form, and shall identify by reference to a plan the common to be thereby regulated, and for this purpose an ordnance survey map shall, if possible, be used.

(a) As to county boroughs, see s. 13, post, p. 4984.

(b) As to amending or supplementing schemes, see s. 9, post, p. 4984.

(c) For definition of "common," see s. 15, post, p. 4984, and as to excepted commons, see s. 14, post, p. 4984.

(d) In a case of a common extending into two or more districts the powers of ss. 91—93 of the L. G. A., 1933, ante, pp. 854—856, might be useful in relation to a joint scheme.

(e) As to expenses, see ss. 5, 11, and 12, post.

(f) This word is not defined, nor is s. 5 of the Commons Act, 1876, ante, p. 4565, expressly incorporated.

(g) As to byelaws, see s. 10, post, p. 4984.

(h) Ante, p. 4565.

(i) See s. 15, post, p. 4984. The Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries have prescribed a form of scheme, and a form of notice of intention to make such scheme, by Commons Regulations, dated 10th August, 1935 (Stat. R. & O., 1935, No. 840), ante, p. 2450. As to whether a scheme will be conclusive as to the limits and extent of the common, see Cook v. Conservators of Mitcham Common, [1901] 1 Ch. 387; 11 Digest 90, 1089.

Procedure for making scheme.

2.—(1) Not less than three months before the making of a scheme under this Part of this Act the council shall give the prescribed (a) notice of their intention to make it, and shall state thereby where copies of the draft of the scheme may be obtained, and where the plan therein referred to may be inspected. They shall also send to the Board of Agriculture (b) as soon as possible a copy of the draft and plan.

(2) During the three months aforesaid any person may obtain copies of the draft on payment of a sum not exceeding sixpence per copy, and may inspect the plan at the prescribed place, and may make in writing to the Board of Agriculture (b) any objection or suggestion with respect to the scheme or plan.

(3) After the expiration of the said three months the Board of Agriculture (b) shall take into consideration any objections or suggestions so made, and for that purpose may, if they think fit, direct that an inquiry be held by an officer of the Board.

(4) The Board of Agriculture (b) may by order approve of the scheme, subject to such modifications, if any, as they may think desirable, and thereupon the scheme shall have full effect.

Provided that if, at any time before the Board have approved of the scheme, they receive a written notice of dissent either— Section 2.

(a) from the person entitled as lord of the manor or otherwise to the soil of the common ; or

(b) from persons representing at least one-third in value of such interests in the common as are affected by the scheme, and such notice is not subsequently withdrawn, the Board shall not proceed further in the matter (c).

(a) See note (i) to s. 1, ante, p. 4982.

(b) The Board of Agriculture has now been superseded by the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries.

(c) Note the differences from an application for regulation under s. 12 (5) of the Commons Act, 1876, ante, p. 4571, and note (c) thereon.

3. The management of any common regulated by a scheme made by a district council under this Part of this Act shall be vested in the district council. Management of regulated common.

4. A rural district council may delegate to a parish council any powers of management conferred by this Part of this Act on the district council in relation to any commons within the parish, and thereupon the Public Health Acts shall apply as if the parish council were a parochial committee (a). Provision for delegation of powers of district council to parish council.

(a) See L. G. A., 1933, ss. 87, 88, ante, pp. 851—3. The power of delegation can only be exercised after the scheme is made, as the scheme itself cannot confer rights on a parish council. A rural district council may delegate its powers for a specified period, only resuming them at such time or under such conditions as it may prescribe. The Board of Agriculture and Fisheries were of opinion that the power to make byelaws under a scheme is not a power of management which can be delegated under this section.

5. A parish council may agree to contribute the whole or any portion of the expenses of and incidental to the preparation and execution of a scheme for the regulation and management of any common within their parish (including any compensation paid under this Act) (a). Power for parish council to contribute to expenses.

(a) Certain words, dealing with expenses, were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 735.

6. No estate, interest, or right (a) of a profitable or beneficial nature in, over, or affecting any common shall, except with the consent of the person entitled thereto, be taken away or injuriously affected by any scheme under this Part of this Act without compensation being made or provided for the same by the council making the scheme, and such compensation shall, in case of difference, be ascertained and provided in the same manner as if it were for the compulsory purchase and taking, or the injurious affecting, of lands under the Lands Clauses Acts (b). Provision for compensation.

(a) The right of maintaining a publichouse sign-post in a spot where it had stood for over forty years was held to be a right of a profitable or beneficial nature within the words of a similar enactment (Hoare v. Metropolitan Board of Works (1874), L. R. 9 Q. B. 296 ; 38 J. P. 535 ; 11 Digest 89, 1081). See generally on this subject Att.-Gen. v. Amhurst (1879), 23 Sol. J. 443, and judgment in full, Hunter on Open Spaces, 2nd ed., App. III., p. 468.

(b) See Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, s. 68, ante, p. 4104. Sections 25—57 of the same Act, ante, pp. 4114—4122, provide for settling cases of disputed compensation.

7. A district council may acquire the fee simple or any estate in or any rights in or over any common regulated by a scheme under this Part of this Act by gift or by purchase by agreement, and hold the same without licence in mortmain (a) for the purposes of the scheme, . . . (b). Power for district council to acquire property in regulated common.

(a) See note (a), ante, p. 4771.

(b) Certain words, dealing with expenses, were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 735.

Section 8.

Digging of gravel.
39 & 40 Vict.
c. 56.

Power to amend scheme.
Provisions as to byelaws.

8. Section twenty of the Commons Act, 1876 (which relates to the digging of gravel) (a), shall apply to any common regulated by a scheme under this Part of this Act.

(a) Ante, p. 4575.

9. The power to make a scheme under this Part of this Act shall include power to amend or supplement any such scheme.

10. The provisions with respect to byelaws contained in sections one hundred and eighty-two to one hundred and eighty-six, both inclusive, of the Public Health Act, 1875 (a), and any enactment amending or extending those sections, shall apply to all byelaws made in pursuance of a scheme under this Part of this Act, and any fine imposed by any such byelaw shall be recoverable summarily and be payable to the council in whom the management of the common is vested.

(a) As to procedure for making byelaws, see now L. G. A., 1933, s. 250, ante, p. 1104. Sections 16 and 17 of the Commons Act, 1876, ante, p. 4574, do not apply to these byelaws.

Expenses.

11.—(1) All expenses incurred by the Board of Agriculture (a) in relation to a scheme under this Part of this Act, and all expenses of and incidental to the preparation and execution of the scheme (including any compensation paid under this Act) (b) shall be paid by the district council.

(2) . . . (c).

(3) A district council may for the purposes of this Act borrow money . . . (c).

(a) Now Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries.

(b) See s. 6, ante, p. 4983.

(c) Sub-s. (2), and certain words in sub-s. (3), dealing with expenses and borrowing, were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 735.

Power for urban district council to contribute towards expenses.

12. The council of any urban district may, with a view to the benefit of the inhabitants of their district, and subject to the approval of the Local Government Board (a), enter into an undertaking with any other council making or having made a scheme under this Part of this Act to contribute any portion of the expenses incurred by that council in executing the scheme.

(a) Now Minister of Health.

Application to county boroughs.

13. This Part of this Act shall apply to the council of a county borough in like manner as if that council were the council of an urban district.

Saving for commons regulated under other Acts.

14. A scheme under this Part of this Act shall not apply to any common which is or might be the subject of a scheme made under the Metropolitan Commons Acts, 1866 to 1878, or is regulated by a provisional order under the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1882, or has been acquired, or managed as an open space, under the powers of the Corporation of London (Open Spaces) Act, 1878, or any Act therein referred to, or is the subject of any private or local and personal Act of Parliament having for its object the preservation of the common as an open-space (a), or is subject to byelaws made by a parish council under section eight of the Local Government Act, 1894 (b).

(a) See the Open Spaces Act, 1906, s. 2, post, p. 5016.

(b) This section enables a parish council to exercise with respect to any recreation ground, village green, open space, or public walk which is for the time being under their control or to the expense of which they have contributed, powers similar to those of local authorities under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 164, ante, p. 4451, and the P. H. A. A., 1890, s. 44, post, p. 4818.

Definitions.

15. In this Part of this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,—

The expression “common” shall include any land subject to be inclosed under the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1882, and any town or village green (a);

The expression “prescribed” shall mean prescribed by regulations made by the Board of Agriculture (b).

41 & 42 Vict.
c. cxxvii.

(a) As to town or village greens, see the Commons Act, 1876, s. 29, ante, p. 4578, and notes.
 (b) See the Commons Regulations, dated August 10th, 1935 (Stat. R. & O., 1935, No. 840), ante, p. 2450. For Board of Agriculture now read Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries.

Note to Section 15.

PART II.

MISCELLANEOUS.

16.—(1) Surplus rents arising from field gardens may, in addition to the purposes for which they are now applicable (a), be applied for any of the purposes for which surplus rents arising from recreation grounds may be applied. Surplus rents from field gardens and recreation grounds.

(2) Surplus rents arising from any field garden or recreation ground may be applied towards the redemption of any land tax, tithe rentcharge, or other charge on the garden or ground.

(a) See the Commons Act, 1876, s. 27, ante, p. 4577. The same section regulates the application of surplus rents arising from recreation grounds.

17. [Amendment of Open Spaces Act, 1887, ante, p. 4699, as to open spaces] (a).

(a) This section is repealed by s. 23 and the Schedule to the Open Spaces Act, 1906, post, p. 5016, other provision having been made by that Act to the like effect.

18. Any provisions with respect to allotments for recreation grounds, field gardens, or other public or parochial purposes contained in any Act relating to inclosure or in any award or order made in pursuance thereof, and any provisions with respect to the management of any such allotments contained in any such Act, order, or award, may, on the application of any district or parish council interested in any such allotment, be dealt with by a scheme of the Charity Commissioners in the exercise of their ordinary jurisdiction, as if those provisions had been established by the founder in the case of a charity having a founder (a). Power to modify provisions as to recreation grounds, etc.

(a) See the Charitable Trusts Act, 1853, ss. 54—59 (2 Halsbury's Statutes 341—343).

The Charity Commissioners are of opinion that the restrictive provisions of s. 19 of the Commons Act, 1876 (ante, p. 4575), are not affected by s. 18 of the Commons Act, 1899, and that accordingly the Charity Commissioners are not at liberty to sanction the sale or letting on building lease of any part of an allotment falling within the section first above mentioned. Hunter on Open Spaces, 2nd ed., p. 231, note.

19. Section one hundred and fifty of the Inclosure Act, 1845 (a), shall have effect as if "two successive weeks" were therein inserted instead of "three successive weeks," and as if "one month" were therein inserted instead of "three calendar months." Amendment of s. 118 of 8 & 9 Vict. c.

(a) This section relates to notices of divisions of intermixed lands under s. 148 (2 Halsbury's Statutes 508) and exchanges of inconvenient allotments under s. 149 of the same Act.

20. Where notice has been given of any sitting, whether original or by adjournment, to be held by an officer of the Board of Agriculture (a) under the Metropolitan Commons Acts, 1866 to 1878, that officer may, by notice to be published in such manner as the Board direct, adjourn the sitting without attending for the purpose of the adjournment (b). Amendment of law as to adjournment of meetings.

(a) Now Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries.

(b) For procedure under the Metropolitan Commons Acts, see Hunter on Open Spaces, 2nd ed., pp. 264, 265.

21. (a) Section twenty of the Metropolitan Commons Act, 1866, is hereby repealed, and the Board of Agriculture shall include in an annual report to Parliament a statement of their proceedings under Part I. of this Act and under the Metropolitan Commons Acts, 1866 to 1878, during the year ending the thirty-first day of December then last past, with such particulars as to their proceedings under the last-mentioned Acts as are required by section twenty-one of the Metropolitan Commons Act, 1866 (b). Annual report to Parliament. 29 & 30 Vict. c. 122.

Section 21.

(a) The S. L. R. A., 1908 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1175), repealed the italicised words in s. 21, the opening words of s. 23 and Schedule II. The Acts repealed (as having "been made unnecessary by" or being "inconsistent with subsequent enactments") were the Inclosure Acts, 1756 and 1757, the Inclosure (Consolidation) Act, 1801, the Inclosure Act, 1821, the Common Fields Exchange Act, 1834, the Inclosure Acts, 1836 and 1840, and the Inclosure Act, 1845, ss. 121, 122.

(b) By this section the Minister must, in his annual report, set forth in full every scheme certified by him during the year to which the report relates, and state the grounds of his approval, and the objections (if any) made to it and overruled, and all proceedings had in respect of these objections and the grounds on which they were overruled.

Restrictions on inclosures under scheduled Acts (a).

22.—(1) A grant or inclosure of common purporting to be made under the general authority of any of the Acts mentioned (b) in the First Schedule hereto or any Act incorporating the same, or any provisions thereof, shall not be valid unless it is either—

- (a) specially authorised by Act of Parliament; or
- (b) made to or by any Government Department; or
- (c) made with the consent of the Board of Agriculture (c).

39 & 40 Vict.
c. 56.

(2) The Board of Agriculture (c), in giving or withholding their consent under this section, shall have regard to the same considerations, and shall, if necessary, hold the same inquiries as are directed by the Commons Act, 1876, to be taken into consideration and held by the Board before forming an opinion whether an application under the Inclosure Acts shall be acceded to or not.

(a) See also the restrictions on inclosure of commons in s. 194 of the Law of Property Act, 1925; Vol. V. and 15 Halsbury's Statutes 373.

(b) These include the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845. See ss. 99—107 of that Act as to extinction of commoners' rights, ante, pp. 4141—4143.

(c) Now Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries.

Repeal.

23. [Repeal of Acts in second Schedule.] (a)

This repeal shall not affect the construction or effect of any local and personal Act of Parliament passed before the commencement of this Act, whereby any provisions of the said enactments are intended to be incorporated.

(a) See note (a) to s. 21, supra.

An Act to make further Provisions for the Improvement of Telephonic Communication, and otherwise with respect to Telegraphs. [9th August, 1899.]

* * * * *

2.—(1) Where the council of a borough or an urban district are licensed (b) by the Postmaster-General to provide a system of public telephonic communication, they may . . . (c) borrow money for the purpose . . . (e); and the council may, subject to the provisions of the Telegraph Acts, 1863 to 1897, and of the licence, exercise their powers under the licence throughout the area for which it is granted, although part of that area may be outside the borough or urban district (d).

Payment of expenses of exercise of powers under telephone licences.

(a) In Att.-Gen. v. Edison Telephone Co. of London (1880), 6 Q. B. D. 244; 42 Digest 885, I, it was held that the terms "telegrams" and "telegraphs" as used in the Telegraph Acts include telephonic messages and telephones, so that it is necessary for the purpose of setting up telephones and transmitting telephone communications to obtain a licence from the Postmaster-General under s. 5 of the Telegraph Act, 1869 (19 Halsbury's Statutes 252), in order to avoid the infringement of his exclusive privilege under s. 4 of that Act (op. cit.). Moreover, the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, ante, p. 4642, whilst it authorises local authorities to undertake the supply of electricity in certain cases for certain purposes, excludes from those purposes "the transmission of any telegram" (s. 3 (4), ante, p. 4644), and contains in s. 35, ante, p. 4659, a special saving for the exclusive privileges of the Postmaster-General. Consequently a licence from him is necessary in all cases where local authorities desire to provide a system of telephonic communication. This Act provides for their expenses when they have obtained such a licence. S. 1 relates merely to the grant of public moneys to the Postmaster-General for the purposes of the Telegraph Acts, and is therefore omitted.

(b) Under s. 5 of the Telegraph Act, 1869.

By s. 5 of the Telegraph Act, 1892 (19 Halsbury's Statutes 284), (1) Where the Postmaster-General has, either before or after the passing of this Act, licensed any company or person to transmit any telegrams within the meaning of the Telegraph Acts, 1863 to 1889 (op. cit. 219, 280), he may by the same or any other licence, authorise such company or person (in this Act referred to as "the licensee") during the time and within the area specified in the licence, to exercise the powers which are conferred on the Postmaster-General by the Telegraph Acts, 1863 and 1878 (op. cit. 219, 261), and by the provisions of this Act relating to provisional orders, or such of those powers as are specified in the licence, and thereupon the enactments conferring those powers or relating to the exercise thereof, including any penal provisions, shall apply accordingly: (2) Provided as follows:—(a) A licensee shall not exercise any powers under the said enactments except in an urban sanitary district or such area adjoining an urban sanitary district as is described in the licence: (b) Notwithstanding anything in the Telegraph Act, 1878, a licensee shall not exercise any powers under the said enactments without the consent, in London of the county council, and in any urban sanitary district outside London of the urban sanitary authority, and elsewhere of the county council, and shall be subject to any terms and conditions which the county council or urban sanitary authority may attach to any such consent, and shall comply with any regulations of such council or authority from time to time in force in relation to telegraphic lines.

The refusal of their consent by the urban sanitary authority under this section is not a "difference" between that body and the Postmaster-General which may be referred to a stipendiary magistrate or county court judge under s. 4 of the Telegraph Act, 1878 (op. cit. 263) (National Telephone Co. v. Tunbridge Wells Corporation (1901), 85 L. T. 368, affirming (1900), 64 J. P. 756; 48 W. R. 686; 42 Digest 893, 43). The conditions which the urban authority are entitled to impose must not relate to matters entirely outside the scope of their duty as road authority. For instance, a condition that the wires should not be laid unless the licensees were prepared to provide an improved service at a reduced cost is not within the power of the urban authority to impose (Postmaster-General v. London Corporation (1898), 62 J. P. 390; 78 L. T. 120; 42 Digest 892, 35). But in the case of overhead wires they may impose conditions for securing the public safety (Wandsworth District L. B. v. Postmaster-General (1884), 4 Ry. & Can. Tr. Cas. 301; 42 Digest 892, 39). The regulations referred to in the latter part of the above section seem to mean byelaws under Part II., ss. 13 et seq. of the P. H. A. A., 1890, ante, p. 4807, or s. 25 of P. H. A., 1925; Vol. V. and 13 Halsbury's Statutes 1123.

Section 2.

(c) Certain words, dealing with expenses and borrowing, were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 735.

(d) Sub-ss. (2) and (3) relate to Scotland and Ireland only, and are therefore omitted.

Provisions as to existing companies.

3.—(1) Where any existing company have before the passing of this Act under a licence from the Postmaster-General, provided a system of public telephonic communication in any exchange area (a), and it is proposed to grant a new licence to a local authority or to another company to provide public telephonic communication in the same exchange area, or any part thereof, then, if the existing company consent to it being made a condition of their licence—

(a) that they will not give favour or preference (b) to any person whomsoever within the area specified in the new licence, and will not, within that area, as a condition of giving a service, require from any person the grant of any facility except for the purpose of supplying telephonic communication to that person; and

(b) that their charges shall not, within the area specified in the new licence, exceed the maximum rates or fall below the minimum rates authorised in that behalf by the Postmaster-General within that area (c),

it shall be a condition of the grant of the new licence, that where it is proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster-General that the existing company have incurred or contracted to incur, in the area specified in the new licence, material expenditure in laying down underground wires, and have by agreement with any local authority within that area acquired powers for that purpose, those powers shall continue for the period specified in the new licence for the duration thereof (d), but, subject as aforesaid, on the terms and conditions specified in the agreement (including any provisions thereof for determination on breach of covenant), except so far as they may be varied by any subsequent agreement with the local authority.

(2) Where an existing company is at the passing of this Act under a licence from the Postmaster-General supplying public telephonic communication in any exchange area, a licence to provide a system of public telephonic communication within the same area, or any part thereof, shall not be granted by the Postmaster-General to any person or body other than the council of a borough or urban district, unless it is shown to the satisfaction of the Postmaster-General that the application for the licence is approved by the council of each borough or urban district within which it is proposed by the application to establish a telephonic exchange.

(3) An existing company shall not, without the consent of the Postmaster-General given after the passing of this Act in each case, open an exchange in any exchange area in which they had not, before the passing of this Act, established an effective exchange.

(4) Where a local authority or a new company, under a licence from the Postmaster-General, provides a system of public telephonic communication in the whole or any part of an exchange area in competition with an existing company licensed by the Postmaster-General before the passing of this Act, then, if the existing company consent to it being made a condition of their licence—

(a) that they will not give favour or preference to any person whomsoever within the whole of the exchange area in question, and will not, within that exchange area as a condition of giving a service, require from any person the grant of any facility except for the purpose of supplying telephonic communication to that person; and

- (b) that their charges shall not within the whole of the exchange area in question exceed the maximum rates and (where the company are empowered by agreement with the local authority to lay underground wires) shall not fall below the minimum rates authorised in that behalf by the Postmaster-General within the area specified in the new licence, Section 3.

the licence of the existing company shall within the whole of the exchange area in question be extended and continue for the period specified in the new licence of the local authority or new company for the duration of such new licence, but, except as varied by this Act, the provisions of the licence of the existing company (including any provisions thereof for determination on breach of covenant) shall remain in force.

(5) If the licence of an existing company is, under the provisions of this section, extended in respect of any exchange area for a period of not less than eight years beyond the term existing at the passing of this Act, the company shall, at the request of any other licensee of the Postmaster-General providing public telephonic communication in the whole or any part of that exchange area, and under such circumstances and on such terms and conditions as may, within six months from the passing of this Act, be prescribed by an order of the Postmaster-General, made with the approval of the Treasury, afford all proper facilities for the transmission of telephonic messages between persons using the system of the company (either in the whole or in part of the exchange area, as the Postmaster-General may prescribe) and persons using the system of such other licensee, provided that the licensee so requiring inter-communication shall in any such case afford similar facilities.

(6) For the purposes of this section the expression "exchange area" means an exchange area as defined by an agreement made by an existing company with the Postmaster-General before the passing of this Act.

(a) Defined in sub-s. (6).

(b) The allowance of a commission for collecting messages is not a preference (Reuter v. Electric Telegraph Co. (1856), 6 E. & B. 341; 26 L. J. Q. B. 46).

In connection with the subject of charges the following cases should be noted.

A telephone company supplied the use of a telephone wire and apparatus under an agreement for three years at a rent payable quarterly. After the expiration of the three years the parties continued the agreement by mutual consent, but on the last day of a full quarter the company gave the customer notice determining the agreement forthwith and stating their intention to cut off the wire and remove the apparatus, at the same time demanding rent up to one day beyond the quarter. This rent was duly paid to and accepted by them, and the customer moved for an injunction to restrain the company from interfering with the wire and apparatus:—Held, that the agreement created the relation of landlord and tenant, and therefore the acceptance of the rent for the extra day was a waiver of the notice to determine the contract, and the injunction was granted (Keith, Prowse & Co. v. National Telephone Co., [1894] 2 Ch. 147; 58 J. P. 573; 42 Digest 434, 64).

As to stamp duty on the ordinary form of agreement with a customer, see National Telephone Co. v. Inland Revenue Commissioners, [1900] A. C. 1; 64 J. P. 420; 17 Digest 240, 562.

(c) S. 2 of the Telegraph Act, 1885 (19 Halsbury's Statutes 279), gave the Postmaster-General general power for fixing the sums to be from time to time paid on account of the transmission of telegrams, which include telephonic communications.

(d) That is, of the powers, not of the licence (National Telephone Co. v. Kingston-upon-Hull Corporation (1903), 68 J. P. 62; 89 L. T. 291; 42 Digest 890, 30). An action by the telephone company against the local authority for the purpose of raising the question whether the duration of the powers conferred by the agreement was extended is not within the Public Authorities Protection Act, 1893, ante, p. 4875, and consequently the defendants succeeding were only entitled to party and party costs (National Telephone Co., Ltd. v. Kingston-upon-Hull Corporation (1903), 52 W. R. 26; 38 Digest 109, 782).

4. This Act may be cited as the Telegraph Act, 1899, and may be cited with short title the Telegraph Acts, 1863 to 1897.

Section 1

THE BURIAL ACT, 1900.

(63 & 64 VICT. c. 15) (a).

An Act to amend the Law relating to Burial Grounds. [10th July, 1900.]

Consecration. 1.—(1) The burial authority for any burial ground (b) may, if they think fit, apply to the bishop to consecrate any portion of the burial ground approved in that behalf by the Secretary of State.

(2) If the burial authority do not make the application within a reasonable time after a request in that behalf, and the Secretary of State is satisfied that a reasonable number of the persons for whom, or within the area for which, the burial ground is provided desire that a portion of it be consecrated, and that the consecration fees have been paid or reasonably secured, the Secretary of State may make the application in respect of an approved portion of the burial ground, and the bishop may consecrate accordingly, and it shall be the duty of the burial authority to make such arrangements as may be necessary for the consecration (c).

(a) This being one of the Burial Acts, it is strictly outside the scope of the present work, except so far as it affects the powers and duties of urban and rural councils who provide and maintain cemeteries under the powers of the Public Health (Interments) Act, 1879, ante, p. 4614.

• (b) The expression "burial authority" is defined by s. 11, post, p. 4994. It includes a local authority maintaining a cemetery under the Public Health (Interments) Act, 1879, ante, p. 4614.

For a form of petition, see Enc. of Forms and Precedents, vol. II., p. 611, Form No. 22.

(c) The local authority had previously a discretion as to whether they should apply for consecration. See the Cemeteries Clauses Act, 1847, s. 23, ante, p. 4215. The text practically gives an appeal against the refusal of the local authority to make the application.

It seems that the persons who make the request of the Secretary of State under this section must themselves pay or secure the consecration fees. A table of those fees will be found in Mr. Brooke Little's work on the Burial Acts (3rd ed.), p. 739.

Chapels.

2.—(1) A burial authority may at their own cost erect on any part of their burial ground, which is not consecrated or set apart for the exclusive use of any particular denomination, any chapel which they consider necessary for the due performance of funeral services, but any chapel so erected after the passing of this Act shall not be consecrated or reserved for the exclusive use of any denomination.

(2) A burial authority may at the request and cost of the residents within their district belonging to any particular denomination, erect, furnish, and maintain a chapel for funeral services according to the rites of that denomination on the ground appropriated to their use.

(3) Where such a request is made and the estimated costs are tendered to the burial authority or reasonably secured, then, if the burial authority refuse to grant the request or fail to give effect to it within a reasonable time, a Secretary of State may, if he thinks fit, by order in writing, require the burial authority to erect, furnish, and maintain, or to give facilities for erecting, furnishing, and maintaining, such a chapel in accordance with directions given in the order, and the burial authority shall comply with the order.

(4) Subject to the provisions of this section the obligation of a burial authority to build a chapel within the consecrated part of a burial ground provided under the Public Health (Interments) Act, 1879, shall cease (a).

(a) This section had an important effect on the powers and duties of a local authority who provide a cemetery under the Act of 1879, ante, p. 4614. They are not bound to build a chapel on the consecrated portion of the cemetery as formerly under s. 25 of the Cemeteries Clauses Act, 1847, ante, p. 4216. And they cannot erect a chapel on the consecrated portion (see sub-s. (1) of this section) except at the cost of residents under sub-s. (2).

Section 2.

3.—(1) Every burial authority shall submit to the Secretary of State a Fees. table of fees to be received by them in respect of services rendered by any minister of religion or sexton, and the Secretary of State may approve the table with or without modifications. Provided that such fees shall be of the same amount in respect of burial service in the consecrated and the unconsecrated parts of a burial ground (a).

(2) If the burial authority fail to submit such a table on being requested to do so by the Secretary of State, he may make a table of fees.

(3) The fees fixed by the table shall be payable to and collected by the burial authority, together with the other fees payable to them, and shall be paid by the burial authority to the minister or sexton in such manner as may be agreed on, or as in default of agreement may be directed by the Secretary of State (b).

(4) Subject to the provisions of this section, no fee shall be payable to any incumbent of a parish in respect of any right of exclusive burial, or the erection of a monument, or any other matter whatsoever, in any burial ground maintained by a burial authority, except for services rendered by him (c), and this enactment shall apply to any such fee which is by law or custom payable to the churchwardens of any parish or to trustees or other persons for any parochial purpose, or for the discharge of any debt or liability, in like manner as it applies to fees payable to an incumbent.

Provided as follows :

- (i) Where, at the passing of this Act, fees other than for services rendered are payable in respect of any matter arising in any burial ground attached to or used for the purposes of a parish, and laid out and used before the passing of this Act (d), the like fees shall continue to be paid during the incumbency of the person who, at the passing of this Act, is the incumbent of the parish, or during a period of fifteen years from the passing of this Act, whichever is longer, or if the fees are not paid to the incumbent, or to any person claiming through or under him, then during the said period of fifteen years, and shall be applicable to the like purposes as heretofore, and the burial authority shall collect and pay these fees in like manner as the fees to be paid for services rendered ;
- (ii) The Ecclesiastical Commissioners may at the request and subject to the approval of the incumbent, or other person interested, agree with any burial authority for such payment, periodical or otherwise, as may be thought equitable in commutation of the fees other than those claimed for services rendered, and an agreement so approved shall be binding on the persons for the time being interested, and the burial authority may make accordingly any payment so agreed upon. Where the fees are paid to an incumbent, or to any person claiming through or under him, the Ecclesiastical Commissioners shall apply the commutation money in the first instance to such compensation of the existing incumbent as they may deem equitable, regard being had to all the circumstances of the case ; and the residue, if any, for the augmentation of the benefice (e).

Section 3.

(5) No fee, other than fees payable to a sexton for services rendered by him, shall be paid to any clerk or other ecclesiastical officer in respect of interments in a burial ground maintained by a burial authority. Provided that any clerk or other ecclesiastical officer who at the passing of this Act is entitled to fees in respect of interments in any such burial ground may apply to the burial authority for compensation for the pecuniary loss caused to him by the foregoing enactment, and the burial authority shall receive and consider the application, and pay to him such sum of money as equitable compensation for his loss and in such manner as may be agreed on, or in default of agreement may be directed by the Secretary of State (f).

(6) For the purposes of this section, a burial authority may borrow in like manner and subject to the like conditions as they may borrow for the provision of a burial ground (g).

(7) The provisions of this section, except those as to collection, shall apply to any fixed annual sum substituted for fees in pursuance of section thirty-seven of the Burials Act, 1852 (h), in like manner as they apply to fees.

(a) As to fees in respect of a burial service before, at, or after cremation, see s. 12 of the Cremation Act, 1902, post, p. 5002. ★

(b) In a cemetery provided by a local authority under the Public Health (Interments) Act, 1879, ante, p. 4614, it appears that no fees were payable to an incumbent under the Cemeteries Clauses Act, 1847, s. 52 (2 Halsbury's Statutes 266). Such fees will now be payable under s. 7, post, p. 4993, according to the table fixed as stated in the text.

(c) Thus no fees can be due in respect of burials of non-conformists in consecrated ground conducted without any service in respect of burial being rendered by the incumbent (Williams v. Briton Ferry Burial Board, [1905] 2 K. B. 565; 69 J. P. 313; 7 Digest 546, 254).

(d) An addition to a burial ground purchased before the passing of this Act, although laid out and adapted for burial purposes, but not consecrated nor actually used until after the passing of the Act, was held not to come within this proviso (Young v. Kingston-on-Thames, etc. Joint Burials Committee, [1907] 1 K. B. 416; 71 J. P. 121; 7 Digest 546, 255). But where before the passing of the London Government Act, 1899 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 1225), separate burial grounds had been provided for parishes which after the passing of that Act were united by a scheme made in pursuance of that Act into one parish, it was held that the rector of one of these parishes was not entitled to fees other than the services actually rendered in respect of interments in these burial grounds, after the passing of the Burial Act, 1900, in respect of which he was not before the passing of this Act entitled (Anderson v. Wandsworth Borough Council, [1908] 2 Ch. 81; 72 J. P. 289; 7 Digest 546, 252).

(e) These provisions cannot apparently apply in the case of a cemetery provided by a local authority; for, as already stated, no fees were payable to incumbents under the Public Health (Interments) Act, 1879, ante, p. 4614, or, consequently, under s. 52 of the Cemeteries Clauses Act, 1847 (2 Halsbury's Statutes 266).

(f) A clerk might be appointed in a cemetery under the Cemeteries Clauses Act, 1847, s. 34, ante, p. 4217, but he was paid by stipend, not by fees, and the provision in the text does not appear to apply to such a clerk.

(g) In the case of a local authority the borrowing powers depend on Part IX. of the L. G. A., 1933, ante, pp. 1023, et seq.

(h) The section enables a vestry with the consent of the bishop to substitute a fixed payment for fees payable to the incumbent, clerk, and sexton and other persons and bodies under the Act of 1852 (2 Halsbury's Statutes 190).

Transfer of powers to [Minister of Health].

4. The powers and duties of the Secretary of State under or referred to in the enactments in the First Schedule to this Act shall be transferred to the [Minister of Health] (a), and those enactments shall have effect as if any reference therein to a Secretary of State were a reference to the [Minister of Health] (a).

(a) The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Minister of Health (Ministry of Health Act, 1919, post, p. 5189). Speaking generally, all questions relating to sanitation, and to the constitution, powers, and finances of burial authorities, are now matters for the Minister of Health, whilst matters affecting the interests of the church and other religious denominations and their officers are referred to the Secretary of State, whether such matters arise in connection with burial grounds under the Burial Acts or with cemeteries under the Public Health (Interments) Act, 1879, ante, p. 4614.

Note to
Section 4.

The transfer hereby effected related principally to the following matters :—
The closing of burial grounds and the prohibition of the opening of new ones.
The approval of new burial grounds, and of additions to existing grounds.

The adoption of the Burial Acts and the constitution, powers, and areas of burial authorities.

The inspection and regulation of burial grounds.

Certain provisions as to the borrowing powers and expenses of burial authorities.

Fees other than Ecclesiastical Fees to be taken by burial authorities.

The purchase, sale, and letting of land.

The sanitary regulation of vaults and places of burial.

The grant of licences for interment in closed burial grounds.

The Secretary of State remains the central authority regarding the consecration of burial grounds, the allotment of parts thereof for the use of particular denominations, the building of chapels, and the removal of human remains; and new functions are entrusted to him by this Act, with respect to the fixing, varying, or commutation of, or compensation for, fees payable to ministers of religion, ecclesiastical officers, and sextons.

5.—(1) The Secretary of State may, if he thinks fit, appoint any person to inquire into any matter relating to the consecration of any part of a burial ground, or the building of any chapel therein, or the fixing, varying, or commutation of or compensation for any fees payable to ministers of religion, ecclesiastical officers, and sextons in connection therewith. Inquiries by Secretary of State.

(2) The Secretary of State may make such order as he thinks just as to the payment by the burial authority or other parties of the whole or any part of the costs of the inquiry, including the remuneration and expenses hereinafter mentioned. Any such order may direct payment to be made to the Exchequer or other parties, and may be enforced as if it were an order of the High Court.

(3) The Secretary of State may assign to any person appointed under this section such remuneration not exceeding five guineas a day as he may think fit, and a suitable allowance for expenses, and the remuneration and allowance so assigned shall, except so far as otherwise provided, be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament.

6. Unconsecrated ground which is maintained by a burial authority and set apart for the purposes of burial (a) shall not be applied to any other purpose except by leave of the [Minister of Health] (b). Protection of unconsecrated burial ground.

(a) As to what is meant by "set apart for the purposes of burial," see Re Ponsford and Newport District School Board, [1894] 1 Ch. 454; 7 Digest 551, 291; Nicholl v. Llanrwit Major Parish Council, [1924] 2 Ch. 214; Digest Supp.; London C. C. v. Greenwich Corporation, [1929] 1 Ch. 305; 93 J. P. 123; Digest Supp. See also the Disused Burial Grounds Act, 1884, ante, p. 4694, as amended by the Open Spaces Act, 1887, s. 4, ante, p. 4699, s. 17 of the Burial Act, 1855 (2 Halsbury's Statutes 224), s. 177 of the P. H. A., 1875, and s. 95 of the P. H. A. A., 1907, post, p. 5065. Difficult questions arise from time to time as to whether pieces of unconsecrated land vesting in burial authorities which it is proposed to devote to other purposes are "set apart for the purposes of burial," and as to the precise statutory provisions governing the proposed appropriation. In such cases it is advisable to consult the Ministry of Health in the matter. And see St. George's, Hanover Square (Rector and Churchwardens) v. Westminster Corporation, [1910] A. C. 225; 74 J. P. 153; 7 Digest 551, 287.

(b) See note (a), to s. 4, ante, p. 4992.

7. The incumbent of any ecclesiastical parish situate wholly or partly within the area for which a burial ground is provided under the Public Health (Interments) Act, 1879, shall, with respect to his own parishioners, and persons dying in his parish, be under the same obligation to perform funeral services in that burial ground as he is to perform funeral services in a burial ground provided under the Burial Acts, and the power of the burial authority to appoint a chaplain for a burial ground provided under the Public Health (Interments) Act, 1879, shall cease, and where there is no chaplain for a burial ground so provided, burials in the consecrated part of the ground shall be Obligation of incumbent as to burial.
42 & 43 Vict. c. 31.

42 & 43 Vict.
c. 31.

Section 7. registered in like manner, and subject to the like provisions as burials in the unconsecrated part (a).

(a) The duty of appointing a chaplain was imposed by the Cemeteries Clauses Act, 1847, s. 27 (2 Halsbury's Statutes 261). The registration of burials in the consecrated portion of the cemetery is regulated by the Cemeteries Clauses Acts, 1847, s. 32, ante, p. 4217. When in future there is no chaplain the registration of all burials in the cemetery will be regulated by the Registration of Burials Act, 1864 (op. cit. 276). Under the Births and Deaths Registration Act, 1926, s. 1 (1) (15 Halsbury's Statutes 768), the body of a deceased person shall not be disposed of before a certificate of the registrar given in pursuance of that Act or an order of the coroner has been delivered to the person by whom or whose officer the register of burials in which the disposal is to be registered is kept, subject to a proviso that a written declaration that a certificate or order has been issued may be accepted in lieu of such certificate or order. See also s. 5 of the same Act (op. cit. 770) as to the burial of still-born children and the Cremation Regulations, 1930, made under s. 10 of the 1926 Act (op. cit. 772), and set out ante, p. 2461.

Generally as to the duty of an incumbent to perform funeral services, see note to s. 11 of the Cremation Act, 1902, post, p. 5001.

Notice of intention to bury.

43 & 44 Vict.
c. 41.

8. The notice to be given of intention to bury in a burial ground maintained by a burial authority shall be given at such time and to such person as the burial authority may direct, and so much of section one of the Burial Laws Amendment Act, 1880, as requires forty-eight hours' notice to be given in any such case shall be repealed (a).

(a) For a form of notice, see Enc. of Forms and Precedents, Vol. II., p. 617, Form No. 28.

Application of certain provisions of Burial Acts to cemeteries under 42 & 43 Vict.
c. 31.

9. The provisions of section seven of the Burial Act, 1853, as to allotment of the unconsecrated part of a burial ground, and the Burial Laws Amendment Act, 1880, as amended by this Act, shall apply to burial grounds provided under the Public Health (Interments) Act, 1879, as if the burial authority were a burial board (a).

(a) The Burial Act, 1853, s. 7 (2 Halsbury's Statutes 213), provides that in all cases in which any burial board shall provide a new burial ground, that new burial ground shall be divided into consecrated and unconsecrated parts in such proportions, and the unconsecrated part thereof shall be allotted in such manner and in such portions as may be allowed by one of her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State. The application of this section to a cemetery provided by a local authority takes away from such authority the unfettered discretion which they formerly had under the Cemeteries Clauses Act, 1847, s. 35, ante, p. 4217. Where part of a burial ground has been allotted under s. 7 of the 1853 Act to a particular denomination, an injunction will be granted at the suit of the Att.-Gen. to restrain the burial of persons not of that denomination in the part so allotted (Preston Corporation v. Pyke, [1929] 2 Ch. 338; 93 J. P. 181; Digest Supp.).

Boundary fences.

10 & 11 Vict.
c. 65.

10. Section fifteen of the Cemeteries Clauses Act, 1847 (relating to boundary fences), shall not apply to a burial ground provided under the Public Health (Interments) Act, 1879.

Meaning of burial authority.
42 & 43 Vict.
c. 31.

11. In this Act the expression "burial authority" shall mean any burial board, any council, committee, or other local authority having the powers and duties of a burial board, and any local authority maintaining a cemetery under the Public Health (Interments) Act, 1879, or under any local Act.

Repeal.

12. [Repeal of Acts in Schedule II] (a).

(a) Sections 12, 13 (2) and Schedule II., repealed by S. L. R. A., 1908 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1175).

THE PUBLIC LIBRARIES ACT, 1901.

(1 EDW. 7, c. 19) (a).

An Act to amend the Acts relating to Public Libraries, Museums, and Gymnasiums.
[17th August, 1901.]

AMENDMENT OF PUBLIC LIBRARIES ACTS, 1892 AND 1893.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Public Libraries Act, 1901," and shall be construed as one with the Public Libraries Act, 1892 (hereinafter referred to as the principal Act), and the Public Libraries (Amendment) Act, 1893, and those Acts and this Act may be together cited as the Public Libraries Acts, 1892 to 1901.

Short title and construction.
55 & 56 Vict. c. 53.
56 & 57 Vict. c. 11.

(a) See the Public Libraries Act, 1892, and the Public Libraries (Amendment) Act, 1893, ante, pp. 4840, 4871. As to the omission of the clause of enactment, see s. 4 of the S. L. R. A., 1894 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1020). Part of the title of this Act as to the liability of managers of libraries to proceedings for libel was repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (op. cit. 1183). Reference should also be made to the Public Libraries Act, 1919, post, p. 5238. Under s. 1 of that Act, post, p. 5238, power is given to county councils to adopt the Public Libraries Acts, and where a county council become the library authority for any area the power of adoption of the council of a district comprised in that area is to cease. Section 2 of the same Act, post, p. 5239, enables a district council to relinquish to a county council its powers and duties under the Public Libraries Acts. Section 3 provides for the reference and delegation of library powers to education committees.

2.—(1) Any commissioners appointed for a library district under the principal Act (a) may be either voters in the district or persons who, though not voters, would, if the district were a rural parish having a parish council, be qualified for election as parish councillors.

Qualification of library commissioners.

(2) Section forty-six of the Local Government Act, 1894 (b), relating to disqualifications for election to, or membership of, certain authorities, shall

56 & 57 Vict. c. 73.

Section 2. have effect as if a library authority, being a body of commissioners appointed under the principal Act, were one of the authorities mentioned in that section

(a) See s. 5 (1) of that Act, ante, p. 4841.

(b) See now L. G. A., 1933, ss. 57, 59, ante, pp. 788, 796.

Power to library authority to make byelaws.

3.—(1) A library authority may make byelaws (a) for all or any of the following purposes relating to any library, museum, art gallery, or school, which by virtue of the principal Act or this Act is under their control, that is to say :

- (a) for regulating the use of the same and of the contents thereof, and for protecting the same and the fittings, furniture, and contents thereof from injury, destruction or misuse ;
- (b) for requiring from any person using the same any guarantee or security against the loss of, or injury to, any book or other article ;
- (c) for enabling the officers and servants of the library authority to exclude or remove therefrom persons committing any offence against the Libraries Offences Act, 1898 (b), or against byelaws.

61 & 62 Vict.
c. 53.

(2) All byelaws under this section shall be made subject and according to the provisions respecting byelaws contained in sections one hundred and eighty-two to one hundred and eighty-six of the Public Health Act, 1875 (c), and those sections shall apply as if the expression " local authority " therein included in every case a library authority.

38 & 39 Vict.
c. 55.

(3) All offences and penalties under any such byelaw may be prosecuted and recovered in manner provided by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts (d).

(a) The power of making byelaws conferred by this section is not in substitution for the power of making regulations conferred by s. 15 of the Public Libraries Act, 1892, ante, p. 4844, which is still retained. Such regulations do not require confirmation by the Minister of Health, but are not enforceable by penalties. In ordinary cases, however, regulations are sufficient for the attainment of the objects for which they are made ; and it is not anticipated that library authorities will be desirous of making byelaws except where experience has shown them to be required.

(b) Ante, p. 4948.

(c) See now L. G. A., 1933, s. 250, ante, p. 1104. The power to confirm, allow or disallow byelaws hereunder is now transferred to the Board of Education, see Order in Council, 17th May, 1920, ante, p. 3186.

(d) Defined by the Interpretation Act, 1889, s. 13 (10) (18 Halsbury's Statutes 997).

Extension of
61 & 62 Vict.
c. 53.

4. The Libraries Offences Act, 1898 (a), shall apply to any museum, art gallery or school provided under the Public Libraries Act, 1892.

(a) This Act originally extended only to libraries and reading rooms. See s. 2, ante, p. 4948.

Power to library authorities to make agreements for use of library.

5.—(1) The library authorities of two or more library districts may agree to share, in such proportions and for such period as may be determined by the agreement, the cost of the purchase, erection, repair and maintenance of any library building in one of those districts, and also the cost of the purchase of books and newspapers for such library, and all other expenses connected with the same, and may also agree as to the management and use of the library, and as to the interchange, hire and use of books and newspapers belonging to such authorities respectively (a).

(2) This section shall apply, with the necessary modifications, to a museum, school for science, art gallery or school for art in like manner as to a library.

(a) This provision is in substitution for s. 16 (1) of the Public Libraries Act, 1892, which is repealed by s. 14, and Sched., post, p. 4998, and any library authority, including an urban authority or a parish council, may enter into an agreement as contemplated by the section with any other library authority whether commissioners or other. Moreover, the agreement may relate to a museum, school for science or art, or art gallery as well as to a library.

6. In a library district, being a parish, the sanction of the parish meeting or vestry shall not be required annually (a) for raising the sums from time to time due from the parish for defraying the expenses incurred by the library authority, and those sums shall be paid by the overseers (b) on the order of the library authority. But in any parish in a rural district the sanction of the parish meeting shall be required in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven, and in every tenth year thereafter: Provided that nothing in this section shall affect the operation of section eleven of the Local Government Act, 1894 (c).

Section 6.

Amendment of 55 & 56 Vict. c. 53, s. 18, as to expenses in parishes.

56 & 57 Vict. c. 73.

(a) This was formerly necessary under the Public Libraries Act, 1892, s. 18 (2), as affected by s. 7 (3) of the L. G. A., 1894.

(b) Overseers were abolished by the R. and V. Act, 1925, s. 62, ante, p. 2222, and their duties in respect to rates are now exercised by the rating authorities.

(c) The adoptive Acts in the above section include the Public Libraries Acts. The limitation on the amount of the rate imposed by s. 2 of the 1892 Act, ante, p. 4840, was repealed by s. 11 and Sched. of the 1919 Act, post, p. 5242.

7. An urban authority for whose district the Museums and Gymnasiums Act, 1891 (a), has been adopted, either wholly or so far as it relates to museums only, may appropriate for the purposes of that Act a museum provided for the district under the principal Act, and thereupon the Museums and Gymnasiums Act, 1891, shall apply to the museum, as if it were provided under that Act (b).

Application of 54 & 55 Vict. c. 22, to museum provided under principal Act.

(a) See that Act, ante, p. 4827.

(b) See, however, s. 9 of the 1919 Act, post, p. 5241.

8. On the adoption of the principal Act for any library district, the library authority shall forthwith give notice in writing of such adoption to the Local Government Board (a). The library authority of every district in which the Act has already been adopted shall give the like notice within three months after the passing of this Act.

Notice to Local Government Board (a).

(a) Now the M. of H. Notice must also be given to the Board of Education, see Order in Council, 17th May, 1920, ante, p. 3186.

9. In any library district every person who is a parochial elector within the meaning of the Local Government Act, 1894 (a), shall be a voter for the purposes of the principal Act and this Act; and parochial electors shall for all the purposes of the principal Act, be substituted for county electors (b).

Definition of "voter." 56 & 57 Vict. c. 73.

(a) For "parochial electors" now read "local government electors." See Representation of the People Act, 1918, Sched. VI., 2, and s. 3, post, p. 5185. The expression "local government elector" when used with reference to a parish in an urban district, or in the county of London or any county borough, means any person who would be a local government elector of the parish if it were a rural parish (L. G. A., 1894, s. 75 (2), ante, p. 4920).

(b) The definition of the expression "voter" in s. 27 of the principal Act, ante, p. 4847, is consequently repealed.

10. . . . (a).

(a) This section was repealed by s. 11 and the Schedule to the Public Libraries Act, 1919, post, p. 5242. That Act repealed s. 2 of the Public Libraries Act, 1892, and other enactments relating to the limitations on the rate.

EXTENT OF ACT.

11. This Act shall not apply to Scotland.

Act not to apply to Scotland.

Section 12.

APPLICATION OF ACT TO IRELAND.

12. [Application of certain provisions to Ireland. Repealed and replaced by the Public Libraries (Ireland) Act, 1902.]

APPLICATION OF THE MUSEUMS AND GYMNASIUMS ACT, 1891, AND PUBLIC LIBRARIES (AMENDMENT) ACT, 1893, TO LONDON.

Application to London of 54 & 57 Vict.
c. 22 and
56 & 57 Vict.
c. 11.

13. The Museums and Gymnasiums Act, 1891 (a), and the Public Libraries (Amendment) Act, 1893 (b), shall extend to the administrative county of London, and for the purpose of such extension shall be modified as follows :

The expression "urban authority" shall include the common council of the city of London (c) and a metropolitan borough council, and the expression "district" or "urban district" shall include the city of London and a metropolitan borough ;

Any expenses incurred by the common council of the city of London or by a metropolitan borough council under the Museums and Gymnasiums Act, 1891, so far as they are not defrayed by fees and other money received under the said Act, shall be defrayed in the manner in which expenses incurred by that council under the principal Act are payable (d).

(a) Ante, p. 4827.

(b) Ante, p. 4871.

(c) As to the city of London, see s. 21 of the principal Act, ante, p. 4846.

(d) See s. 10 of the Museums and Gymnasiums Act, 1891, ante, p. 4830.

REPEAL.

Repeal.

14. The Acts mentioned in the schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that schedule (a).

(a) This section and the Schedule were repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

Section 1.

CREMATION ACT, 1902 (a).

(2 EDW. 7, c. 8.)

An Act for the regulation of the burning of Human Remains, and to enable Burial Authorities to establish Crematoria. [22nd July, 1902.]

1. This Act may be cited as the Cremation Act, 1902.

Short title.

(a) This Act is inserted as applicable under the P. H. (Interments) A., 1879, ante, p. 4614. As to the omission of the clause of enactment, see S. L. R. A., 1894, s. 4 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1020).

2. In this Act—

Definitions

The expression "burial authority" (a) shall mean any burial board, any council, committee, or other local authority having the powers and duties of a burial board, and any local authority maintaining a cemetery under the Public Health (Interments) Act, 1879, or under any local Act;

The expression "crematorium" shall mean any building fitted with appliances for the purposes of burning human remains, and shall include everything incidental or ancillary thereto.

(a) This definition is taken from s. 11 of the Burial Act, 1900, ante, p. 4994.

3. [Application to Scotland.]

4. The powers of a burial authority to provide (a) and maintain burial grounds or cemeteries, or anything essential, ancillary, or incidental thereto, shall be deemed to extend to and include the provision and maintenance of crematoria (b):

Burial authority may provide for cremation.

Provided that no human remains shall be burned in any such crematorium until the plans and site thereof have been approved by the Local Government Board (c) and until the crematorium has been certified by the burial authority to the Secretary of State to be complete, built in accordance with such plans, and properly equipped for the purpose of the disposal of human remains by burning (d).

(a) This will include power to borrow for the purpose of providing a crematorium.

(b) The effect is to make it necessary to obtain for the provision of a crematorium, or for any expenditure for that purpose, or for the acquisition or appropriation of any land for that purpose, the same sanction that would be required by the local authority in the case of the provision of a burial ground or cemetery.

(c) The L. G. B. has now been superseded by the Minister of Health (Ministry of Health Act, 1919, post, p. 5189).

(d) Apart from this provision the burning of human remains may under certain circumstances amount to a public nuisance. See R. v. Price (1884), 12 Q. B. D. 247; 7 Digest 563, 380. See also Williams v. Williams (1882), 20 Ch. D. 659; 46 J. P. 726; 7 Digest 563, 379. And it is a misdemeanour to burn a dead body with intent to prevent an inquest (R. v. Stephenson (1884), 13 Q. B. D. 331; 49 J. P. 486; 7 Digest 563, 381).

5. No crematorium shall be constructed nearer to any dwelling house than two hundred yards, except with the consent, in writing of the owner, lessee, and occupier of such house, nor within fifty yards of any public highway, nor in the consecrated part of the burial ground of any burial authority (a).

Site of crematorium.

(a) See s. 10 of the Cemeteries Clauses Act, 1847, ante, p. 4213, and notes thereto.

6. A burial authority may accept a donation of land for the purposes of a crematorium, and a donation of money or other property for enabling them to acquire, construct, or maintain a crematorium.

Donations of land.

Section 7.

Regulations as to burning.

5 & 6 Will. 4,
c. 62.54 & 55 Vict.
c. 39.

7. The Secretary of State shall make regulations (a) as to the maintenance and inspection of crematoria and prescribing in what cases and under what conditions the burning of any human remains may take place, and directing the disposition or interment of the ashes (b), and prescribing the forms of the notices, certificates, and declarations to be given or made before any such burning is permitted to take place, such declarations to be made under and by virtue of the Statutory Declarations Act, 1835, and also regulations as to the registration of such burnings as have taken place. A copy of such regulations shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament, if Parliament be then sitting, or, if not, then within three weeks after the beginning of the next ensuing Session of Parliament; and, after such regulations have lain for forty days before Parliament, then, unless within such forty days an address has been presented by one or other of the Houses praying His Majesty to withhold his assent from such regulations or any part thereof, such regulations shall have the same effect as if they were enacted in this Act (c). All statutory provisions (d) relating to the destruction and falsification of registers of burials, and the admissibility of extracts therefrom as evidence in courts and otherwise, shall apply to the register of burnings directed by such regulations to be kept, and the Stamp Act, 1891 (e), shall apply to a register under this Act as if it were a register of burials.

(a) Regulations were made on 31st March, 1903, but they were revoked by later regulations dated 26th April, 1920, which were amended by regulations of 23rd June, 1925, and 6th May, 1927. See now regulations of 28th October, 1930, ante, pp. 2461 et seq. Breach of these regulations is punishable under s. 8, infra. The power to make regulations under this section was extended by s. 10 of the Births and Deaths Registration Act, 1926 (15 Halsbury's Statutes 772), to include a power to make regulations for the purpose of applying that Act to cases where human remains are disposed of by cremation. The latest regulations were accordingly made under the combined Acts.

(b) Such interment of ashes is not a burial within the prohibitions against burial in a church under the Church Building Act, 1818 (6 Halsbury's Statutes 698), the P. H. Acts, or the Burial Act, 1853, s. 3 (2 Halsbury's Statutes 212), and therefore a faculty may issue for allowing such interment in a church (Re Kerr, [1894] P. 284; 7 Digest 528, 87). There is nothing in the current regulations to prevent such interment.

(c) Consequently no question can arise as to whether any such regulations are ultra vires. See Institute of Patent Agents v. Lockwood, [1894] A. C. 347; 42 Digest 613, 139. See, however, the comments on this case in R. v. Pharmaceutical Society, [1899] 2 I. R. 132, and Waterford Corporation v. Murphy, [1920] 2 I. R. 165. Reference may also be made to R. v. Electricity Commissioners, Ex parte London Electricity Joint Committee Co. (1920), Ltd., [1924] 1 K. B. 171, per YOUNGER, L.J., at p. 212; 88 J. P. 13; Digest Supp.; R. v. Minister of Health, Ex parte Yaffe, [1930] 2 K. B. 98; 94 J. P. 98; reversed, [1931] A. C. 494; 95 J. P. 125; and cf. the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1908, s. 39 (3), and notes thereto at post, p. 5076.

(d) See s. 15 of the Burial Act, 1857, ss. 36 and 37 of the Forgery Act, 1861 (2, 4 Halsbury's Statutes 233, 585), as amended by the Forgery Act, 1913 (4 Halsbury's Statutes 787).

(e) See ss. 1, 64, and Schedule I. of that Act (16 Halsbury's Statutes 618, 637, 656), which impose a stamp duty of one penny on every certified copy from any register of burials subject to certain exemptions.

Penalties for breach of regulations,
&c.

8.—(1) Every person who shall contravene any such regulation as aforesaid or shall knowingly carry out or procure or take part in the burning of any human remains except in accordance with such regulations and the provisions of this Act, shall (in addition to any liability or penalty which he may otherwise incur) (a) be liable on summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds. Provided that any person aggrieved by any conviction may appeal therefrom to quarter sessions (b).

(2) Every person who shall wilfully make any false declaration or (c) representation, or sign, or utter any false certificate, with a view to procuring the burning of any human remains, shall (in addition to any penalty or liability which he may otherwise incur) (d) be liable to imprisonment with or without hard labour not exceeding two years.

(3) Every person who with intent to conceal the commission or impede the prosecution of any offence (e), procures or attempts to procure the cremation of any body, or with such intent makes any declaration or gives any certificate under this Act, shall be liable to (f) conviction on indictment to penal servitude for a term not exceeding five years. Section 8.

(a) This refers to the liability to conviction on indictment for a misdemeanour. See R. v. Price and R. v. Stephenson cited in the note to s. 4, ante, p. 4999.

(b) In accordance with the provisions of s. 31 of the S. J. A., 1879 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 338), set out in the notes to s. 301 of the P. H. A., 1936, ante, p. 627.

(c) Repealed by Perjury Act, 1911 (4 Halsbury's Statutes 772).

(d) See note (d) to s. 7, supra, as to falsification of registers.

(e) How does such a person where the "offence" is a felony differ from an accessory after the fact? In such a case is he punishable still as an accessory after the fact or only under this statute? Is a wife punishable under this statute where she would not be punishable as an accessory after the fact? Compare the history of the law with regard to the punishment of the receiver of stolen goods.

(f) Sic. According to the common form "to" should be "on."

9. The burial authority may demand payment of any such charges or fees. fees.
fees for the burning of human remains in any crematorium provided by them as may be authorised by any table approved by the Local Government Board (a), and such charges or fees, and any other expenses properly incurred in or in connection with the cremation of a deceased person, shall be deemed to be part of the funeral expenses of the deceased (b).

(a) Now the Minister of Health (see note (c) on p. 4999, ante).

(b) This section appears to be of general application and to enable the burial authority to enforce payment against any person against whom they might enforce payment of charges or fees under s. 34 of the Burial Act, 1852 (2 Halsbury's Statutes 202).

As to the liability of executors for funeral expenses, see Ambrose v. Kerrison (1851), 10 C. B. 776; 20 L. J. C. P. 135; 7 Digest 524, 38; Brice v. Wilson (1834), 3 Nev. & M. K. B. 512; 3 L. J. Vann* (1851), 2 Den. 325; 15 J. P. 802; 7 Digest 522, 14; and the non-liability of a child for a parent, Chapple v. Cooper, supra. As to the liability of a householder for an inmate, *R. v. under the Coroners Act, 1887, or any Act amending the same, and nothing in this Act shall authorise the burial authority or any person to create or permit a nuisance (a). 50 & 51 Vict.
c. 71.

(a) See R. v. Price and R. v. Stephenson, cited in the note to s. 4, ante, p. 4999.

11. The incumbent of any ecclesiastical parish shall not, with respect to Incumbent not his parishioners or persons dying in his parish, be under any obligation to to be obliged perform a funeral service before, at, or after the cremation of their remains to perform burial service.

Section 11. within the ground of a burial authority, but, upon his refusal so to do, any clerk in Holy Orders of the Established Church not being prohibited under ecclesiastical censure, may, with the permission of the bishop and at the request of the executor of the deceased person, or of the burial authority, or other person having charge of the cremation or interment of the cremated remains, perform such service within such ground (a).

(a) Apart from this enactment and from s. 6 of the Burial Laws Amendment Act, 1880, (2 Halsbury's Statutes 244), a clergyman of the Church of England is bound to read the burial service in the manner and form prescribed by the Book of Common Prayer over the corpse of any person who has been baptised with water in the name of the Holy Trinity if required so to do, though the deceased was never baptised otherwise than by a layman, unless the special ecclesiastical prohibitions with regard to persons excommunicated and that have laid violent hands on themselves apply (Escott v. Mastin (1842), 4 Moo. P. C. C. 104; 7 Digest 531, 114). But the ordinary cannot compel an incumbent by ecclesiastical censure to perform the burial service on unconsecrated ground (Rugg v. Kingsmill (1868), L. R. 2 P. C. 59; 32 J. P. 356). Moreover, it is illegal for any one, unless he is lawfully authorised, to read or assist in reading the burial service in consecrated ground over a dead body (Johnson v. Friend (1860), 6 Jur. (N. S.) 280; 7 Digest 530, 105). And it is a breach of ecclesiastical law on the part of a burial board to permit any person to perform the burial service in the consecrated portion of their burial ground unless such person be authorised by the incumbent to do so, and a fortiori, unless he be a person duly qualified (Wood v. Headingley-cum-Burley Burial Board, [1892] 1 Q. B. 713; 56 J. P. 326; 7 Digest 546, 253).

See also s. 7 of the Burial Act, 1900, ante, p. 4993.

Fees may be fixed.

12. In any table of fees respecting burials to be made or approved by the Secretary of State (a), a fee may be fixed in respect of a burial service before, at, or after cremation, and if no fee is fixed, the fee, if any, fixed in respect of a burial service shall apply.

(a) As to fees in respect of services rendered by a minister of religion or sexton, see s. 3 of the Burial Act, 1900, ante, p. 4991.

Application of 10 & 11 Vict. c. 65, ss. 52 and 57.

13. Sections fifty-two and fifty-seven of the Cemeteries Clauses Act, 1847 (a), and any similar provisions in any local and personal Act authorising the making of a cemetery, shall apply to the disposition or interment of the ashes of a cremated body as if it were the burial of a body.

(a) These sections have no application to a cemetery provided by a local authority under the P. H. (Interments) A., 1879. See note (a), ante, p. 4220.

Repeal of local Acts.

14. As from the date at which regulations under this Act come into force any provisions of any local and personal Act for the like purpose as this Act, and any byelaws or regulations made thereunder, shall, so far as they relate to that purpose, cease to be in operation.

Extent of Act.

16. This Act shall not apply to Ireland.

ALKALI, ETC., WORKS REGULATION ACT, 1906.

Section 1.

(6 EDW. 7, c. 14) (a).

An Act to consolidate and amend the Alkali, etc., Works Regulation Acts, 1881 and 1892. [4th August, 1906.]

PART I.

ALKALI WORKS AND ALKALI WASTE.

1.—(1) Every alkali work (b) shall be carried on in such manner as to secure the condensation, to the satisfaction of the chief inspector (c), of the muriatic acid gas evolved in such work, to the extent of ninety-five per centum, and to such an extent that in each cubic foot of air, smoke, or chimney gases, escaping from the works into the atmosphere, there is not contained more than one-fifth part of a grain of muriatic acid (d). Condensation of muriatic acid gas in alkali works.

(2) The owner (b) of any alkali work (b) which is carried on in contravention of this section shall be liable to a fine not exceeding in the case of the first offence fifty pounds, and in the case of every subsequent offence one hundred pounds (e).

(a) This Act repeals and re-enacts with amendments the Alkali, etc., Works Regulation Act, 1881, the L. G. B.'s Provisional Order Confirmation (Salt Works) Act, 1884, passed under s. 10 of the Act of 1881, and the Alkali, &c., Works Regulation Acts, 1892. The Act was amended by the Public Health (Smoke Abatement) Act, 1926, s. 4, Vol. V. and 13 Halsbury's Statutes 1159.

(b) Defined by s. 27, post, p. 5013.

(c) See ss. 10—14, post, pp. 5008—10, as to inspection, and s. 25, post, p. 5013, as to determination of questions by chief inspector.

(d) As to calculation of acid, see s. 16, post, p. 5010.

(e) As to recovery of fines, see ss. 17, 18, post, pp. 5010, 5011. The owner may be discharged on proof against the actual offender, s. 20, post, p. 5012.

2.—(1) In addition to the condensation of muriatic acid gas as aforesaid the owner (a) of every alkali work (a) shall use the best practicable means (a) for preventing the escape of noxious or offensive gases (a) by the exit flue of any apparatus used in any process carried on in the work, and for preventing the discharge, whether directly or indirectly, of such gases into the atmosphere, and for rendering such gases where discharged harmless and inoffensive, subject to the qualification that, on the basis of the amount of acid gas per cubic foot, no objection shall be taken under this section by an inspector to any muriatic acid gas in the air, smoke, or gases discharged into the atmosphere by a chimney or other final outlet where the amount of such acid gas in each cubic foot of air, smoke, or gases so discharged does not exceed the amount limited by the last preceding section (b). Prevention of discharge of noxious and offensive gas in alkali works.

(2) If the owner of any alkali work fails, in the opinion of the court having cognizance of the matter, to use such means, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding in the case of the first offence twenty pounds, and in the case of every subsequent offence fifty pounds, with a further sum not exceeding five pounds for every day during which any such subsequent offence has continued (c).

(a) Defined by s. 27, post, p. 5013.

(b) This clause introduces considerable amendments of s. 4 of the repealed Act of 1881. It is extended to all escapes from the exit flue of any apparatus used in any process carried on in the works, and to every discharge of noxious or offensive gases, whether directly or indirectly, into the atmosphere, subject to the qualification mentioned.

(c) See note (e) to s. 1, supra.

3.—(1) Every work of whatever description in which any liquid containing either acid or any other substance capable of liberating sulphuretted hydrogen (a) from alkali waste or drainage therefrom is produced or used shall Separation of acids and other substances from alkali waste

Section 3.and drainage

be carried on in such manner that the liquid shall not come in contact with alkali waste, or with drainage therefrom, so as to cause a nuisance.

(2) The owner of any work which is carried on in contravention of this section shall be liable to a fine not exceeding in the case of the first offence fifty pounds, and in the case of every subsequent offence one hundred pounds, with a further sum not exceeding five pounds for every day during which any such subsequent offence has continued (b).

c. 75.

(3) On the request of the owner of any such work as is mentioned in this section the sanitary authority of the district in which such work is situate shall, at the expense of such owner, provide and maintain a drain or channel for carrying off such liquid as aforesaid produced in such work into the sea or into any river or watercourse into which the liquid can be carried without contravention of the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876, as amended by any subsequent enactment (c); and the sanitary authority shall for the purpose of providing any such drain or channel have the like powers as they have for providing sewers, whether within or without their district, under the Public Health Act (d).

(4) Compensation (e) shall be made to any person for any damage sustained by him by reason of the exercise by a sanitary authority of the powers conferred by this section, and such compensation shall be deemed part of the expenses to be paid by the owner making the request to the sanitary authority under this section.

(a) The inclusion of works in which any liquid containing any substance other than acid capable of liberating sulphuretted hydrogen from alkali waste is produced or used is a new feature. Section 5 of the repealed Act of 1881 was limited to works in which acid was produced or used.

(b) See note (e) to s. 1, ante, p. 5003.

(c) See the Acts here referred to, ante, p. 4581. As to the discharge of solid matter in suspension into any navigable water, see United Alkali Co. v. Simpson, ante, p. 4588.

(d) See ss. 15 and 16 of the P. H. A., 1936, ante, pp. 26—36.

Reference may also be made to St. Helens Chemical Co. v. St. Helens Corporation (1876), 1 Ex. D. 196; 40 J. P. 471; 36 Digest 230, 710, where the owners were held liable for a nuisance caused by the evolution of noxious gases in a sewer consequent upon the discharge into the sewer of muriatic acid and sulphur.

(e) The amount will be ascertainable under the P. H. A., 1936, s. 278, ante, p. 556.

Deposit or discharge of alkali waste.

4.—(1) Alkali waste shall not be deposited or discharged without the best practicable means (a) being used for effectually preventing any nuisance arising therefrom (b).

(2) Any person who causes or knowingly permits any alkali waste to be deposited or discharged in contravention of this section shall be liable to a fine not exceeding in the case of the first offence twenty pounds, and in the case of every subsequent offence fifty pounds, with a further sum not exceeding five pounds for every day during which any such subsequent offence has continued (c).

(a) Defined by s. 27, post, p. 5013.

(b) As to the discharge of solid matter in suspension into any navigable water, see United Alkali Co. v. Simpson, ante, p. 4588.

(c) As to recovery of fines, see ss. 17, 18, post, pp. 5010—11.

Prevention of nuisance from alkali waste already deposited or discharged.

5. Where alkali waste has been deposited or discharged, either before or after the commencement of this Act, and complaint is made to the chief inspector that a nuisance is occasioned thereby, the chief inspector (a), if satisfied of the existence of the nuisance, and that it is within the power of the owner or occupier of the land to abate it, shall serve a notice on such owner or occupier requiring him to abate the nuisance; and, if such owner or occupier fails to use the best practicable and reasonably available means (b) for the abatement thereof, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds, and, if he does not proceed to use such means within such time as may be limited by the court inflicting such fine, he shall be liable to a further penalty not exceeding five pounds for every day after the expiration of the time so limited during which such failure continues.

Section 5.

(a) See s. 10, post, p. 5008.

(b) "The best practicable means" are defined by s. 27, post, p. 5013. The addition of the words "and reasonably available" introduces an element of uncertainty as to whether that definition is to be adhered to. But probably the intention of the Act is that it shall, subject to the court's deciding also the question of reasonable availability for itself.

PART II.

SULPHURIC ACID, MURIATIC ACID, AND OTHER SPECIFIED WORKS.

6.—(1) Every sulphuric acid work as defined in paragraph (1) of the First Schedule to this Act shall be carried on in such manner as to secure the condensation, to the satisfaction of the chief inspector (a), of the acid gases of sulphur or of sulphur and nitrogen which are evolved in the process of the manufacture of sulphuric acid in that work, to such an extent that the total acidity of those gases in each cubic foot of residual gases after completion of the process, and before admixture with air, smoke, or other gases, does not exceed what is equivalent to four grains of sulphuric anhydride.

Condensation of acid gases in sulphuric acid and muriatic acid works.

(2) Every muriatic acid work as defined in paragraph (8) of the First Schedule to this Act shall be carried on in such manner as to secure the condensation to the satisfaction of the chief inspector (a) of the muriatic acid gas evolved in such work, to such extent that in each cubic foot of air, smoke, or chimney gases escaping from the work into the atmosphere there is not contained more than one-fifth part of a grain of muriatic acid (b).

(3) The owner of any sulphuric acid work or of any muriatic acid work which is carried on in contravention of this section shall be liable to a fine not exceeding in the case of the first offence fifty pounds, and in the case of every subsequent offence one hundred pounds.

(a) See s. 10, post, p. 5008.

(b) As to calculation of acid, see s. 16, post, p. 5010.

7.—(1) The owner of any work specified in the First Schedule (a) to this Act (hereinafter referred to as a scheduled work) shall use the best practicable means for preventing the escape of noxious or offensive gases (b) by the exit flue of any apparatus used in the process carried on in the work, and for preventing the discharge, whether directly or indirectly, of such gases into the atmosphere (c), and for rendering such gases where discharged harmless and inoffensive, subject to the qualification that, on the basis of the amount of acid gas per cubic foot, no objection shall be taken under this section by an inspector—

Prevention of discharge of noxious or offensive gas in scheduled works.

(a) To any muriatic acid gas in the air, smoke, or gases discharged into the atmosphere by a chimney or other final outlet, where the amount of such acid gas in each cubic foot of air, smoke, or gases so discharged does not exceed the amount limited by the last preceding section :

(b) To any acid gases in the air, smoke, or gases discharged into the atmosphere by a chimney or other final outlet receiving the residual gases from any process for the concentration or distillation of sulphuric acid, where the total acidity of such acid gases (including those from the combustion of coal) in each cubic foot of air, smoke, or gases so discharged does not exceed what is equivalent to one grain and a half of sulphuric anhydride.

Section 7.

(2) If the owner of any such work fails, in the opinion of the court having cognizance of the matter, to use such means, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding in the case of the first offence twenty pounds, and in the case of every subsequent offence fifty pounds, with a further sum not exceeding five pounds for every day during which any such subsequent offence has continued.

(a) See this Schedule at post, p. 5015. The Minister of Health has by an order of 1928 added to the list of works contained in that Schedule under the P. H. (Smoke Abatement) Act, 1926, s. 4 (1), Vol. V. and 13 Halsbury's Statutes 1159.

(b) Defined by s. 27, post, p. 5013.

(c) This clause introduces amendments of s. 9 of the repealed Act of 1881 similar to those introduced by s. 2, ante, p. 5003, as regards s. 4 of the same Act, and it also amends the qualification so as to effect a very considerable alteration of the standard of pollution.

Provisional Order to prevent discharge of noxious or offensive gas in cement and smelting works.

8.—(1) An inspector may inquire whether, in any works in which aluminous deposits are treated for the purpose of making cement (hereinafter called cement works) or in any works in which sulphide ores, including regulus, are calcined or smelted (hereinafter called smelting works) (a), means can be adopted at a reasonable expense for preventing the discharge from the furnaces or chimneys of such works into the atmosphere of any noxious or offensive gas (b) evolved in such works, or for rendering such gas where discharged harmless or inoffensive.

(2) Where it appears to the Local Government Board (c) that such means can be adopted at a reasonable expense, the Board (c) may by Order require the owners of such works to adopt the best practicable means for the purpose, and may by the Order limit the amount or proportion, in the case of cement works or smelting works, of any noxious or offensive gas which is to be permitted to escape from such works into the chimney or into the atmosphere, and may also by the Order extend to such works such provisions of this Act relating to scheduled works as they think fit.

(3) An Order made under this section shall be provisional only, and shall not be of any validity until confirmed by Parliament, but when so confirmed shall have full effect, with such modifications as may be made therein by Parliament; and the expression "this Act" when used in this Act shall be deemed to include an Order so confirmed, so far as is consistent with the tenor of that Order.

(4) The Board (c) shall take such steps as they may think fit for giving notice to persons interested of the provisions of any Order made by them under this section before any Bill for confirming the same is introduced into Parliament.

(5) An order made under this section may impose fines for a breach of its provisions of like amount as any fines imposed by this Act for offences against this Act.

(6) An Order made under this section may be repealed, altered, or amended by any subsequent Order made under this section, and confirmed by Parliament (d).

(a) These works were for the first time brought within the scope of this legislation. Smelting works were to a certain extent exempted from the provisions of the P. H. A., 1875. See s. 334 of that Act (13 Halsbury's Statutes 762) and s. 109 of the P. H. A., 1936, ante, p. 346.

Salt works, on the other hand, which were partially exempted from the provisions of the repealed Act of 1881 by the Act of 1892, are not mentioned at all in this Act.

(b) Defined by s. 27, post, p. 5013.

(c) Now the Minister of Health (Ministry of Health Act, 1919), post, p. 5189.

(d) No power of repeal, etc., was included in the corresponding s. 10 of the repealed Act of 1881.

Section 9.

PART III.

(i) REGISTRATION OF WORKS.

9.—(1) An alkali work, a scheduled work, a cement work, or a smelting work (a) shall not be carried on unless it is certified to be registered. Registration of works and stamp duty.

(2) The work shall be registered in a register containing the prescribed particulars, and the register shall be conducted and the certificates issued in the prescribed manner (b).

(3) A certificate of registration, if issued at a time when a previous certificate is in force, shall be in force for one year after the time when that certificate ceases to be in force, and if issued at a time when no previous certificate is in force shall be in force until the following first day of April.

(4) An application for a certificate of registration of a work may, in the case of the first registration of that work, be made at any time, and an application for any subsequent certificate in respect of that work shall be made in the month of January or February.

(5) A certificate of registration shall be issued on application being made in the prescribed manner (b) by the owner of the work, if the conditions of registration are complied with, and one of the conditions (c) in the case of the first registration of an alkali or scheduled work, or the registration of such a work if the work has been closed for a period of twelve months previously, shall be that the work is at the time of registration furnished with such appliances as appear to the chief inspector or, on appeal, to the Local Government Board (d) to be necessary in order to enable the work to be carried on in accordance with such of the requirements of this Act as apply to the work.

Provided that the Local Government Board (d) may dispense with the last-mentioned condition in the case of works erected before the commencement of this Act which were not before the commencement of this Act required to be registered.

(6) There shall be charged upon every such certificate a stamp duty of five pounds in the case of an alkali work, and of three pounds in the case of any other work, and the Commissioners of Inland Revenue shall issue stamped forms of certificate for the purpose (e).

(7) Written notice of any change which occurs in the ownership of a work or in the other particulars stated in the register shall within one month after such change be sent by the owner to the Local Government Board (d), and the register and the certificate shall be altered accordingly in the prescribed manner (d) without charge and without the issue of a new certificate. If such notice is not sent as so required the work shall not be deemed to be certified to be registered.

(8) The owner of a work which has been carried on in contravention of this section shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds (f).

(a) See note (a) to s. 8, ante, p. 5006.

(b) Prescribed means prescribed by the Minister of Health. See s. 27, post, p. 5013.

(c) This condition and the proviso which follows are new.

(d) Now the Minister of Health (Ministry of Health Act, 1919).

(e) The Acts relating to stamp duties are not expressly applied as by s. 13 of the repealed Act of 1881, but they are nevertheless applicable. By s. 47 of the Finance Act, 1922 (16 Halsbury's Statutes 911), "five pounds" and "three pounds" are increased respectively to "ten pounds" and "six pounds."

(f) This fine is recoverable under s. 17, post, p. 5010, but is not subject to the three months' limitation thereby imposed.

Section 10.

(ii) INSPECTION.

Appointment of inspectors.

10.—(1) The Local Government Board (a) shall, with the approval of the Treasury as to numbers and salaries or remuneration, appoint such inspectors (under whatever title they may fix) as the Board (a) think necessary for the execution of this Act, and may assign them their duties and award them their salaries or remuneration, and shall constitute a chief inspector, and may regulate the cases and manner in which the inspectors are to execute and perform the powers and duties of inspectors under this Act, and may remove such inspectors.

(2) Notice of the appointment of every such inspector shall be published in the London Gazette, and a copy of the Gazette shall be evidence of the appointment.

(3) The salaries or remuneration of the inspectors, and such expenses of the execution of this Act as the Treasury may sanction, shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament.

(4) A person holding the office of chief inspector or inspector shall not be employed in any other work except with the sanction of the Local Government Board (a).

(5) In the case of the illness or other unavoidable absence of the chief inspector, the Local Government Board (a) may appoint any other inspector to act as his deputy, and the inspector so appointed shall, whilst so acting, have all the powers by or under this Act conferred on the chief inspector.

(a) Now the Minister of Health (Ministry of Health Act, 1919).

Disqualification of certain persons for inspectors.

11. A person who

(a) acts or practises as a land agent (a); or

(b) is engaged or interested directly or indirectly in any work to which this Act applies, or in any patent for any process or apparatus carried on or used in any such work, or in any process or apparatus connected with the condensation of acid gases, or with the treatment of alkali waste, or with preventing the discharge into the atmosphere or rendering harmless or inoffensive any noxious or offensive gas, or otherwise with any of the matters dealt with by this Act; or

(c) is employed in or about or in connexion with any work to which this Act applies, or in any other chemical work for gain, shall be disqualified to act as an inspector under this Act.

(a) This is a term of no very definite meaning. A person who manages the landed estate of another is a land agent in common parlance, and such a person is doubtless referred to here, though there are persons in other positions who are called land agents.

Inspection of works.

12 (a).—(1) For the purpose of the execution of this Act, an inspector may at all reasonable times by day and night without giving previous notice, but so as not to interrupt the process of the manufacture,

(a) enter and inspect any work to which, in the opinion of the Local Government Board (b) any of the provisions of this Act applies; and

(b) examine any process causing the evolution of any noxious or offensive gas (c) and any apparatus for condensing any such gas, or otherwise preventing the discharge thereof into the atmosphere, or for rendering any such gas harmless or inoffensive when discharged; and

(c) ascertain the quantity of gas discharged into the atmosphere, condensed or otherwise dealt with; and

(d) enter and inspect any place where alkali is treated or deposited, or where any liquid containing either acid or any other substance (d) capable of liberating sulphuretted hydrogen from alkali waste or drainage (d) therefrom; and Section 12.

- (e) apply any such tests and make any such experiments, and generally make all such inquiries, as seem to him to be necessary or proper for the execution of his duties under this Act (e).

(2) The owner of any such work shall, on the demand of the chief inspector, furnish him within a reasonable time with a sketch plan, to be kept secret, of those parts of such work in which any process causing the evolution of any noxious or offensive gas or any process for the condensation of such gas or for preventing the discharge thereof into the atmosphere, or for rendering any such gas harmless or inoffensive when discharged is carried on.

(3) The owner of every such work and his agents shall render to every inspector all necessary facilities for entry, inspection, examination, and testing in pursuance of this Act.

(4) Every owner of a work in which such facilities are not afforded to an inspector as are required by this Act, or in which an inspector is obstructed in the execution of his duty under this Act, and every person wilfully obstructing an inspector in the execution of his duty under this Act, shall be liable on conviction under the Summary Jurisdiction Acts (f) to a fine not exceeding ten pounds.

(a) This section is by s. 4 (3), P. H. (Smoke Abatement) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 13 Halsbury's Statutes 1160, extended so as to enable the Minister to authorise the inspection of any work which in his opinion is of such a character as is likely to cause the evolution of any noxious or offensive gas notwithstanding that this Act does not apply to the works. The extension applies only to an inspector specially authorised by the Minister to inspect such works.

(b) Under the repealed statute the opinion of the L. G. B. (now the Minister of Health) was not referred to. The Minister's opinion is now conclusive for this purpose.

(c) Defined by s. 27, post, p. 5013.

(d) This is an extension of the corresponding provisions of s. 16 of the repealed Act of 1881.

(e) This clause was new. Under the repealed statute there was power simply to inquire into all matters which tended to show compliance or non-compliance with the Act, or which seemed necessary or proper for the execution of his duties, but no specific power to apply tests or make experiments.

(f) The application of the summary process for recovery of this fine was new.

13. The chief inspector shall, on or before the first day of March in every year, make a report in writing to the Local Government Board (a), of the proceedings of himself and of the other inspectors under this Act, and a copy of such report shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament (b). Annual report to Local Government Board (a).

(a) Now the Minister of Health (Ministry of Health Act, 1919, post, p. 5189).

(b) It was thought unnecessary in this section to re-enact that the other inspectors should furnish the chief inspector with a detailed account of the number of inspectors of works in their district, and the recorded escapes of acid gases from such works during the preceding year, having regard to the general powers which the Minister of Health as successor to the L. G. B. possesses under s. 10, ante, p. 5008.

14.—(1) If any sanitary authority apply to the central authority (a) for an additional inspector under this Act, and undertake to pay a proportion of his salary or remuneration, not being less than one half, the Local Government Board (b) may (if they see fit), with the sanction of the Treasury, appoint an additional inspector under this Act, to reside within a convenient distance of the works he is required to inspect; and such inspector shall have the same powers and be subject to the same power of removal and to the same regulations and liabilities as other inspectors under this Act. Additional inspector on application of sanitary authorities.

Section 14. (2) The proportion of salary or remuneration aforesaid shall be paid at the prescribed times into the Exchequer, and shall be a debt due from the sanitary authority to the Crown (c).

(a) That is, the Minister of Health. See s. 27, post, p. 5013.

(b) Now the Minister of Health (Ministry of Health Act, 1919, post, p. 5189).

(c) The effect is that the debt is recoverable by an immediate extent of the property of the local authority in case of default of payment on demand.

(iii) SPECIAL RULES.

Power of owners of works to make special rules.

15.—(1) The owner of an alkali work or of a scheduled work may, with the sanction of the central authority (a), make special rules for the guidance of his workmen who are employed in or in connexion with any process causing the evolution of any noxious or offensive gas, or in or in connexion with the condensation or other treatment of that gas, and may annex fines to any violation of such rules, so that the fine for any offence do not exceed two pounds.

(2) A printed copy of the special rules in force under this section in any work shall be given by the owner of that work to every person working or employed in or about that work who is affected thereby.

(3) Any fine incurred under this Act in respect of an offence against a special rule may be recovered in accordance with the Summary Jurisdiction Acts.

(a) That is, the Minister of Health. See s. 27, post, p. 5013.

(iv) PROCEDURE.

Provision as to calculation of acid.

16. In calculating the proportion of acid to a cubic foot of air, smoke, or gases, for the purposes of this Act, such air, smoke, or gases shall be calculated at the temperature of sixty degrees of Fahrenheit's thermometer, and at a barometric pressure of thirty inches.

Recovery of fines for offences against Act in county court.

17. The following regulations shall have effect with respect to the recovery of fines for offences under this Act other than fines recoverable summarily:—

(1) Every such fine (a) shall be recovered by action in the county court having jurisdiction in the district in which the offence is alleged to have been committed :

(2) The action shall not be brought without the sanction of the central authority, nor by any person other than the chief inspector or such other inspector as the Local Government Board (b) may in any particular case direct, nor, except as respects a fine for the contravention of the provisions of this Act as to the registration of works (c), after the expiration of three months from the commission of the offence (d), and for the purposes of such action the fine shall be deemed to be a debt due to such inspector (e) :

(3) The plaintiff in any action for a fine under this Act shall be presumed to be an inspector authorised under this Act to bring the action, until the contrary is proved by the defendant (f) :

(4) The court may, on the application of either party, appoint a person to take down in writing the evidence of the witnesses, and may award to that person such remuneration as the court thinks just ; and the amount so awarded shall be deemed to be costs in the action :

(5) If either party in any action under this Act feels aggrieved by the decision or direction of the court in point of law, or on the merits (g), or in respect of the admission or rejection of any evidence, he may appeal to the High Court :

- (6) Subject to the provisions of this section, all the enactments, rules, and orders relating to proceedings in actions in county courts, and to enforcing judgments in county courts, and to appeals shall apply as if the action related to a matter within the ordinary jurisdiction of the court. Section 17.

(a) The word "fine" seems hardly applicable to a sum which is to be recovered by civil proceedings. It is equivalent here to "penalty." This Act provides for maximum and not for fixed penalties, and does not point out who is to decide the proper amount. The fine is to be claimed as a debt, and it seems that the inspector should sue for the maximum amount, the judge of the court giving judgment for the amount he shall deem sufficient.

(b) Now Minister of Health.

(c) This exception was new. The fine in such case is a sum not exceeding £50, see s. 9 (8), ante.

(d) The offence may be continuing, or there may be a separate offence for every day it is continued. See for continuing offences, ss. 2 (2), 3 (2), 4 (2), 7 (2), ante, and ss. 1 (2), 6 (3), ante, and 18, post.

(e) As to the application of the fine, see s. 19, infra. There is no express provision for the costs of the inspector, but as he will be acting officially, it is presumed that the costs so far as not recovered from the defendant will be paid by the Treasury.

(f) It will therefore not be necessary for the inspector to produce the Gazette which according to s. 10 (2), ante, p. 5008, will be evidence of his appointment.

(g) This appears to signify the effect of the facts proved in evidence, but the term though in common use is indefinite, and may perhaps be considered to include the amount of the penalty.

18.—(1) In any proceeding under this Act in relation to a fine for an offence other than an offence against a special rule (a)— Further provisions as to recovery of fines in county court.

(a) It shall be sufficient to allege that any work is a work to which this Act applies, without more; and

(b) It shall be sufficient to state the name of the registered or ostensible owner of the work, or the title of the firm by which the employer of persons in such work is usually known.

(2) A person shall not be subject to a fine under this Act for more than one offence in respect of the same work or place in respect of any one day.

(3) Not less than twenty-one days before the hearing of any proceeding against an owner (b) to recover a fine under this Act for failing to secure the condensation of any gas to the satisfaction of the chief inspector, or for failing to use the best practicable means (b) as required by this Act, an inspector shall serve on the owner (b) proceeded against a notice in writing stating, as the case requires, either the facts on which such chief inspector founds his opinion, or the means which such owner has failed to use, and the means which, in the chief inspector's opinion, would suffice, and shall produce a copy of such notice before the court having cognisance of the matter.

(4) A person shall not be liable under this Act to an increased fine in respect of a second offence, or in respect of a third or any subsequent offence, unless a fine has been recovered within the preceding twelve months against such person for the first offence, or for the second or other offence, as the case may be.

(a) As to special rules, see s. 15, ante, p. 5010.

(b) Defined by s. 27, post, p. 5013.

19. All fines recovered under this Act, other than those recovered summarily (a), shall be paid into the Exchequer. Application of fines.

(a) Fines recovered summarily include all fines in respect of offences against a special rule under s. 15, ante, p. 5010, or for obstruction under s. 12 (4), ante, p. 5009. The fines so recovered not being appropriated, must be paid to the county or borough treasurer under the S. J. A., 1848, s. 31 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 289), and the Criminal Justice Administration Act, 1851, s. 11 (4 Halsbury's Statutes 526).

Receipts for fines whether recovered in the County Court, or summarily, are exempt from stamp duty (see the Revenue Act, 1898, s. 8 (16 Halsbury's Statutes 706); amending the Stamp Act, 1891, Schedule I. (16 Halsbury's Statutes 656)).

Discharge of owner on conviction of actual offender.

20. The owner (a) of a work in which an offence under this Act other than an offence against a special rule has been proved to have been committed shall in every case be deemed to have committed the offence, and shall be liable to pay the fine, unless he proves to the satisfaction of the court before which any proceeding is instituted to recover such fine, that he has used due diligence to comply with and to enforce the execution of this Act, and that the offence in question was committed, without his knowledge, consent, or connivance, by some agent servant or workman, whom he shall charge by name as the actual offender; in which case such agent servant or workman shall be liable to pay the fine, and proceedings may be taken against him for the recovery thereof and of the costs of all proceedings which may be taken either against himself or against the owner under this Act:

Provided that it shall be lawful for the inspector to proceed against the person whom he believes to be the actual offender, without first proceeding against the owner, in any case where the inspector is satisfied that the owner has used all due diligence to comply with and to enforce the provisions of this Act, and that the offence has been committed by that person without the knowledge, consent, or connivance of the owner (b).

(a) Defined by s. 27, post, p. 5013.

(b) Compare the Locomotives Act, 1898, s. 13 (2), ante, p. 4944, the Factories Act 1937, ss. 136 and 137, ante, p. 1521, and the Food and Drugs Act, 1938, s. 83, ante, p. 1428'.

notices.

21. Any notice, summons, or other document required or authorised for the purposes of this Act to be delivered to or served on or sent to the owner of any work, may be served by post or by delivering the same to the owner or at his residence or works; and the document shall be deemed to be properly addressed if addressed to the registered address of an owner, or, when required to be served on or sent to the owner of any works, if addressed to the owner of the works at the works, with the addition of the proper postal address, but without naming the person who is the owner (a).

Complaint by sanitary authority in cases of nuisances.

22.—(1) Where complaint is made to the central authority (a) by any sanitary authority (a), on information given by any of their officers, or any ten inhabitants of their district, that any work to which this Act applies is carried on (either within or without the district) in contravention of this Act, or that any alkali waste is deposited or discharged (either within or without the district) in contravention of this Act, and that a nuisance is occasioned thereby to any of the inhabitants of their district, the central authority shall make such inquiry into the matters complained of, and after the inquiry may direct such proceedings to be taken by an inspector as they think fit and just.

(2) The sanitary authority (a) complaining shall, if so required by the central authority, pay the expense of any such inquiry (b).

(a) Defined by s. 27, post, p. 5013.

(b) As to the fund out of which these expenses are payable, see now L.G.A., 1933, ante.

Actions in case of contributory
nuisance.

23.—(1) Where a nuisance arising from the discharge of any noxious or offensive gas (a) or gases is wholly or partially caused by the acts or defaults of the owners (a) of several works to which any of the provisions of this Act applies, any person injured by such nuisance may proceed against any one or more of such owners, and may recover damages from each owner made a defendant in proportion to the extent of the contribution of that defendant to the nuisance, notwithstanding that the act or default of that defendant would not separately have caused a nuisance (b).

(2) This section shall not authorise the recovery of damages from any defendant who can produce a certificate from the chief inspector that in the works of that defendant the requirements of this Act have been complied with and were complied with when the nuisance arose.

(a) Defined by s. 27, infra.

(b) See note (m), ante, p. 4583.

(v) MISCELLANEOUS.

24. [This section was repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 1288.]

25. In determining any matter which under this Act is to be determined by the chief inspector, the chief inspector may found his opinion on facts disclosed by his own examination, or by an examination by any other inspector.

(a) the manufacture of sulphate of soda or sulphate of potash, or

(b) the treatment of copper ores by common salt or other chlorides whereby any sulphate is formed, in which muriatic acid gas is evolved :

The expression “noxious or offensive gas” includes the following gases and fumes (a) :—

Muriatic acid ;

Sulphuric acid ;

Sulphurous acid, except that arising solely from the combustion of coal ;

Nitric acid and acid-forming oxides of nitrogen ;

Sulphuretted hydrogen ;

Chlorine, and its acid compounds ;

Fluorine compounds ;

Cyanogen compounds ;

Bisulphide of carbon ;

Chloride of sulphur ;

Fumes from cement works ;

Fumes containing copper, lead, antimony, arsenic, zinc, or their compounds ;

Fumes from tar works :

The expression “owner” includes any lessee, occupier, or any other person carrying on any work to which this Act applies :

The expression “best practicable means,” where used with respect to the prevention of the escape of noxious and offensive gases, has reference not only to the provision and the efficient maintenance of appliances adequate for preventing such escape, but also to the manner in which such appliances are used and to the proper supervision, by the owner, of any operation in which such gases are evolved :

The expression “prescribed” means prescribed by the Local Government Board (b) :

The expression “Local Government Board” means the Local Government Board established by the Local Government Board Act, 1871 (b) : Repeals.

30. The Acts specified in the second schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent mentioned in the third column of that schedule (a).

Provided that—

(a) Nothing in this Act shall affect any certificate, special rule, or notice issued, made, or served before the commencement of this Act in pursuance of any enactment so repealed, but every such certificate, special rule, and notice shall continue in force as if issued, made, or served in pursuance of this Act ; and

(b) Nothing in this Act shall affect the tenure of office of any inspector appointed under any enactment so repealed, but every such inspector shall hold office as if appointed under this Act ; and

(c) Nothing in this Act shall affect any liability of a sanitary authority incurred under any enactment so repealed to pay any proportion of the salary or remuneration of an additional inspector.

SCHEDULES.

FIRST SCHEDULE.

LIST OF WORKS (a).

1. Sulphuric acid works, that is to say, works in which the manufacture of sulphuric acid is carried on by the lead chamber process, namely, the process by which sulphurous acid is converted into sulphuric acid by the agency of oxides of nitrogen and by the use of a lead chamber.

Sections, 6, 7.

2. Sulphuric acid (Class II.) works, that is to say, works in which the manufacture of sulphuric acid is carried on by any process other than the lead chamber process, and works for the concentration or distillation of sulphuric acid.

3. Chemical manure works, that is to say, works in which the manufacture of chemical manure is carried on, and works in which any mineral phosphate is subjected to treatment involving chemical change through the application or use of any acid.

4. Gas liquor works, that is to say, works (not being sulphate of ammonia works or muriate of ammonia works) in which sulphuretted hydrogen or any other noxious or offensive gas is evolved by the use of ammoniacal liquor in any manufacturing process, and works in which any such liquor is desulphurised by the application of heat in any process connected with the purification of gas.

5. Nitric acid works, that is to say, works in which the manufacture of nitric acid is carried on and works in which nitric acid is recovered from oxides of nitrogen.

6. Sulphate of ammonia works and muriate of ammonia works, that is to say, works in which the manufacture of sulphate of ammonia or of muriate of ammonia is carried on.

7. Chlorine works, that is to say, works in which chlorine is made or used in any manufacturing process.

8. Muriatic acid works, that is to say—

- (a) Muriatic acid works, or works (not being alkali works as defined in this Act) where muriatic acid gas is evolved either during the preparation of liquid muriatic acid or for use in any manufacturing process;
- (b) Tin plate works, that is to say, works in which any residue or flux from tin plate works is calcined for the utilisation of such residue or flux, and in which muriatic acid gas is evolved; and
- (c) Salt works, that is to say, works (not being works in which salt is produced by refining rock salt, otherwise than by the dissolution of rock salt at the place of deposit) in which the extraction of salt from brine is carried on, and in which muriatic acid gas is evolved.

9. Sulphide works, that is to say, works in which sulphuretted hydrogen is evolved by the decomposition of metallic sulphides, or in which sulphuretted hydrogen is used in the production of such sulphides.

10. Alkali waste works, that is to say, works in which alkali waste or the drainage therefrom is subjected to any chemical process for the recovery of sulphur or for the utilisation of any constituent of such waste or drainage.

11. Venetian red works, that is to say, works for the manufacture of Venetian red, crocus, or polishing powder, by heating sulphate or some other salt of iron.

12. Lead deposit works, that is to say, works in which the sulphate of lead deposit from sulphuric acid chambers is dried or smelted.

13. Arsenic works, that is to say, works for the preparation of arsenious acid, or where nitric acid or a nitrate is used in the manufacture of arsenic acid or an arseniate.

14. Nitrate and chloride of iron works, that is to say, works in which nitric acid or a nitrate is used in the manufacture of nitrate or chloride of iron.

15. Bisulphide of carbon works, that is to say, works for the manufacture of bisulphide of carbon.

16. Sulphocyanide works, that is to say, works in which the manufacture of any sulphocyanide is carried on by the reaction of bisulphide of carbon upon ammonia or any of its compounds.

17. Picric acid works, that is to say, works in which nitric acid or a nitrate is used in the manufacture of picric acid.

18. Paraffin oil works, that is to say, works in which crude shale oil is refined.

19. Bisulphite works, that is to say, works in which sulphurous acid is used in the manufacture of acid sulphites of the alkalis or alkaline earths.

20. Tar works, that is to say, works where gas tar or coal tar is distilled or is heated in any manufacturing process.

Sched. I.

21. Zinc works, that is to say, works in which, by the application of heat, zinc is extracted from the ore, or from any residue containing that metal.

(a) This list has been added to by an order of 1935 made by the Minister of Health under the P. H. (Smoke Abatement) Act, 1926, s. 4 (1), Vol. V. and 13 Halsbury's Statutes 1159; see Alkali, etc., Works Order, 1935.

OPEN SPACES ACT, 1906.

(6 EDW. 7, c. 25) (a).

An Act to consolidate Enactments relating to Open Spaces. [4th August, 1906.]

LOCAL AUTHORITIES.

Local
authorities.

1. Each of the following bodies shall be a local authority for the purposes of this Act, namely—

The council of any county, of any municipal or metropolitan borough, or of any district :

The common council of the city of London :

Any parish council invested with the powers of this Act by an order of the council of the county within which the parish is situate.

(a) This Act repeals and consolidates with amendments the whole of the previous legislation on the subject except so much of s. 4 of the Open Spaces Act, 1887, as amends the Disused Burial Grounds Act, 1884, ante, pp. 4699, 4694. It should, however, be considered with Part VI. of the P. H. A. A. A., 1907, post, p. 5053, and Part VI. of the P. H. A., 1925, Vol. V., post.

Part V. of the L. C. C. (G. P.) Act, 1935 (28 Halsbury's Statutes 151), relates to "open spaces" and (inter alia) "disused burial grounds," which terms are defined in language differing, verbally at least, from the definitions in the present Act, post, p. 5024. Under the Act of 1935, the L. C. C. or the council of a metropolitan borough can, outside as well as inside the county of London, make and maintain open air baths and swimming pools, places for dancing, golf courses, gymnasia, and rifle ranges; contribute towards bands, provide concerts, pageants, facilities for skating, and swings; and erect for these purposes buildings and do or forbid the doing of various other things, in open spaces vested in such councils or controlled or managed by them. These powers are parallel to, although wider (or at least more specific) than, the powers of the Acts of 1907 and 1925 cited in the preceding note, and it may therefore be useful to refer to a judgment of the Consistory Court for London, upon the relation between the Act of 1935 and the previous law affecting disused burial grounds (St. Dunstan, Stepney), at p. 8 of "The Times" newspaper for 21st June, 1937, in which the learned Chancellor considered the case of Shrewsbury (Earl) v. Scott (1859), 6 C. B. N. S. 2; especially per BYLES, J., ibid. 219.

POWER TO TRANSFER OPEN SPACES AND BURIAL GROUNDS TO LOCAL AUTHORITIES.Power of trustees under local Act to transfer

2.—(1) Where an open space (b) is, in pursuance of a local or private Act of Parliament, placed under the care and management of trustees or other persons (in this section referred to as trustees), with a view to the preservation and regulation thereof as a garden or open space, the trustees may, in pursuance of a special resolution (c), and with the consent, signified by a special resolution (c), of the owners (b) and occupiers (b) of any houses which front upon the open space, or of which the owners and occupiers are liable to be specially rated for the maintenance of the open space—

open spaces to local authority or admit other persons to enjoyment thereof (a).

- (a) convey, for or without any consideration, to any local authority, their estate or interest in the open space or, if they have no such estate or interest, transfer to any local authority the entire care and management of the open space, to the end that the space may be preserved for the enjoyment of the public; or
- (b) grant, for or without any consideration, to any local authority any term of years or other limited interest in or any right or easement over the open space; or
- (c) make any agreement with any local authority for the opening to the public of the open space and the care and management thereof by the local authority, either at all times or at any specified time or times; or
- (d) notwithstanding anything in the Act or any instrument under which the trustees are constituted or act, admit persons not owning, occupying, or residing in any house fronting on the open space to the enjoyment of the open space, either at all times or at any specified time or times, and regulate the admission of such persons thereto on such terms and conditions as the trustees think proper.

(2) Where the freehold of the open space and the freehold of all or the greater part of the houses round the open space are vested in the same person the powers conferred by this section shall not be exercised without the consent of that person.

(3) Any such conveyance, transfer, grant, or agreement shall be made, if the trustees are a corporation, by an instrument under the common seal of the trustees, and if the trustees are not a corporation, by an instrument under the hands and seals of any five of the trustees, or of all the trustees if for the time being they are less than five in number.

(4) Any conveyance, transfer, grant, or agreement under this section shall be deemed a good execution of the trusts, powers, and duties imposed or conferred upon the trustees by the Act or instrument under which they are constituted or act, and where the trustees convey their entire interest in, or transfer the entire care and management of, the open space they shall, on the execution of the conveyance or transfer, be relieved and discharged from all trusts, powers, and duties under the Act or instrument or otherwise with reference to the open space.

(5) The trustees shall hold any purchase money or rent paid for or in respect of the open space in trust for the benefit of the persons or class of persons for whose benefit the open space was previously preserved and managed by the trustees, or, as the case may be, for the benefit of the objects to which any rates previously imposed in respect of the open space had been applied, and such persons or class of persons shall be discharged either absolutely, or, if the grant was for a term of years or other limited interest, during the continuance of that interest, from any special rate or other obligation previously imposed on them in respect of the open space.

(a) This section reproduces s. 2 of the Metropolitan Open Spaces Act, 1881, as extended by the Open Spaces Act, 1887.

(b) Defined by s. 20, post, p. 5024.

(c) As to special resolutions and consents, see s. 8, post, p. 5020.

3.—(1) Where any land is held by trustees (not being trustees elected or appointed under any local or private Act of Parliament) upon trust for the purposes of public recreation, the trustees may, in pursuance of a special resolution (b), transfer the land to any local authority by a free gift absolutely or for a limited term, and, if the local authority accept the gift, they shall hold the land on the trusts and subject to the conditions on and subject to which the trustees held the same, or on such other trusts and subject to such other conditions (so that the land be appropriated to the purposes of public recreation) as may be agreed on between the trustees and the local authority with the approval of the Charity Commissioners.

(2) Subject to the obligation of the land so transferred being used for the purposes of public recreation, the local authority may hold the land as and for the purposes of an open space under this Act.

(a) This section reproduces s. 3 of the Open Spaces Act, 1890.

(b) See s. 8, post, p. 5020.

Transfer by charity trustees of open space to local authority (a).

4.—(1) Where an open space is vested in trustees, other than such as are mentioned in the foregoing provisions of this Act, for any charitable purpose and as part of their trust estate, and it appears to the majority of the trustees that the open space is no longer required for the purposes of their trust, or may with advantage to the trust be dealt with under this section, the trustees may, in pursuance of a special resolution (b), and where the open space is subject to the Charitable Trusts Acts, 1853 to 1894 (c), with such authority or approval (d) as is required by those Acts for a sale of the open space, and in other cases in pursuance of an order of the court to be obtained as hereinafter provided, convey or demise the open space to any local authority on such terms as they may agree, and the local authority shall thenceforth be entitled to hold the same as an open space on the terms and under the conditions specified in the conveyance or demise, or on such terms or under such conditions as may be so authorised or approved, or as the court may from time to time order, as the case may be.

(2) The court for the purposes of this section shall be either the High Court or the county court of the district in which the whole or any part of the open space is situate.

(3) An order of the court for the purposes of this section may be made upon application by the trustees, in manner directed by rules of court, and the court, before making any order, may direct such inquiries to be made, such consents to be obtained, and notice to be given to such persons, as to the court seem expedient, and may make such order thereon as in the discretion of the court appears proper.

(a) This section reproduces s. 4 of the Open Spaces Act, 1890.

(b) See s. 8, post, p. 5020.

(c) These Acts are as follows: the Charitable Trusts Acts, 1853; 1855; 1860; 1862; 1869; 1887, and the Charity Trusts (Recovery) Act, 1891 (2 Halsbury's Statutes 320, 346, 363, 370, 372, 382, 394). Trustees of charities also have the powers of a tenant for life under a settlement subject to the jurisdiction of the court, the charity commissioners or other competent authority (Settled Land Act, 1925, s. 29 (3) (17 Halsbury's Statutes 869).

(d) The authority or approval required seems to be that of the Charity Commissioners under s. 24 of the Charitable Trusts Act, 1853 (2 Halsbury's Statutes 328), or under an Act of Parliament or under the authority of a court or according to a scheme legally established (s. 29 of the Charitable Trusts Act, 1855 (op. cit. 353), and In re Mason's Orphanage & London & North Western Rail. Co., [1896] 1 Ch. 596, per LINDLEY, L.J., at p. 601; 8 Digest 356, 1543).

Transfer to local authority by owners of open spaces subject to rights of user (a).

5.—(1) Where any open space (b) is subject to rights of user for exercise and recreation in the owners (b) or occupiers (b), or both, of any houses round or near the same, whether the rights are secured by covenant or not, the owner of the open space may, with the consent, signified by a special resolution (c), of such owners or occupiers, or both, as the case may require,—

(a) convey to any local authority his estate or interest in the open space in
- trust for the enjoyment of the public; or

(b) grant to any local authority in trust as aforesaid any term of years or other limited interest in or any right or easement over the open space ; Section 5.
or

(c) make an agreement with any local authority for the opening to the public of the open space and the care and management thereof by the local authority either at all times or at any specified times :

and thereupon the owner shall be discharged from any liability to any person entitled to any right of user in respect of any act done in accordance with the consent so given.

(2) Where any person has any term of years or other limited interest in any such open space this section shall apply to him with reference to that interest in like manner as it applies to the owner of the open space.

(3) Where any open space is used as a place of exercise and recreation for the inhabitants of certain houses, and the property and right of user is vested in one or more persons as owners or occupiers of the houses, those owners and occupiers (if any) may convey to a local authority in trust for the public a right to enter upon, use, and enjoy the open space subject to such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon.

(a) Sub-ss. (1) and (2) of this section are taken from s. 3 of the Metropolitan Open Spaces Act, 1881, as extended by the Open Spaces Act, 1887.

Sub-s. (3) is taken from s. 2 of the Metropolitan Open Spaces Act, 1877, as extended by the Open Spaces Act, 1887.

(b) Defined by s. 20, post, p. 5024.

(c) See s. 8, post, p. 5020.

6. The owner (a) of any disused burial ground (a) may convey the burial ground to, or grant any term of years or other limited interest therein to, or make any agreement with, any local authority for the purpose of giving the public access to the burial ground, and preserving the same as an open space accessible to the public and under the control of the local authority, and for the purpose of improving and laying out the same. Transfer of disused burial grounds to local authority (b).

(a) Defined by s. 20, post, p. 5024.

(b) This section is taken from s. 4 of the Metropolitan Open Spaces Act, 1881, as extended by the Open Spaces Act, 1887.

A faculty was granted and a transfer made under the earlier Act in Re Mount Street, Hanover Square, Burial Ground (1888), 4 T. L. R. 661.

For a case in which terms were imposed upon the grant of a faculty, see Bermondsey B. C. v. Mortimer, [1926] P. 87 ; Digest Supp.

7.—(1) Any corporation (other than a municipal corporation) or persons having power, either with or without the consent of any other corporation or persons, to sell any land may, but with the like consent (if any), convey, for or without any consideration, to any local authority that land, or any part thereof, for the purpose of the same being preserved as an open space for the enjoyment of the public under this Act, and may so convey the same with or without conditions, and the local authority may accept the land for that purpose, and, if conditions are imposed, subject to such conditions. Power of corporation, etc., to convert land for open space (a).

(2) Where a corporation having power under this section to convey land are themselves a local authority, this section shall enable the authority to appropriate their land as an open space for the enjoyment of the public, and shall, with the necessary modifications, apply to the appropriation in like manner as it applies to the conveyance.

(3) Every parish council shall be a local authority for the purposes of this section.

(a) This section is taken from s. 7 of the Open Spaces Act, 1887, as extended by s. 17 (3) of the Commons Act, 1889.

Section 7.

Sanitary authorities have power to sell land under s. 165 of the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 993. Instead of selling such land they may under this section appropriate it as an open space. As to education authorities appropriating land for non-educational purposes, see s. 114, Education Act, 1921 (7 Halsbury's Statutes 191).

Special resolutions and consents (a).

8.—(1) A resolution shall for the purposes of this Act be a special resolution (a) when it has been—

- (a) passed by a majority of at least two-thirds of the persons present at a meeting summoned as hereinafter provided; and
- (b) confirmed by another resolution passed by a majority of at least two-thirds of the persons present at a meeting summoned as hereinafter provided and held after an interval of not less than one month from the first meeting.

(2) A meeting of trustees for the purposes of this Act shall be summoned by a notice stating generally the object of the meeting, which notice shall be left at, or sent by post, at least one month before the date of the meeting, to the last known or usual place of abode of each trustee.

(3) A meeting of owners and occupiers of houses under this Act shall be summoned by a notice stating generally the object of the meeting, which notice shall be left at, or sent through the post to, each of such houses, at least one month before the date of the meeting, and shall be inserted as an advertisement at least three times in any two or more papers circulating in the neighbourhood.

(4) If at any meeting of trustees or of owners and occupiers under this Act a resolution with respect to an open space is rejected, no meeting of the trustees, or, as the case may be, the owners or occupiers, shall be called or held with the same object and with respect to the same open space until the expiration of three years from the date of the rejection.

(5) A meeting of owners or occupiers of houses for the purposes of this Act shall not be held between the first day of August in one year and the thirty-first day of January in the following year.

(a) Special resolutions are required under ss. 2, 3, 4 and 5, ante.

This section re-enacts similar provisions of s. 2 of the Metropolitan Open Spaces Act, 1881, as extended by the Open Spaces Act, 1887.

POWERS OF LOCAL AUTHORITIES WITH RESPECT TO OPEN SPACES AND BURIAL GROUNDS.

Power of local authority to acquire open space or burial ground (a).

9. A local authority may, subject to the provisions of this Act,—

- (a) acquire by agreement and for valuable or nominal consideration by way of payment in gross, or of rent, or otherwise, or without any consideration, the freehold of, or any term of years (b) or other limited estate or interest in or any right or easement in or over, any open space or burial ground (c), whether situate within the district of the local authority or not; and
- (b) undertake the entire or partial care, management, and control of any such open space or burial ground, whether any interest in the soil is transferred to the local authority or not; and
- (c) for the purposes aforesaid, make any agreement with any person authorised by this Act or otherwise to convey or to agree with reference to any open space or burial ground, or with any other persons interested therein.

(a) This section is taken from the first paragraph of s. 5 of the Metropolitan Open Spaces Act, 1881, as extended by the Open Spaces Act, 1887.

(b) Where a vestry acquired the residue of a term of twenty-six years in an open space by assignment of the lease creating the term, it was held that they were "owners" within the meaning of s. 250 of the Metropolitan Management Act, 1855 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 946) (St. Mary, Islington, Vestry v. Cobbett, [1895] 1 Q. B. 369; 26 Digest 492, 2022).

On the other hand, in London C. C. v. Wandsworth Borough Council, [1903] 1 K. B. 797; 67 J. P. 215; 26 Digest 492, 2024, the Court of Appeal held that the county council were not owners of a common vested in them by statute as a public recreation ground, and overruled the case of Fulham Vestry v. Minter, [1901] 1 K. B. 501; 65 J. P. 180; 26 Digest 492, 2023, where it had been held that the vestry were owners of an open space acquired by them under the powers conferred by the Open Spaces Acts, 1877 and 1881.

(c) Defined by s. 20, post, p. 5024.

Note to Section 9.

10. A local authority who have acquired any estate or interest in or control over any open space or burial ground (b) under this Act shall, subject to any conditions under which the estate, interest, or control was so acquired—

Maintenance of open spaces and burial grounds by local authority (a).

(a) hold and administer the open space or burial ground in trust to allow, and with a view to, the enjoyment thereof by the public as an open space within the meaning of this Act and under proper control and regulation and for no other purpose; and

(b) maintain and keep the open space or burial ground in a good and decent state (c), and may inclose it or keep it inclosed with proper railings and gates, and may drain, level, lay out, turf, plant, ornament, light, provide with seats, and otherwise improve it, and do all such works and things and employ such officers and servants as may be requisite for the purposes aforesaid or any of them.

(a) This section is taken from the second paragraph of s. 5 of the Metropolitan Open Spaces Act, 1881, as amended by s. 7 of the Open Spaces Act, 1890, and extended by the Open Spaces Act, 1887.

But there is also an important amendment here introduced for the first time by the omission of the words "free from buildings," which occurred in the original enactment. These words had given rise to considerable litigation in the case of Paddington Corporation v. Att.-Gen., [1906] A. C. 1; 70 J. P. 41; 7 Digest 553, 300, where it was held that the local authority were entitled, notwithstanding those words, to prevent by the erection of a screen or other suitable means anything which might interfere with the free use by the public of the open space, and to prevent the acquisition of an easement of light or other adverse right over such space by an adjoining owner. The effect of the omission of these words, "free from buildings," is to leave the local authority clearly at liberty to erect on an open space buildings conducive to the public enjoyment of the open space as such, but presumably (see s. 20), such buildings should not occupy more than one-twentieth of the whole area. The restriction as to the erection of buildings on disused burial grounds imposed by s. 3 of the Disused Burial Grounds Act, 1884, ante, p. 4694, is not affected by this section (Bermondsey B. C. v. Mortimer, [1926] P. 87; Digest Supp.), but as regards open spaces in London (or outside, if owned, controlled or managed by the L. C. C. or a M. B. C.) see the local Act cited in notes to s. 1, ante, p. 5016.

(b) Defined by s. 20, post, p. 5024.

(c) The erection of a caretaker's lodge may be justified under this provision (Att.-Gen. v. Poole Corporation, [1938] 1 Ch. 23; [1937] 3 All E. R. 608; Digest Supp.).

11.—(1) A local authority shall not exercise any of the powers of management under this Act with reference to any consecrated burial ground (a) unless and until they are authorised to do so by the licence or faculty of the bishop (b).

Special provisions as to management of burial grounds and removal of tombstones.

(2) The playing of any games or sports shall not be allowed in any burial ground in or over which a local authority have acquired any estate, interest, or control under this Act, except that—

(a) in the case of a consecrated burial ground, the bishop by licence or faculty; and

(b) in the case of any burial ground which is not consecrated, the persons from whom the local authority have acquired the estate, interest, or control in or over the same may expressly sanction any such use of the burial ground, and may specify any conditions as to the extent or nature of such use (c).

(3) In the case (d) of any disused burial ground (e), at least three months before removing or changing the position of any tombstone or monument, a local authority shall—

Section 11.

- (a) prepare a statement sufficiently describing by the name and date appearing thereon the tombstones and monuments standing or being in the ground, and such other particulars as may be necessary, and shall cause this statement to be deposited with the clerk of the local authority, and to be open to inspection by all persons; and
- (b) insert an advertisement of the intention to remove or change the position of such tombstones and monuments three times at least in some newspaper circulating in the neighbourhood, and by that advertisement give notice of the deposit of the statement hereinbefore described, and of the place at which and the hours within which the same may be inspected; and
- (c) place a notice in terms similar to the advertisement on the door of the church (if any) to which the burial ground is attached, and deliver or send by post a notice to any person known or believed by the local authority to be a near relative of any person whose death is recorded on any such tombstone or monument.

(4) In the case of a consecrated ground, no tombstone or monument shall be removed or its position changed without a licence or faculty from the bishop, and no application for such licence or faculty shall be made until the expiration of one month at least after the appearance of the last of such advertisements as aforesaid:

Provided that on an application for a licence or faculty nothing shall prevent the bishop from directing or sanctioning the removal or change of position of any tombstone or monument, if he is of opinion that reasonable steps have been taken to bring the intention to effect such removal or change of position to the notice of some person having a family interest in the tombstone or monument.

(5) A licence or faculty for the purposes of this section may be granted by the bishop of the diocese within which the consecrated burial ground is situate on the application of the local authority who have acquired any estate, interest, or control in or over the burial ground, and may be granted subject to such conditions and restrictions as to the bishop may seem fit (f).

(b) This sub-section is taken from the proviso to s. 5 of the Metropolitan Open Spaces Act, 1881.

Faculties were granted under that section in Re Mound Street, Hanover Square, Burial Ground (1888), 4 T. L. R. 661; Re St. George-the-Martyr, Queen Square (1888), 4 T. L. R. 703, and for filling up vaults out of repair in Vicar of St. Botolph-without-Aldgate v. Parishioners, [1892] P. 173; 7 Digest 555, 322.

(d) This sub-section is taken from s. 3 of the Open Spaces Act, 1887.

(e) See note (a) to s. 10, ante, p. 5021.

(f) This sub-section is taken from the proviso to s. 5 of the Metropolitan Open Spaces Act, 1881.

Powers over open spaces and burial grounds already vested in local authority.

12. A local authority may exercise all the powers given to them by this Act respecting open spaces and burial grounds transferred to them in pursuance of this Act in respect of any open spaces and burial grounds of a similar nature which may be vested in them in pursuance of any other statute, or of which they are otherwise the owners (a).

(a) This section is taken from s. 11 of the Open Spaces Act, 1887. It will be available where an open space has been vested in a local authority on some title which does not confer a power of spending rate moneys or of making byelaws, but in practice the chief use made of it has been where a local authority has had control of a ground governed by the Recreation Grounds Act, 1859. Section 6 of that Act (12 Halsbury's Statutes 370) gives a power to make byelaws, requiring approval by the Charity Commissioners, but it gives no power to impose penalties recoverable in a court of summary jurisdiction for contravention of the byelaws. By agreement between the Charity Commissioners and the L. G. B. and M. of H., s. 12 of the Act of 1906 has been used in such cases. It is, of course, available equally in other cases, but the L. G. B. and M. of H. have not as confirming authority for byelaws under sub-section (2) of s. 15, post, p. 5023, considered it proper, by using this section in conjunction with s. 14, to close a pleasure ground provided under the Public Health Acts, on days when it could not be closed under those Acts standing alone: vide, s. 44 of the P. H. A. A. A., 1890, ante, p. 4818.

Section 12.

13. No estate, interest, or right of a profitable or beneficial nature in, over, or affecting an open space or burial ground shall, except with the consent of the person entitled thereto, be taken away or injuriously affected by anything done under this Act without compensation being made for the same; and such compensation shall be paid by the local authority by whom the estate, interest, or right is taken away or injuriously affected, and shall, in case of difference, be ascertained and provided in the same manner as if the same were compensation for lands purchased and taken otherwise than by agreement of injuriously affected under the Lands Clauses Acts (a). Provision for compensation.

See the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, ante, p. 4104, and notes.

14. A county council may purchase or take on lease, lay out, plant, improve, and maintain lands for the purpose of being used as public walks or pleasure grounds, and may support or contribute to the support of public walks or pleasure grounds provided by any person whomsoever (a). Power of county councils as to public walks or pleasure grounds.

15.—(1) A local authority may, with reference to any open space or burial ground in or over which they have acquired any estate, interest, or control under this Act, make byelaws for the regulation thereof, and of the days and times of admission thereto (aa), and for the preservation of order and prevention of nuisances therein, and may by such byelaws impose penalties recoverable summarily for the infringement thereof, and provide for the removal of any person infringing any byelaw by any officer of the local authority or police constable. Byelaws (a).

(2) All byelaws made under this Act by any local authority shall be made—

- (a) in the case of a county council other than the London County Council, subject and according to the provisions of section sixteen of the Local Government Act, 1888 (b); and 51 & 52 Vict. c. 41.
- (b) in the case of the London County Council, subject and according to the provisions of sections two hundred and two and two hundred and three of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, as modified with respect to parks and open spaces by the London Council (General Powers) Act, 1890, and the London County Council (General Powers) Act, 1898 (c); and 18 & 19 Vict. c. 120.
53 & 54 Vict. c. cxxlii.
61 & 62 Vict. c. cxxxi.
- (c) in the case of the Common Council of the City of London, subject and according to the Corporation of London (Open Spaces) Act, 1878 (d); and 41 & 42 Vict. c. cxxvii.
- (d) in the case of a council of a metropolitan borough, subject and according to the provisions of sections two hundred and two and two hundred and three of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855 (c); and
- (e) in the case of a municipal borough or district or parish council, subject and according to the provisions with respect to byelaws contained in sections one hundred and eighty-two to one hundred and eighty-six of the Public Health Act, 1875 (b), and those sections shall apply to a parish council in like manner as if they were a local authority within the meaning of that Act, except that byelaws made by a parish council need not be under common seal. 38 & 39 Vict. c. 55.

(3) The trustees or other persons having the care and management of any open space, who in pursuance of this Act admit to the enjoyment of the open Section 15. space any persons not owning, occupying, or residing in any house fronting thereon, shall have the same powers of making byelaws as are conferred on a committee of the inhabitants of a square by section four of the Town Gardens Protection Act, 1863 (e), and that section shall apply accordingly.

Power of local authorities to act jointly.

16. Any two or more local authorities may jointly carry out the provisions of this Act and may make any agreement on such terms as may be arranged between them for so doing and for defraying the expenses of the execution of this Act, and any local authority may defray the whole or any part of the expenses incurred by any other local authority in the execution of this Act (a).

Expenses of local authorities.

17. The expenses of a local authority incurred in the execution of this Act may be defrayed—

(a) . . . (a).

(b) in the case of a metropolitan borough council, as expenses of that council;

(c) . . . (a).

(d) in the case of a rural district council, as special expenses . . . (b);

(b) Certain words were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933; as regards special expenses of rural district councils, see s. 190 of that Act, ante, p. 1016.

Borrowing.

18. A local authority may borrow for the purposes of this Act . . . in the case of a metropolitan borough council as for the purposes of the Metropolitan Management Acts, 1855 to 1893; . . .

Certain words in this section were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 735.

SUPPLEMENTAL.

Savings.

19. This Act shall not apply to—

(a) the royal parks; nor

(b) any land belonging to His Majesty in right of His Crown or of His Duchy of Lancaster; nor

(c) any garden, ornamental ground, or ornamental land for the time being under the management of the Commissioners of Works or of the Commissioners for the time being acting under the Crown Estate Paving Act, 1851; nor

(d) any metropolitan common within the meaning of the Metropolitan Commons Acts, 1866 to 1898; nor

(e) any land belonging to either of the honourable Societies of the Inner Temple and Middle Temple.

14 & 15 Vict.
c. 95.

Definitions.

20. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,—

The expression "open space" (a) means any land, whether inclosed or not, on which there are no buildings or of which not more than one-twentieth part is covered with buildings, and the whole or the remainder of which is laid out as a garden or is used for purposes of recreation, or lies waste and unoccupied : Section 20

The expression "common council of the city of London" means the mayor, aldermen, and commons of the city of London in common council assembled :

The expression "owner" (b)—

(a) used in relation to an open space (not being a burial ground), means any person in whom the open space is vested for an estate in possession during his life or for any larger estate ;

(b) used in relation to a house, includes any person entitled to any term of years in the house ;

(c) used in relation to a burial ground, means the person in whom the freehold of the burial ground is vested whether as appurtenant or incident to any benefice or cure of souls or otherwise :

The expression "occupier" (c), used in relation to a house, means the person rated to the relief of the poor (d) in respect of the house :

The expression "burial ground" (e) includes any churchyard, cemetery, or other ground, whether consecrated or not, which has been at any time set apart for the purpose of interment :

The expression "disused burial ground" (f) means any burial ground which is no longer used for interments, whether or not the ground has been partially or wholly closed for burials under the provisions of a statute or Order in Council :

The expression "building" (f) includes any temporary or movable building (g).

(a) This definition differs slightly in wording from that contained in s. 1 of the Metropolitan Open Spaces Act, 1881, as amended by s. 2 of the Open Spaces Act, 1887, and s. 7 of the Open Spaces Act, 1890, but the effect appears to be the same.

(b) This definition is taken from Metropolitan Open Spaces Act, 1881, ss. 1, 2, and 3.

(c) This definition is taken from Metropolitan Open Spaces Act, 1881, ss. 2 and 3.

(d) I.e. to the general rate, see s. 69 (2), R. and V. Act, 1925, ante, p. 2233.

The site of a church where intra-mural burial has taken place was held not to be ground which had been set apart for purposes of interment under the repealed definition (Re Ecclesiastical Commissioners and New City of London Brewery Co.'s Contract, [1895] 1 Ch. 702 ; 7 Digest 552, 293). But that definition was held to include ground set apart though never actually used for interments (Re Ponsford and Newport District School Board, [1894] 1 Ch. 454 ; 7 Digest 551, 291). See also s. 4 of the Open Spaces Act, 1887, ante, p. 4699, and Re Bosworth and Gravesend Corporation, cited in the note. Doubt was, however, expressed as to the correctness of those decisions in Nicholl v. Llantwit Major Parish Council, [1924] 2 Ch. 214 ; Digest Supp. In that case it was held that land purchased for use as a burial ground but never fenced off, consecrated or used for interments, had never been "set apart for the purpose of interment." Nicholl v. Llantwit Major Parish Council was, however, distinguished, and the earlier cases applied in London C. C. v. Greenwich Corporation, [1929] 1 Ch. 305 ; 93 J. P. 123 ; Digest Supp.

(f) This definition is identical with that contained in Open Spaces Act, 1887, s. 4, ante, p. 4699. See the cases cited in the notes thereto.

(g) Sections 21 and 22 apply to Ireland and Scotland only, and are therefore omitted.

23. The Acts mentioned in the schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the Repeal extent specified in the third column of that schedule : (a)

Provided that—

(a) Nothing in this repeal shall affect the validity or operation of any byelaw made under any enactment so repealed, but all such byelaws shall continue in force as if made under that Act, and may be revoked and altered accordingly ; and

(b) Nothing in this repeal shall affect any order of a county council under any enactment repealed investing a parish council with the powers of the Open Spaces Acts, 1877 to 1890, and every

THE LOCAL AUTHORITIES (TREASURY POWERS) ACT, 1906.

(6 EDW. 7, c. 33.)

An Act to transfer to the Local Government Board the Powers of the Treasury under enactments relating to Local Authorities.

[4th August 1906.]

Transfer from Treasury to Local Government Board of powers relating to property and loans of local authorities.

1.—(1) The Local Government Board shall exercise as regards every local authority in England, except the London County Council, any power conferred on the Treasury by any enactment contained in, applied by, or incorporated with the Baths and Washhouses Acts, 1846 to 1899, or (a) the Burial Acts, 1852 to 1900, or any local or private Act (b), as respects dealings with property, loans, and matters connected therewith; and all such enactments, and all enactments referring to the powers so conferred, shall be construed accordingly.

(2) Any such power, if exercised before the passing of this Act, whether by the Treasury or by the Local Government Board, shall be deemed to have been duly exercised.

(3) If any question arises as to whether this Act applies to any power conferred by, or referred to in, any enactment, the decision of the Treasury shall be conclusive for all purposes.

Section 1.

(4) Sub-sections (1) and (5) of section eighty-seven of the Local Government Act, 1888 (which relates to local inquiries), shall apply for the purpose of the carrying out by the Local Government Board of any of the powers transferred to them under this Act.

The Treasury was previously the department whose approval was required to the borrowing of money by burial boards; and where the council of a borough or urban district had been constituted a burial board, or had had transferred to them the powers and duties of a burial board, the Treasury had in nearly every case been the department whose approval was required to the borrowing of money by the council for the purposes of the Burial Acts, 1852—1900.

The effect of sub-s. (1) of s. 1 of the present Act is to substitute the L. G. B. (now the Minister of Health) for the Treasury in relation to the matters above referred to.

(a) The words in italics were repealed by the P. H. A., 1936, Sched. III., ante, p. 727.

(b) The words in italics were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, p. 1276.

2. This Act may be cited as the Local Authorities (Treasury Powers) Short title. Act, 1906.

THE PREVENTION OF CORRUPTION ACT, 1906.

An Act for the better Prevention of Corruption (a). [4th August 1906.]

1.—(1) If any agent (b) corruptly accepts or obtains, or agrees to accept or attempts to obtain, from any person, for himself or for any other person, any gift or consideration as an inducement or reward for doing or forbearing to do, or for having after the passing of this Act done or forborne to do, any act in relation to his principal's affairs or business, or for showing or forbearing to show favour or disfavour to any person in relation to his principal's affairs or business; or Punishment of corrupt transactions with agents.

If any person corruptly gives or agrees to give or offers any gift or consideration to any agent as an inducement or reward for doing or forbearing to do, or for having after the passing of this Act done or forborne to do, any act in relation to his principal's affairs or business, or for showing or forbearing to show favour or disfavour to any person in relation to his principal's affairs or business; or

If any person knowingly gives to any agent (b), or if any agent knowingly uses with intent to deceive his principal, any receipt, account, or other document in respect of which the principal is interested, and which contains any statement which is false or erroneous or defective in any material particular, and which to his knowledge is intended to mislead the principal (c); he shall be guilty of a misdemeanour, and shall be liable on conviction on indictment to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for a term not exceeding two years, or to a fine not exceeding five hundred pounds, or to both such imprisonment and such fine, or on summary conviction to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for a term not exceeding four months, or to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds, or to both such imprisonment and such fine (d).

Section 1.

(2) For the purposes of this Act the expression "consideration" includes valuable consideration of any kind; the expression "agent" includes any person employed by or acting for another (d), and the expression "principal" includes an employer.

(3) A person serving under the Crown or under any corporation or any municipal, borough, county, or district council, or any board of guardians, is an agent within the meaning of this Act (d).

(a) The Public Bodies Corrupt Practices Act, 1889, ante, p. 4796, this Act, and the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1916, post, p. 5164, may be cited as the Prevention of Corruption Acts, 1889 to 1916.

(b) A person serving under any public body within the meaning of the Act of 1889 as amended by s. 4 of the Act of 1916, in addition to the bodies mentioned in that Act, is an agent within the meaning of this Act. See the Act of 1916, s. 4 (3), post, p. 5165.

A police constable on duty is an agent for the purposes of this Act. See Graham v. Hart, [1908] S. C. (J.) 26; 15 Digest 1014, c; see also Secret Commissions and Bribery Prevention League v. Martin (1913), 48 L. Jo. 183; R. v. Whitaker, [1914] 3 K. B. 1283; 79 J. P. 28; 15 Digest 662, 7149.

(c) This paragraph is not limited either by the title of the Act or by the context of the two preceding paragraphs to cases in which the defendant acts corruptly. Neither the corruption nor the attempted corruption of the agent nor his knowledge of the falsity of the statement is a necessary ingredient in the offence created by this paragraph. See Sage v. Eicholz, [1919] 2 K. B. 171; 83 J. P. 170; 15 Digest 1014, 11397. The enactment can be used by local authorities where, for example, a tenant makes a false statement (in writing) to a council's official in order to secure a reduction of rent, or a patient in order to avoid paying for hospital treatment. But see s. 2 (1), infra.

(d) A person convicted on indictment of a misdemeanour under this section shall, where the matter or transaction in relation to which the offence was committed was a contract or a proposal for a contract with His Majesty or any government department or any public body or a sub-contract to execute any work comprised in such a contract, be liable to penal servitude for a term not exceeding seven nor less than three years; but this is not to prevent the infliction in addition to penal servitude of such punishment as under the Acts of 1889 or 1906 may be inflicted in addition to imprisonment, or to prevent the infliction in lieu of penal servitude of any punishment which may be inflicted under the said Acts. See the Act of 1916, s. 1, post, p. 5164.

Where in proceedings under the Act of 1889 or this Act it is proved that any money, gift, or other consideration has been paid or given to or received by a person in the employment of His Majesty or any government department or a public body by or from a person, or agent of a person holding or seeking to obtain a contract from His Majesty or any government department or public body, the money, gift, or consideration shall be deemed to have been paid or given or received corruptly or as such inducement or reward as is mentioned in such Acts unless the contrary is proved. See the Act of 1916, s. 2, post, p. 5165. With regard to the time within which summary proceedings may be commenced, see the Act of 1916, s. 3, post, p. 5165.

(e) See note (b), supra.

Prosecution of offences.

2.—(1) A prosecution for an offence under this Act shall not be instituted without the consent, in England of the Attorney-General or Solicitor-General, and in Ireland of the Attorney-General or Solicitor-General for Ireland.

(2) [Repealed by the Administration of Justice (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1933, s. 10, Sched. III.; 26 Halsbury's Statutes 83, 84.]

(3) Every information for any offence under this Act shall be upon oath.

(4) The expenses of any prosecution on indictment under this Act shall be defrayed as in cases of indictment for felony. Section 2.

(5) A court of quarter sessions shall not have jurisdiction to inquire of, hear, and determine prosecutions on indictments for offences under this Act.

(6) Any person aggrieved by a summary conviction under this Act may appeal to a court of quarter sessions.

3. [Scotland.]

4.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1906. Short title and commencement.

(2) This Act shall come into operation on the first day of January nineteen hundred and seven (a).

(6 Edw. 7, c. 44) (a).

An Act to amend the Law with respect to the consents required for the use of ground for Burials and the construction of Cemeteries.

[21st December, 1906.]

1. The consent of the owner, lessee, and occupier of a dwelling-house to the use for burials of any ground used or appropriated for a burial ground or cemetery, mentioned in section nine of the Burial Act, 1855, shall not be and shall be deemed never to have been required in any case where the dwelling-house is or was begun to be erected or is or was erected or completed after any part of that ground has or had been so used or appropriated : Consents under 18 & 19 Vict. c. 128, s. 9.

Provided (b) that nothing in this section shall affect any rights acquired before the twenty-seventh day of November one thousand nine hundred and six under any judgment or order of a court of competent jurisdiction or under any agreement in writing, but if a dispute, one of the parties to which is a burial authority within the meaning of the Burial Act, 1900 (c), arises under such an agreement as to any such right, the dispute shall, if either party so requires, be determined by the Local Government Board (d) either as arbitrators or otherwise at the option of the Board, in like manner as if it were a difference which the Board are authorised to determine under the Local Government Act, 1888, and section sixty-three and sub-sections (1) and (5) of section eighty-seven of that Act (e), as amended by any subsequent enactment (f), shall apply accordingly. 63 & 64 Vict. c. 15.
51 & 52 Vict. c. 41.

(a) This Act was passed in consequence of the decision in Godden v. Hythe Burial Board [1906] 2 Ch. 270 ; 70 J. P. 285 ; 7 Digest 549, 275, to the effect that s. 9 of the Burial Act, 1855 (2 Halsbury's Statutes 221), prevented burials in a burial ground laid out since 1859 within 100 yards of a dwelling-house erected after the burial ground had been laid out without the consent of the owner, lessee, and occupier of such dwelling-house. A somewhat similar provision is contained in s. 10 of the Cemeteries Clauses Act, 1847, ante, p. 4213, with regard to cemeteries under that Act, and in s. 5 of the Cremation Act, 1902, ante, p. 4999, with regard to a crematorium.

(b) This proviso secured the rights of the plaintiff in Godden v. Hythe Burial Board, supra, under the judgment as well as similar rights acquired by agreement.

(c) See s. 11 of this Act, ante, p. 4994.

(d) Now M. of H. (see Ministry of Health Act, 1919, post, p. 5189).

(e) See these enactments, post.

(f) See the Local Government (Determination of Differences) Act, 1896, ante, p. 4938.

2. In section ten of the Cemeteries Clauses Act, 1847 (a), as incorporated with the Public Health (Interments) Act, 1879, "one hundred yards" shall Consents under 10 & 11 Vict. c. 65.

Section 2. be substituted for "two hundred yards" as the distance from a dwelling-house within which no part of a cemetery may be constructed without the consent of the owner, lessee, and occupier of the house.

THE REMOVAL OF OFFENSIVE MATTER ACT, 1906.

(6 Edw. 7, c. 45.)

An Act to repeal the provisions of the Metropolitan Police Act, 1839, with respect to the removal of Offensive Matter in places within the Metropolitan Police District. [21st December 1906.]

This Act was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

Repeal of
2 & 3 Vict.
c. 47, s. 60,
as to offensive matter.

1. Paragraph (4) of section sixty of the Metropolitan Police Act, 1839 (which paragraph relates to the emptying of privies and the removal of offensive matter), is hereby repealed.

Paragraph (4) of s. 60 of the Act of 1839 was as follows: "Every person who shall empty or begin to empty any privy between the hours of six in the morning and twelve at night, or remove along any thoroughfare any night soil, soap lees, ammoniacal liquor, or other such offensive matter, between the hours of six in the morning and eight in the evening, or who shall at any time use for any such purpose any cart or carriage not having a proper covering, or who shall wilfully or carelessly slop or spill any such offensive matter in the removal thereof, or who shall not carefully sweep and clean every place in which any such offensive matter shall have been placed, slopped or spilled; and in default of the apprehension of the actual offender, the owner of the cart or carriage employed for any such purpose shall be deemed to be the offender: Provided always, that this enactment shall not be construed to prevent the commissioners of sewers within the metropolitan police district, or any person acting in their service or by their direction, from emptying or removing along any thoroughfare at any time the contents of any sewer which they are authorised to cleanse or empty."

So far as regards the county of London this paragraph was repealed by the P. H. (London) A., 1891 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 1025), but it continued in force in the area of the police district outside that county until the passing of the present Act. It was generally considered that it prevented byelaws as to the same subject-matter being made under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 44, or the P. H. A., 1890, s. 26 (1) (13 Halsbury's Statutes 644, 835) (if in force), by urban and rural councils within the limits of the metropolitan police district; and consequently there were but few areas within that district where such byelaws had been made.

In the case of any district adjoining the county of London now proposing byelaws for regulating the removal of offensive matters under s. 82 of the P. H. A., 1936, ante, p. 270, due regard will doubtless be had to the byelaw on the same subject made by the L. C. C. Under the byelaw removal during hours of darkness, which was permissible under the Police Act, is virtually prohibited, and difficulty had arisen in the past where removals had taken place from London into the surrounding districts from the conflict of the hours of removal fixed by the Act and the byelaw respectively. The L. G. B. for many years refused, and the M. of H. is not prepared, to confirm any byelaw which prescribes hours of darkness as times for removal, because proper supervision is then hardly feasible, and the offences sought to be prevented by the byelaw are the more likely to arise.

Reference should also be made to the London Traffic Act, 1924, Sch. III. (9), Vol. V., post, and the London Traffic (Miscellaneous Provisions) Consolidation Regulations, 1934, made thereunder.

Short title.

2. This Act may be cited as the Removal of Offensive Matter Act, 1906.

FINANCE ACT, 1907.

Section 10.

(7 EDW. 7, c. 13) (a).

An Act to grant certain duties of Customs and Inland Revenue, to alter other duties, and to amend the law relating to Customs and Inland Revenue and the National Debt, and to make other provisions for the financial arrangements of the year. [9th August, 1907.]

(a) Part of this Act is here inserted in consequence of the effect of s. 10 as regards the reduction of duty on loan capital issued by local authorities.

PART II.

STAMPS.

10.—(1) Where it is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioners that the loan capital issued (a) by any local authority, corporation, company, or body of persons, in respect of which a statement has, after the commencement of this Act, been delivered to the Commissioners under section eight of the Finance Act, 1899 (b), has been wholly or partly applied for the purpose of the conversion or consolidation of then existing loan capital, that authority, corporation, company, or body of persons, as the case may be, shall be entitled to repayment in respect of the duty charged on the statement so delivered at the rate of two shillings for every hundred pounds of the capital to which the statement relates which is so shown to have been applied for the purpose of the conversion or consolidation of then existing loan capital; but this section shall not apply to any duty payable in respect of a mortgage or marketable security which has been paid on any trust deed or other document securing the loan capital which has been issued.

Reduction of duty on loan capital issued for the purpose of the conversion or consolidation of existing capital. 62 & 63 Vict. c. 9.

(2) If it is represented to the Commissioners by any such local authority, corporation, company, or body of persons that loan capital about to be issued by them is to be applied, in whole or in part, for the purpose of the conversion or consolidation of existing loan capital, the Commissioners may postpone the time for the delivery of the statement and the payment of duty under section eight of the Finance Act, 1899 (b), until the capital has been issued or until such other time as the Commissioners think fit for the purpose of enabling the payment and repayment of the duty to take place as one transaction.

(a) Loan capital may be issued by local authorities under s. 204 of the L. G. A., 1933, anie, p. 1038.

(b) See this section set out (16 Halsbury's Statutes 711); see also s. 29 of the Finance Act, 1934 (27 Halsbury's Statutes 496), for amendment of this section as to stamp duty on loan capital.

Section 1.

ADVERTISEMENTS REGULATION ACT, 1907.

(7 EDW. 7, c. 27.)

An Act to authorise Local Authorities to make Byelaws respecting the Exhibition of Advertisements. [28th August 1907.]

Advertising stations are rateable under the Advertising Stations Rating Act, 1889 (14 Halsbury's Statutes 597), and local authorities have extensive powers as to requiring hoardings to be set up. (See s. 34 of the P. H. A. A. A., 1890, ante, p. 4811, s. 80 of the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847, ante, p. 4209, and s. 32 of the P. H. A. A. A., 1907, post, p. 5052.)

This Act, however, is directed to a different purpose, and gives power to make byelaws for preventing the disfigurement of places by advertisements, and this power has been extended by the Advertisements Regulation Act, 1925, Vol. V., post, and the Ancient Monuments Act, 1931, s. 7, Vol. V. and 24 Halsbury's Statutes 301.

Such byelaws were not subject to the provisions of ss. 182—188 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, pp. 4467—8, or s. 23 of the M. C. Act, 1882, or s. 16 of the L. G. A., 1888, and therefore do not fall within Pt. XII. of the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 1093 (see ibid., s. 250 (1), ante, p. 1104). They require confirmation by a Secretary of State in virtue of s. 3, post, p. 5033, which contains its own provisions for publication, etc., parallel to those of s. 250 of the Act of 1933. Reference may also be made to the provisions of the Petroleum (Consolidation) Act, 1928, s. 11, Vol. V. and 13 Halsbury's Statutes 1176, which enable control to be exercised over the appearance of petrol filling stations.

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as the Advertisements Regulation Act, 1907.

Local authorities to have power to make byelaws for regulation of advertisements.

2. Any local authority (a) may make byelaws (b)—

- (1) For the regulation and control of hoardings and similar structures (c) used for the purpose of advertising when they exceed twelve feet in height (d);
- (2) For regulating, restricting, or preventing the exhibition of advertisements (e) in such places and in such manner, or by such means, as to affect injuriously the amenities of a public park (f) or pleasure promenade, or to disfigure the natural beauty of a landscape (g):

Provided that a local authority in making byelaws under this section shall provide for the exemption from the operation of such byelaws of any hoardings and similar structures in use for advertising purposes at the time of the making of the byelaws, and of any advertisement (e) exhibited at that time, for such period, not being less than five years from that time, as they may think fit (h).

In addition to the purposes mentioned in this section byelaws may also be made under the section prohibiting or restricting the display of advertisements or notices of such a nature or in such a manner as to be detrimental to the amenities of any ancient monument (Ancient Monuments Consolidation and Amendment Act, 1913, s. 19 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 400)), and for regulating, restricting or preventing the exhibition of advertisements so as to disfigure or injuriously affect (a) the view of rural scenery from a highway or railway or from any public place or water; or (b) the amenities of any village within the district of a rural district council; or (c) the amenities of any historic or public building or monument or of any place frequented by the public solely or chiefly on account of its beauty or historic interest (s. 1 (1) of the Act of 1925, Vol. V., post). See sub-s. (3), ibid., as to the exclusion of railway property and in an urban district of docks, etc. Model byelaws have been prepared in the Home Office, see Home Office Letter d/18 12/27 in 90 J. P. N. 24.

(a) As to the meaning of local authority in this Act, see s. 7, post, p. 5034. By s. 2 of the 1925 Act, Vol. V., post, a county council may delegate the power to make byelaws to any urban district council in the county. The power of delegation to rural district councils conferred by that section is restricted to the enforcing of any byelaws made by the county council.

(b) As to the confirmation of these byelaws, see s. 3, infra.

(c) A gable end of a building 25 feet high is not a hoarding or similar structure within the meaning of this section (Gloucester Billposting Co., Ltd. v. Hopkins (1932), 96 J. P. 462; Digest Supp.). Nor are panels which do not themselves exceed 12 feet in height though affixed to a wall at more than 12 feet above ground level (Royce v. Orme (1932), 96 J. P. 468; Digest Supp.). But an advertisement divided into panels may contravene the section though no individual panel exceeds 12 feet in height (Horlicks, Ltd. v. Garvie, [1939] 1 All E. R. 335; Digest Supp.). An advertisement hoarding may be a "building" (Super Sites, Ltd. v. Keen, [1938] 2 All E. R. 471; Digest Supp.).

(d) These words mean the measurement of the hoarding itself and not the height at which it is above ground level (Royle v. Orme (1932), 96 J. P. 468; Digest Supp.).

(e) "Advertisements" includes any structure or apparatus erected or intended only for the display of advertisements (s. 1 (2) of the 1925 Act, Vol. V., post).

(f) A byelaw that advertisements shall not be exhibited within 50 yards of specified public parks so as to be visible from them, unless such advertisements relate to the trade or business carried on upon the premises, is intra vires the local authority under this section, although it does not contain any provision requiring that the amenities of the neighbourhood have to be injuriously affected in order to constitute an offence (Twickenham Corporation v. Solosigns, Ltd., [1939] 3 All E. R. 246; 103 J. P. 263; Digest Supp.).

(h) It is valid under this proviso to make an exemption under byelaws made sixteen years after previous byelaws on the same subject, if the latter byelaws contain qualifying words to the effect that the exemption is not to extend to any hoarding, etc., to which the earlier byelaw applied; because hoardings to which the earlier byelaw applied have already enjoyed the statutory period of exemption and are not entitled to a second period, whilst any others are not prejudiced by the exception (Gloucester Billposting Co., Ltd. v. Hopkins (1932), 96 J. P. 462; Digest Supp.).

3.—(1) A byelaw made under this Act shall not have any effect until confirmed by the Secretary of State, and shall not be so confirmed until at least thirty days after the local authority (a) have published it in such manner as the Secretary of State may by general or special order direct.

Byelaws to be confirmed by Secretary of State.

(2) The Secretary of State shall, before confirming any byelaw, consider any objections to it which may be addressed to him by persons affected or likely to be affected thereby.

(3) The Secretary of State may, before confirming any byelaw, order that a local inquiry be held with respect to the byelaw or with respect to any objections thereto. The person holding any such inquiry shall receive such remuneration as the Secretary of State may determine, and that remuneration and the expenses of the local inquiry shall be paid by the local authority making the byelaw (b).

(4) Byelaws made under this Act may apply either to the whole of the area of the local authority (a), or to any specified part thereof.

(5) Byelaws made by a county council shall not be of any force or effect within any borough or urban district the council of which is a local authority (a) under this Act:

(6) . . . (c).

(a) As to who are local authorities under the Act, see s. 7, post, p. 5034, and s. 2 of the 1925 Act, Vol. V., post, referred to in the notes to s. 7.

(b) As to the expenses of a local authority as defined by s. 7, see s. 4, infra. The expenses of a district council to whom powers have been delegated under s. 2 of the 1925 Act, Vol. V., post, are provided for in sub-s. (4), ibid., see note to s. 4, infra.

(c) Repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, ante.

4. Any expenses incurred by a local authority (a) in England or Ireland in carrying into effect the provisions of this Act or any byelaw made thereunder shall be defrayed in the case of a county out of the county fund, in the case of the city of London out of the consolidated rate of that city, in the case of a borough out of the borough fund or borough rate, and in the case of an urban district as part of the general expenses incurred in the execution of the Public Health Acts (b): Provided that a county council shall not raise any sum on account of their expenses under this Act within any borough or urban district the council of which is a local authority (a) under his Act.

Expenses.

Note to
Section 4.

(a) This section relates only to those local authorities defined by s. 7, infra. Where a county council has delegated powers to a district council under s. 2 of the 1925 Act, Vol. V., post, that section contemplates that the terms upon which a district council will accept delegated powers and duties under the Act will include a contribution by the county council to the expenses incurred by the district council in consequence of such delegation (sub-s. (4), ibid.). Any expenditure by the district council in excess of the agreed contribution is to be defrayed as part of the general expenses of the district council. Acceptance of delegated powers and duties by a district council under s. 2 of the 1925 Act will not constitute the district council a local authority for the purposes of this section (ibid.).

(b) The words in italics were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1276.

Powers of Act to be in addition to any existing powers.

5. The powers and provisions of this Act shall be deemed to be in addition to and not in derogation of any powers and provisions of any local Act, and any powers of making byelaws under any general Act and any such powers and provisions may be exercised and enforced in the same manner as if this Act had not been passed.

Cf. s. 341 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 4522. It would seem that a person could not be punished twice for the same offence both under a local Act and under a byelaw under this Act.

6. [Application to Scotland.]

Definition.

7. For the purposes of this Act the expression "local authority" means—

- (1) Within the city of London, the mayor, aldermen and commons of that city, in common council assembled :
- (2) Within any municipal borough in England, the council of that borough :
- (3) Within any royal, parliamentary, or police burgh in Scotland, the town council :
- (4) Within any urban district in England containing a population according to the last census for the time being of over ten thousand, and within any urban district in Ireland containing a population according to the last census for the time being of over five thousand, the council of that district :
- (5) Elsewhere in England, Scotland, or Ireland, the county council.

Under s. 2 of the 1925 Act county councils are empowered by arrangement to delegate their powers under this Act as amended by the 1925 Act to any urban district council within the county. Delegation may also be arranged with any rural district council, but only for the enforcement within their district of any byelaws made by the county council. As to the terms which may be included in such arrangements, see the section at Vol. V., post. Any arrangements may be cancelled by the county council at any time, but any byelaws made by the district council under the arrangement will continue in force until revoked or varied by the county council as if they had been made by the county council.

Enforcement of byelaws of London County
Council.

8. It shall be the duty of the metropolitan borough council to enforce within its own area any byelaws made by the London County Council under paragraph (1) of section two of this Act.

9. [Application to Ireland.]

Penalties.

10. If any person acts in contravention of or fails to comply with any byelaw made under this Act, he shall be liable on summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding five pounds, and to a penalty not exceeding twenty shillings for every day during which the offence is continued after his conviction thereof.

Apparently any member of the public may prosecute. (See R. v. Stewart, [1896] 1 Q. B. 300; 60 J. P. 356; Kenealy v. O'Keeffe, [1901] 2 I. R. 39; 25 Digest 122 m; Connor v. Butler, [1902] 2 I. R. 569; Digest Supp.; Allman v. Hardcastle (1903), 67 J. P. 440; 89 L. T. 553; 26 Digest 424, 1435.)

No right of appeal is expressly given, but see now the general right of appeal given by s. 37 of the Criminal Justice Administration Act, 1914 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 386)

And there may be an appeal by case stated under s. 2 of the S. J. A., 1857 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 300), and s. 33 of the S. J. A., 1879 (op. cit. 341).

Penalties must be dealt with as unappropriated penalties under s. 31 of the S. J. A., 1848 (op. cit. 289), and s. 11 of the Criminal Justice Administration Act, 1851 (4 Halsbury's Statutes 526). Receipts for penalties are exempt from stamp duty. See the Revenue Act, 1898, s. 8 (16 Halsbury's Statutes 706).

Section 10.

THE PUBLIC HEALTH ACTS AMENDMENT ACT, 1907 (a).

(7 EDW. 7, c. 53.)

An Act to amend the Public Health Acts.

[28th August 1907.]

PART I (b).

GENERAL.

1. This Act is divided into Parts as follows :

Part I.—General.

II.—Streets and buildings.

III.—Sanitary provisions (c).

IV.—Infectious diseases (d).

V.—Common lodging-houses (c).

VI.—Recreation grounds.

VII.—Police.

VIII.—Fire brigade.

IX.—Sky signs.

X.—Miscellaneous.

Division of Act into Parts.

Parts III., IV., V. and VIII. have now been repealed, and considerable portions also of the other parts. Parts III. and V. were repealed by the P. H. A., 1936, ante, p. 1; Part IV. by that Act and the Food and Drugs Act, 1938, ante, p. 1301; and Part VIII. by the Fire Brigades Act, 1938 (31 Halsbury's Statutes 585). The Act is printed so far as unrepealed.

(a) The object of this Act was to enable an authority to obtain certain additional powers without having to incur the expense of promoting a local Act. Its sections were founded upon provisions which had been allowed by Parliament in various local Acts. Object and scope of Act.

A town council or urban or rural district council desirous of exercising any of the powers conferred by the Act must apply to the Minister of Health (or in the case of powers relating to police or sky signs (Parts VII. and IX. of the Act), to the Home Secretary), for an Order declaring the part or section containing the desired powers to be in force in their borough or district.

Certain of the sections are now, however, applied to all rural districts by the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V., post, and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 883, and where this is the case the fact is noted under the section.

Where a rural council obtain an Order, the Order will extend to such of the contributory places in the district as are specified in it (s. 3 (1), post, p. 5037).

The Order may specify conditions subject to which any part of any section of the Act shall be in force in an urban district or contributory place, and where, in the opinion of the Minister of Health (or Home Secretary), the circumstances so require, any such Order may, in relation to that district or contributory place, declare any part or section of the Act to be in force subject to such necessary adaptations as are specified in it (s. 3 (3), (4), post, p. 5038). Any enactments in any "local Act" which appear to the Ministry of Health (or Home Secretary) to contain provisions similar to or inconsistent with the provisions extended to the district by the Order may be declared to be no longer in force in the district or contributory place to which the Order relates (s. 3 (1)). An enactment in a local Act may therefore be repealed by an Order of the Minister of Health (or Home Secretary).

The Act does not contain a definition of the term "local Act" extending it to a Provisional Order (see, e.g., the definition in the London Government Act, 1899, s. 34 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 1241)), and it is a question whether a Provisional Order, or an Act confirming such an Order, could be repealed by an Order under the Act, more especially where the confirming Act is deemed to be a public general Act. For instance, the P. H. A., 1875, s. 297 (8), ante, p. 4508, provides that every Act confirming a Provisional Order of the L. G. B. under that Act shall be deemed to be a public general Act, and sub-s. (5) of the section provides for the repeal of the Act confirming any such Order by a further Provisional Order.

All powers given to an authority under the Act are to be deemed to be in addition to, and not in derogation of, any other powers conferred upon such authority by any Act of Parliament, law, or custom, and such other powers may be exercised in the same manner as if the Act had not been passed (s. 11, post, p. 1108), and nothing in the Act is to exempt any person from any penalty to which he would have been liable if the Act had not been passed; but no person is to be liable, except in the case of a daily penalty, to more than one penalty in respect of the same offence (ibid.).

(b) Except as regards Part I. the Act is only operative to the extent to which particular parts or sections may have been applied to a district by an Order of the Minister of Health or Home Secretary as the case may be. See ss. 2 (2), 3, and 13, post, pp. 5037, 5041, and see note (a), supra.

(c) The reference to Part III. (Sanitary Provisions) and Part V. (Common Lodging-houses) were repealed by the P. H. A., 1936, Sched. III., Pt. III, ante, p. 729.

(d) The reference to Part IV. has been repealed by the Food and Drugs Act, 1938, Sched. IV, ante, p. 1455.

Short title,
construction and extent
of Act.

2.—(1) This Act shall be construed as one with the Public Health Acts.

As to the effect of the provision that the Act shall be "construed as one with" the Public Health Acts, see the note under s. 1 of the Private Street Works Act, 1892, ante, p. 918. See also the express provisions of s. 13, post, p. 5041.

(2) Part I. of this Act shall extend to England and Wales and Ireland exclusive of the administrative county of London, and all or any of the remaining Parts or all or any of the sections thereof shall extend to any district to which all or any of those Parts or sections are applied by an Order (a) of the Local Government Board or of the Secretary of State as the case may be.

(a) See hereon, s. 3, infra. For the L. G. B. must now be read the Minister of Health.

(3) This Act may be cited as the Public Health Acts Amendment Act, 1907, and this Act and the Public Health Acts may together be cited as the Public Health Acts, 1875 to 1907.

(4) Any byelaws made under any enactment for which any provisions of this Act are substituted shall remain in force as if the byelaws had been made under the corresponding provisions of this Act.

But for this provision the byelaws might have been held to be abrogated. See Watson v. Winch, [1916] 1 K. B. 688; 80 J. P. 149; 42 Digest 773, 2015.

(5) This Act shall come into operation on the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and eight.

Repealed S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

3.—(1) The Local Government Board may, on the application of a local authority (a), by Order to be published in such manner as the Local Government Board direct, declare any Part or any section of this Act to be in force in the district of the local authority, or, where the local authority are a rural district council, in any contributory place within the district of the local authority, and may declare any enactments in any local Act, which appear to the Local Government Board to contain provisions similar to or inconsistent with any such Part or section, to be no longer in force in that district or contributory place (b).

Section 3.

Application of Parts or section of Act.

For the L. G. B. must now be read the Minister of Health.

(a) See the definition in s. 13, post, p. 5041.

(b) See hereon note (a) under s. 1, ante, p. 5035.

(2) The local authority shall, two weeks at least before applying for an Order, give notice of their intention to make such application by advertising the same once at least in one or more of the newspapers circulating in their district in each of two successive weeks, and no order shall be made under this section until proof of such advertisement has been given to the satisfaction of the Local Government Board, and until at least one month has elapsed after the date of such advertisement.

With reference to applications under this section, the L. G. B. in a letter dated December 23rd, 1907, said:

Practice of the L. G. B. in regards to application.

"In considering whether application should be made to have any Part or section of the Act put in force, the local authority should have regard to the circumstances and needs of the locality. They should cause any local Act in force in their district to be carefully examined in order to ascertain whether it contains any provision bearing on the subject-matter of any Part or section of the present Act which they desire to have put in force.

"The Board will be ready to give attention to applications under the Act, but they think that such applications should not be made unless the local authority are satisfied that the powers sought are really needed.

"It is necessary that the local authority should, two weeks at least before applying to the Board for an Order, give notice of their intention to make the application by advertising the same once at least in one or more of the newspapers circulating in their district in each of two successive weeks, and no Order is to be made until proof of the advertisement has been given to the satisfaction of the Board, and until at least one month has elapsed after the date of such advertisement (s. 3 (2)).

"The application, which should not be made until after the expiration of two weeks from the date of the second week's advertisement, should be by resolution of the local authority asking the Board to put in force any specified Part or section of the Act which the local authority desire to have applied to their district, and in the case of a rural district council should state whether the application relates to the whole district, or to specified contributory places in it. A copy of the resolution, certified by the clerk, should be forwarded to the Board, and at the same time they should be furnished with a statutory declaration to be made by the clerk, verifying the fact of the issue of the necessary advertisements, and having copies of the newspapers in which the advertisements were published annexed to it as exhibits.

"The Board think that it will be found convenient if before a local authority publish any advertisement or make any formal application for an Order under s. 3 they forward to the Board drafts of the proposed advertisement and resolution. These should be accompanied by a statement setting out as regards each Part or each section of the Act to which the proposal relates the grounds upon which it is made. A list of any local Acts in force in the district and of any Provisional Orders altering such Acts should also be supplied, and if any of them contain provisions bearing on the subject-matter of any Part or section included in the proposed application, a copy of the local Act or Order should be forwarded, and a reference should be given to the provisions in it which are in question. If there is no local Act in force, this should be stated. This procedure will enable the Board to consider the proposal before any advertisement is issued, and, if necessary, to make suggestions for its amendment."

Section 3.

The L. G. B. have been succeeded by the M. of H. but the above instructions still apply.

(3) Any such Order may specify conditions subject to which any Part or any section of this Act shall be in force in the district or contributory place, and where, in the opinion of the Local Government Board, the circumstances so require, any such Order may, in relation to that district or contributory place, declare any Part or any section of this Act to be in force subject to such necessary adaptations as are specified in the Order.

A statement of the effect of each Order specifying conditions or adaptations as aforesaid shall be published in the London Gazette as well as in any other manner directed by the Local Government Board.

(4) In regard to Part VII. (Police), Part VIII. (Fire Brigade), and Part IX. (Sky Signs) of this Act, the Secretary of State shall be deemed to be substituted in this section for the Local Government Board.

4. [Repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 735.]

Inquiries by Local Government Board.

5.—(1) The Local Government Board may direct any inquiries to be held by their inspectors which they may deem necessary in regard to the exercise of any powers conferred upon them under this Act. . . .

The concluding words of this sub-section were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1276. As to inquiries, see now ibid., s. 290, ante, p. 1170.

(2) [Repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1276.]

(3) The Secretary of State may order that a local inquiry be held in regard to the exercise of any powers conferred on him under this Act. . . .

The concluding words of this sub-section were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933 s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1276.

Ordinarily neither the Minister of Health nor the Secretary of State directs a local inquiry before deciding upon an application for powers under this Act. See, however, notes to s. 31, post, p. 5051.

Legal proceedings.

6. Offences under this Act or under any byelaw (a) made under the powers of this Act or under the powers of the Public Health Act, 1875, or any enactment amending or extending that Act, may be prosecuted, and penalties, forfeitures, costs, and expenses recovered, in like manner and subject to the same provisions as offences which may be prosecuted, and penalties, forfeitures, costs, and expenses which may be recovered, in a summary manner under the Public Health Acts (b).

(a) Doubt has at times been expressed whether a penalty under a byelaw is a penalty "under" the Act, which gave power to make the byelaw. See note (a), p. 1113, ante, where it is submitted that it is. S. 6 removes this doubt in cases within its terms.

(b) See the following sections of the P. H. A., 1875, relating to the matters here mentioned: s. 251, ante, p. 4481 (see also the notes under the repealed s. 252); ss. 253—254, ante, pp. 4482—4; ss. 257—258, ante, pp. 4489—91; and s. 262, ante, p. 4492.

Note to Section 6.

7.—(1) Except where this Act otherwise expressly provides (a) any person aggrieved—

- (a) By any order, judgment, determination, or requirement of a local authority under this Act;
 - (b) By the withholding of any order, certificate, licence, consent, or approval, which may be made, granted, or given by a local authority under this Act;
 - (c) By any conviction or order of a court of summary jurisdiction under any provision of this Act;
- may appeal, in manner provided by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts (b), to a court of quarter sessions.

Appeals to quarter sessions, etc.

A similar enactment is to be found in s. 7 of the P. H. A. A. A., 1890, ante, p. 4804. See that section and the cases cited in the notes thereto, ante, p. 4804.

It is arguable that an appeal will lie to quarter sessions against the requirement of a local authority under the P. H. A., 1875 (e.g. under s. 150, ante, p. 4388), since that Act is to be construed as one with the P. H. Acts (s. 2 (1), ante, p. 5036) (R. v. Essex J.J., Ex parte Barking U. D. C., [1916] 2 K. B. 406; 80 J. P. 345; Hart v. Hudson Bros., Ltd., [1928] 2 K. B. 629; 92 J. P. 170, and per Lord Hanworth, M.R., in Cardiff Corporation v. Cardiff Pure Ice and Cold Storage Co., Ltd. (1930), 95 J. P. at p. 14). See also the note to the next sub-section.

The fact that an owner has not appealed under this section does not preclude him from raising a question which might have been the subject of such an appeal in proceedings by the local authority before justices to recover expenses incurred in executing works upon the default of the owner (Shoeburyness U. D. C. v. Burges (1924), 22 L. G. R. 684; 46 M. C. C. 211; 38 Digest 154, 40).

The cases in which an appeal will lie under this provision are indicated in the notes to the several sections.

(a) Ss. 42, 48 (13 Halsbury's Statutes 927, 929) formerly made express provision otherwise. Both sections are now repealed.

(b) The provisions of the Summary Jurisdiction Acts relating to appeals will be found in the notes to s. 301 of the P. H. A., 1936, ante, p. 87.

(2) Where any person deems himself aggrieved by the decision of the local authority in any case in which the local authority, under this Act, are empowered to recover in a summary manner any expenses incurred by them, or to declare the expenses to be private improvement expenses, section two hundred and sixty-eight of the Public Health Act, 1875 (a), shall apply as it applies to cases under that Act, and sub-section (1) of this section shall not apply in any such case, whether arising under the Public Health Act, 1875, or under this Act; but nothing in this sub-section shall extend to any case in which an appeal to a court of summary jurisdiction in relation to any requirement of a local authority, or to any such expenses, is expressly authorised by this Act (b).

See the very similar provision in the P. H. A. A. A., 1890, s. 7 (2), ante, p. 4805. The same difficulties appear to arise in construing this sub-section, and also the further difficulty of attaching an intelligible meaning to the words "whether arising under the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 4331, or under this Act," unless the submission made in the note under sub-s. (1) is correct. In R. v. Recorder of Belfast, [1919] 2 I. R. 171, it was held that the word "decision" in this sub-section must bear the same interpretation as in s. 268 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 4495, and that until there is such a "decision" the right of appeal against an order, etc., of the local authority under sub-s. (1) is not excluded by the possibility that there may subsequently be a "decision" in respect of which an appeal will lie only to the Minister under s. 268.

Section 7.

(a) See this section and the notes thereunder, ante, p. 4495.

(b) S. 42 (13 Halsbury's Statutes 927) and s. 48 (op. cit. 929), expressly authorise appeals to a court of summary jurisdiction.

More than one sum in one summons.

8. Any information, complaint, warrant or summons made or issued for the purpose of this Act or of the Public Health Acts may contain in the body thereof or in a Schedule thereto several sums.

This section is identical in terms with s. 8 of the P. H. A. A., 1890. See the note under that section at ante, p. 4805.

Byelaws.

9. All the provisions with respect to byelaws contained in sections one hundred and eighty-two to one hundred and eighty-six of the Public Health Act, 1875 (a), and any enactment amended or extended by those sections shall apply to all byelaws from time to time made by a local authority under the provisions of this Act, provided that the Secretary of State shall be the confirming authority for byelaws made under Part VII. (Police) of this Act.

(a) Ss. 182, 185 and 186 of the P. H. A., 1875 (13 Halsbury's Statutes 704, 706), have been wholly repealed, and ss. 183, 184, ante, pp. 4467—8, partly repealed, by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. I., ante, pp. 1194, 1273, and the last two mentioned sections were repealed, except so far as they might be material for the purposes of any unrepealed enactment in the Act of 1875, ante, p. 4331, or any Act directed to be construed therewith, by the P. H. A., 1936, ante, p. 1. So far as still unrepealed the sections are set out at ante, pp. 4467—8. See also s. 250, L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 1104.

Compensation,
how determined.

10. Where any compensation, costs, damages, or expenses is or are by this Act directed to be paid, and the method for determining the amount thereof is not otherwise provided for, such amount shall in case of dispute be ascertained in the manner provided by the Public Health Acts.

See the P. H. A., 1875, ss. 179—181, and notes thereunder, ante, pp. 4461—7; and see also ibid., s. 308, and notes thereunder, ante, p. 4515.

Act cumulative.

11. All powers given to a local authority under this Act shall be deemed to be in addition to and not in derogation of any other powers conferred upon such local authority by any Act of Parliament, law, or custom, and such other powers may be exercised in the same manner as if this Act had not been passed (a).

Nothing in this Act shall exempt any person from any penalty to which he would have been liable if this Act had not been passed, but no person shall be liable, except in the case of a daily penalty (b), to more than one penalty in respect of the same offence.

(a) See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 341, ante, p. 4522, and notes thereunder. S. 11 must be read subject to the latter part of s. 3 (1), ante, p. 5037, under which powers under a local Act may be put an end to.

(b) See the definition of "daily penalty" in s. 13, post, p. 5041.

Crown rights.

12. Nothing in this Act affects prejudicially any estate, right, power, privilege, or exemption of the Crown, and in particular nothing herein contained authorises any local authority to take, use, or in any manner interfere with any portion of the shore or bed of the sea or of any river, channel, creek, bay, or estuary, or any land, hereditaments, subjects, or right of whatsoever description belonging to his Majesty in right of his Crown, and under the management of the Commissioners of Woods or of the Board of Trade respectively, without the consent in writing of the Commissioners of Woods or the Board of Trade, as the case may be, on behalf of his Majesty first had and obtained for that purpose (which consent the said Commissioners and Board are hereby respectively authorised to give).

Section 12.

13. In this Act, if not inconsistent with the context—

The expression “local authority” means an urban sanitary authority, an urban district council, or a rural district council :

Interpretation.

The expression “district of the local authority” means an urban sanitary district, an urban district, or a rural district :

By the P. H. A., 1875, s. 6 (13 Halsbury's Statutes 628), urban sanitary districts were of three kinds : (1) municipal boroughs ; (2) Improvement Act districts ; and (3) local government districts, the urban sanitary authorities being respectively the borough council, the improvement commissioners, and the local board. By the L. G. A., 1894, s. 21 (1), ante, p. 4904, urban sanitary authorities were to be called urban district councils, and their districts were to be called urban districts, but nothing in the section was to alter the style or title of the corporation or council of a borough. By s. 21 (3) the expression “district council” was to include the council of every urban district, whether a borough or not, and the expression “county district” was to include every urban district, whether a borough or not. The L. G. A., 1888, ante, p. 4722, created county boroughs, and it is clear that in such a borough the mayor, aldermen, and burgesses acting through the council were, as in other boroughs, the urban sanitary authority, and their district an urban sanitary district, under the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 4331 ; but it is not clear how far a county borough was an urban district, and the council thereof an urban district council under the L. G. A., 1894, ante, p. 4892. Section 21 of that Act, ante, p. 4904, was contained in Part II. of the Act, and s. 35, ante, p. 4912, enacted that Part II., save as specially provided by the Act, should not apply to a county borough. The terms district council and urban district are used in other parts of the Act, e.g., in s. 62, ante, p. 4916, and in Kirkdale Burial Board v. Liverpool Corporation, ante, p. 4916, it was held that the area of a county borough was an urban district within the meaning of that section. In order, therefore, that this Act should embrace county boroughs, it was possibly not sufficient to make use of the expressions urban district council and urban district, and the expressions urban sanitary authority and urban sanitary district were used, these expressions clearly including the council of a county borough and its district. See now L. G. A., 1933, s. 1, ante, p. 736.

The expression “daily penalty” means a penalty for each day on which an offence is continued after conviction therefor :

The expressions “lands” (a), “premises” (b), “owner” (c), “street” (d), “house” (e), “drain” (f), and “sewer” (g) have respectively the same meaning as in the Public Health Acts :

The expressions “clerk,” “medical officer,” “surveyor,” and “inspector of nuisances” mean the clerk, medical officer of health, surveyor, and inspector of nuisances (h) respectively of the district of the local authority :

... (j) :

The expressions “the commencement of this Part” and “the commencement of this section” used in relation to any part or section of this Act mean respectively the date at which, by an Order made by the Local Government Board, or by the Secretary of State as the case may be, in pursuance of this Act, and subject to any conditions or adaptations specified in that Order, the Part or section is declared to be in force :

Section 13.

Other expressions to which a special meaning is assigned by the Public Health Act, 1875, have respectively the same meaning in this Act as they have in that Act.

14. [Application of Act to Ireland.]

PART II

STREETS AND BUILDINGS.

Deposit of plan to be of no effect after certain intervals.

15. (a) The deposit of any plans or sections of any street or building (b), in pursuance of any byelaw in force in the district, may, by notice in writing (c) to the person by whom the plans or sections have been deposited, be declared by the local authority to be of no effect if the work to which the plans or sections relate is not commenced (d)—

As to plans and sections deposited before the commencement of this section (e), within three years from that date ;

As to plans and sections deposited on or after the commencement of this section (e), within three years of the deposit of the plans and sections.

When the deposit of any plans and sections has been declared to be of no effect, a fresh deposit shall be necessary before the work to which they relate is commenced.

The local authority shall give notice of the provisions of this section to every person intending to lay out a new street or erect a new building (b) in relation to which plans and sections have been deposited before the commencement of this section (e), but the laying out of which street or erection of which building (b) shall not have been commenced, and shall attach a similar notice to the approval of every such intended work in relation to which plans and sections have been deposited subsequent to the commencement of this section (e).

(a) Where this section has been applied in any district by an Order of the Minister of Health (and it is understood that an Order is readily granted, even for rural districts) the authority may, if the prescribed notice be duly given, secure a fresh deposit of plans and sections after the prescribed period. It is not clear whether there will be a right of appeal under s. 7, ante, p. 5039, against a "declaration."

(b) This section has been repealed by the P. H. A., 1936, s. 346, Sched. III., Pt. III., ante, pp. 720, 729, so far as it relates to buildings; see ibid., s. 66, ante, Section 15. Note to
p. 240.

(c) As to notices and service thereof, see the P. H. A., 1875, ss. 266, 267, ante, pp. 4494—5.

(d) On the question whether work to which plans relate has been commenced, see White v. Sunderland Corporation and Harrogate Corporation v. Dickinson, ante, p. 4440.

(e) As to the term "commencement of this section," see s. 13, ante, p. 5041.

16. The local authority may retain any drawings, plans, elevations sections, specifications, and written particulars, descriptions or details. As to plans deposited with local authority.
deposited with and approved by them in pursuance of any enactment for the time being in force in the district or of any byelaw thereunder.

This section only becomes operative in a district when applied by an Order of the Minister of Health. It extends only to drawings, plans, etc., approved by the authority. It is understood that an order is readily granted. For the legal position apart from this section, see a leading article at 90 J. P. N. 691.

This section has been repealed by the P. H. A., 1936, s. 346, Sched. III., Pt. III., ante, pp. 720, 729, so far as it relates to buildings; see ibid., s. 64, ante, p. 220.

17.—(1) The local authority may, on the deposit of a plan and sections of a new street in pursuance of a byelaw in force in the district, by order vary the intended position, direction or termination, or level of the new street so far as is necessary for the purpose of securing more direct, easier, or more convenient means of communication with any other street or intended street, or for the purpose of securing an adequate opening at either end of the new street, or of securing compliance with any enactment or byelaw in force in the district for the regulation of streets and buildings. Power to vary position or direction and to fix beginning and end of new streets.

The local authority may also by their order fix the points at which the new street shall be deemed to begin or end, and the limits of the new street as determined by the points so fixed shall have effect for the purposes of the Public Health Acts, 1875 to 1907, and of any byelaws made under those Acts and in force within the district.

This section only becomes operative when applied to a district by an Order of the Minister of Health. When so applied the powers of an authority will be greatly increased, for the powers which may be obtained by means of byelaws made under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 157, ante, p. 4432, extend only to the level, width, and construction of new streets. An order under this section might perhaps have obviated the difficulty experienced by the authority in Kirby v. Paignton U. D. C., p. 4393, ante.

It is understood that the powers of the section are readily granted.

Sub-s. (2) imposes an important limitation upon the exercise of the powers conferred by sub-s. (1). See also sub-s. (4), which requires an authority to pay compensation to any person injuriously affected by the exercise of their powers under the section.

Any owner aggrieved by an order of an authority made under this section may appeal to quarter sessions: see s. 7, ante, p. 5039.

Reference may also be made to the adoptive provisions of the P. H. A., 1925, in relation to new streets (ss. 29—32, Vol. V., post) which considerably extend the powers of a local authority.

(2) The powers of the local authority under this section shall not be exercisable in any case in which it is shown, to their satisfaction, that compliance with their order will entail the purchase of additional lands

Section 17. by the owner of the lands on which the new street is intended to be laid out, or the execution of works elsewhere than on those lands.

(3) Where the local authority make an order under this section a person shall not lay out or construct the new street otherwise than in compliance with the order. If any person acts in contravention of this provision, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds (a), and to a daily penalty (b) not exceeding forty shillings.

(a) As to recovery, see s. 6, ante, p. 5038, and the note thereto. As to appeal, see s. 7, ante, p. 5039.

(b) See for the definition of this term, s. 13, ante, p. 5041.

(4) The local authority shall pay compensation to any person injuriously affected by the exercise by the local authority of their powers under this section.

The amount of such compensation will be ascertained in the manner provided by the P. H. A., 1875, ss. 179—191, 308, ante, pp. 4461—7, 4515. See s. 10, ante, p. 5040.

Crossing for cattle, etc.
over foot-
ways.

18. The provision and use of new means of access for any cattle, any beast of draught or burden, any waggon, cart, or other wheeled carriage exceeding four feet in width or two hundredweight in weight, to or from any premises fronting, adjoining, or abutting on any street which has become a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large, may, where that provision involves passage across or interference with any such part of the street as comprises a kerbed or paved footway, be allowed by the local authority subject to the following conditions (that is to say):

- (a) Every person who intends to provide the new means of access shall give notice in writing of his intention to the local authority, and shall at the same time submit, for the approval of the local authority, a plan showing the position, gradient, and mode of construction of the intended means of access;
- (b) When the plan, with or without amendment, has been approved by the local authority, the person may, upon receiving notice of their approval, proceed to execute the necessary works, but those works shall be executed under the supervision and to the reasonable satisfaction of the local authority, and in accordance with the plan as approved by the local authority;
- (c) After the completion of the works the new means of access may be used, subject to the conditions which, in pursuance of any provisions of the law relating to highways, attach to the use for the like purpose of any carriage way forming part of a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large.

This section only becomes operative when applied to an urban district by an Order of the Minister of Health. It is understood that the powers are readily granted to urban authorities. The section now applies in all rural districts, for by s. 30 (2) and Sched. I., Pt. I., of the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 904, 975, county councils are given the functions of a local authority under the section. Any powers of a rural district council to function under the section by reason of an Order applying it to their district ceases to be exercisable (s. 30 (3), ibid.).

Functions under the section in relation to "county roads" in urban districts (other than county roads claimed or deemed to be claimed by an urban district council under s. 32, L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 906) are exercisable only by county councils and may be exercised in relation to such county roads in any urban district whether an order has been made applying the section to the district or not (s. 31 (5) and Sched. I., Pt. III., ibid., Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 906, 977).

Note to Section 18.

District councils to whom functions have been delegated under s. 35, ibid., Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 910, will exercise functions under this section as agents for the county council within their district except in relation to roads with respect to which functions have not been delegated and subject to any conditions imposed by the terms of delegation (s. 36 (2), ibid., Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 912). In urban districts these delegated powers extend, of course, only to county roads, since it is only in relation to such roads that the county council have functions under the section. As regards non-county roads in urban districts, the position of the district council is unchanged.

The meaning of the section is not, however, clear. At common law the owner of premises abutting upon a highway is entitled to access to such highway at any point where his premises are in contact with it (see St. Mary, Newington (Vestry of) v. Jacobs, ante, p. 4402, and cases cited therewith), though this right has been largely abolished on classified roads by the Restriction of Ribbon Development Act, 1935, ante, p. 2001. If a frontager owns half the width of the highway, he is entitled to exercise this right to the extent of opening a new cartway across a pavement on to the roadway beyond it so long as there is no unreasonable interference with the public enjoyment of the highway (St. Mary, Newington (Vestry of) v. Jacobs, supra; cf. Curtis v. Geeves (1930), 94 J. P. 71; Digest Supp.), and apparently he may do so even if he does not own any part of the highway (Rowley v. Tottenham U. D. C., [1914] A. C. 95; 78 J. P. 97; 26 Digest 308, 407). On the section being applied in any district, the question may, therefore, arise, "Will it limit this common law right of access?" In Rowley v. Tottenham U. D. C., supra, where the local Act contained a similar section, the M.R. said that such section seemed to recognise, and at the same time to regulate, the right to cross a kerbed footpath. If it be the true view that s. 18, supra, limits the common law right of access, it would seem that, until a new means of access had been provided in accordance with the section, anybody who in an urban district drove a vehicle across a pavement and injured it would be liable to a penalty under the latter part of s. 149 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 4375. The section in the Tottenham Act imposed liability to a penalty for driving a vehicle across a footway (whether or not injury was caused thereby) until a communication in accordance with the section had been provided. To this extent the section was dissimilar to s. 18 in the text.

In Marshall v. Blackpool Corporation, [1935] A. C. 16; 98 J. P. 376; Digest Supp., a local Act contained a somewhat similar provision and the proprietors of land adjoining a highway submitted plans to the local authority for a passage for vehicles from their land across the footpath and so into the carriageway. The authority found no fault with the proposed works as works, but refused to sanction them, having regard to the safety of the public and the convenience of pedestrians and vehicular traffic which might use the highway. It was held that the authority were not entitled to take those matters into consideration. In a judgment which dissented from the eventual decision, SCRUTTON, L.J., said that the view which finally prevailed was impossible to reconcile with Curtis v. Geeves, supra, in which a conviction was upheld for driving over a pavement into adjoining premises without interfering with the right of passage on the footway of any member of the public. Semble, however, that the decisions are reconcilable, on the footing that it is illegal to drive over a footpath not constructed as a means of access, but that the authority must grant permission to construct means of access which could then be driven over. But, as regards roads to which the Restriction of Ribbon Development Act, 1935, ante, p. 2001, applies, means of access can no longer be made as of right.

If a local authority seek to impose conditions which a frontager deems to be unreasonable, he may appeal to quarter sessions. See s. 7, ante, p. 5039.

19. (a).—(1) Where repairs are required (b) in the case of any street, As to urgent repairs to private streets.
not being a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large, to obviate or remove danger to any passenger or vehicle in the street, the local

Section 19. authority may give notice in writing to the owners of the lands and premises fronting, adjoining, or abutting on the street, and may require (c) the owners to execute, within a time to be specified in the notice, such repairs as are described in the notice.

(a) This section only becomes operative in an urban district when applied thereto by an Order of the M. of H. Its object is apparently to enable an authority to effect temporary repairs to a street when in their opinion the time has not arrived for its being properly made up under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 150, ante, p. 4388, or the alternative provisions in the Private Street Works Act, 1892, ante, p. 4848. It will be observed, however, that under sub-s. (4), post, p. 1114, the owners of the lands and premises in the street can perhaps in some cases by means of a counter-notice force the hands of the authority and compel the making up of the street.

The section now applies in all rural districts, for by s. 30 (2) and Sched. I., Pt. I., of the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 904, 974, county councils are given the functions of a local authority under the section. Any powers of a rural district council to function under the section by reason of an order applying it to their district cease to be exercisable (s. 30 (3), ibid.). Rural district councils to whom functions have been delegated under s. 35, ibid., Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 910, will exercise functions under this section as agents for the county council within their district except in relation to roads with respect to which functions have not been delegated and subject to any conditions imposed by the terms of delegation (s. 36 (2), ibid.). The Private Street Works Act, 1892, is now in force in all rural districts (see the note to that Act at ante, p. 4848), and any proceedings consequent upon a counter notice under sub-s. (4) must in such a district be taken under that Act.

Where it is disputed that a street in respect of which notices have been served under this section is a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large, the question may be raised on an appeal against the requirement of the local authority under s. 7, ante, p. 5040, or before the justices when, after the money has been spent, proceedings are taken for its recovery, and the fact that the owner has not appealed against the requirement of the local authority under s. 7, ante, will not preclude him from raising the question on such proceedings (Shoeburyness U. D. C. v. Burges (1924), 22 L. G. R. 684; 46 M. C. C. 211; 26 Digest 534, 2332).

(b) The question whether work required to be done amounts to "repairs" is one of fact (Shoeburyness U. D. C. v. Burges, supra). See, also, Ballard v. Wandsworth Borough Council (1906), 70 J. P. 331; 95 L. T. 118; 26 Digest 496, 2049, decided on the somewhat similarly worded s. 3 of the Metropolis Management Amendment Act, 1890 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 1014). In R. v. Recorder of Belfast, [1919] 2 I. R. 171, it was held that an appeal lies to quarter sessions against a requirement under this sub-section.

(c) When an owner is called upon under the next sub-section to repay to the authority the expenses (or his share thereof) incurred by them, he can appeal to the Minister of Health.

(2) If, within the time specified in the notice, the repairs described in the notice are not executed, the local authority may execute the repairs, and may recover summarily, as a civil debt (a), the cost of the repairs so executed from the owners in default, and the amount recoverable from each owner shall be in the proportion which the extent of his lands and premises fronting, adjoining, or abutting on the street, bears to the total extent of all lands and premises so fronting, adjoining, or abutting.

(a) See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 251, ante, p. 4481, and note (b) thereunder as to the recovery of civil debts. As to appeal, see note (c), supra.

Repairs done to two streets must not be included in the same account and apportionment (Nash v. Giles (1926), 91 J. P. 19; 136 L. T. 352; Digest Supp.). Upon proceedings for recovery the justices have no jurisdiction to investigate the accounts and correct an incorrect apportionment. If the apportionment is incorrect, the justices must dismiss the complaint (ibid.).

Note to
Section 19.

(3) Where the name or place of abode of an owner cannot be found by the local authority, a copy of the notice shall be sent by post to or left with the occupier of the lands and premises to which the notice relates, or, if there be no such occupier, shall be affixed upon some conspicuous part of the lands and premises.

As to the difficulty of recovering expenses in cases where the owner of the lands is unknown, see Friern Barnet U. D. C. v. Adams, [1927] 2 Ch. 25; 91 J. P. 60; Digest Supp., and other cases cited in note to P. H. A., 1875, s. 257, ante, p. 4489.

(4) In every case in which, within the time specified in the notice, the majority in number or rateable value of owners of lands and premises in the street, by a notice in writing, require the local authority to proceed, in relation to the street, under section one hundred and fifty of the Public Health Act, 1875, or, if the Private Street Works Act, 1892, is in force in the district, under that Act, the local authority shall so proceed; and where the local authority so proceed they shall, on the completion of the necessary works, forthwith declare the street to be a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large, and on and after the date of the declaration the street shall become a highway so repairable.

See the notes under sub-s. (1), ante, p. 5045. The authority of a district in which the Private Street Works Act, 1892, ante, p. 4848, had been adopted, and to which this section had been applied, served notice to repair a road under s. 19 (1), ante, p. 5045, on the persons whom they understood to be the owners of the adjoining premises. The notice recited that the road was not a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large, but in fact there was along the middle of the road a footpath which was so repairable. The majority of the owners served a counter-notice requiring the authority to proceed under the Act of 1892. The authority approved a provisional apportionment under that Act, and some of the owners served notice of objection on the ground that the works were unreasonable and too costly. The authority then withdrew their original notice, being satisfied that it would be unwise to make up the road in a permanent manner as damage would be done to it by building operations. It also appeared that some of the owners of adjoining premises had not been served with the original notice, and no notice had been affixed to the land. On an application for a mandamus requiring the authority to proceed under the Act of 1892, it was held that in view of all the legal questions raised the rule ought not to be made absolute; and the court doubted whether service of a counter-notice under s. 19 (4) does more than require the authority to proceed under one or other of the sections mentioned if they see fit to proceed at all (R. v. Epsom U. D. C., Ex parte Course (1912), 76 J. P. 389; 26 Digest 539, 2382).

Where in consequence of a counter-notice a street is made up, the authority cannot exercise a discretion as to taking it over such as is permitted by the P. H. A., 1875, s. 152, ante, p. 4423; the P. H. A. A. A., 1890, s. 41, ante, p. 4815; and the Private Street Works Act, 1892, s. 19, ante, p. 4866. The sub-section corresponds with s. 20 of the last-mentioned Act, ante, p. 4867, and s. 82 of the P. H. A., 1925, Vol. V., post, but under those sections all the various works must have been done, whereas under the text it would appear to be sufficient if such works only be done as are for the time being necessary.

Quære, whether s. 7, ante, p. 5039, would enable owners to appeal against a "declaration."

20. If the footway of any street repairable by the inhabitants at large be injured by or in consequence of any excavations or other works on lands adjoining thereto, the local authority may repair or replace the footway so injured, and all damages and expenses of or arising from

Recovery of damages caused to footways by excavations.

Section 20. such injury and repair or replacement shall be paid to the local authority by the owner of the lands on which such excavations or other works have been made, or by the person causing or responsible for the injury.

Functions under this section in rural districts and in relation to county roads (other than claimed roads) in urban districts are exercisable by county councils only. See the notes to s. 18, ante, p. 5044.

In an urban district streets repairable by the inhabitants at large are vested in the council, who have, in respect of the surface of a street, and of so much of the actual soil as may be necessary for its preservation as a road, the same rights of action in respect of trespass, and of a nuisance damaging their property, as a private owner would have. See Wednesbury Corporation v. Lodge Holes Colliery Co., Limited, Cavan C. C. v. Kane, ante, p. 4378. If s. 20 be applied to the district by an Order of the M. of H. (and it is understood that an Order is readily obtained), they will be able to take summary proceedings to recover damages caused to footways by excavations or other works on lands adjoining the street. This is an addition to their power to take summary proceedings in respect of injuries to pavements, etc. under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 149, ante, p. 4375.

As to recovery of the expenses and appeal, see ss. 6, 7, ante, pp. 5038—9.

Power to alter names of streets.

21. The local authority may, with the consent of two-thirds in number and value of the ratepayers in any street, alter the name of such street or any part of such street. The local authority may cause the name of any street or of any part of any street to be painted or otherwise marked on a conspicuous part of any building or other erection.

Any person who shall wilfully and without the consent of the local authority, obliterate, deface, obscure, remove, or alter any such name, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

Where this section is applied by an Order of the Minister of Health to an urban district, it will supplement the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847, s. 64 (ante, p. 4202); incorporated by the P. H. A., 1875, s. 160, ante, p. 4443, which confers the power of naming a street upon urban authorities. It might also be applied to rural districts; but the practice of the Minister in such cases is understood to be to confine it to parishes in which s. 64 of the Act of 1847 is in force.

Further powers as to naming streets are contained in ss. 17—19 of the P. H. A., 1925, Vol. V., post. In districts where s. 18 of that Act has been adopted, the section in the text will cease to have effect (s. 18 (5), ibid.).

Seem, an aggrieved person might appeal under s. 7 (1), ante, p. 5039.

There is no statutory authority for numbering houses at the public expense.

As to the recovery of this penalty and appeals, see ss. 6, 7, ante, pp. 5038—9.

Buildings at corner of streets.

22. The local authority may require the corner of any building intended to be erected at the corner of two streets to be rounded off or splayed off to the height of the first storey or to the full height of the building, and to such extent otherwise as they may determine, and for any loss which may be sustained through the exercise of the powers by this section conferred upon the local authority they shall pay compensation.

This section only becomes operative in a district when applied thereto by an Order of the Minister of Health; and it is understood that powers under it are not granted unless special grounds are shown. The amount of compensation will be ascertained in the manner provided by the Public Health Acts. See s. 10, ante, p. 5040, and the note thereunder.

See s. 33, post, p. 5053, as to buildings of railway and other companies.

An owner aggrieved by any requirement under the section might appeal to quarter sessions. See s. 7, ante, p. 5039.

Note to Section 22

Further powers to prevent the obstruction of view at street corners are conferred by the Roads Improvement Act, 1925, s. 4, Vol. V., post.

* * * * *

28. The local authority may remove, appropriate, use, and dispose of all old materials existing in any street at the time of the execution by the local authority of any works in such street, unless the owners of buildings and lands in such street, within forty-eight hours after notice so to do served on them by the surveyor, remove such materials or their respective proportions thereof, and the local authority shall allow such sum as may be the reasonable value thereof to such owners for any materials which have been used or removed by the local authority, and in case of dispute the amount to be allowed shall be settled in the manner provided by the Public Health Act, 1875, with respect to compensation for damage sustained by reason of the exercise of any powers of that Act.

Removal of
streets.

When this section has been applied to a district the powers of the authority in connection with the making up of private streets will be increased. Unless the owners wish to retain them, the authority may use old materials in making up the street or elsewhere, or may dispose thereof. The reasonable value is to be allowed, and in case of dispute such value will be ascertained in manner provided by the P. H. A., 1875, s. 308, ante, p. 4515.

This section has not been applied to county councils by the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 883, although they are now the authority for exercising functions under the Private Street Works Act, 1892, in rural districts (see the notes to that Act at ante, p. 4848).

29. It shall not be lawful for any person without the consent of the local authority in writing first obtained to lay any building materials, rubbish, or other thing, or make any excavation on or in any street repairable by the inhabitants at large, and when with such consent any person lays any building materials, rubbish, or other thing, or makes any excavation on or in any street, he shall, at his own expense, cause the same to be sufficiently fenced and a sufficient light to be fixed in a proper place on or near the same and to be continued every night from sunset to sunrise, and shall remove such materials, rubbish, or thing or fill up such excavation (as the case may be) when required by the local authority: and, if any person fails to comply in any respect with the requirements of this enactment, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds and to a daily penalty not exceeding forty shillings, and the local authority may remove any such materials, rubbish, or thing, or fill up such excavation (as the case may be), and recover the expenses from the offender summarily as a civil debt.

building materials or excavations not to be made without consent.

Functions under this section in rural districts and in relation to "county roads" (other than claimed roads) in urban districts are exercisable by county councils. See the notes to s. 18, ante, p. 5044.

This section (on being applied to a district) will supplement the provisions of the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847, s. 81 (ante, p. 4210), which as regards urban districts is incorporated by the P. H. A., 1875, s. 160, ante, p. 4443. It enables an authority to remove materials, etc. or fill up excavations and recover the expenses. It is understood that the Minister of Health readily grants these powers.

Within the London Traffic Area, the regulations made under the London Traffic Act, 1924, Sched. III (19), Vol. V., post, must be complied with.

As to the recovery of penalties, see s. 6, ante, p. 5038. As to the recovery of civil debts, see note (b) under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 251, ante, p. 4481.

See also as to the displacement or taking up of streets in urban districts the P. H. A., 1875, s. 149, ante, p. 4375.

As to the right of appeal, see s. 7, ante, p. 5039.

Dangerous places to be repaired or enclosed.

30. With respect to the repairing or enclosing of dangerous places the following provisions shall have effect (namely) :

- (1) If in any situation fronting, adjoining, or abutting on any street or public footpath, any building, wall, fence, steps, structure, or other thing, or any well, excavation, reservoir, pond, stream, dam or bank is, for want of sufficient repair, protection, or enclosure dangerous to the persons lawfully using the street or footpath, the local authority may, by notice in writing served upon the owner, require him, within the period specified in the notice and hereinafter in this section referred to as the "prescribed period," to repair, remove, protect, or enclose the same so as to prevent any danger therefrom :
- (2) If, after service of the notice on the owner, he shall neglect to comply with the requirements thereof within the prescribed period, the local authority may cause such works as they think proper to be done for effecting such repair, removal, protection, or enclosure, and the expenses thereof shall be payable by the owner, and may be recovered summarily as a civil debt.

See s. 33, post, p. 5053, as to the exemption of the buildings (other than a dwelling-house) of railway and other companies.

This section only becomes operative in a district when applied thereto by an Order of the Minister of Health. In connection with an application for the powers of this section, the Minister will doubtless require to know whether there are in fact dangerous places in the district. Many councils, both urban and rural, have obtained the requisite order. The L. G. B. and M. of H. have stated that as a general rule they do not consider it desirable that the section should apply to the reconstruction and repair of retaining walls. It is therefore the practice to insert a condition in the Order excepting from the operation of the section any wall or structure in so far as the same is used either for the support of any street or public footpath repairable by the inhabitants at large, or for the protection of any street or public footpath from damage or obstruction by reason of the surface of the street or footpath being above or below the level of the surface of the adjoining land, unless the wall or other structure was built after the street or footpath became a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large by or at the expense of a person other than the highway authority responsible for the repair of the street or footpath.

In urban districts local authorities already possess certain powers of dealing with buildings, walls, or attachments thereto, which are ruinous and dangerous to the public or adjoining occupiers : see the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847, ss. 75—78, ante, pp. 4207—4209, as incorporated with the P. H. A., 1875, by ibid., s. 160, ante, p. 4443. By the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847, s. 83, ante, p. 4211 (also incorporated by s. 160), an urban council are directed to cause to be repaired, protected or enclosed, any building or hole or any other place near any street which is dangerous to passengers along any street, and the expenses of such repair, etc. are made recoverable as damages. See also the power to place fences alongside streets for the safety of foot passengers given by the P. H. A., 1875, s. 149, ante, p. 4375. These provisions do not apply in a rural district unless urban powers in respect thereof have been conferred upon the rural council by an Order of the L. G. B. or the Minister of Health. See also the provisions of the Quarry (Fencing)

Act, 1887, ante, p. 4696, the Metalliferous Mines Regulation Act, 1872, and the Coal Mines Act, 1911 (ante, p. 4321, and post, p. 5120), which are of general application.

Note to
Section 30.

It will be seen that where s. 30 is applied to a district previously existing powers as to dangerous buildings or places will be largely supplemented. See also s. 31, infra.

A person aggrieved by any action taken by an authority under s. 30 may appeal, but whether to quarter sessions or to the M. of H. is not clear. See s. 7 and notes thereto, ante, p. 5039.

B. owned a narrow strip of land from fourteen to fifty feet in width between a street and a disused chalk pit. There was no fence between the street and the strip or between the strip and the pit. B. did not own the pit. Originally the edge of the pit was outside B.'s land, but in course of years some feet of his land had, from natural causes, slipped down into the pit, and the court found that the existence of the pit unfenced was a source of danger to persons lawfully using the street. It was held that the pit was "in a situation fronting, adjoining or abutting on" the street, and that the plaintiffs were justified in requiring B. to fence the edge of the pit on his land (Carshalton U. D. C. v. Burrage, [1911] 2 Ch. 133; 75 J. P. 250; 7 Digest 294, 204).

The appellants owned certain parts of the bank of the Mersey over which an ancient footpath ran, but were under no obligation to repair the footpath ratione tenuræ. Portions of the bank were washed away, and portions of the footpath fell into the river, and further portions were threatening to fall, and the way was thereby rendered dangerous to persons lawfully using the same. The local authority called upon the appellants under this section to repair and protect the bank so as to prevent danger therefrom. It was held that the section did not apply to such a case (Cheshire Lines Committee v. Heaton Norris Urban District Council, [1913] 1 K. B. 325; 76 J. P. 462; 26 Digest 568, 2612). This case was distinguished from one which arose under a local Act which referred (inter alia) to any "ground" deemed by the surveyor to be dangerous (Gaby v. Palmer (1916), 80 J. P. 212; 85 L. J. K. B. 1240; 38 Digest 209, 436).

As to the possible liability of a council who leave unguarded a ravine by the side of a street which they make up, see McClelland v. Manchester Corporation and Oldham v. Sheffield Corporation, on pp. 4354—5, ante.

As to accidents to persons and children in public parks or on land belonging to an authority, see cases on pp. 645 et seq., ante.

31. If any land (other than land forming part of any common) adjoining any street is allowed to remain unfenced or if the fences of any such land are allowed to be or remain out of repair, and such land is, owing to the absence or inadequate repair of any such fence, a source of danger to passengers, or is used for any immoral or indecent purposes, or for any purpose causing inconvenience or annoyance to the public, the Local Government Board on the application of the local authority may by Order empower the local authority to proceed under this section, and, in that case, at any time after the expiration of fourteen days from the service upon the owner or occupier of notice in writing by the local authority requiring the land to be fenced or any fence of the land to be repaired, the local authority may cause the land to be fenced or may cause the fences to be repaired in such manner as they think fit, and the reasonable expenses thereby incurred shall be recoverable from such owner or occupier summarily as a civil debt.

Fencing
lands adjoining streets.

In so far as it makes provision for removing a source of danger to passengers, this section (on being applied to a district) will supplement the provisions of the last section. The other powers conferred by it were novel so far as general legislation is concerned. Two Orders of the Minister of Health are necessary. In addition to the Order declaring the section to be in force in the district, a second Order must be obtained (by subsequent application) empowering the authority to proceed under the section as regards a particular piece of land.

Note to
Section 31.

Here again it would seem that there would be a right of appeal to sessions against the "requirement." See s. 7, ante, p. 5039, and note (b) to s. 19 (1), ante, p. 5045.

The section has been declared to be in force in many districts, but it does not follow that the second order will be granted as a matter of course. In fact the Minister requires, when action is proposed, to be furnished with full particulars as to the pieces of land which have become dangerous or a nuisance, with the names of the owners, and a copy of any correspondence which has taken place, and with a plan and photographs of the spot. A local inquiry is then directed before any decision is given.

A local Act provided that "If any land . . . adjoining any street is allowed to remain unfenced . . . and such land is in the opinion of the council owing to the absence . . . of any such fence a source of danger to passengers or is used for any immoral or indecent purposes or for any purpose causing inconvenience or annoyance to the public," the council might fence the land and recover the cost. It was held that, if a piece of land is not provided with a fence reasonably effective for the purpose of preventing persons from going on to it, it is "unfenced," and also that upon the true construction of the section the question whether the land is "used for any immoral or indecent purposes or for any purpose causing inconvenience or annoyance to the public," is a question for the justices (Upjohn v. Willesden U. D. C., [1914] 2 K. B. 85; 78 J. P. 54; 26 Digest 567, 2600). The present section does not contain the words "in the opinion of the council." A local Act provided that if the corporation were of opinion that danger to the public was likely to ensue by reason of land abutting on streets not being fenced, the owner of any such land should when required by the corporation and to their satisfaction fence off the land from the street and should afterwards keep such fence in repair. It was held that the Act did not apply to the retaining walls of an old turnpike road, but only to new streets where there were no fences and which, in the opinion of the corporation, were dangerous to the public (Rotherham Corporation v. Fullerton (1884), 50 L. T. 364; 26 Digest 567, 2599).

It may be mentioned that an owner or occupier of land is not under any obligation towards the public using a road to fence the road from his land so as to prevent harmless animals, like sheep, from straying upon it (Heath's Garage, Ltd. v. Hodges, [1916] 2 K. B. 370; 80 J. P. 321; 26 Digest 429, 1486).

Hoardings to be securely erected.

32.—(1) A person shall not use any hoarding or similar structure which is in, or abuts on, or adjoins any street, for any purpose, unless it is securely fixed to the satisfaction of the local authority.

(2) If any person acts in contravention of this section he shall be liable, in respect of each offence, to a penalty not exceeding five pounds and to a daily penalty not exceeding twenty shillings.

This section only becomes operative in a district when applied thereto by an Order of the Minister of Health, who, however, readily complies with applications. Its provisions are not limited to hoardings erected during building operations, but apply to hoardings erected for any purpose, and are therefore of wider application than the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847, s. 80, ante, p. 4209, or the P. H. A. A. A., 1890, s. 34, ante, p. 4811.

Apparently an appeal will lie to quarter sessions (s. 7, ante, p. 5039).

In Burnett v. Covell (1903), 68 J. P. 93; 90 L. T. 29; 26 Digest 567, 2601, under a similar clause in a local Act, the court refused to interfere with a finding that a hoarding in a field on a hedge bank parallel to the street, and only three feet from it, did not "abut" on the street. This case was distinguished in Rockleys, Ltd. v. Pritchard (1909), 74 J. P. 11; 101 L. T. 575; 26 Digest 567, 2602, where a hoarding stood back 10 feet from the street, but there was no intervening fence; there the court approved a finding that it was either "in or abutting on or adjoining" the street, as it had become for the time being the de facto boundary of the street. It was again distinguished in Stockport Corporation v. Rollinson (1910), 74 J. P. 236; 102 L. T. 567; 26 Digest 567, 2603; there R. erected two connected hoardings on private land at an angle made by two streets; one was seven inches from the edge of the street and six inches from an iron fence, which, however, did not obscure the view of posters on the hoarding; the other was twenty-five inches from the edge of the street and eleven inches from the parapet wall of a bridge bounding the street. On an information for erecting the hoardings "in" the street without consent, the justices held that as no part of the hoardings extended up to or upon the highway they were bound by the decision in Barnett v. Covell to hold that they were not "in" the street. The court sent the case back with an intimation that on the facts the hoardings were clearly "in" the street. See further as to "abutting" or "adjoining," cases cited on pp. 4400 et seq., ante.

Section 32.

33. Nothing in this Part or in any byelaws to be made under any enactment extended by this Part shall apply to a building (other than a dwelling-house) belonging to a railway company, or to any company or other public body authorised to construct, maintain, or improve a harbour, pier or dock, or to the owners of any canal or inland navigation, and used by the company, public body, or owners as a part of or in connection with their railway, harbour, pier, dock, canal or inland navigation.

The words in italics have been repealed by the P. H. A., 1936, Sched. III., Pt. III., ante, p. 729.

PART VI.

RECREATION GROUNDS.

It is obviously the intention of the Legislature that this Part of the Act (two sections only) shall be applied as a whole, for s. 77, post, p. 5055, is supplemental merely to s. 76, infra. Its provisions will not be operative in a district until applied to it by an Order of the Minister of Health. The Minister will probably require applications to be supported by information as to the parks and pleasure grounds provided by the council or under their management or control, and as to the particular powers which are considered to be necessary. Many Orders have been issued.

As will be seen from later notes the powers have been supplemented by the P. H. A., 1925, s. 56, Vol. V. and 13 Halsbury's Statutes 1139, which applies to all districts in which this Part of this Act is in force.

76.—(1) The Local Government Board, for the purposes of this section, may make rules prescribing restrictions or conditions subject to which any powers conferred by the section shall with respect to any area in a public park or pleasure ground be exerciseable in relation to the enclosure or setting apart of the area, or in relation to the use of the area as the site of a building or convenience.

Powers as to parks and pleasure grounds.

Subject to the restrictions or conditions prescribed by rules made under this section, the local authority shall, in addition to any powers under any general Act, have the following powers with respect to any public park or pleasure ground provided by them or under their management and control, namely, powers—

- (a) To enclose during time of frost any part of the park or ground for the purpose of protecting ice for skating, and charge admission to the part enclosed, but only on condition that at least three-quarters of the ice available for the purpose of skating is open to the use of the public free of charge ;
- (b) To set apart any such part of the park or ground as may be fixed by the local authority, and may be described in a notice board affixed or set up in some conspicuous position in the park or ground for the purpose of cricket, football, or any other game or recreation, and to exclude the public from the part set apart while it is in actual use for that purpose (a) ;

Section 76.

- (c) To provide any apparatus for games and recreations, and charge for the use thereof, or let the right of providing any such apparatus for any term not exceeding three years to any person ;
- (d) To provide or contribute towards the expenses of any band of music to perform in the park or ground (b) ;
- (e) To enclose any part of the park or ground, not exceeding one acre, for the convenience of persons listening to any band of music, and charge admission thereto (c) ;
- (f) To place, or authorise any person to place, chairs or seats (d) in any such park or ground, and charge for, or authorise any person to charge for, the use of the chairs so provided ;
- (g) To provide and maintain any reading rooms, pavilions, or other buildings and conveniences, and to charge for admission thereto, subject in the case of reading rooms to the limitation that such a charge shall not be made on more than twelve days in any one year, nor on more than four consecutive days ;
- (h) To let any pavilion or other building so provided by them to any person for the purpose of entertainments, and authorise that person to charge for admission thereto ;
- (i) To provide and maintain refreshment rooms in any such park, and either manage them themselves, or, if they think fit, let them to any person for any term not exceeding three years.

(2) Any expenses of the local authority incurred in the exercise of the powers given to them by this section shall be defrayed out of the fund or rate out of which the expenses of the park or ground, as to which the powers are exercised, are payable, and any receipts arising from the exercise of any such powers shall be carried to the credit of the same fund or rate.

(3) The expenses incurred by the council in the exercise of their power under this section to provide or contribute to a band shall not in any one year exceed an amount equal to that which would be produced by a rate of an amount which shall be approved by the Local Government Board, and shall not exceed a penny on the property liable to be assessed for the purpose of the rate out of which the expenses of the park or ground are payable, as assessed for the time being for the purposes of that rate (e).

(4) No power given by this section shall be exercised in such a manner as to contravene any covenant or condition subject to which a gift or lease (f) of a public park or pleasure ground has been accepted or made, without the consent of the donor, grantor, lessor, or other person or persons entitled in law to the benefit of such covenant or condition.

The effect of this section will be gathered on reference to the notes under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 164, ante, p. 4451.

The powers conferred by this section are considerably extended by s. 56 of the P. H. A., 1925, Vol. V., post, which applies to all districts in which this part of the 1907 Act is in force.

As to the rating of a park in which these powers had been widely exercised, see Yorkshire (North Riding) County Valuation Committee v. Redcar Corporation (1942), 107 J. P. 11. Note to
Section 76.

(a) Reasonable sums may be charged for the use of parts so set apart (s. 56 (5), P. H. A., 1925, Vol V., post). Formerly, the power to charge was limited to the use of apparatus provided under s. 76 (1) (d), ante, p. 5054. See also the Physical Training and Recreation Act, 1937, ante, p. 1570.

(b) Local authorities may now provide or contribute towards concerts or entertainments in addition to bands (s. 56 (1), P. H. A., 1925, Vol. V., post). As to the limitation on the expenditure of the local authority in providing bands, etc., see now s. 56 (3), P. H. A., 1925, as amended by s. 75 of the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 932.

(c) A part enclosed under this provision may also be used for a concert or entertainment (s. 56 (2), P. H. A., 1925, Vol. V., post). The payment for a seat within the enclosure in order to listen to the performance is a payment for admission to an entertainment within the meaning of the Finance (New Duties) Act, 1916, and is subject to entertainments duty (Cordiner v. Stockham, [1920] 1 K. B. 104; 83 J. P. 246; 39 Digest 301, 788). The Finance (New Duties) Act, 1916 (16 Halsbury's Statutes 799), has been amended by the Finance (No. 2) Act, 1931, and the Finance Act, 1935. The duty is not payable on admission of non-bathers to a bathing pool (Att.-Gen. v. Southport Corporation, [1934] 1 K. B. 226; Digest Supp.).

(d) For an action against an authority in respect of insecure seats supplied by them to a bandmaster for beach entertainments, see Dare v. Bognor U. D. C. (1912), 76 J. P. 425; 12 Digest 615, 5088. See also Chapelton v. Barry U. D. C., [1940] 1 K. B. 532; [1940] 1 All E. R. 356; Digest Supp. Power to place seats in public streets may be obtained by adopting s. 14, P. H. A., 1925, Vol. V., post.

(e) This sub-section is now of no effect (s. 56 (3), P. H. A., 1925). A local authority may now expend a sum amounting to the product of a rate of 1½d. without the approval of the Minister, but the Minister may sanction an expenditure in excess of this sum so long as the total expenditure does not exceed the product of a rate of 2½d. In arriving at the amount expended, receipts may be deducted. The Minister may in special cases allow the rates to be of a higher amount than 1½d. and 2½d. (see s. 56 (3) of the P. H. A., 1925, as amended by s. 75 of the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 932).

(f) Note that the sub-section mentions gifts and leases, but not purchases.

77. The local authority may appoint officers for securing the observance of this Part of this Act, and of the regulations and byelaws made thereunder, and may procure such officers to be sworn in as constables for that purpose, but any such officer shall not act as a constable unless in uniform or provided with a warrant. Power to appoint officers.

See the notes under the P. H. A., 1875, s. 164, ante, p. 4451.

POLICE.

The provisions of this Part of the Act will only be operative in a district when applied to it by an Order of the Home Secretary. See s. 3 (1), (4), ante, pp. 1104, 1105.

78. [Regulations as to street traffic. Repealed as from December 1, 1930, by the Road Traffic Act, 1930, s. 122, Sched. V., and S. R. & O., 1930, No. 1011 (see Vol. V. and 23 Halsbury's Statutes 687, 696, 700).]

79. Every person who shall ride or drive so as to endanger the life or limb of any person or to the common danger of the passengers in any thoroughfare shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings and may be arrested without warrant by any constable who witnesses the offence. Dangerous riding and driving.

Note to
Section 79.

This section was repealed by s. 9 and Sched. V. of the P. H. A., 1925, Vol. V., post. By s. 74 (2), ibid., Vol. V., post, which is of general application, the section is reproduced with an increased penalty.

As to leading or driving animals.

80. The local authority may, by order, prescribe the streets in which, and the manner according to which, the leading or driving of animals shall be permitted within their district, provided that the route or routes which it shall be lawful for the local authority so to prescribe shall not be such as would prevent the passage of cattle between any market on the one hand, and any railway station or landing wharf in the district or any place beyond the district on the other hand, when such animals are merely passing between such market and railway station, landing wharf, or other place aforesaid, and the local authority shall be bound to allow at all times a reasonably short and efficient route or routes for the passage of such animals. Provided also that any such order shall only operate between the hours of nine in the morning and nine in the evening, and shall not prevent the owner of any animals driving the same to or from his own premises, and nothing in this enactment contained shall authorise the local authority to interfere with the leading or driving of any animals to any duly licensed slaughter-house.

This section only becomes operative when applied to a district by Order of the Home Secretary: see s. 3 (1), (4), ante, pp. 5037—8. No penalty is provided for the breach of an Order.

The plaintiff was riding a bicycle along a highway after dark. She had a lamp on her bicycle and it was burning properly. The defendant, a farmer, wished to transfer a colt, an unbroken animal about 18 months old, from one farm to another, and was bringing the colt along the road. In front he had a boy leading a mare, then came the colt, and behind the colt the defendant was driving a trap to keep the colt from bolting back. When the plaintiff approached, the colt was startled by the light on her bicycle and darted from one side of the road to the other, and knocked the plaintiff over, causing injuries for which she sued the defendant. It was held that as the colt had done just what in the circumstances might have been expected, the defendant was liable (Turner v. Coates, [1917] 1 K. B. 670; 33 T. L. R. 79; 2 Digest 235, 230).

Extending definition of "public place" and
"street" for certain purposes.

81. Any place of public resort or recreation ground belonging to, or under the control of, the local authority, and any unfenced ground adjoining or abutting upon any street in an urban district shall for the purpose of the Vagrancy Act, 1824, and of any Act for the time being in force altering or amending the same, be deemed to be an open and public place, and shall be deemed to be a street for the purposes of section twenty-nine of the Town Police Clauses Act, 1847, and also for the purposes of so much of section twenty-eight of that Act as relates to the following offences:

Every person who suffers to be at large any unmuzzled ferocious dog, or urges any dog or other animal to attack, worry, or put in fear any person or animal:

Every person who rides or drives furiously any horse or carriage, or drives furiously any cattle:

Every common prostitute or night walker loitering and importuning passengers for the purpose of prostitution:

Every person who wilfully and indecently exposes his person:

Every person who publicly offers for sale or distribution, or exhibits to public view, any profane, indecent, or obscene book, paper, print, drawing, painting, or representation, or sings any profane or obscene song or ballad, or uses any profane or obscene language : Section 81.

Every person who wantonly discharges any firearm or discharges any missile or makes any bonfire :

Every person who throws or lays any dirt, litter, ashes, or night soil, or any carrion, fish, offal, or rubbish, on any street.

This section only becomes operative when applied to a district by Order of the Home Secretary. See s. 3 (1), (4), ante, pp. 5037—8.

The Vagrancy Act, 1824, s. 3 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 913) (inter alia), provides that every common prostitute wandering in the public streets or public highways, or in any place of public resort, and behaving in a riotous or indecent manner ; and every person wandering abroad, or placing himself or herself in any public place, street, highway, court or passage to beg or gather alms, or causing or procuring or encouraging any child or children so to do ; shall be deemed an idle and disorderly person within the true intent and meaning of this Act ; and it shall be lawful for any justice of the peace to commit such offender (being thereof convicted before him by his own view, or by the confession of such offender, or by the evidence on oath of one or more credible witness or witnesses) to the house of correction, there to be kept to hard labour for any time not exceeding one calendar month. Ibid., s. 4 (op. cit. 915), deals (inter alia) with persons wilfully exposing to view, in any street, road, highway, or public place, any obscene print, etc. and with any person wilfully exposing his person in any street, road, or public highway, or in the view thereof, or in any place of public resort, with intent to insult any female. So far, therefore, as these sections are concerned, the text if applied to a district will not alter the law, for in neither is the expression "open and public place" used.

By the Vagrant Act Amendment Act, 1873, s. 3 (op. cit. 947), every person playing or betting by way of wagering or gaming in any street, road, highway, or other open and public place, or in any open place to which the public have or are permitted to have access, at or with any table or instrument of gaming, or any coin, card, token, or other article used as an instrument or means of such wagering or gaming, at any game or pretended game of chance, shall be deemed a rogue and vagabond within the meaning of the Vagrancy Act, 1824 (op. cit. 913), and as such may be convicted and punished under the provisions of that Act, or, in the discretion of the justice or justices trying the case, in lieu of such punishment, by a penalty for the first offence not exceeding forty shillings, and for the second or any subsequent offence not exceeding five pounds. So far as this section is concerned the text if applied to a district will not alter the law much, even if at all. Firstly, a place of public resort or recreation ground belonging to, or controlled by, an authority is, semble, apart from it "an open place to which the public have or are permitted to have access" : see Langrish v. Archer and Airton v. Scott, p. 5058, post. Secondly, a piece of unfenced ground adjoining or abutting upon a street, upon which members of the public are in fact found, would also appear to be "an open place to which the public have access" ; even if it were necessary to find that the public are permitted to have access to it, the mere absence of any fencing would probably justify such a finding unless it was proved that the owner had tried to turn persons off, and had been defied by them.

In the Vagrancy Act, 1898 (4 Halsbury's Statutes 722), the expression used in s. 1 (op. cit.) is public place, and the text would, therefore, in this instance appear to make no alteration in the law.

The text further provides that for the purposes of s. 29 of the Town Police Clauses Act, 1847, ante, p. 4233, and of s. 28 of that Act, ante, p. 4226, so far as certain specified offences are concerned, any place of public resort or recreation ground belonging to, or under the control of a local authority, and any unfenced ground adjoining or abutting upon any street in an urban district shall be deemed to be a street. Town Police Clauses Act.

S. 29 of the Town Police Clauses Act, 1847, imposes a penalty upon any person "drunk in any street and guilty of any riotous or indecent behaviour." It was, however, afterwards by the Licensing Act, 1872, s. 12 (9 Halsbury's Statutes 939), as amended by the Licensing Act, 1902, s. 8 (op. cit. 967), enacted (inter alia) that every person who in any highway or other public place (including in that expression any place to which the public have access, whether on payment or otherwise) is guilty while drunk of riotous or disorderly behaviour, etc. shall be punishable as therein mentioned. Unless, therefore, indecent behaviour is not necessarily disorderly behaviour, it is difficult to see how the text will amend the law.

Note to
Section 81.

By s. 15 (3) of the Road Traffic Act, 1930, Vol. V. and 23 Halsbury's Statutes 623, a person liable to be charged with driving a motor vehicle when under the influence of drink or drugs is not to be charged under s. 12 of the Act of 1872 with being drunk while in charge, on a highway or other place, of a carriage.

S. 28 of the Town Police Clauses Act, 1847, ante, p. 4226, deals with a large number of offences committed "in any street" and "to the obstruction, annoyance, or danger of the residents or passengers." Seven of these offences are selected, and on the text being applied to a district by Order of the Home Secretary, an advantage will certainly be gained. The first two of these offences deal with ferocious dogs and furious riding or driving, and call for no comment. The third, which deals with solicitation, calls for notice. The existing provision in the Vagrancy Act, 1824 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 913) is restricted to public streets and highways and places of public resort, and to riotous and indecent behaviour; probably under that section a piece of vacant land in a town, if frequented by the public, would be held to be a place of public resort, but where the new provision is put in force it will free the hands of the police and relieve them from the necessity of proving that the solicitation was of such a nature as to be "riotous and indecent," a point as to which opinions are apt to differ: see R. v. De Ruiter (1880), 44 J. P. 90; Bonner v. Lushington, Castro v. Lushington (1893), 57 J. P. 168; 68 L. T. 91; 37 Digest 361, 1631. The fourth offence is that of indecent behaviour. Under the present law an indictment will lie although the locus is not, strictly speaking, a public place (see R. v. Wellard (1884), 14 Q. B. D. 63; 49 J. P. 296; 15 Digest 746, 8051); and there is a summary penalty under the Vagrancy Act where the offence is committed with intent to insult any female in (inter alia) any place of public resort. The fifth offence deals with the exhibition of indecent matter, which is already punishable in a "public place" under the Vagrancy Act, 1824 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 913), and with the use of profane or obscene language, for which (except under byelaws) there is no summary penalty where the locus is not a street within the meaning of the Town Police Clauses Act, 1847, ante, p. 4222. Lastly, there are two offences dealing with the discharge of firearms, catapults, etc., the lighting of bonfires, and the deposit of rubbish. It will still be necessary in these cases to prove obstruction, annoyance, or danger to residents or inhabitants; but, semble, it is not necessary to call persons who have been actually annoyed, etc.; see notes to s. 28 of the Act of 1847, ante, p. 4226.

place," etc.

It may be useful here to give a reference to cases in which the courts have construed such expressions as "public place," "place of public resort," "place to which the public have access," etc., under different statutes: Langrish v. Archer (1882), 10 Q. B. D. 44; 47 J. P. 295; 25 Digest 433, 312 (railway carriage); Re Freestone (1856), 1 H. & N. 93; 20 J. 82. The local authority for the prevention of danger, obstruction, or annoyance to persons using the seashore may make and enforce byelaws to— Section 82.
Byelaws as to seashore.

- (1) Regulate the erection or placing on the seashore, or on such part or parts thereof as may be prescribed by such byelaws, of any booths, tents, sheds, stands, and stalls (whether fixed or movable), or vehicles for the sale or exposure of any article or thing, or any shows, exhibitions, performances, swings, roundabouts, or other erections, vans, photographic carts, or other vehicles, whether drawn or propelled by animals, persons or any mechanical power, and the playing of any games on the seashore, and generally regulates the user of the seashore for such purposes as shall be prescribed by such byelaws :
- (2) Regulate the user of the seashore for riding and driving ;
- (3) Regulate the selling and hawking of any article, commodity, or thing on the seashore ;
- (4) Provide for the preservation of order and good conduct among persons using the seashore. Provided that no byelaws affecting the foreshore below high-water mark shall come into operation until the consent of the Board of Trade has been obtained.

This section was repealed by the P. H. A., 1936, s. 346, Sched. III., Pt. III., ante, pp. 720, 729, so far as regards matters with respect to which byelaws can be made under Part VIII. of that Act, ante, p. 488. Even in so far as unrepealed, the section only becomes operative in a district when applied to it by an Order of the Home Secretary. See s. 3 (1), (4), ante, pp. 5037—8. Byelaws made under it must be submitted to him for confirmation : see s. 9, ante, p. 5040.

See notes to the P. H. A., 1875, s. 164, ante, p. 4451, for cases in which byelaws as to the seashore have been considered by the courts.

As to the rating of a foreshore used for kiosks, etc., see Yorkshire (North Riding) County Valuation Committee v. Redcar Corporation, ante, p. 5055.

83. The local authority may, for the prevention of danger, obstruction, or annoyance to persons using the esplanades or promenades within the district, make byelaws prescribing the nature of the traffic for which they may be used, regulating the selling and hawking of any article, commodity, or thing thereon, and for the preservation of order and good conduct among the persons using the same. Byelaws as to promenades.

See as to byelaws upon such matters cases cited in notes to the P. H. A., 1875, s. 164, at ante, p. 4451.

As regards an authority's power over a parade provided by them under a local Act, reference may be made to Att.-Gen. v. Blackpool Corporation (1907), 71 J. P. 478 ; 26 Digest 426, 1452, in which the authority were held to be in the position of trustees of the parade for limited public purposes. By their local Act of 1865, the corporation were authorised to make and maintain a carriage-drive and a promenade (called " the parade ") by the sea. It was provided by s. 13 that the carriage-drive should be a public highway, by s. 17 that the parade should not be a public highway, and by s. 18 that it should be " kept and used exclusively for the purposes of recreation by persons on foot, and with or without carriages, in respect of which toll is authorised to be taken." Section 19 authorised a toll of 'twopence for every bath-chair, etc. or like carriage driven by human power. By a later Act of 1899, additional works were authorised, including a new carriageway, absorbing the original parade, a new road with a tramway thereon alongside the new carriageway, and a new parade alongside the tramway. By s. 7 the corporation might appropriate the whole or such part of the new parade as they might think fit for the exclusive use of foot passengers, and by s. 8 the new road was to be for the exclusive purpose of the tramway. The parade was, in fact, used exclusively for foot passengers and bath-chairs, etc. The corporation, in 1906, gave their approval to motor car races being held on the parade and gave permission for part of the tramway road to be used for the purpose of cars returning to the starting point. They also undertook to keep the portion of the parade over which the races were to be run clear of traffic, and to erect a barrier and provide the necessary police control. An action was brought by the Attorney-General, at the relation of a ratepayer, to restrain the corporation from organising or promoting motor races on the sea front. It was held by the Vice-Chancellor of the Palatine Court that the corporation were in the position of trustees of the parade for limited public purposes, namely, for the purpose of use by foot passengers perambulators, invalid carriages, and similar vehicles, and that it was an abuse of the parade to allow it to be used for either horses or motor cars, and a fortiori motor races.

Note to
Section 83.

Licences to porters.

84.—(1) The local authority may from time to time grant to any person whom they think fit a licence to carry on the calling of a luggage porter, light porter, public messenger, or commissionaire, and may charge a fee of one shilling for any such licence.

(2) The local authority may from time to time make byelaws for regulating the conduct of any persons so licensed and for fixing the charges to be made by them.

(3) Every such licence may be granted for a year or for any less period according as the local authority may think fit, and may be suspended or revoked or endorsed by the local authority for a breach of such byelaws or whenever they shall deem such suspension or revocation or endorsement to be necessary or desirable in the interests of the public: Provided that the existence of this power to suspend or revoke or endorse a licence shall be plainly set forth in the licence itself.

(4) Every such licence whensoever issued shall expire on the thirty-first day of March next following the date of its issue, and may contain conditions as to the badge which the holder of any licence shall wear.

(5) If any person while unlicensed represents himself to be licensed, or wears any badge for the purpose of representing himself as licensed to carry on any of the callings specified in this section, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty shillings.

This section only becomes operative in a district when applied to it by an Order of the Home Secretary (see s. 3 (1), (4), ante, pp. 5037, 5038). Byelaws under it require confirmation by him (see s. 9, ante, p. 5040).

There is nothing in the section to compel the persons referred to therein to take out a licence, and so long as they refrain from doing so, they will be under no obligation to observe any byelaws made by the authority.

Registries for servants.

85.—(1) Every person who shall carry on, for the purpose of private gain, the trade or business of keeper of a female domestic servants' registry shall register his name and place of abode, and also the premises in which such trade or business is carried on, in a book to be kept at the offices of the local authority for the purpose.

(2) The local authority may make byelaws prescribing the books to be kept and the entries to be made therein, and any other matter which the local authority may deem necessary for the prevention of fraud or immorality in the conduct of such trade or business, and for regulating any premises used for the purposes of or in connection with such trade or business.

(3) The person registered shall keep a copy of the byelaws made by the local authority under this section hung up in a conspicuous place in the registered premises.

(4) Any officer of the local authority or other person duly authorised in writing in that behalf by the local authority, and if so required exhibiting his authority, shall at all reasonable times be afforded by the person registered full and free power of entry into the registered premises for the purpose of inspecting the registered premises and the books required to be kept by such person.

(5) Any person carrying on such trade or business as aforesaid whose name, place of abode, and premises in which such trade or business is carried on have not been registered in accordance with sub-section one of this section, or whose registration has been cancelled or suspended as hereinafter provided, or acting in contravention of any of the provisions of this section or of any byelaw made thereunder, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds and to a daily penalty not exceeding forty shillings, and the court may (in lieu of or in addition to imposing a penalty) order the suspension or cancellation of the registration.

(6) The local authority shall give public notice of the provisions of this section by advertisement in two newspapers circulating in the district, and by handbills and otherwise in such manner as they think sufficient.

This section only becomes operative in a district to which it is applied by an Order of the Home Secretary: see s. 3 (1), (4), ante, pp. 5037, 5038.

Sub-s. (6) imposes on an authority to whose district the section is applied the duty of giving public notice of its provisions; but it is submitted that neglect on the part of the authority to perform this duty will not excuse a keeper of a registry for breach of the provisions (see Duncan v. Knill (1907), 71 J. P. 287; 96 L. T. 911; 2 Digest 283, 560).

86.—(1) Every person who shall carry on business as a dealer in old metal or as a marine store dealer shall register his name and place of abode and every place of business, warehouse, store, and place of deposit occupied or used by him for the purpose of such business, in a book to be kept for the purpose at the offices of the local authority.

As to dealers in old metal and marine stores.

(2) Every person carrying on business as aforesaid shall correctly enter in a book to be kept by him for that purpose the description and price of all articles purchased or otherwise acquired by him, and the name, address, and occupation of the person from whom the same were purchased or otherwise acquired.

(3) Every person who shall carry on such business without having so registered or without keeping such book and making such entries as required by this section shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds and to a daily penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

(4) Any officer of the local authority or other person duly authorised in writing in that behalf by the local authority, and if so required exhibiting his authority, shall have free access at all reasonable times to every such place of business, warehouse, store, and place of deposit, to inspect the same and the books by this section required to be kept, and every person who shall prevent, hinder, or obstruct any officer or person

Section 86. so authorised in the execution of his duty under this sub-section shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

(5) The local authority shall give public notice of the provisions of this section by advertisement in two newspapers circulating in the district and by handbills and otherwise in such manner as they think sufficient.

This section only becomes operative in a district when applied to it by an Order of the Home Secretary : see s. 3 (1), (4), ante, pp. 5037, 5038.

By the Old Metal Dealers Act, 1861, s. 3 (4 Halsbury's Statutes 624), "In the construction and for the purposes of this Act the term 'dealer in old metals' shall mean any person dealing in, buying, and selling old metal, scrap metal, broken metal, or partly manufactured metal goods, or defaced or old metal goods, and whether such person deals in such articles only, or together with second-hand goods or marine stores ; and the term 'old metals' shall mean the said articles." See the provisions of that Act generally as to dealers in old metals, and also the Prevention of Crimes Act, 1871, s. 13 (op. cit. 676).

As to "marine store dealers," i.e., persons dealing in, buying or selling, anchors, cables, sails, old junk, old iron or other marine stores of any kind, see ss. 538—541 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894.

As to the prohibition of purchases from children under sixteen, see Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, s. 540, and Children Act, 1908, s. 116 (op. cit. 767).

In Ireland under a somewhat similar section, requiring licensing instead of registration, it has been held that the dealer must enter the vendor's real name, etc. and cannot protect himself by proving that he entered in good faith the name, etc. given to him (Toppin v. Marcus, [1908] 2 I. R. 423 ; 14 Digest 37, g) ; and also that a licensed dealer may purchase old metal through an unlicensed agent even off his licensed premises, but must be responsible for proper and accurate entries being made in his books (Dunne v. Lee, [1913] 1 I. R. 205 ; 1 Digest 274, n). See also as to who is a "general dealer" under the Irish Act, Kelly v. Rice, [1906] 2 I. R. 1 ; Gamble v. Rainey (1912), 46 Ir. L. T. 200, and as to what amounts to "using" a place for business, Hall v. O'Brien (1905), 40 Ir. L. T. 33.

Sub-s. (5) of the text imposes on an authority to whose district the section is applied the duty of giving public notice of its provisions ; but it is submitted that neglect on the part of the authority to perform this duty will not excuse a dealer for breach of its provisions (see Duncan v. Knill, ante, p. 5061).

PART IX.

SKY SIGNS.

Sky signs.

91.—(1) (a) It shall not be lawful to erect or fix to, upon, or in connection with any building or erection any sky sign, and it shall not be lawful to retain any existing sky sign so erected or fixed for a longer period than three years after the commencement of this section, nor during that period except with the licence of the local authority, and in the event of such licence being granted then only for such period not exceeding three years from the commencement of this section and under and subject to such terms and conditions as shall be therein prescribed.

Outside London there had hitherto been no power to control or prevent the erection of sky signs except under local Acts. Such power can now be obtained by means of an Order of the Home Secretary applying s. 91 to the district. See s. 3 (1), (4), ante,

(b) Provided that in any of the following cases a licence of the local authority under this sub-section shall become void (namely); Section 91.

- (i) If any addition to any sky sign be made except for the purpose of making it secure under the direction of the surveyor;
- (ii) If any change be made in the sky sign or any part thereof;
- (iii) If the sky sign or any part thereof fall either through accident decay, or any other cause;
- (iv) If any addition or alteration be made to or in the house, building, or structure on, over, or to which any sky sign is placed or attached if such addition or alteration involves the disturbance of the sky sign or any part thereof; or
- (v) If the house, building, or structure over, on, or to which the sky sign is placed or attached become unoccupied or be demolished or destroyed.

(c) Provided also that if any sky sign be erected or retained contrary to the provisions of this Act, or after the licence for the erection, maintenance, or retention thereof for any period shall have expired or become void, it shall be lawful for the local authority to take proceedings for the taking down and removal of the sky sign in the same manner and with the same consequence as to recovery of expenses and otherwise in all respects as if it were an obstruction within the meaning of section sixty-nine (Future projections of houses, etc., to be removed on notice) of the Towns Improvement Clauses Act, 1847.

See this section, ante, p. 4204.

(2) Any person acting in contravention of any of the provisions of this section, or of the terms and conditions (if any) of any approval, licence, or consent under this section, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five pounds and to a daily penalty not exceeding twenty shillings.

(3) For the purposes of this section—

“Sky sign” means—

Any word, letter, model, sign, device, or representation in the nature of an advertisement, announcement, or direction supported on or attached to any post, pole, standard, frame-work, or other support wholly or in part upon, over, or above any house, building or structure which, or any part of which, sky sign shall be visible against the sky from some point in any street or public way, and includes all and every part of any such post, pole, standard, frame-work, or other support;

The expression “sky sign” shall also include—

Any balloon, parachute, or other similar device employed wholly or in part for the purposes of any advertisement or announcement on, over, or above any house, building, structure, or erection of any kind, or on or over any street or public way;

But shall not include—

(a) Any flagstaff, pole, vane, or weathercock unless adapted or used wholly or in part for the purpose of any advertisement or announcement;

Section 91.

(b) Any sign or any board, frame, or other contrivance securely fixed to or on the top of the wall or parapet of any building, or on the cornice or blocking course of any wall, or to the ridge of a roof : Provided that such board, frame, or other contrivance be of one continuous face and not open work, and do not extend in height more than three feet above any part of the wall or parapet or ridge to, against or on which it is fixed or supported ;

(c) Any word, letter, model, sign, device, or representation as aforesaid relating exclusively to the business of a railway or canal company, and placed wholly upon or over any railway, canal, railway station, wharf, quay, yard, platform, or station or wharf or quay approach belonging to a railway or canal company, and so placed that it cannot fall into any street or public place.

The above definition is similar to that contained in the London Building Act, 1930, s. 5 (23 Halsbury's Statutes 219) ; see R. v. Vaughan, Ex parte London C. C. (1896), 12 T. L. R. 193, and London C. C. v. Savoy Hotel Co. (1896), 60 J. P. 457 ; 38 Digest 179, 207, in which the corresponding section of the L. B. Act, 1894, was construed. See also London C. C. v. Carwardine (1892), 57 J. P. 181 ; 62 L. J. M. C. 40 ; 38 Digest 179, 205, and Tussaud v. London C. C. (1892), 57 J. P. 184 ; 9 T. L. R. 64 ; 38 Digest 179, 206, decided under the London Sky Signs Act, 1891, which also contained a different definition ; and Goldstraw v. Jones (1906), 71 J. P. 22 ; 96 L. T. 30 ; 26 Digest 565, 2595, a decision under a local Act as to "a sign."

PART X.

MISCELLANEOUS.

* * * * *

Power to licence
boats.

94 (a).—(1) The local authority may grant upon such terms and conditions as they may think fit licences for pleasure boats and pleasure vessels to be let for hire or to be used for carrying passengers for hire, and to the boatmen or persons assisting in the charge or navigation of such boats and vessels, and may charge annual fees for such licences, for a boat or vessel a fee not exceeding the sum of five shillings, and for a boatman or other person a fee not exceeding the sum of one shilling.

(2) Any such licence may be granted for such period as the local authority may think fit, and may be suspended or revoked by the local authority whenever they shall deem such suspension or revocation to be necessary or desirable in the interests of the public : Provided that the existence of the power to suspend or revoke the licence shall be plainly set forth in the licence itself.

(3) No person shall let for hire any pleasure boat or pleasure vessel not so licensed or at any time during the suspension of the licence for the boat or vessel, nor shall any person carry or permit to be carried passengers for hire in any pleasure boat or vessel not so licensed or at any time during the suspension of the licence for the boat or vessel.

(4) A licence under this section shall not be required for any boat or vessel duly licensed by or under any regulations of the Board of Trade (b).

Section 94.

(5) No person shall carry or permit to be carried in any pleasure boat or pleasure vessel a greater number of passengers for hire than shall be specified in the licence applying to such boat or vessel, and every owner of any such boat or vessel shall, before permitting the same to be used for carrying passengers for hire, paint or cause to be painted, in letters and figures not less than one inch in height and three-quarters of an inch in breadth, on a conspicuous part of the said boat or vessel, his own name and also the number of persons which it is licensed to carry, in the form "Licensed to carry persons."

(6) Every person who shall act in contravention of the provisions of this section shall for each offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

(7) Any person deeming himself aggrieved by the withholding, suspension, or revocation of any licence under the provisions of this section may appeal to a petty sessional court held after the expiration of two clear days after such withholding, suspension, or revocation: Provided that the person so aggrieved shall give twenty-four hours' written notice of such appeal, and the ground thereof, to the clerk, and the court shall have power to make such order as they see fit and to award costs, such costs to be recoverable summarily as a civil debt (c).

(a) This section only becomes operative in a district when applied to it by an Order of the Minister of Health: see s. 3, ante, p. 5037. An authority applying for such an Order will probably be required to state to what extent pleasure boats are hired in the district, and whether there are any byelaws in force with regard to pleasure boats.

When the section has been applied it will extend the provisions of the P. H. A., 1875, s. 172, ante, p. 4460.

The defendant, who resided outside a district in which this section was in force, brought his boat to the beach within it and then landed and touted for passengers. Certain persons got into his boat. It was held that there was evidence that he was plying for hire; and that, although no express evidence was given as to whether the boundary of the district extended below high-water mark, the magistrates were justified in convicting (Fearon v. Warrenpoint U. D. C. (1910), 44 I. L. T. 265); see, however, as to England the note to "parish" on p. 692, ante.

(b) Although vessels licensed (or more properly certificated) by the Board of Trade under the Merchant Shipping Acts are excepted from the requirements of a licence under this section, byelaws made under s. 172 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 4460, can apparently apply to them if, in fact, they are also "pleasure boats."

(c) See as to this expression, the note on p. 1079, ante.

95. The powers of a local authority under sections one hundred and seventy-five and one hundred and seventy-six of the Public Health Act, 1875, shall extend to highway purposes (a) . . . (b).

(a) S. 175 (13 Halsbury's Statutes 699) enabled the local authority to acquire lands by agreement, and s. 176 (op. cit. 700) by compulsory procedure.

(b) The rest of this section was repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1288.

THE FINANCE ACT, 1908.

(8 EDW. 7, c. 16.)

An Act to grant certain duties of Customs and Inland Revenue, to alter other duties, and to amend the Law relating to Customs and Inland Revenue and the National Debt, and to make other provisions for the Financial Arrangements of the year. [1st August, 1908.]

PART III.

LOCAL TAXATION LICENCES.

Collection of duties on certain local taxation licences by county
councils.

6.—(1) The power to levy the duties on local taxation licences to which this section applies shall, as from the date to be fixed by Order in Council, under this section, be transferred (a) in England and Wales to county councils, and section seventeen of the Finance Act, 1907, shall, as from the date of the transfer, cease to apply to or in respect of any such duties or the proceeds thereof.

(2) His Majesty may, by Order in Council, fix the date of the transfer under this section, and make any such further provisions as it appears necessary or expedient to make in order to give full effect to the transfer, and may make provision for the furnishing by county councils of returns to the Local Government Board (c) as to the amounts levied under the power transferred by this section.

The transfer under this section shall not affect any equitable adjustment respecting the distribution of the proceeds of the local taxation licences made under the Local Government Act, 1888, or otherwise, but provision may be made by Order in Council under this section for any alteration which it appears necessary or expedient to make in consequence of the transfer in the procedure for making any payments, or otherwise giving effect to any such adjustment.

Sub-sections (3) (4) and (5) of section twenty of the Local Government Act, 1888, and any other provisions of that Act relating to the levy of the duties on local taxation licences by county councils shall, as respects the duties to which this section applies, have effect as if the power to levy those duties had been transferred under subsection (3) of section twenty of that Act.

(3) When the transfer under this section takes effect there shall be charged on and paid annually out of the Consolidated Fund or the growing produce thereof to the Local Taxation Account a sum of forty thousand pounds, and the sum so paid shall be distributed amongst the county councils in England and Wales in proportion to the proceeds of the duties to which this section applies collected in each county during the preceding year (d).

(4) The duties on local taxation licences to which this section applies are the duties on licences to deal in game, licences for dogs, killing game, guns, carriages (including duties charged under subsection (1) of section eight of the Locomotives on Highways Act, 1896) (e), armorial bearings . . . (f).

Provided that if the rate of any such duty is altered, that duty shall, unless Parliament makes provision to the contrary, cease to be a duty to which this section applies (g).

(5) The expressions "county" and "county council" in this section respectively include a county borough and the council of a county borough.

(a) The transfer contemplated by this section was effectuated by an Order in Council, dated October 19th, 1908. See the Order, a Circular of the L. G. B., and a memorandum of the Inland Revenue Commissioners at 6 L. G. R., Part III., pp. 169 et seq. No officer of the local authority can take proceedings for the recovery of a fine under any Act relating to inland revenue without an order from the local authority directing him to take proceedings in the particular case, and a general direction to take proceedings in such cases is sufficient (Jones v. Wilson, [1918] 2 K. B. 36; 82 J. P. 277; 33 Digest 95, 643).

(d) This subsection was repealed by the L. G. A., 1929, Sched. XII., Pt. VI., Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 1018. The amount formerly payable under this subsection as amended by s. 62 of the Finance Act, 1921, is among the grants discontinued by s. 85 and Sched. II. of the 1929 Act, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 937, 979. As to the new grants substituted for those discontinued, see Pt. VI. of the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 937, and the M. of H. Circular, L. G. A., 17.

(f) The words "and male servants," which were formerly inserted here, were repealed by the Finance Act, 1937 (30 Halsbury's Statutes 195, 349, 742).

(g) See hereon the Roads Act, 1920, Vol. V. and 19 Halsbury's Statutes 85.

THE SMALL HOLDINGS AND ALLOTMENTS ACT, 1908.

(8 Edw. 7, c. 36.)

An Act to consolidate the Enactments with respect to Small Holdings and Allotments in England and Wales. [1st August 1908.]

The Act has been amended by the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, the Allotments Act, 1922, the Allotments Act, 1925, the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926, and the Agricultural Land (Utilisation) Act, 1941. All these Acts are set out in Vol. V., post. See also the Agriculture Act, 1920 (1 Halsbury's Statutes 76). The necessity for providing allotments must be considered by every local authority or joint committee preparing a Town Planning Scheme, and every borough and urban district council any part of whose district is comprised in the area of a town planning scheme must take into consideration at least once a year the question of the adequacy of the allotments within the area of the scheme (s. 3 of the 1925 Act, Vol. V., post). See also the obligations imposed by s. 23 of the Act in the text.

This Act re-enacted without substantial variation the group of statutes which it repealed, see Schedule III., post, p. 5092.

PART I.

SMALL HOLDINGS.

* * * * *

This part of the Act was repealed by s. 22 and Sched. II. of the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 333, 335. See now Part I. of that Act.

PART II.

ALLOTMENTS.

PROVISION OF ALLOTMENTS.

23.—(1) If the council of any borough, urban district, or parish (a) are of opinion that there is a demand for allotments for the labouring population (b) in the borough, urban district, or parish, and that such allotments cannot be obtained at a reasonable rent and on reasonable conditions by voluntary arrangement between the owners of land suitable for such allotments and the applicants for the same (b), the council shall (c) provide a sufficient number of allotments, and shall let such allotments to persons (d) belonging to the labouring population (b) resident in the borough, district, or parish, and desiring to take the same

Duty of certain councils to provide allotments.

(2) On a representation in writing to the council of any borough, urban district, or parish, by any six registered parliamentary electors or ratepayers resident in the borough, urban district, or parish, that the circumstances of the borough, urban district, or parish are such that it is the duty of the council

Section 23. to take proceedings under this Part of this Act therein, the council shall take such representation into consideration.

(3) . . . (e).

(4) The duty of a council to provide allotments under this Act shall not include the duty of providing allotments exceeding one acre in extent (f).

(a) In a rural parish having no parish council, the parish meeting has the same powers (s. 61 (4), post, p. 5087). Prior to 1907, the district council was in a rural parish the authority for executing the Allotments Acts. The Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1907, transferred the powers and duties to parish councils and meetings, and made provision for the necessary transfer and adjustment of property and liabilities (s. 20 (2), (3), (6)).

Every local authority having powers under the Small Holdings and Allotments Acts, 1908—1931, has power to act as agent for the Special Commissioner for England and Wales under the Special Areas (Development and Improvement) Act, 1934, s. 5 (2) (27 Halsbury's Statutes 830).

(b) The words italicised were repealed by s. 25 and Second and Third Schedules to the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, pp. 5232—3.

(c) "Shall" provide, but see s. 16 of the Act of 1922, Vol. V., post, as amended by s. 4 of the Act of 1925, Vol. V., post, as to financial considerations.

(d) Under s. 28, post, p. 5071, the council may make rules as to persons eligible to be tenants of allotments. Apparently a person accepted as tenant must at the time be resident within the area, but may retain his allotment if he subsequently removes to a place not more than one mile outside the area (s. 30 (2), post, p. 5072).

The Minister has power to provide allotments, not exceeding one acre, for unemployed persons and allotment gardens for persons who are not in full-time employment, under the Agricultural Land (Utilisation) Act, 1931, s. 13; Vol. V., post.

(e) This sub-section, which defined "reasonable rent," was repealed by s. 25 and Second and Third Schedules to the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, pp. 5232—3.

(f) A holding exceeding one acre is within the term "small holding" (s. 61, post, p. 5086). As to such the council have no duty (unless they have agreed to a delegation of powers by the county council under s. 9 of the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 328, and may refer applicants to the county council; nevertheless they may provide allotments up to five acres (see s. 27 (3), post, p. 5070). By s. 13 of the Allotments Act, 1922, Vol. V. post, the obligation of urban authorities, where the population of their districts is 10,000 or upwards, is limited to the provision of allotment gardens not exceeding 20 poles in extent.

Duty of county councils to act in default of district and parish councils.

24.—(1) It shall be the duty of a county council to ascertain the extent to which there is a demand for allotments [by any person or by an association to which allotments may be let under this Act] (a) in the several urban districts (other than boroughs) (b) and rural parishes in the county, or would be a demand if suitable land were available, and the extent to which it is reasonably practicable, having regard to the provisions of this Act, to satisfy any such demand, and for that purpose to co-operate with such authorities, associations, and persons as they think best qualified to assist them, and take such other steps as they think necessary.

(2) The county council, if satisfied that the circumstances are such that land for allotments should be acquired by them under this section, shall pass a resolution to that effect, and thereupon the powers and duties of the district or parish council under the provisions of this Act relating to allotments shall be transferred from that council to the county council, and the county council, in substitution for that council, shall proceed to acquire land in accordance with this Act, and otherwise execute this Act in the district or parish :

Provided that this section shall not affect the property in, or any powers or duties of the district or parish council in relation to, any land which, before the passing of the resolution, was acquired by the district or parish council under this Act, or any enactment repealed by this Act.

(3) Where the powers of the district or parish council are, by virtue of this section, transferred to the county council, the following provisions shall have effect :—

- (a) The provisions of this Act relating to allotments shall apply with the modifications necessary for giving effect to this section : Section 24.
- (b) The county council may borrow for the purposes of those provisions subject to the conditions, in the manner, and on the security of the rate, subject to, in, and on the security of which the district or parish council might have borrowed under those provisions (c). The council shall have power to charge the said rate with the repayment of the principal and interest of the loan, and the loan with the interest thereon shall be repaid by the district or parish council in like manner, and the charge shall have the like effect, as if the loan were lawfully raised and charged on that rate by the district or parish council :
- (c) The county council shall keep separate accounts of all receipts and expenditure under this section :
- (d) All sums received by the county council in respect of any land acquired under this section or the corresponding provision of any enactment repealed by this Act (d), otherwise than from any sale or exchange (e), in so far as they are not required for the payment of expenses incurred by them in respect of such land, shall be paid to the district or parish council :
- (e) The county council may delegate to the district or parish council any powers under this Act relating to the management of the allotments, and the letting and use thereof, and the recovery of the rent and of possession thereof ; and, subject to the terms of the delegation, all expenses and receipts arising in the exercise of the powers so delegated shall be paid and dealt with as expenses and receipts of the district or parish council under this Act :
- (f) The county council, on the request of the district or parish council, may, by order under their seal, transfer to that council all or any of the powers, duties, property, and liabilities vested in and imposed on the council by virtue of this section or the corresponding provision of any enactment repealed by this Act, as regards the district or parish, and the property so transferred shall be deemed to have been acquired by that council under this Act, and that council shall act accordingly.
- (4) If the Board (f) are, in relation to any urban district (other than a borough) (b) or rural parish, satisfied, after holding a local inquiry at which the county council and the council of the district or parish and such other persons as the person holding the inquiry may in his discretion think fit to allow, shall be permitted to appear and be heard, that the county council have failed to fulfil their obligations under this section, the Board may by order transfer to [such officers of the Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries as the Minister may appoint for the purpose] (g) all or any of the powers of the county council under this section in relation to the district or parish, and this section shall apply as if references to [such officers] (g) were substituted for references to the county council and with such other adaptations as may be made by the order (h).

(a) The words in brackets were added by s. 25 and Second Schedule to the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, pp. 5232—3. As to the associations to which allotments may be let, see s. 27 (6), post, p. 5071.

(b) The words italicised were repealed by s. 25 and Second and Third Schedules of the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, pp. 5232—3.

(c) As to the borrowing powers of district and parish councils, see L. G. A., 1933, Pt. IX., ante, p. 1023.

(h) See as to action in default of the London County Council or of county borough or Metropolitan borough councils, s. 20 of the Allotments Act, 1922, Vol. V., post.

POWERS OF COUNCILS IN RELATION TO THE PROVISION OF ALLOTMENTS.

Reference should be made to s. 21 of the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, p. 5225, for further powers conferred upon councils in relation to allotments. See also the same section as to relief from stamp duty of leases or agreements for letting of allotments when the rent does not exceed 10s., and no premium is paid. See also s. 19 of the Allotments Act, 1922, Vol. V., post, as to the penalty imposed for damage to an allotment garden.

Acquisition of land for purposes of Act.

25.—(1) The council of a borough, urban district, or parish may, for the purpose of providing allotments, by agreement purchase or take on lease land, whether situate within or without their borough, district, or parish (a).

(2) If a council are unable to acquire by agreement, and on reasonable terms, suitable land for the purpose of allotments, they may acquire land compulsorily in accordance with the provisions of this Act relating to compulsory acquisition of land (b).

(3) . . . (c).

(a) Though it is not required that the land should be actually in the parish, etc., it must obviously be close at hand. As to Crown lands, glebe land, and persons having limited powers of sale or leasing, see s. 40, post. And see the sections referred to in the note to Part III., post, p. 5075.

As to recording the purchase price paid and its gross value for rating purposes, see s. 13 of the Allotments Act, 1925, Vol. V., post. Under s. 5, ibid., Vol. V., post, land may be acquired in anticipation of its requirement for use as allotments.

(b) See Part III., post, p. 5075, and Woodford Land and Building Co., Ltd. v. Woodford U. D. C. (1921), 19 L. G. R. 559; 42 Digest 5, 17.

(c) Sub-section (3) was repealed by s. 23 and Schedule to Allotments Act, 1922, Vol. V., post. See now s. 16 of that Act, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 320, as amended by s. 4 of the Allotments Act, 1925.

Improvement and adaptation of land for allotments.

26.—(1) The council of a borough, urban district, or parish may improve any land acquired by them for allotments and adapt the same for letting in allotments, by draining, fencing, and dividing the same, acquiring approaches, making roads and otherwise, as they think fit, and may from time to time do such things as may be necessary for maintaining such drains, approaches, and roads, or otherwise for maintaining the allotments in a proper condition.

(2) The council may also adapt the land for allotments by erecting buildings and making adaptations of existing buildings, but so that not more than one dwelling-house shall be erected for occupation with one allotment; and no dwelling-house shall be erected for occupation with any allotment of less than one acre.

Provisions as to letting of allotments.

27.—(1) . . .

(2) . . .

(3) One person shall not hold any allotment or allotments acquired under this Part of this Act, or any enactment hereby repealed, exceeding five acres :

Provided that any part of the land acquired by a council for the purposes of allotments which exceeds five acres may be adapted for letting and let as an allotment, if the county council are satisfied by the council that it is convenient and desirable that it should be so let and consent to such letting accordingly.

(4) An allotment shall not be sublet [except with the consent of the council] (a).

Section 27.

(5) If at any time an allotment cannot be let in accordance with the provisions of this Act and the rules made thereunder, the same may be let to any person whatever at the best annual rent which can be obtained for the same, without any premium or fine, and on such terms as may enable possession thereof to be resumed within a period not exceeding twelve months if it should at any time be required to be let under the provisions aforesaid.

(6) A council shall have the same power of letting one or more allotments to persons working on a co-operative system or [of letting or selling] (a) to an association formed for the purposes of creating or promoting the creation of allotments as may be exercised as respects small holdings by a county council (b).

Sub-section (1) of s. 27 was repealed by s. 23 and Schedule to the Allotments Act, 1922, Vol. V., post. Sub-section (2) was repealed by the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, pp. 5232—3. See the provisions of s. 16 of the Allotments Act, 1922, Vol. V., post, as amended by s. 4 of the Allotments Act, 1925, Vol. V., post, enacted in substitution for the provisions of sub-section (1) in the text, and see the provisions of s. 17 of the Act of 1922, Vol. V., post, as amended by ss. 10 and 11 of the Act of 1925, Vol. V., post, enacted in substitution for the provisions of sub-section (2) in the text.

(a) The words in brackets in sub-ss. (4) and (6) were added by s. 25 and Second Schedule to the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, pp. 5232—3.

(b) By s. 3 of the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926, Vol. V. and I Halsbury's Statutes 324, a county council have power to let one or more small holdings to a number of persons working on a co-operative system, provided such system be approved by the council; and, with the consent of the Minister, to let one or more small holdings to any association formed for the purposes of creating or promoting the creation of small holdings, and so constituted that the division of profits amongst the members of the association is prohibited or restricted.

28.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, a borough, urban district, or parish council may make such rules as appear to be necessary or proper for regulating the letting of allotments under this Act, and for preventing any undue preference in the letting thereof, and generally for carrying the provisions of this Part of this Act into effect.

(2) Rules under this section may define the persons eligible (a) to be tenants of allotments, the notices to be given for the letting thereof, the size of the allotments, the conditions under which they are to be cultivated, and the rent to be paid for them.

(3) All such rules shall make provision for reasonable notice to be given to a tenant of any allotment of the determination of his tenancy (b).

Rules under this section shall not be of any force unless and until they have been confirmed by the Board (c) in like manner and subject to the like provisions as in the case of byelaws required to be confirmed by the Local Government Board under the Public Health Acts (d).

(4) Rules for the time being in force under this section shall be binding on all persons whatsoever; and the council shall cause them to be from time to time made known, in such manner as the council think fit, to all persons interested, and shall cause a copy thereof to be given gratis to any inhabitant of the district or parish demanding the same (e).

Model rules for the use of borough and urban district councils have been issued by the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries: see ante, p. 3781.

(a) As to "persons eligible," see note (d) to s. 23, ante, p. 5068.

(b) See now the provisions of the Allotments Act, 1922, ss. 1 and 2, Vol. V., post, as to the determination of the tenancies of allotment gardens.

(c) I.e. the Board (now Minister) of Agriculture and Fisheries.

(d) The procedure was formerly under s. 184 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 4468; but by virtue of s. 250 (1) (c) of the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 1104, the provisions of that section are now substituted.

(e) Unless otherwise expressly provided, the rules apply to an allotment, though held under a tenancy made before the rules came into operation (s. 21 (3) of Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, p. 5225).

Rules as to letting allotments.

Section 29. 29.—(1) The council of a borough, urban district, or parish may from time to time appoint, and, when appointed, remove allotment managers of land acquired by the council for allotments, and the allotment managers shall consist either partly of members of the council and partly of other persons, or wholly of other persons, so that in either case such other persons be persons residing in the locality and contributing to the rate (a) out of which the expenses of the council under this Act are paid.

Management of allotments.

(2) The proceedings and powers of allotment managers shall be such as, subject to the provisions of this Act, may be directed by the council; the allotment managers may be empowered by the council to do anything in relation to the management of the allotments which the council are authorised to do and to incur expenses to such amount as the council authorise, and any expenses properly so incurred shall be deemed to be expenses of the council under this Act.

See also the provisions of s. 14 of the Act of 1922, Vol. V., post, as amended by s. 12 of the Act of 1925, Vol. V., post, as to allotment committees.

(a) As to this rate, see s. 53, post, p. 5084, and notes thereto.

Recovery of rent and possession of allotments.

30.—(1) The rent for an allotment let by a council in pursuance of this Act, and the possession of such an allotment in the case of any notice to quit, or failure to deliver up possession thereof as required by law, may be recovered by the council as landlords, in the like manner as in any other case of landlord and tenant (a).

(2) If the rent for any allotment is in arrear for not less than forty days, or if it appears to the council that the tenant of an allotment not less than three months after the commencement of the tenancy thereof has not duly observed the rules affecting the allotment made by or in pursuance of this Act, or is resident more than one mile out of the borough, district, or parish for which the allotments are provided, the council may serve upon the tenant, or, if he is residing out of the borough, district or parish, leave at his last known place of abode in the borough, district, or parish, or fix in some conspicuous manner on the allotment, a written notice determining the tenancy at the expiration of one month after the notice has been so served or affixed, and thereupon the tenancy shall be determined accordingly :

. . . (b).

(3) Upon the recovery of an allotment from any tenant, the court directing the recovery may stay delivery of possession until payment of the compensation (if any) due to the outgoing tenant has been made or secured to the satisfaction of the court (c).

(a) Therefore the council may distrain for rent. Possession may be recovered under the Small Tenements Recovery Act, 1838 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 324).

(b) A proviso to this sub-section was repealed by s. 23 and Schedule to the Allotments Act, 1922, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 317.

(c) As to the compensation payable upon the quitting of an allotment garden, see s. 2 of the Act of 1922, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 304.

31. . . .

This section was repealed by s. 33 and Third Schedule to the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, pp. 5230, 5233. Section 32 (3) was repealed by the same Act.

Sale of superfluous or unsuitable land.

32.—(1) Where the council of any borough, urban district, or parish are of opinion that any land acquired by them for allotments or any part thereof is not needed for the purpose of allotments, or that some more suitable land is available, they may, with the sanction of the county council, sell or let such land otherwise than under the provisions of this Act, or exchange the land for other land more suitable for allotments, and may pay or receive money for equality of exchange.

(2) The proceeds of a sale under this Act of land acquired for allotments, and any money received by the council on any such exchange as aforesaid by way of equality of exchange, shall be applied in discharging, either by way of a sinking fund or otherwise, the debts and liabilities of the council in respect of the land acquired by the council for allotments, or in acquiring, adapting, and improving other land for allotments, and any surplus remaining may be applied for any purpose for which capital money may be applied, and which is approved by the [Minister of Health]; and the interest thereon (if any) and any money received from the letting of the land may be applied in acquiring other land for allotments, or shall be applied in like manner as receipts from allotments under this Act are applicable.

Section 32.

(3) . . .

Wide general powers of disposing of superfluous lands which a local authority does not require, are contained in L. G. A., 1933, ss. 165, 170, ante, pp. 993, 999.

By s. 8 of the Allotments Act, 1925, Vol. V., post, the sale, appropriation, use, or disposal of land acquired by a local authority for allotments is prohibited without the consent of the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries after consultation with the Minister of Health and such consent is not to be given unless the Minister is satisfied that adequate provision of allotments exists. Where the consent of the Minister has been obtained the consent of the county council under this section is no longer required.

This section is excluded from application to land acquired by the Minister under the Agricultural Land (Utilisation) Act, 1931, for allotments not exceeding one acre for unemployed persons (see ibid., s. 13, Vol. V. and 24 Halsbury's Statutes 59).

Sub-section (3) of this section was repealed by s. 33 and Sched. III., Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, pp. 5230, 5233.

33.—(1) The allotment wardens under the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1882, having the management of any land appropriated under those Acts either before or after the passing of this Act for allotments or field gardens for the labouring poor of any place, may, by agreement with the council of the borough, urban district, or parish, within whose borough, district, or parish that place is wholly or partly situate, transfer the management of that land to the council, upon such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon with the sanction, as regards the allotment wardens, of the Board (a), and thereupon the land shall vest in the council.

Transfer of allotments to borough, district, and parish councils.

(2) All trustees within the meaning of the Allotments Extension Act, 1882, required or authorised by that or any other Act to let lands in allotments to cottagers, labourers, journeymen, or others in any place, may, if they think fit, in lieu of letting the land in manner provided by the said Acts, sell or let the land to the council of the borough, urban district, or parish in which such place is wholly or partly situate, upon such terms as may be agreed upon, with the sanction, as regards the trustees, of the Charity Commissioners or the Board of Education, as the case may require.

(3) Where, as respects any rural parish, any Act constitutes any persons wardens of allotments, or authorises or requires the appointment or election of any wardens, committee, or managers for the purpose of allotments, the powers and duties of the wardens, committee, or managers shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, be exercised and performed by the parish council, or, in the case of a parish not having a parish council, by persons appointed by the parish meeting, and it shall not be necessary to make the said appointment or to hold the said election.

(4) The provisions of this Act relating to allotments shall apply to land vested in, or the management whereof has been transferred to, a council under this section or the corresponding provision of any enactment repealed by this Act in like manner as if the land had been acquired by the council under the general powers of this Part of this Act.

Section 34.

SUPPLEMENTAL.

Power to make scheme for provision of common pasture.

34.—(1) Where it appears to the council of any borough, urban district, or parish that, as regards their borough, district, or parish, land can be acquired for affording common pasture at such price or rent that all expenses incurred by the council in acquiring the land and otherwise in relation to the land when acquired may reasonably be expected to be recouped out of the charges paid in respect thereof, and that the acquisition of such land is desirable in view of the wants and circumstances of the labouring (a) population, the council may submit to the council of the county in which the borough, district, or parish is wholly or partly situate a scheme for providing such common pasture.

(2) The county council, if satisfied of the expediency of such scheme, may by order authorise the council which submitted it to carry it into effect, and, upon such an order being made, the provisions of this Act relating to allotments shall, with the necessary modifications, apply in like manner as if "allotments" in those provisions included common pasture, and "rent" included a charge for turning out an animal:

Provided that the rules made under those provisions may extend to regulating the turning out of animals on the common pasture, to defining the persons entitled to turn them out, the number to be turned out, and the conditions under which animals may be turned out, and fixing the charges to be made for each animal, and otherwise to regulating the common pasture.

See also s. 42, post, p. 5079.

(a) This word was repealed by s. 25 and Second and Third Schedules to the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, pp. 5232—3.

Use of school-room free of charge.

35.—(1) Any room in a public elementary school in respect of which a grant is made out of moneys provided by Parliament may, except while the room is being used for educational purposes, be used free of charge for the purposes of this Part of this Act by the county council, or, with the consent of any two managers, for the purpose of holding public meetings to discuss any question relating to allotments under this Act, but any damage done to the room and any expense incurred by the persons having control over the room on account of its being so used shall be paid by the county council or the persons calling the meeting.

(2) Nothing in this section shall give any right to hold a public meeting in a schoolroom—

(a) Unless not less than six days before the meeting a notice of the intention to hold the meeting on the day and at the time specified in the notice, signed by the persons calling the meeting, being not less than six in number, and being persons qualified to make a representation (a) to the council of a borough, urban district, or parish under this Part of this Act, has been given, in the case of a school provided by the local education authority to the clerk of that authority, and in any other case to one of the managers of the school; or

(b) if the use of the schoolroom on the said day and at the said time has previously to the receipt of the notice of the meeting been granted for some other purpose; but in that case the clerk or manager, or some one on his behalf, shall forthwith, after the receipt of the notice, inform in writing one of the persons signing it that the use of the school has been so granted for some other purpose, and name some other day on which the schoolroom can be used for the meeting.

(3) If the persons calling the meeting fail to obtain the use of the schoolroom under this section, they may appeal to the small holdings and allotments committee under this Act (b), and the committee shall forthwith decide the appeal, and make such order respecting the use of the room as seems just. Section 35.

(4) . . . (c).

(a) I.e., qualified to make a representation under s. 23 (2), ante, p. 5067.

(b) As to this committee, see s. 50, post, p. 5083.

(c) Repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1288.

36. The powers as to allotments conferred on borough, urban district, and parish councils by this Act may in London be exercised by the London County Council, and the provisions of this Act as to allotments shall apply accordingly, except that, subject to the provisions of this Act, the expenses shall be defrayed and money borrowed under and in accordance with the provisions of the Local Government Act, 1888. Application to London.

37. Such of the provisions of this Part of this Act as require the sanction of, submission to, or order of, a county council shall not apply in the case of a county borough. Application to county boroughs.

PART III.

GENERAL.

ACQUISITION OF LAND.

See the power of appropriation of land given by s. 22 of the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, p. 5225. And see the restriction as to appropriation of, or acquisition of, commons and open spaces contained in s. 28 of the same Act, post, p. 5229; the embargo placed by the same section upon the acquisition of land which forms part of the trust property to which the National Trust Act, 1907, applies. And see, also, the power of entry on unoccupied land given by s. 10 of the Allotments Act, 1922, Vol. V., post. See, further, the time limit for serving notice to treat imposed by s. 12 of the last-mentioned Act, Vol. V., post. Power to acquire land in anticipation of requirements is given by the Allotments Act, 1925, s. 5, Vol. V., post. See also ibid., s. 8, as to the restrictions imposed on disposing of land acquired for allotments. Under s. 57 (2) of the Settled Land Act, 1925 (17 Halsbury's Statutes 894), a tenant for life may make a grant in fee simple or a lease for any term of years absolute of any part of the settled land for a nominal price or rent or for less than the best price for rent that can reasonably be obtained or gratuitously for the purposes of the Small Holdings and Allotments Acts. The area which can be so granted or leased in any parish must not exceed 2 acres in an urban district or 10 acres in a rural district.

38. For the purpose of the purchase of land by agreement under this Act by a council, the Lands Clauses Acts (a) shall be incorporated with this Act, except the provisions of those Acts with respect to the purchase and taking of land otherwise than by agreement (b) and section one hundred and seventy-eight (c) of the Public Health Act, 1875, shall apply as if the council were referred to therein. Purchase of land by agreement.

(b) Excluding s. 82 of the 1845 Act, ante, p. 4134, as to the costs of conveyances (s. 17 (1) of the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926, Vol. V., post).

(c) S. 178 of the P. H. A., 1875 (13 Halsbury's Statutes 702), was repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. I., ante, pp. 1194, 1273, and this reference must now be read as one to ibid., s. 178, ante, p. 1001. Since neither s. 307 nor Sched. XI. are in Part VII. of the Act of 1933, semble that ibid., s. 179 (g) and Sched. VII., ante, pp. 1005, 1006, 1264, do not operate to save s. 178 of the Act of 1875 for purposes of this Act.

39.—(1) Where a council proposes to purchase land compulsorily under this Act, the council may, subject to the provisions of Part I. of the First Schedule to this Act (a), submit to the Board (b) an order putting in force as respects the land specified in the order the provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts (c) with respect to the purchase and taking of land otherwise than by agreement. Procedure for compulsory acquisition of land.

Section 39.

(2) Where a council propose to hire land compulsorily, the council may submit to the Board (b) an order for the compulsory hiring of the land specified in the order for a period not less than fourteen nor more than thirty-five years, and the provisions of Part I. of the First Schedule to this Act shall apply to the order in like manner as it applies to an order for compulsory purchase, with the substitution of " hiring " for " purchase " and with the modifications set out in Part II. of that Schedule (d).

(3) An order under this section shall be of no force unless and until it is confirmed by the Board (b), and the Board may, subject to the provisions of the First Schedule to this Act, confirm the order either without modification or subject to such modifications as they think fit, and an order when so confirmed shall become final and have effect as if enacted in this Act (e); and the confirmation by the Board shall be conclusive (f) evidence that the requirements of this Act have been complied with, and that the order has been duly made and is within the powers of this Act.

(4) An order under this section may provide for the continuance of any existing easement or the creation of any new easement over the land authorised to be acquired, and every such order shall, if so required by the owner of the land to be acquired, provide for the creation of such new easements as are reasonably necessary to secure the continued use and enjoyment by such owner and his tenants of all means of access, drainage, water supply, and other similar conveniences theretofore used or enjoyed by them over the land to be acquired: Provided that, notwithstanding anything contained in this sub-section, no new easement created by or in pursuance of the order over land hired by a council shall continue beyond the determination of such hiring.

(5) In determining the amount of any disputed compensation (g) under any such order, no additional allowance shall be made on account of the purchase or hiring being compulsory.

(6) Where land authorised to be compulsorily hired by an order under this section is subject to a mortgage, any lease made in pursuance of the order by the mortgagor or mortgagee in possession shall have the like effect (h) as if it were a lease authorised by section eighteen of the Conveyancing and Law of Property Act, 1881 (j).

(7) Where the council proposing to acquire land compulsorily is a parish council, the council shall, instead of themselves making and submitting to the Board (b) the order, represent the case to the county council, and thereupon the county council may, on behalf of the parish council, exercise the powers in relation to compulsory purchase or hiring conferred on councils by this Act, and the order shall be carried into effect by the county council, but the land shall be assured or demised to the parish council, and all expenses incurred by the county council shall be paid by the parish council (k):

Provided that, if the parish council are aggrieved by the refusal of the county council to proceed under this section, the parish council may petition the Board (b), and thereupon the Board, after such inquiry as they may think fit, may make such an order as the county council might have made, and this sub-section shall apply as if the order had been made by the county council.

(8) If, after the determination of the amount of the compensation (including in the case of land hired compulsorily the rent) to be paid to any person in respect of his interest in the land proposed to be compulsorily acquired, it appears to the council that the land cannot be let for small holdings or allotments, as the case may be, at such a rent as will secure the council from loss, the council may at any time within six weeks after the determination of the amount by notice in writing withdraw any notice to treat served on that person or on any other person interested in the land, and in such case any person on whom such a notice of withdrawal has been served shall be entitled to obtain from the council compensation for any loss or expenses which he may have sustained or incurred by reason or in consequence of the notice to treat and of the notice of withdrawal, and the amount of such compensation shall, in default of agreement, be determined by arbitration (l) :

Section 39.

See the Small Holdings and Allotments Compulsory Purchase, and Compulsory Hiring, Regulations, 1936, ante, pp. 3154, 3157. By s. 2 (1) of the Act of 1919 a power of entry on land is given at any time after a notice to treat has been served on giving not less than fourteen days' notice to each owner, lessee and occupier of the land, and see s. 2 (2), (3) of the same Act for a power to enter in possession upon notice given where a council have agreed to purchase land subject to the interest of the person in possession thereof. By sub-section (4) of the same section the above provisions are, with such necessary adaptations as may be prescribed, applied in the case of an order authorising the compulsory hiring of land, or of an agreement to hire land. See the section at post, p. 5220.

The First Schedule to this Act, post, p. 5088, is amended by s. 17 of the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 331. Subject to the provisions of that section, the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919, post, p. 5213, will apply to the assessment of compensation for land compulsorily purchased under this Act in place of the provisions in the Lands Clauses Acts.

The proviso to sub-s. (8) of this section was repealed by s. 22 and Sched. II. of the 1926 Act, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 333, 335.

(a) See this Schedule at p. 5088, post, and the amendments thereto in s. 17 of the 1926 Act, Vol. V., post.

(b) Here and elsewhere in the Act for "Board" read "Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries."

(c) See as to these Acts, note (a) to s. 38, ante, p. 5075.

(d) The amount of rent or compensation payable in respect of a compulsory hiring will be assessed under the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919 (s. 7 (2), ibid., post, p. 5218).

(e) As to the meaning of this expression, see Patent Agents Institute v. Lockwood, [1894] A. C. 347; 42 Digest 613, 139, and the comments thereon, in Waterford Corporation v. Murphy, [1920] 2 I. (g) This provision is now superfluous in view of s. 2 (1) of the Acquisition of Land (etc.) Act, 1919, post, p. 5214, which applies to both purchases and hirings under this Act. As to compensation where minerals come in question, see Carlisle (Earl of) v. Northumberland C. C. (1911), 75 J. P. 539; 42 Digest 2, 6.

(h) A lease by a mortgagor in possession will bind the mortgagee, and one by a mortgagee in possession will bind the mortgagor after redemption.

(i) See now s. 90, Law of Property Act, 1925, Vol. V., post.

(k) A power to sell and acquire land for annuity was given by s. 9 of the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, p. 5222. By s. 17 of the same Act county councils are empowered to acquire land for letting to parish councils for allotments. See also s. 15 of the Allotments Act, 1922, Vol. V., post, for the power thereby given to county councils to let land for allotments.

(l) The powers conferred by this sub-section cannot be exercised when a council have entered on land under the power conferred by s. 2 (1) of the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, p. 5214. See the proviso to the last-mentioned sub-section. The Acquisition of Land, etc., Act, 1919, does not apply to the determination of a dispute as to the amount of compensation payable under the provision in this sub-section.

40.—(1) Any person having power to lease land for agricultural purposes for a limited term, whether subject to any consent or conditions or not, may, subject to the like consent and conditions (if any), lease land to a council for the purposes of small holdings or allotments for a term not exceeding thirty-five years, either with or without such right of renewal as is conferred by this Act in the case of land hired compulsorily for those purposes.

Powers of certain limited owners to sell and lease land for small holdings or allotments.

(2) The like powers of leasing may be exercised, in the case of land belonging to the Crown, by the Commissioners of Crown Lands, with the consent of the Treasury, in the case of land forming part of the possessions of the Duchy of Lancaster, by the Chancellor and Council of the Duchy of Lancaster by deed under the seal of the Duchy in the name of His Majesty

Section 40. his heirs and successors, and, in the case of land forming part of the possessions of the Duchy of Cornwall, by the Duke of Cornwall or other the persons for the time being having power to dispose of land belonging to that Duchy.

(3) The like powers of leasing may be exercised in the case of glebe land (b) or other land belonging to an ecclesiastical benefice by the incumbent thereof with the consent of the Ecclesiastical Commissioners alone upon such terms and conditions and in such manner as the Ecclesiastical Commissioners may approve.

(4) Where a person having the powers of a tenant for life within the meaning of the Settled Land Acts, 1882 to 1890, sells, exchanges, or leases any settled land to a county council for the purposes of small holdings, the sale, exchange, or lease may be made at such a price, or for such consideration, or at such rent, as, having regard to the said purposes and to all the circumstances of the case, is the best that can be reasonably obtained.

(5) A person having the powers of a tenant for life within the meaning of the Settled Land Acts, 1882 to 1890, may grant the settled land, or a part thereof, to a county council for the purposes of small holdings in perpetuity, at a fee farm or other rent secured by condition of re-entry, or otherwise as may be agreed upon (c).

(a) Words in brackets substituted for "Woods" in consequence of Forestry (Title of Commissioners of Woods) Order, 1924. See Crown Lands Act, 1927, s. 1 (4) (3 Halsbury's Statutes 330).

(b) See further as to the acquisition of glebe land, the Glebe Lands Act, 1888, ante, p. 4704; see also s. 48, post, p. 5081.

(c) These two sub-sections were repealed by the Settled Land Act, 1925, and were re-enacted in s. 57 of that Act (17 Halsbury's Statutes 893).

Restrictions on the acquisition of land.

41.—(1) No land shall be authorised by an order under this Act to be acquired compulsorily which at the date of the order forms part of any park, garden, or pleasure ground, or forms part of the home farm attached to and usually occupied with a mansion house, or is otherwise required for the amenity or convenience of any dwelling-house, or which is woodland not wholly surrounded by or adjacent to land acquired by a council under this Act, or which at that date is the property of any local authority or has been acquired by any corporation or company for the purposes of a railway, dock, canal, water, or other public undertaking, or is the site of an ancient monument or other object of archæological interest.

(2) A council in making, and the [Minister] in confirming, an order for the compulsory acquisition of land shall have regard to the extent of land held or occupied in the locality by any owner or tenant and to the convenience of other property belonging to or occupied by the same owner or tenant, and shall, so far as practicable, avoid taking an undue or inconvenient quantity of land from any one owner or tenant, and for that purpose, where part only of a holding is taken, shall take into consideration the size and character of the existing agricultural buildings not proposed to be taken which were used in connection with the holding, and the quantity and nature of the land available for occupation therewith, and shall also, so far as practicable, avoid displacing any considerable number of agricultural labourers or others employed on or about the land.

(3) No holding of fifty acres or less in extent, nor any part of any such holding, shall be authorised by an order under this Act to be acquired compulsorily for the purposes of small holdings or allotments.

Land containing minerals is not excepted, but the owner is protected by s. 46 (1), post, p. 5080, and the incorporation in compulsory orders of ss. 77—85 of the Railway Clauses Act, 1845, ante, pp. 4156—4159 (see Schedule I., post, p. 5088).

By s. 16 of the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, p. 5224, it is provided that an order under the Act in the text may notwithstanding anything in the section in the text authorise the compulsory acquisition (a) of any land which at the date of the order-forms part of any park or of any home farm attached to and usually occupied with a mansion house, if the land is not required for the amenity or convenience of the mansion house ; or (b) of a holding of fifty acres or less in extent or any part of such a holding, but where it is proposed to acquire any land forming part of a park or any such home farm, or, except where required for purposes of allotments, a holding of fifty acres or less in extent or of an annual value not exceeding fifty pounds for the purposes of income tax, or any part of such a holding, the order authorising the acquisition of the land is not to be valid unless confirmed or made by the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries, and it is further provided that a holding as above described shall not be compulsorily acquired where it is shown that the holding is the principal means of livelihood of the occupier thereof, except where the occupier is a tenant and consents to the acquisition. By s. 33 and Schedule III. of the same Act, post, p. 5236, sub-section (3) in the text is repealed. Reference should also be made to the modification made by s. 8 of the Allotments Act, 1922, Vol. V., post, with reference to the acquisition of land of corporations or companies held for the purposes of railways or other public undertakings. See also the restraint on compulsory hiring of pasture land imposed by s. 8 (4) of the Act of 1922, Vol. V., post.

Note to
Section 41.

42.—(1) The powers of a council to acquire land for small holdings or allotments shall, subject to the restrictions by this Act imposed, include power to acquire land for the purpose of attaching to small holdings or allotments provided by the council [letting to tenants of small holdings and allotments] (a) rights of grazing and other similar rights over the land so acquired, and to acquire for that purpose stints (b) and other alienable common rights of grazing.

Grazing rights, etc., to be attached to small holdings or allotments.

(2) Any rights created or acquired by the council under this section shall be attached to the [let to tenants of] (a) small holdings or allotments in such manner and subject to such regulations as the council think expedient.

(3) Where any right of grazing, sheepwalk, or other similar right is attached to land acquired by a county council for the purposes of small holdings, the council may attach any share of the right to any small holding in such manner and subject to such regulations as they think expedient.

(a) The words in brackets were substituted for the words italicised by s. 25 and Second Schedule to the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, p. 5226.

(b) Stints or cattlegaits are rights of pasture for a stinted or limited number of beasts in a common close. See Fitzherbert's Extenta Manerii, 12, 13 ; Elton on Commons, ed. 1868, pp. 34, 35.

43. Where a labourer, who has been regularly employed on any land acquired by a county council for small holdings, proves to the satisfaction of the county council that the effect of the acquisition was to deprive him of his employment, and that there was no employment of an equally beneficial character available to him in the same locality, the county council [shall] (a) pay to him such compensation as they think just for his loss of employment or for his expenses in moving to another locality, and any sum so paid shall be treated as part of the expenses of the acquisition of the land (b).

Compensation for loss of employment by labourers.

(a) " Shall " was substituted for " may " by s. 25 and Sched. II. of the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, p. 5226.

(b) No compensation is payable under this section to any person for whom a small holding is provided under the Agricultural Land (Utilisation) Act, 1931, Pt. II. (see ibid., s. 21, Vol. V. and 24 Halsbury's Statutes 64).

PROVISIONS AFFECTING LAND ACQUIRED.

44.—(1) Where a council has hired land compulsorily for small holdings or allotments, the council may, by giving to the landlord not more than two years nor less than one year before the expiration of the tenancy notice in writing (a), renew the tenancy for such term, not being less than fourteen nor more than thirty-five years, as may be specified in the notice, and at such rent as, in default of agreement, may be determined by valuation by a valuer

Power of council to renew tenancy of land compulsorily hired.

Section 44. appointed by the Board (b), but otherwise on the same terms and conditions as the original lease, and so from time to time :

Provided that, if on any such notice being given, the landlord proves to the satisfaction of the Board that any land included in the tenancy is required for the amenity or convenience of any dwelling house, then such land shall be excluded from the renewed tenancy.

(2) In assessing the rent to be paid under this section the valuer (b) shall not take into account any increase in the value of the holding—

- (a) due to improvements in respect of which the council would have been entitled to compensation (c), if instead of renewing the tenancy the council had quitted the land on the determination of the tenancy ; or
- (b) due to any use to which the land might otherwise be put during the renewed term, being a use in respect of which the landlord is entitled to resume possession of the land under this Act (d) ; or
- (c) due to the establishment by the council of other small holdings or allotments in the neighbourhood, or any depreciation in the value of the land in respect of which the landlord would have been entitled to compensation if the council had so quitted the land as aforesaid.

(a) This notice may be withdrawn at any time not less than 3 months before the termination of the tenancy if the rent assessed is such as will cause loss to the council, but compensation will be payable which must be assessed under s. 39 (8), ante, p. 5076 (Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926, s. 18 (1), Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 332).

(b) This rent will be determined by an official arbitrator under the Acquisition of Land, etc., Act, 1919 (see s. 7 (2), ibid., post, p. 5218).

(c) See s. 47 (2), post, p. 5081, and notes thereto.

(d) See s. 46 (1), infra, and notes thereto.

Interchange of land for small holdings and allotments.

45. A county council may sell or let to a borough, urban district, or parish council for the purposes of allotments any land acquired by them for small holdings, and a borough, urban district, or parish council may sell or let to the county council for the purpose of small holdings any land acquired by them for allotments, and the provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts with respect to the sale of superfluous land shall not apply on any such sale.

The provisions referred to in this section are ss. 127—135 of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (14 Halsbury's Statutes 77, 78), and ante, pp. 4151, 4152.

Power to resume possession of land hired compulsorily.

46.—(1) Where land has been hired by a council compulsorily for small holdings or allotments, and the land or any part thereof at any time during the tenancy thereof by the council is shown to the satisfaction of the Board to be required by the landlord to be used for building, mining, or other industrial purposes, or for roads necessary therefor, it shall be lawful for the landlord to resume possession of the land or part thereof upon giving to the council twelve months' previous notice in writing of his intention so to do [or such shorter notice as may be required by the order for the compulsory hiring of the land] (a) ; and, if a part only of the land is resumed, the rent payable by the council shall as from the date of resumption be reduced by such sum as in default of agreement may be determined by valuation by a valuer appointed by the Board (b).

A notice under this section is not valid unless before it is given the Minister is satisfied that the land is required for the purpose stated. If the Minister is not satisfied no further application may be made to him in respect of the same land for the same purpose within two years after the previous application (Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926, s. 18 (2), Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 332).

See also s. 11 of the 1922 Act, Vol. V., post, as to the determination of questions arising on the resumption of land.

Sub-section (2) of this section was repealed by s. 22 and Sched. II. of the Act of 1926, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 333, 335.

Note to
Section 46.

(a) The words in brackets were added by s. 25 and Second Schedule to the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, p. 5226.

(b) The rent payable will be determined by an official arbitrator under the Acquisition of Land, etc., Act, 1919 (s. 7 (2), ibid., post, p. 5218).

47.—(1) Where a council has let a small holding or allotment to any tenant, the tenant shall as against the council have the same rights with respect to compensation for the improvements mentioned in Part I. of the Second Schedule to this Act as he would have had if the holding had been a holding to which section forty-two of the Agricultural Holdings Act, 1908, applied : Compensation for improvements.

Provided that the tenant shall not be entitled to compensation in respect of any such improvement if executed contrary to an express prohibition in writing by the council affecting either the whole or any part of the holding or allotment ; but, if the tenant feels aggrieved by any such prohibition, he may appeal to the Board (a), who may confirm, vary, or annul the prohibition, and the decision of the Board shall be final.

(2) Where land has been hired by a council for small holdings or allotments, the council shall (subject in the case of land hired by agreement to any agreement to the contrary) [subject to any provision to the contrary in the agreement or order for hiring] (b) be entitled at the determination of the tenancy on quitting the land to compensation under the Agricultural Holdings Act, 1908, for any improvement mentioned in Part I. of the Second Schedule to this Act, and for any improvement mentioned in Part II. of that Schedule which was necessary or proper to adapt the land for small holdings or allotments, as if the land were a holding to which section forty-two of the Agricultural Holdings Act, 1908, applied, and the improvements mentioned in Part II. of the said Schedule were improvements mentioned in Part III. of the First Schedule to the Agricultural Holdings Act, 1908 :

Provided that, in the case of land hired compulsorily, the amount of the compensation payable to the council for those improvements shall be such sum as fairly represents the increase (if any) in the value to the landlord and his successors in title of the holding due to those improvements.

(3) The tenant of an allotment to which Part II. of this Act applies may, if he so elects, claim compensation for improvements under the Allotments and Cottage Gardens Compensation for Crops Act, 1887 (c), instead of under the Agricultural Holdings Act, 1908, as amended by this section, notwithstanding that the allotment exceeds two acres in extent.

(4) A tenant of any small holding or allotment may, before the expiration of his tenancy, remove any fruit and other trees and bushes (d) planted or acquired by him for which he has no claim for compensation, and may remove any toolhouse, shed, greenhouse, fowl-house, or pigsty built or acquired by him for which he has no claim for compensation.

The Agricultural Holdings Act, 1908, has been repealed, but s. 42 of that Act as amended by the Agricultural Holdings Act, 1913, is now re-enacted in s. 48 of the Agricultural Holdings Act, 1923 (1 Halsbury's Statutes 109). See also In re Kedwell & Flint & Co., [1911] 1 K. B. 797 ; 2 Digest 43, 236, and the provisions as to compensation for improvements in the Allotments Act, 1922, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 303.

(a) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries.

(b) The words in brackets were substituted for the words italicised by s. 25 and Second Schedule to the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, p. 5226.

(c) This Act was repealed by the Allotments Act, 1922, to which reference must be made for the substituted provisions.

(d) See now the provisions of the Allotments Act, 1922.

48. In the case of glebe land or other land belonging to an ecclesiastical benefice hired by a council for the purposes of small holdings or allotments— Provisions as to glebe lands.

(1) The provisions of the Ecclesiastical Dilapidations Act, 1871, shall not during the continuance of the tenancy be applicable to the buildings upon the land :

- (2) At the determination of the tenancy, on the council quitting the land, or at any time within twelve months thereafter, the incumbent of the benefice to which the land belongs may apply to the Ecclesiastical Commissioners for their consent to the removal of any buildings which have been erected on the land for the purpose of adapting the land for small holdings or allotments, and, on proof to the satisfaction of the Commissioners that any such buildings are useless, and that it is to the interest of the benefice that they should be removed, the incumbent may, with the consent of the Commissioners, and subject to such directions as they may give, pull down any such buildings and dispose of the materials thereof, and any proceeds shall be paid to the Commissioners to be by them applied to the improvement of the benefice in such manner as the Commissioners may direct.

CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES, &c.

Co-operative societies, etc.

49.—(1) A county [or borough or urban district] (a) council may promote the formation or extension of, and may, subject to the provisions of this section, assist, societies on a co-operative basis, having for their object, or one of their objects, the provision or the profitable working of small holdings or allotments, whether in relation to the purchase of requisites, the sale of produce, credit banking, or insurance, or otherwise, and may employ as their agents for the purpose any such society as is mentioned in sub-section (4) of this section.

(2) The county [or borough or urban district] (a) council, with the consent of, and subject to regulations made by, the Local Government Board (b), may for the purpose of assisting a society make grants or advances to the society, or guarantee advances made to the society, upon such terms and conditions as to rate of interest and repayment or otherwise, and on such security, as the council think fit. [The council may also let to the society accommodation for the storage or sale of goods] (c).

(3) Where the Board (d) themselves provide small holdings under the provisions of this Act (e), they may, with respect to any such society carrying on business or intending to carry on business in the neighbourhood of those small holdings, exercise the powers of a county council under this section, and the provisions of this section shall apply accordingly, except that references to the Treasury shall be substituted for references to the Local Government Board, and that the expenses and receipts of the Board under this section shall be paid out of and into the Small Holdings Account.

(4) The Board (d) with the consent of the Treasury may out of the Small Holdings Account make grants, upon such terms as the Board may determine, to any society, having as its object or one of its objects the promotion of co-operation in connection with the cultivation of small holdings or allotments.

As to selling or leasing land to co-operative societies, see s. 3 of the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 324. See also s. 2 of the Allotments Act, 1925, Vol. V., post, which empowers the Public Works Loan Commissioners to lend money to allotment societies.

(a) The words in brackets were added by s. 25 and Second Schedule to the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, p. 5226.

(b) For "L. G. B." now read "Minister of Health."

(c) The words in brackets were added by s. 21 and Sched. I. of the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 333, 334.

(d) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries.

(e) These words were repealed by s. 25 and Second and Third Schedules to the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, p. 5226.

SMALL HOLDINGS AND ALLOTMENTS COMMITTEES.

Section 50.

See s. 14 of the Allotments Act, 1922, Vol. V., post, as amended by s. 12 of the Allotments Act, 1925, Vol. V., post, as to the establishment of allotment committees of urban authorities.

50.—(1) Every county council [other than the London County Council] shall establish a small holdings and allotments committee, consisting either wholly or partly of members of the council, but the members of the council shall be a majority, and all matters relating to the exercise and performance by the council of their powers and duties under this Act (except the power of raising a rate or borrowing money) shall stand referred to the small holdings and allotments committee, and the council before exercising any such powers shall, unless in their opinion the matter is urgent, receive and consider the report of the small holdings and allotments committee with respect to the matter in question, and the council may also delegate to the small holdings and allotments committee, with or without restrictions or conditions, as they think fit, any of their powers under this Act except the power of raising a rate or borrowing money. Small holdings and allotments committees.

(2) The small holdings and allotments committee may delegate any of their powers to sub-committees, consisting either wholly or partly of members of the committee, and in appointing any sub-committee to which is committed the powers of management of small holdings shall have regard to the advisability of including amongst the members of the sub-committee members of the councils of the boroughs, urban districts, or parishes in which the holdings are situate, or for which they are provided, and other persons acquainted with the needs and circumstances of the area for which the sub-committee act.

(3) Where any receipts or payments of money under this Act are entrusted by the county council to the small holdings and allotments committee, or any sub-committee thereof, the accounts of those receipts and payments shall be accounts of the county council, and made up and audited accordingly.

(4) This section, so far as relates to small holdings, shall apply to the council of a county borough in like manner as it applies to a county council, but, so far as it relates to allotments and sub-committees, shall not apply to the council of a county borough, without prejudice however to the power of such a council to appoint their small holdings committee, if duly qualified, to be allotment managers in pursuance of Part II. of this Act.

Words insquare brackets added by s. 21 and Sched. I. of the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 333, 334.

The committee to be appointed under this section is to be a sub-committee of the Agricultural Committee of the Council (Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries Act, 1919, ss. 7 and 8, 3 Halsbury's Statutes 453, 454.)

EXPENSES AND BORROWING.

51.—(1) For the purposes of this Act "The Small Holdings Account," opened at the Bank of England under the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1907, shall be continued. Small Holdings Account.

(2) There shall be paid to this account—

- (a) such money as may from time to time be provided by Parliament towards defraying the costs and expenses of the Board directed by this Act to be paid out of the Small Holdings Account; and
- (b) all sums received by the Board and directed by this Act to be paid into the Small Holdings Account.

(3) The costs and expenses of the Board directed by this Act to be paid out of the Small Holdings Account shall be paid by the Board out of the money standing to that account.

Section 51.

(4) At the end of every financial year, accounts of the receipts and expenditure of the Small Holdings Account shall be made up in such form and with such particulars as may be directed by the Treasury, and shall be audited by the Comptroller and Auditor-General as public accounts in accordance with such regulations as the Treasury may make, and shall be laid before Parliament, together with his report thereon.

(5) Payments out of, and into, the Small Holdings Account, and all other matters relating to the account, and to the money standing to the credit of the account, shall be paid and regulated in such manner as the Treasury direct.

For "Board" now read "Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries." Also note that the Small Holdings Account has now been re-named "Small Holdings and Allotments Account" (see Agricultural Land (Utilisation) Act, 1931, s. 17 (2); 24 Halsbury's Statutes 62).

Borrowing powers and
expenses.

52.—(1) A county council may borrow money for the purposes of the provisions of this Act relating to small holdings and for the purpose of making grants or advances to co-operative societies . . . (a).

(2) The Public Works Loans Commissioners may, in manner provided by the Public Works Loans Act, 1875 (b), lend any money which may be borrowed by a county council for such purposes as aforesaid :

Provided that—

(a) the loan shall be made at the minimum rate allowed for the time being for loans out of the local loans fund ; and

(b) if the Local Government Board (c) make a recommendation to that effect, the period for which the loan is made by the Public Works Loans Commissioners may exceed the period allowed under the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, and the Acts amending that Act, but the period shall not exceed the period recommended by the Local Government Board, nor, where the purpose of the loan is the purchase of land, eighty years, or in any other case fifty years ; and

(c) as between loans for different periods, the longer duration of the loan shall not be taken as a reason for fixing a higher rate of interest.

(3) Any capital money received by a county council in payment or discharge of purchase money for land sold by them, or in repayment of an advance made by them, shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, be applied, with the sanction of the Local Government Board (c), either in repayment of debt or for any other purpose for which capital money may be applied.

(4) . . . (d).

The power to provide small holdings is now contained in Part I. of the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 323. As to advances to co-operative societies, see s. 49, ante, p. 5082. The purposes for which a county council may borrow under this section include the making of advances for the equipment of small holdings under s. 14 of the 1926 Act, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 330.

Although county councils may by agreement delegate their functions in respect of small holdings to district councils under s. 9 of the 1926 Act, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 328, no power is given by that section to district councils to borrow money for the exercise of the delegated powers.

(a) The residue of the sub-section was repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1288.

(b) See this Act, ante, p. 4544. The provisions of sub-section (2) in the text were by s. 18 of the Allotments Act, 1922, Vol. V., post, extended to borrowings by the councils of boroughs, urban districts and parishes for the purpose of providing allotments.

(c) Now the Minister of Health.

(d) This sub-section was repealed by the L. G. A., 1933 (see ante, pp. 1194, 1288).

Expenses and borrowing.

53.—(1) . . . (a).

(2) All expenses incurred by the county council in executing the said provisions in any district or parish on default of a district or parish council, or incurred by the county council in or incidentally to a local inquiry under those provisions, shall be paid in the first instance out of the county fund as expenses for general county purposes, and, unless defrayed out of moneys received by the council in respect of any land acquired under those provisions otherwise than by sale or exchange, or out of money borrowed as before in this Act mentioned, shall, when the powers and duties of the district or parish council under those provisions are transferred to the county council in pursuance of this Act, be repaid to the county council as a debt by the district or parish council. Section 53.

(4) The council of a borough, urban district, or parish may borrow for the purposes of acquiring, improving, and adapting land for allotments [and the council of a borough or urban district may borrow for the purpose of grants or advances to a co-operative society] . . . (b).

(5) Sections two hundred and forty-two and two hundred and forty-three of the Public Health Act, 1875 (c), relating to loans by the Public Works Loan Commissioners to a local authority, shall apply to a loan to a borough or urban district council under this section, and, with the necessary adaptations, to a loan to a parish council under the Local Government Act, 1894, or to a county council lending money to a parish council under that Act, where the purpose for which the loan is required by the parish council is the acquisition, improvement, or adaptation of land under Part II. of this Act, in like manner as if those sections were herein re-enacted and in terms made applicable thereto.

(a) This paragraph was repealed by the L. G. A., 1933 (see ante, pp. 1194, 1288).

(b) The words in square brackets were added by s. 25 and Second Schedule to the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, pp. 5226, 5233. As to such grants and advances, see s. 49, ante, p. 5082.

Two paragraphs formerly inserted in this section were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933 (see ante, pp. 1194, 1288).

(c) See these sections, ante, pp. 4479—80.

54.—(1) Separate accounts shall be kept of the receipts and expenditure of a council under this Act with respect to small holdings or allotments, and any such receipts shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, be applicable to the purposes of small holdings or allotments, but not for any other purpose except with the consent of the [Minister of Health]; and, for the purpose of the provisions relating to the audit of accounts, any persons appointed under this Act by a council to exercise and perform powers and duties as to the management of allotments shall be deemed to be officers of the council. Separate accounts of receipts and expenditure.

(2) The council of a borough, urban district, or parish shall within one month after the end of every financial year of the council cause an annual statement, showing their receipts and expenditure with respect to allotments for that year, and their liabilities outstanding at the end of that year, to be deposited at some convenient place in the borough, district, or parish, and any ratepayer may without fee inspect and take copies of the statement.

SUPPLEMENTAL.

55. . . .

56. . . .

Provisions as to land acquired by Commissioners.

These two sections were repealed by s. 22 and Sched. II. of the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 333, 335. Provisions as to Commissioners.

57.—(1) The Board and the Small Holdings Commissioners and other Local inquiries. officers of the Board shall have for the purpose of an inquiry in pursuance of this Act the same powers as the [Ministry of Health] and their Section 57. inspectors respectively have for the purpose of an inquiry under the Public Health Acts (a).

(2) Notices of the inquiries shall be given and published in accordance with such general or special directions as the Board may give.

(3) A local inquiry by a county council for the purposes of the provisions of this Act relating to allotments shall be held by such one or more members of the small holdings and allotments committee (b) of the council or by such officer of the council or other person as that committee may appoint to hold the inquiry.

Words in italics repealed by s. 22 and Sched. II. of the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926. The Board is now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries.

(a) See the P. H. A., 1875, s. 293, ante, p. 4504.

(b) As to this committee, see s. 50, ante, p. 5083.

Arbitrations and valuations.

58.—(1) All questions which under this Act are referred to arbitration shall, unless otherwise expressly provided by this Act, be determined by a single arbitrator in accordance with the Agricultural Holdings (England) Act, 1908.

(2) . . .

(3) The remuneration of an arbitrator or valuer appointed under this Act shall be fixed by the Board.

The Board is now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries.

The Agricultural Holdings Act, 1908, is now repealed, but see ss. 16 and 17, and Sched. I. of the Agricultural Holdings Act, 1923 (1 Halsbury's Statutes 94, 95, 116).

All questions of compensation for the compulsory purchase or hiring of land under the Act must now be determined under and in accordance with the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919, post, p. 5213. Consequently sub-s. (2) of this section was repealed by s. 22 and Sched. II. of the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926. See s. 17 of that Act, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 331, as to the cases in which the Act of 1919 is not to apply.

Annual report to Parliament.

59. The Board shall make an annual report to Parliament of their proceedings, and of the proceedings of the Commissioners, under this Act, and also of the proceedings of the several county, borough, district, and parish councils under this Act, and for that purpose every such council shall, before such date in every year as the Board may fix, send to the Board a report of their proceedings under this Act during the preceding year.

The report of the council must now be sent to the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries and must contain a copy of the record required to be kept under s. 13 of the Allotments Act, 1925, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 322.

Words in italics repealed by s. 22 and Sched. II. of the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926.

Saving for existing tenancies.

60. Nothing in this Act shall affect the rights and obligations under any tenancy created under any enactment repealed by this Act.

Interpretations.

61.—(1) For the purposes of this Act—

The expression "small holding" means an agricultural holding which exceeds one acre and either does not exceed fifty acres, or, if exceeding fifty acres, is at the date of sale or letting of an annual value for the purposes of income tax not exceeding [one hundred] pounds :

The expression "allotment" includes a field garden (b) :

The expressions "agriculture" and "cultivation" shall include horticulture and the use of land for any purpose of husbandry, inclusive of the keeping or breeding of live stock, poultry, or bees, and the growth of fruit, vegetables, and the like :

The expression "county" shall mean the area under the authority of a county council :

The expression "county council" [and the expression "council of a county" (c)] shall in relation to small holdings include the council of a county borough, and in its application to a county borough the expression "county fund" shall mean the borough fund or borough rate (d):

The expression "prescribed" means prescribed by regulations (e) made by the Board (f):

The expression "landlord," in relation to any land compulsorily hired by a council, means the person for the time being entitled to receive the rent of the land from the council.

(2) In this Act and in the enactments incorporated with this Act the expression "land" shall include any right or easement in or over land.

(3) For the purposes of this Act, any expenses incurred by a council in the enfranchisement of any land acquired by them for small holdings or allotments, or in the purchase or redemption of land tax, or any quit rent, chief rent, tithe, or other rentcharge, or other perpetual annual sum issuing out of land so acquired, shall be deemed to have been incurred in the purchase of the land.

(4) In this Act references to a parish council shall, in the case of a rural parish, not having a parish council, include references to the parish meeting.

(5) Any notice required by this Act to be served or given may be sent by registered post.

(a) The words in brackets were substituted for "fifty" by s. 16 of the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 331.

(b) It should be observed that in the Act of 1922, the expressions "allotment" and "allotment garden" are used and defined (ss. 3 (7), Vol. V., post, and 22 (1), Vol. V., post), and that the Act of 1925 also contains a definition of "allotment" (ibid., s. 1, Vol. V., post).

(c) The words in square brackets were added by the Agricultural Land (Utilisation) Act, 1931, s. 17, Sched. II, Vol. V. and 24 Halsbury's Statutes 62, 67.

(d) The borough fund and borough rate are now absorbed in the general rate fund and general rate (R. and V. Act, 1925, ante, p. 2113).

(e) See Regulations, ante, pp. 3774 et seq., made under the earlier repealed Acts, but kept in force by s. 62 (a).

(f) Now the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries.

62. The enactments mentioned in the Third Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that Schedule. Repeal.

Provided that—

- (a) nothing in this Act shall affect any order, scheme, draft scheme, rules, regulations, report, petition, notice, or other document made, prepared, submitted, served, or given under any enactment so repealed, but every such document shall have effect as if made, prepared, submitted, served, or given under this Act; and
- (b) references in any conveyance, lease, or other document to any enactment so repealed shall have effect as if they had been references to the corresponding provisions of this Act; and
- (c) if any question arises as to whether any power of the Local Government Board under the enactments relating to allotments hereby repealed was thereby transferred to the Board of Agriculture and Fisheries, the question shall be determined by the Local Government Board, whose decision shall be final.

Before 1907, the L. G. B. exercised all the powers of the central authority in relation to allotments. The Board of Agriculture and Fisheries has now been superseded by the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries and the L. G. B. by the Minister of Health. Words in italics repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

Section 63.

Short title,
commencement
and extent.

63.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1908.

(2) This Act shall come into operation on the first day of January, one thousand nine hundred and nine.

(3) This Act shall not extend to Scotland or Ireland.

Words in italics repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

SCHEDULES.

FIRST SCHEDULE.

PART I.

Provisions as to the Compulsory Acquisition of Land by a Council.

Reference should be made to the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919, post, p. 5213, which now governs arbitrations for assessing compensation in respect of land acquired or hired compulsorily, subject to s. 17 (3) of the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 332, which provides that the Act of 1919 shall not apply to any compensation payable on the withdrawal of a notice to treat under s. 39 (8), ante, p. 5076. The Act of 1919 has not affected the power of the Minister under paras. (5) and (6) of this Schedule to give directions as to the hearing of counsel or expert witnesses and of fixing scales of costs and such directions and scales of costs are to apply both to arbitrations before an official arbitrator in the case of compulsory purchase and of compulsory hiring (s. 17 (3) of the 1926 Act).

Throughout this Schedule "Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries" should be substituted for "Board."

(1) The order shall be in the prescribed form, and shall contain such provisions as the Board may prescribe for the purpose of carrying the order into effect, and of protecting the council and the persons interested in the land, and shall incorporate, subject to the necessary adaptations, the Lands Clauses Acts (a) and sections seventy-seven to eighty-five of the Railways Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (b), but subject to this modification, that any question of disputed compensation shall be determined by a single arbitrator appointed by the Board, who shall be deemed to be an arbitrator within the meaning of the Lands Clauses Acts, and the provisions of those Acts with respect to arbitration shall, subject to the provisions of this schedule, apply accordingly (c).

(a) I.e. Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845; Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts Amendment Act, 1860; Lands Clauses (Umpire) Act, 1883; Land Clauses (Taxation of Costs) Act, 1895. All these Acts will be found set out ante, at pp. 4104, 4252, 4664, 4938.

(b) These sections relate to the acquisition of land with minerals beneath it; see Carlisle (Earl of) v. Northumberland C. C. (1911), 75 J. P. 539; 42 Digest 2, 6, and cases decided under the Waterworks Clauses Act, 1847, s. 18, ante, p. 4179.

(c) The arbitration will now be before an official arbitrator under the Acquisition of Land, etc., Act, 1919, post, p. 5213. See headnote to this Schedule.

(2) The order shall be published by the council in the prescribed manner, and such notice shall be given both in the locality in which the land is proposed to be acquired and to the owners, leases, and occupiers of that land, as may be prescribed.

(3) If within the prescribed period no objection (a) to the order has been presented to the Board by a person interested in the land, or if every such objection has been withdrawn, the Board shall, without further inquiry confirm the order, but, if such an objection has been presented and has not been withdrawn (b), the Board shall forthwith cause a public inquiry to be held in the locality in which the land is proposed to be acquired, and the council and all persons interested in the land and such other persons as the person holding the inquiry in his discretion thinks fit to allow shall be permitted to appear and be heard at the inquiry.

(a) The Minister may require the grounds of objection to be stated (Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926, s. 17 (2), Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 331).

(b) The Minister is no longer bound to hold an inquiry if he is of opinion that the objections can be dealt with by the arbitrator to whom questions of disputed compensation are referred (ibid., s. 17 (2)).

(4) Before confirming the order the Board shall consider the report of the person who held the inquiry, and all objections made thereat. Schedule 1.

See, however, note (b) to the last paragraph.

(5) The arbitrator shall, so far as practicable, in assessing compensation act on his own knowledge and experience, but, subject as aforesaid, at any inquiry or arbitration held under this schedule the person holding the inquiry or arbitration shall hear, by themselves or their agents, any authorities or parties authorised by or under this Act to appear, and shall hear witnesses, but shall not, except in such cases as the Board otherwise direct, hear counsel or expert witnesses.

Directions may still be given by the Minister under this and the next paragraph notwithstanding the Acquisition of Land, etc., Act, 1919, post, p. 5213 (Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926, s. 17 (3) (b), Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 332).

(6) The Board may, with the concurrence of the Lord Chancellor, make rules fixing a scale of costs to be applicable on an arbitration under the schedule, and an arbitrator under this schedule may, notwithstanding anything in the Lands Clauses Acts, determine the amount of costs, and shall have power to disallow as costs in the arbitration the costs of any witness whom he considers to have been called unnecessarily, and any other costs which he considers to have been caused or incurred unnecessarily.

See the note to the last paragraph.

(7) In construing, for the purposes of this schedule, or any order made thereunder, any enactment incorporated with the order, this Act together with the order shall be deemed to be the special Act, and the council shall be deemed to be the promoters of the undertaking.

(8) Where the land is glebe land or other land belonging to an ecclesiastical benefice, the order shall provide that sums agreed upon or awarded for the purchase of the land, or to be paid by way of compensation for the damage to be sustained by the owner by reason of severance or other injury affecting the land, shall not be paid as directed by the Lands Clauses Acts, but shall be paid to the Ecclesiastical Commissioners to be applied by them as money paid to them upon a sale under the provisions of the Ecclesiastical Leasing Acts of land belonging to a benefice.

PART II.

Provisions as to the Compulsory Hiring of Land by a Council.

Throughout this Schedule "Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries" should be substituted for "Board."

(1) The Board shall make regulations for the purpose of carrying the order into effect and of protecting the council and the persons interested in the land, and the order shall incorporate such regulations, together with such provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts (a) and of sections seventy-seven to eighty-five of the Railways Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (b), as may, subject to the prescribed adaptations, appear to the Board necessary or expedient for that purpose.

(a) See note (a) to para. (1) of Part I. of this Schedule, ante, p. 5088.

(b) See note (b) to para. (1) of Part I. of this Schedule, ante, p. 5088.

(2) The order authorising the land to be hired compulsorily shall determine the terms and conditions of the hiring other than the rent, and in particular—

(a) shall provide for the insertion in the lease of covenants by the council to cultivate the land in a proper manner and to pay to the landlord at the determination of the tenancy on the council quitting the land compensation for any depreciation of land by reason of any failure by the council, or any person deriving title under them, to observe such covenants, or by reason

Schedule 1.

- of any user of the land by the council or such person as aforesaid, and (unless otherwise agreed) to keep the buildings and premises demised in repair; and
- (b) shall not authorise the breaking up of pasture unless the Board are satisfied that it can be so broken up without depreciating the value of the land, or that the circumstances are such that small holdings [or allotments as the case may be] (a) cannot otherwise be successfully cultivated; and
 - (c) shall not, except with the consent of the landlord, confer on the council any right to fell or cut timber or trees or any right to take, sell, or carry away any minerals, gravel, sand, or clay, except so far as may be necessary or convenient for the purpose of erecting buildings on the land or otherwise adapting the land for small holdings or allotments, and except upon payment of compensation for minerals, gravel, sand, or clay so used.

(a) These words were added by s. 25 and Second Schedule to the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, p. 5226. Under this paragraph as so amended it was held that where an order had been made for compulsory hiring for allotments of a piece of land consisting entirely of pasture, the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries, in considering whether the breaking up of the pasture should be authorised, must have regard to the particular piece of land alone, and need not be satisfied that there is no other land in the neighbourhood which could be successfully cultivated as allotments without the breaking up of pasture (Knowles v. Salford Corporation, [1922] 1 Ch. 328; 86 J. P. 97; 42 Digest 4, 15). See now s. 8 (4) of the Allotments Act, 1922, Vol. V., post, referred to in notes to s. 41, ante, p. 5078. By s. 8 (5) of the Allotments Act, 1922, it is enacted that paragraph 2 (b) in the text shall not apply to land compulsorily hired for the provision of allotment gardens.

(3) The determination of—

- (a) The amount of the rent to be paid by the council for the land compulsorily hired;
 - (b) The amount of any other compensation to be paid by the council to any person entitled thereto in respect of the land or any interest therein, or in respect of improvements executed on the land or otherwise; and
 - (c) Where part only of a holding held for an unexpired term is hired, the rent to be paid for the residue of the holding during the remainder of that term;
- shall in default of agreement be by valuation by a single valuer appointed by the Board (a): Provided that, if the land hired is in the occupation of a tenant, he may by notice in writing served on the council before the determination of his tenancy, require that any claim by him against the council which, under the Agricultural Holdings Act, 1908 (b), might be referred to arbitration under that Act, shall be so referred, and in such case those claims shall be determined by arbitration under that Act and not by valuation under this Act.

(a) These questions will now be determined by an official arbitrator under the Acquisition of Land, etc., Act, 1919, post, p. 5213 (see s. 7 (2), ibid.). In determining these questions any directions given by the Minister under paras. (5) and (6) of Part I. of this Schedule must be observed by the official arbitrator (Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926, s. 17 (3) (b), Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 332).

(b) The Agricultural Holdings Act, 1908, has been repealed and re-enacted by the Agricultural Holdings Act, 1923. As to arbitration under that Act, see ss. 16 et seq. (1 Halsbury's Statutes 94 et seq.).

(4) The valuer, in fixing the rent to be paid for the land compulsorily hired, shall take into consideration the rent (if any) at which the land has been let and the annual value at which the land is assessed for purposes of income tax or rating, the loss (if any) caused to the owner by severance, the terms and conditions of the hiring (including any reservation of sporting or fishing rights), and all the other circumstances connected with the land, but shall not make any allowance in respect of any use to which the land compulsorily hired might otherwise be put by the owner during the term of hiring, being a use in respect of which the owner is entitled to resume possession of the land under this Act.

As to the resumption of possession, see s. 46, ante, p. 5080, and notes thereto.

(5) Any compensation awarded to a tenant in respect of any depreciation of the value to him of the residue of his holding caused by the withdrawal from the holding of the land compulsorily hired shall, as far as possible, be provided for by taking such compensation into account in fixing the rent to be paid for the residue of the holding during the remainder of the term for which it is held by the tenant. Schedule 1.

(6) Any person interested in any valuation shall give the valuer all such assistance, information, and explanations as he may require, and shall produce to the valuer, or give him access to, all such books, accounts, vouchers, and other documents relating to the land to be compulsorily hired as he may reasonably require for the purposes of valuation, and such expenses [as the council shall consider or] (a) as the valuer certifies to have been properly incurred by any person in furnishing such assistance, information, and explanations, or otherwise, in relation to the valuation, shall be paid by the council.

See also s. 3 of the Acquisition of Land, etc., Act, 1919, post, p. 5216.

(a) These words were added by s. 25 and Second Schedule to the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, post, p. 5226.

(7) On the determination of any tenancy created by compulsory hiring any questions as to the amount due by the council for depreciation shall in default of agreement be determined by arbitration.

SECOND SCHEDULE.

This schedule was repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

(a) This exception refers to s. 9 of the L. G. A., 1894 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 782), and has no bearing on the present subject.

THE LOCAL AUTHORITIES (ADMISSION OF THE PRESS TO MEETINGS) ACT, 1908.

(8 EDW. 7, c. 43.)

An Act to provide for the Admission of Representatives of the Press to the Meetings of certain Local Authorities. [21st December 1908.]

Representatives of the press to be admitted to the meetings of a local authority subject to a proviso.

1. Representatives of the press shall be admitted to the meetings of every local authority: Provided that a local authority may temporarily exclude such representatives from a meeting as often as may be desirable at any meeting when, in the opinion of a majority of the members of the local authority present at such meeting, expressed by resolution, in view of the special nature of the business then being dealt with or about to be dealt with, such exclusion is advisable in the public interest.

This Act was passed in consequence of the decision in Tenby Corporation v. Mason, referred to on p. 1243, ante.

See ss. 3 and 4, post, p. 5093, as to meetings of committees.

2. For the purposes of this Act the expression "local authority" means—

Definitions.

(a) A council of a county, county borough, borough (including a metropolitan borough), urban district, rural district, or parish, and a joint committee or joint board of any two or more such councils to which any of the powers or duties of the appointing councils may have been transferred or delegated under the provisions of any Act of Parliament or Provisional Order ; and a parish meeting under the provisions of the Local Government Act, 1894 ;

Section 2.

- (b) An education committee and a joint education committee, established under section seventeen of the Education Act, 1902, so far as respects any acts or proceedings which are not required to be submitted to the council or councils for its or their approval ;
- (c) A board of guardians, and a joint committee constituted in pursuance of section eight of the Poor Law Act, 1879, and the board of management of any school or asylum district formed under any of the Acts relating to the relief of the poor ; (a)
- (d) A central body and a distress committee under the Unemployed Workmen Act, 1905 (b) ;
- (e) The Metropolitan Water Board and a joint water board constituted under the provisions of any Act of Parliament or Provisional Order ;
- (f) Any other local body which has, or may hereafter have, the power to make a rate.

The expression " rate " means a rate the proceeds of which are applicable to public local purposes, and leviable on the basis of an assessment in respect of property, and includes any sum which, though obtained in the first instance by a precept, certificate, or other document requiring payment from some authority or officer, is or can be ultimately raised out of a rate.

The expression " representatives of the press " means duly accredited representatives of newspapers and duly accredited representatives of news agencies which systematically carry on the business of selling and supplying reports and information to newspapers.

(a) The Acts relating to the relief of the poor were consolidated in the Poor Law Act, 1927 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 956), but the functions of poor law authorities (i.e. boards of guardians, boards of management of school districts, asylum boards and joint committees constituted under s. 3 of the 1927 Act or s. 8 of the 1879 Act) have now been transferred to county and county borough councils by s. 1 of the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 883.

(b) This Act was repealed by L. G. A., 1929. See s. 12, ibid., Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 891.

3. This Act shall not extend to any meeting of a committee of a local authority, as defined for the purposes of this Act, unless the committee is itself such an authority.

Saving for committee meetings.

4. Nothing in this Act shall be construed so as to prohibit a committee of a local authority from admitting representatives of the press to its meetings.

Powers of committee.

5. Nothing in this Act shall be construed so as to prohibit a local authority from admitting the public to its meetings.

Admission of the public.

See also model standing order 19, ante, p. 3279.

6. [Application to Scotland.]

7.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Local Authorities (Admission of the Press to Meetings) Act, 1908.

Short title and extent.

(2) This Act shall not extend to Ireland.

Section 43.

THE POST OFFICE ACT, 1908.

(8 EDW. 7, c. 48.)

An Act to consolidate Enactments relating to the Post Office.

[21st December, 1908.]

* * * * *

POSTMASTER-GENERAL AND OFFICERS

Exemption of officers of Post Office from certain offices.

43 (a). Notwithstanding anything in any other Act, neither the Postmaster-General nor any officer of the Post Office (b) shall be compelled to serve as a . . . (c) sheriff, or in any ecclesiastical or corporate or parochial or other public officer or employment, or on any jury or inquest, or in the militia.

(a) This section reproduces s. 12 of the Post Office (Management) Act, 1837, repealed by the present Act. There is now no compulsion of any kind to accept office in a local authority (see ante, p. 826), but the office of sheriff is still compulsory.

(b) By s. 89 (13 Halsbury's Statutes 72), the expression "officer of the post office" includes, unless the context otherwise requires, the Postmaster-General, and any person employed in any business of the Post Office, whether employed by the Postmaster-General, or by any person under him or on behalf of the Post Office.

(c) The words "mayor or," which formerly appeared here, were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 735 (sec note (a), supra).

* * * * *

EXTENSION OF POSTAL FACILITIES AND ACCOMMODATION.

Indemnity on account of extending post office
accommodation

48. The Postmaster-General may contract with, or take security from, any person applying to him to establish any post or telegraph office or to extend the accommodations of the postal or telegraphic service to any place, for indemnifying the Postmaster-General against any loss he may sustain thereby, and the indemnity may be either for the whole or any part of the loss sustained, and for such time as the Postmaster-General may think necessary.

Power for local authority to contribute towards new post office, or undertake to pay loss on extra postal facilities.

49.—(1) (a) Where the council of any borough or any urban district consider that it would be beneficial to the inhabitants of the borough or district that any new post office (b) should be on a more expensive site, or of a larger size or of a more ornate building, or otherwise of a more expensive character than the Postmaster-General would otherwise provide, the council may contribute towards the new post office, either by a grant of money, or, with the consent of the [Minister of Health], by the appropriation of land belonging to the council, or by the purchase of land for the purpose.

(2) (c) Where the council of any borough or any urban district consider that it would be beneficial to the inhabitants of the borough or district that any post or telegraph office (b) should be established or any additional facilities (postal or other) (d) provided by the Postmaster-General in or for the purposes of the borough or district, the council may undertake to pay to the Postmaster-General any loss he may sustain by reason of the establishment or maintenance of the office or the provision of the facilities.

(3) (e) Where the council of any rural district, or the parish council of a parish, or in the case of a parish not having a parish council the parish meeting, consider that it would be for the benefit, in the case of a rural district council, of any contributory place or places (f) within their district, and in the case of a parish council or parish meeting of their parish, that any post or telegraph office (b) should be established or any additional postal or other facilities (d) provided by the Postmaster-General whether within or without the area to be benefited, that council or meeting may undertake to pay to the Postmaster-General any loss he may sustain by reason of the establishment or maintenance of the office, or the provision of the facilities : Section 49.

Provided that a rural district council shall not exercise their powers under this provision as respects any office established or facilities provided outside the contributory place proposed to be charged unless the parish council, or if there is no parish council the parish meeting, of any parish wholly or partly situated in the contributory place consent to the exercise of the powers.

(4) (g) . . .

(5) Any expenses incurred by the rural district council in pursuance of an undertaking under this section may be defrayed as special expenses legally incurred in respect of the contributory place or places, . . . (h).

(6) (g) . . .

(7) (a) The council of a borough may borrow for the purposes of sub-section (1) of this section . . . and the council of an urban district (not a borough) may borrow for the purposes of the same sub-section. . . . (h).

(8), (9), (10), (11) [Scotland, Ireland, Channel Islands, Isle of Man.]

(a) Sub-ss. (1) and (7) reproduce in practically identical words s. 7 of the Post Office Act, 1891, repealed by the present Act.

(b) By s. 89 (13 Halsbury's Statutes 72), unless the context otherwise requires, the expression "post office" includes any house, building, room, carriage, or place used for the purpose of the Post Office and any post office letter box, and the expression "post office letter box" includes any pillar box, wall box, or other box or receptacle provided by the permission or under the authority of the Postmaster-General for the purpose of receiving postal packets, or any of them, for transmission by or under the authority of the Postmaster-General.

(c) This sub-section reproduces in practically identical words s. 1 of the Post Office Guarantee (No. 2) Act, 1898, repealed by the present Act.

(d) Including telephone facilities.

(e) This sub-section reproduces without material alteration s. 8 of the Post Office Act, 1891, the Post Office Amendment Act, 1895, and the Post Office (Guarantee) Act, 1898, repealed by the present Act.

(f) (As to a "contributory place," see the P. H. A., 1875, s. 229 (13 Halsbury's Statutes 720).)

(g) Paragraph repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 735.

(h) Certain words here were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 735.

PUBLIC MEETING ACT, 1908.

(8 EDW. 7, c. 66.)

An Act to prevent Disturbance of Public Meetings.

[21st December, 1908.]

1.—(1) Any person who at a lawful public meeting (a) acts in a disorderly manner for the purpose of preventing the transaction of the business for which the meeting was called together shall be guilty of an offence, and, if the offence is committed at a political meeting held in any parliamentary constituency between the date of the issue of the writ for the return of a member of Parliament for such constituency and the date at which a return to such writ is made, he shall be guilty of an illegal practice within the meaning of the Corrupt and Illegal Practices Prevention Act, 1883, and in any other case shall, on summary conviction, be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds, or to imprisonment not exceeding one month. Penalty on endeavour to break up public meeting.
48 & 47 Vict. c. 51.

(2) Any person who incites others to commit an offence under this section shall be guilty of a like offence.

Note to
Section 1.

(a) Reference may be made to a definition of "public meeting" in s. 4 of the Law of Libel Amendment Act, 1888 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 418). Whether a meeting of a council to which the public are admitted can be said to be a public meeting within the meaning of this Act is at any rate doubtful; but presumably a parish meeting falls within it. A meeting is not "unlawful" merely because it is held upon a highway (Burden v. Rigler, [1911] 1 K. B. 337; 75 J. P. 36; 26 Digest 318, 503); see as to such meetings the cases there cited in argument, and M'Ara v. Edinburgh Magistrates, [1913] S. C. 1059.

Short title.

2. This Act may be cited as the Public Meeting Act, 1908.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHTING ACT, 1909.

(9 Edw. 7, c. 34) (a).

An Act to amend the Acts relating to Electric Lighting. [25th November, 1909.]

Compulsory acquisition of land for generating stations.

1.—(1) The [Minister of Transport] may by Provisional Order authorise any local authority, company, or person, who is authorised by the same or any previous Provisional Order or by Act of Parliament to supply electricity in any area, to acquire compulsorily (b), or to use, for the purpose of a generating station any land specified in the Order, whether situated within or without the area of supply, and, in the case of a local authority, whether situated within or without their district.

(2) For the purpose of the acquisition of land authorised to be taken compulsorily under any such Provisional Order, the provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts which relate to the purchase and taking of lands otherwise than by agreement, and to the entry upon lands by the promoters of the undertaking, are, subject to the modifications set out in the First Schedule (c) to this Act, incorporated with the Electric Lighting Acts, as well as the provisions of those Acts already incorporated by the Electric Lighting Act, 1882.

(3) Rules (d) made by the [Minister of Transport] under section five of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, shall provide for proper notice being given of an application for a Provisional Order, by which it is proposed to authorise the compulsory acquisition or use of land for the purpose of a generating station, to owners, lessees, and occupiers of land, and also for public notice being given of the proposal by advertisement.

(a) This Act amends the Electric Lighting Acts, 1882 and 1888, ante, pp. 4642, 4700. See also the Electricity (Supply) Acts, 1919, post, p. 5243; 1922, 1926 and 1928, Vol. V., post, and 7 Halsbury's 792, 826. The powers and duties of the Board of Trade under these Acts have been transferred to the Minister of Transport by s. 39 of the Electricity Supply Act, 1919, post, p. 5265, and the Ministry of Transport (Electricity Supply) Order, 1920, as from January 23rd, 1920.

(b) Under the previous Acts there was no power to acquire land compulsorily; for definition of "generating station," see s. 25, post, p. 5103. See s. 24, post, p. 5103, as to land belonging to gas or water undertakers. The purposes for which a joint electricity authority may be authorised to acquire compulsorily or to use land under this section, now include the development of water power for the generation of electricity. See the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, s. 15 (3), post, p. 5251.

(c) See this Schedule, post, p. 5104.

(d) See the rules, ante, p. 2620.

Construction of generating station on land acquired by agreement.

2. It shall not be lawful for any undertakers after the passing of this Act, except with the consent of the [Minister of Transport], to construct any generating station on any land acquired by them after the thirty-first day of March one thousand nine hundred and nine unless the construction is authorised and the land is specified in a special Act or Provisional Order, and the [Minister of Transport] shall not in any case give such consent until notice has been given, by advertisement or otherwise, as the [Minister of Transport] may direct, to the local authority of the district in which the land is situate, and to owners and lessees of land situate within three hundred yards of the land upon which the generating station is to be constructed, and an opportunity has been given to such local authority, owners, and lessees, of stating any objections they may have thereto (a).

Section 2.

This section shall not apply to any station for transforming, converting or distributing electrical energy (b).

(a) Formerly, though undertakers had no powers of compulsory purchase, they were under no such restriction so long as they could purchase by agreement. But see now the restrictions on the establishment of new generating stations imposed by the Act of 1919, s. 11, post, p. 5247.

(b) This proviso is a limitation on the definition of "generating station" in s. 25, post, p. 5103, but conforms with the definition of "generating station" in s. 36 of the Electricity Supply Act, 1919, post, p. 5263.

3. For the purpose of enabling electricity to be brought into an area of supply from a generating station belonging to any undertakers situated outside that area, the [Minister of Transport] may by Provisional Order apply to any roads, railways, or tramways situated outside that area the provisions of the Electric Lighting Acts which authorise, or enable the [Minister of Transport] to authorise, the breaking up of any road, railway, or tramway, so far as those provisions do not already so apply (a):

Provided that a Provisional Order authorising the breaking up of roads outside the area of supply shall not be granted by the [Minister of Transport] except with the consent of the local authority in whose district the road is situate, unless the [Minister of Transport] in any case in which the consent of any such local authority is refused, [is] of opinion that, having regard to all the circumstances of the case, such consent ought to be dispensed with, and in that case [he] shall make a special report to Parliament stating the grounds on which [he has] dispensed with the consent.

(a) See ss. 12 et seq. of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, ante, p. 4650; for definition of "road," see s. 25, post, p. 5103.

4.—(1) The [Minister of Transport] unless [he is] of opinion that, by reason of the character or magnitude of the proposed undertaking, the matter ought to be dealt with by private Bill, may by Provisional Order—

(a) authorise any local authority or company to supply electricity in bulk (a);

(b) provide for any supply so authorised being compulsory; and

(c) make such other provisions as appear to [him] necessary for adapting the Electric Lighting Acts to any case where a local authority or company are authorised to supply electricity in bulk, including the application to roads, railways, and tramways along the route along which lines are authorised to be laid for the purpose of giving the supply in bulk of the provisions of those Acts which authorise or enable the [Minister of Transport] to authorise the breaking up of any road, railway, or tramway:

Provided that a Provisional Order authorising the breaking up of roads outside the area of supply of the local authority or company by whom the supply is to be given shall not be granted by the [Minister of Transport] except with the consent of the local authority in whose district the road is situate, unless the [Minister of Transport], in any case in which the consent of any such local authority is refused, [is] of opinion that, having regard to all the circumstances of the case, such consent ought to be dispensed with, and in that case [he] shall make a special report to Parliament stating the ground on which [he has] dispensed with the consent.

Section 4.

(2) If the [Minister of Transport] refuse to grant a Provisional Order under this section, on the ground that the matter ought to be dealt with by a private Bill, the notices published and served for the purposes of the proposed Order shall, subject to Standing Orders, be held to have been published and served for a private Bill applying for similar powers :

Provided that the applicants for the Order shall, by notice served in the prescribed manner and within the prescribed time, inform all opponents of their intention to proceed by way of private Bill, and, subject to Standing Orders, the application for a Provisional Order shall be deemed and taken to be a petition for leave to bring in a private Bill, and the applicants shall also give such additional notice (if any) as may be required by Standing Orders.

(3) The [Minister of Transport] may, if [he] think[s] fit, by order permit any undertakers to supply electricity in bulk to any other undertakers upon such terms and subject to such conditions as may be specified in the order, if the supply can be given without breaking up any streets except such as the undertakers giving or the undertakers receiving the supply are authorised to break up ; but the [Minister of Transport] shall not in any case make such an order until notice of the intention to make the order has been given by advertisement or otherwise as the [Minister of Transport] may direct, and an opportunity has been given to any person who appears to the [Minister] to be affected of stating any objections he may have thereto.

(a) See s. 25, post, p. 5103, for definition of "supply in bulk"; and see s. 20, post, p. 5102, as to the construction of provisions prohibiting association where undertakers desire to take a supply in bulk from other undertakers.

Supply of electricity to railways, tramways, and canals partly outside area of supply.

5.—(1) Any local authority, company, or person authorised to supply electricity in any area may, with the consent of the [Minister of Transport], supply at any point within that area electricity for the purposes of haulage or traction on any railway, tramway, or canal situate partly within and partly without that area, and for the purposes of lighting vehicles and vessels used on any such railway, tramway, or canal ; but the [Minister of Transport] shall not in any case give any such consent until notice of the application for the consent has been given by advertisement or otherwise in such manner as the [Minister of Transport] may direct, and an opportunity has been given to any person who appears to the [Minister] to be affected of stating any objections he may have thereto.

(2) The [Minister of Transport] may by Provisional Order authorise any such local authority, company, or person so to supply electricity to be used for purposes incidental to the working or lighting of the railway, tramway, or canal, other than the purposes aforesaid (a).

(3) A company, local authority, or body receiving a supply of electricity under this section shall not use the electricity in such manner as to cause or to be likely to cause any interference with Government observatories or laboratories, or observatories or laboratories now or hereafter erected, owned, or managed in pursuance of any present or future statutory enactment, but this subsection shall not apply to any such company, local authority, or body who, by any Act of Parliament, or Order confirmed by or having the effect of an Act of Parliament, containing provisions for the protection of such observatories, or laboratories, are authorised to use electricity for the purposes for which a supply is authorised to be given under this section.

(a) See now s. 47, Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 819, which enables undertakers to supply and railway companies to use electricity for purposes other than haulage or traction with the consent of the Minister and without the necessity for a special order. See also Att.-Gen. v. Liverpool Corporation, [1937] Ch. 450 ; [1937] 2 All E. R. 698.

Supply to premises outside area of 6.—(1) Where it is proved to the satisfaction of the [Minister of Transport] that the occupier of any premises is desirous of obtaining a supply of electricity from any undertakers within whose area of supply those premises are not situate, the [Minister of Transport] may if the local authority within whose district the premises are situate, and the undertakers (if any) authorised to supply electricity to such premises, consent, by order permit the first-mentioned undertakers to give a supply to those premises on such terms and subject to such conditions as the [Minister] think[s] fit (a) :

Section 6.

supply in certain cases.

Provided that, if in the opinion of the [Minister of Transport] any consent required by this subsection is unreasonably withheld, the [Minister of Transport] may proceed as if such consent had been given.

(2) An order given by the [Minister of Transport] under this section may, for the purpose of enabling a supply to be given thereunder, confer any such powers and impose any such duties on the undertakers as would have been conferred or imposed by the Electric Lighting Acts and as might have been conferred or imposed by Provisional Order if the premises and the route along which lines are to be laid for the purpose of giving the supply were within the area of supply of the undertakers, anything in the special Act or Order relating to the undertaking to the contrary notwithstanding.

(3) If the undertakers on whom powers are conferred by an order under this section are not a local authority, the works and lines erected and laid under the powers so conferred shall, so long as the order remains in force, be deemed, for the purposes of the provisions as to purchase applicable to the undertaking to form part of the undertaking within the district of the local authority which comprises the area of supply of the undertakers, or, if that area is comprised within the districts of more than one local authority, within such of those districts as the [Minister of Transport] may determine.

(4) Nothing in this section shall enable the [Minister of Transport], without the consent of the undertakers within whose area of supply the premises are situate, to give such permission as aforesaid to any undertakers where the last-mentioned undertakers are by any Act of Parliament specifically prohibited from supplying electricity within the area of the first-mentioned undertakers.

(a) Where the undertakers obtained an order under this section to supply electricity to consumers outside the area of supply and obtained the supply therefor from an outside source, it was held to be a breach of an agreement between the undertakers and another statutory company under which a joint generating station had been provided (Kensington Electric Lighting Co. v. Notting Hill Electric Lighting Co. (1918), 82 J. P. 197; 20 Digest 206, 42).

7.—(1) Where the generating station, mains, or other works of a company used solely for supplying electricity within the district of a local authority are situated outside the district of that local authority, the generating station, mains, and other works so used shall for the purposes of the provisions of the Electric Lighting Acts, and any Provisional Order conferring on local authorities power to purchase undertakings (a), be deemed to be situated within the district of that local authority, and, where any generating station, mains, and other works are used solely for supplying electricity within the districts of two or more local authorities, but are not situated within any of those districts, the [Minister of Transport] may, on the application of all or any of those authorities, by Provisional Order apply this provision subject to such adaptations as the circumstances of the case may require :

Provisions as to right of local authority to purchase.

Provided that this subsection shall not, except by agreement between the local authority and the company concerned, apply to any generating station, mains, or other works authorised by a special Act passed before the passing of this Act.

(2) Any local authority having power under the Electric Lighting Acts or any Provisional Order to purchase so much of the undertaking of a company as is within the district of that local authority may, with the consent of and upon such terms and conditions as may be approved by the [Minister of Transport], and, in the case of an undertaking authorised before the commencement of this Act, with the consent of the company, transfer their rights of purchase to any other local authority having power to purchase so much of the same undertaking as is within the district of that last-mentioned local authority, and the deed of transfer may contain such consequential provisions as may be necessary for giving effect to the transfer.

Section 7.

(a) As to an authority's power to purchase, see s. 2 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1888, ante, p. 4701. This power may be transferred to a joint electricity authority under s. 13 (2), Electricity Supply Act, 1919, post, p. 5249.

Exercise of electric lighting powers by authorities
jointly.

8. The [Minister of Transport] may, with the concurrence of the [Minister of Health], by Provisional Order make such provisions as appear to them necessary or expedient, by the constitution of a joint committee or joint board or otherwise, for the joint exercise of all or any of the powers under the Electric Lighting Acts, or this Act, or any Provisional Order, by two or more local authorities as respects any area of supply consisting of the whole or parts of the districts of those authorities, in any case where it appears to them that the joint exercise of those powers would be expedient, and any such Provisional Order may contain such provisions as may appear necessary or proper for adapting any of the provisions of the Electric Lighting Acts, or this Act, or any such Provisional Order to the case of any committee or board so constituted (a).

(a) See also s. 39, Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 815, and the definition of "local authority" in s. 51, ibid., Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 821.

July notices.

9. The [Minister of Transport] may grant a Provisional Order notwithstanding that the notice required by section four (a) of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, to be given to a local authority on or before the first day of July has not been given in the case of any local authority which waives its right to receive such a notice, and no such notice need be given to the local authority of a district in which it is not intended to take power to distribute electricity.

(a) See this section, ante, p. 4645.

10. (a).

(a) This section, which related to the revision of maximum price, was repealed by s. 22 (6) of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922. See now s. 22 of that Act, Vol. V., post, as to methods of charging and revision of prices.

Certification of meters.

11.—(1) The sections set out in the Second Schedule (a) to this Act shall be substituted for sections forty-nine, fifty, fifty-one, and fifty-three of the Schedule to the Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899, as incorporated with any Act or Order passed or confirmed after the commencement of this Act.

(2) The provisions contained in the sections so set out shall, subject to such adaptations (if any) as may be necessary, be substituted for any corresponding provisions as to the use, examination, and certification of meters, and their connection and disconnection with electric lines, contained in or incorporated with any special Act or Provisional Order relating to the supply of electricity passed or confirmed before the commencement of this Act.

(a) See this Schedule at post, p. 5105.

Accounts of local authorities.

12. For the purposes of section nine (a) of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, the accounts of any undertakers being a local authority shall be made up to the thirty-first day of March in each year, and accordingly as respects those accounts ~~the~~ thirtieth day of June shall be substituted in that section for the twenty-fifth day of March, and the thirty-first day of March for the thirty-first day of December: Provided that, if any such undertakers show to the [Minister of Transport] that some other dates are, owing to special circumstances, more convenient in their case than the thirty-first day of March and the thirtieth day of June, the [Minister of Transport] may substitute such other dates for the said thirty-first day of March and thirtieth day of June, and this section shall as respects those undertakers be construed with the substituted dates.

Section 12.

(a) See this section, ante, p. 4648.

13. The [Minister of Transport] shall from time to time make a return to Parliament giving such particulars as [he] may think proper with regard to the reports (a) made by any auditors appointed by [him] to audit the accounts of any undertakers, and any action taken in such reports by the [Minister] and by the undertakers.

Return by [Minister of Transport] as to auditors' reports.

(a) See s. 30 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, ante, p. 4658, as to the annual report to be made by the Minister.

14.—(1) A local authority, company, or person who have obtained a licence, order, or special Act for the supply of electricity shall not, by transfer or otherwise, divest themselves of any of the powers, rights, or obligations conferred or imposed upon them by the Electric Lighting Acts, or by any licence, order, or special Act, otherwise than under and in accordance with a provision contained in a licence, order, or special Act authorising such a divestiture.

Restriction on transfer of powers, etc., of undertakers.

(2) Section eleven (a) of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, shall be repealed from "but no local authority" to the end of the section.

(a) See s. 11 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, and note thereto, ante, p. 4650. But see now the powers for selling and leasing conferred by the Electricity (Supply) Acts, 1919, post, p. 5243, and 1922, Vol. V., post.

15. [Supply of electricity to premises having separate supply] (a).

(a) Repealed by s. 23 (2), Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, and in lieu thereof, see s. 23 (1) of that Act, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 789.

16. All electric lines, fittings, apparatus, and appliances let by any undertakers on hire or belonging to any undertakers, but being in or upon premises of which the undertakers are not in possession, shall, whether they be or be not fixed or fastened to any part of any premises in or upon which they may be situate, or to the soil under any such premises, at all times continue to be the property of, and be removable by the undertakers, and sections twenty-four and twenty-five of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, shall extend and apply to all such electric lines, fittings, apparatus, and appliances: Provided that such electric lines, fittings, apparatus, or appliances have upon them respectively a distinguishing metal plate affixed to a conspicuous part thereof, or a distinguishing brand or other mark conspicuously impressed or made thereon, sufficiently indicating the undertakers as the actual owners thereof.

Electric lines, etc., let on hire, though fixed to premises, to remain the property of undertakers.

For the purposes of this section, electric lines, fittings, apparatus, and appliances disposed of by the undertakers on terms of payment by instalments shall, until the whole of the instalments have been paid, be deemed to be electric lines, fittings, apparatus, and appliances let on hire by the undertakers.

Nothing in this section shall affect the amount of the assessment for rating of any premises upon which any electric lines, fittings, apparatus, or appliances are or shall be fixed.

Section 17.

Notice to be given to undertakers before removing.

17.—(1) Twenty-four hours' notice in writing shall be given to the undertakers by every consumer before he quits any premises supplied with electrical energy by the undertakers, and, in default of such notice, the consumer so quitting shall be liable to pay to the undertakers the money accruing due in respect of such supply up to the next usual period for ascertaining the register of the meter on such premises, or the date from which any subsequent occupier of such premises may require the undertakers to supply electrical energy to such premises, whichever shall first occur.

(2) Notice to the effect of this section shall be endorsed upon any demand note for charges for electrical energy.

Power to refuse to supply electrical energy in certain cases.

18. The undertakers may refuse (a) to supply electrical energy to any person whose payments for the supply of electrical energy are for the time being in arrear (not being the subject of a bona fide dispute), whether any such payments be due to the undertakers in respect of a supply to the premises in respect of which such supply is demanded or in respect of other premises.

(a) As to the general obligation to supply, see s. 19 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, and notes thereto, ante, p. 4654.

Exemption of agreements for the supply of electricity from stamp duty.

19. Electrical energy shall be deemed to be goods, wares, or merchandise for the purposes of section fifty-nine of the Stamp Act, 1891 (a) (which makes certain contracts chargeable with stamp duty as conveyances on sale), and also for the purposes of the exemption numbered 3 under the heading "Agreement or any memorandum of an agreement" contained in the First Schedule to that Act.

(a) As to the stamping of agreements for the supply of electricity, see also County of Durham Electrical Power Distribution Co., Ltd. v. Inland Revenue Commissioners, [1909] 2 K. B. 604; 73 J. P. 425; 20 Digest 207, 45; British Electric Traction Co., Ltd. v. Inland Revenue Commissioners, [1902] 1 K. B. 441; 66 J. P. 83; 20 Digest 206, 44.

Construction of provisions prohibiting association.

20. For removing doubts, it is hereby declared that so much of any Provisional Order or special Act, or of the Schedule to the Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899 (a), as incorporated with any such Order or Act, as prohibit undertakers from associating themselves with any company or person supplying energy under any licence, Provisional Order, or special Act unless the undertakers are authorised by Parliament to do so, shall not be construed as prohibiting the undertakers from taking a supply of electricity in bulk (b) from any company or person authorised to give such a supply.

(a) See s. 3 (1), ante, p. 4951.

(b) As to the meaning of a "supply in bulk," see s. 25, post, p. 5103.

21. [Provision as to borrowing by local authorities (a).]

(a) Repealed by L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 735.

For the protection of the Commissioner of Works.

22.—(1) With a view to the protection of the royal palaces, parks, and gardens, museums, and other public buildings, and their contents (in this section referred to as "the protected premises"), the Commissioners of Works and their engineer, or other officer duly authorised in writing under the hand of their secretary, may from time to time enter upon and inspect any generating station of any undertakers, and, if on such inspection it should appear to the Commissioners that proper precautions are not being adopted for the due consumption of smoke, and for preventing as far as reasonably practicable the evolution of oxides of sulphur, and generally for the prevention of nuisance in relation to the protected premises, they may, without prejudice to any other remedy, require the undertakers forthwith to carry out such works and to do such things as are necessary in the circumstances

(2) The undertakers shall give all reasonable facilities for such inspection to the Commissioners and their engineer or other officer as aforesaid. Section 22.

(3) Any dispute arising between the Commissioners and the undertakers in relation to any of the provisions of this section shall be determined by arbitration.

This section shall not apply to the station of the Westminster Electric Supply Corporation, Limited, at Horseferry Road, in the city of Westminster.

23. (a) Where in any area a local authority, company, or person is authorised to supply electricity under Act of Parliament or under licence or Provisional Order granted under the Electric Lighting Acts, it shall not, after the passing of this Act, be lawful for any other local authority, company, or person to commence to supply (b) or distribute electricity within the same area unless such supply or distribution is authorised by Act of Parliament, or by licence or Provisional Order granted in terms of the Electric Lighting Acts: Provided that this section shall not prevent any company or person from affording a supply of electrical energy to any other company or person where the business of the company or person affording the supply is not primarily that of the supply of electrical energy to consumers (c):

Prohibiting unauthorised undertakers from competing with statutory undertakers.

Provided also that this section shall not prevent any company who at the passing of this Act are empowered by their memorandum of association to generate electrical energy from affording a supply to a railway company for purposes incidental to that company's undertaking other than the conveyance of public traffic.

(a) See s. 1 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1888, ante, p. 4700.

(b) The word "supply" was held to include a case where the supplier and consumer were the same body and the electrical energy was required for the supplier's own purposes (Southport Corporation v. Attorney-General, [1924] A. C. 909; 88 J. P. 181; 20 Digest 199, 12).

Where a supply was given to a firm part only of whose works were in the area of the undertaker's supplying and the energy so supplied was used throughout the works the greater part of which were within the relators' area of supply, it was held that the supply was given at the consumer's terminals, and as these were within the area of supply of the undertaker's who gave the supply there was no breach of the prohibition in this section (Att.-Gen. v. County of London Electric Supply Co., Ltd., [1926] Ch. 542; 95 L. J. Ch. 357; Digest Supp.).

(c) Where a draper and property owner generated electricity and supplied the energy to light his own business and adjoining premises owned by him he was held to be protected by this proviso (Caerphilly U. D. C. v. Griffin, [1928] 1 Ch. 171; 92 J. P. 5; Digest Supp.).

24. Nothing in this Act shall enable the [Minister of Transport] by Provisional Order to authorise the compulsory acquisition of any land which, at the date of the first publication of the notice for the Order, belongs to any gas or water undertakers and is used or authorised to be used by them for the purposes of their undertaking.

For the protection of gas undertakers.

25. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,—

Definitions.

The expression "Provisional Order" means a Provisional Order under the Electric Lighting Acts:

The expression "Electric Lighting Acts" means—

(a) As respects England and Ireland, the Electric Lighting Acts, 1882 and 1888; and

(b) As respects Scotland, the Electric Lighting Acts, 1882 and 1888, the Electric Lighting (Scotland) Act, 1890, and the Electric Lighting (Scotland) Act, 1902:

The expression "authorised" means authorised by Act of Parliament or Provisional Order (a):

Section 25.

The expression "area of supply" means any area within which any local authority, company, or person is authorised to supply electricity :
 The expression "undertakers" means any local authority, company, or person, authorised to supply electricity to whom the Electric Lighting Acts apply :

The expression "road" includes any street (b) as defined by the Electric Lighting Act, 1882 :

The expression "generating station" includes any station for generating, transforming, converting, or distributing electricity :

The expression "to supply electricity in bulk" means to supply electricity—

(a) to any local authority, company, or person authorised to distribute electricity to be used for the purposes of distribution; or

(b) to any local authority authorised by any general or special Act to undertake or contract for the lighting of streets, bridges, or public places, to be used for the purposes of lighting streets, bridges, and public places.

(a) Licences to supply electricity under the Act of 1882, ante, p. 4642, are practically obsolete.

(b) See definition of "street" in s. 32, ante, p. 4658.

SCHEDULES.

FIRST SCHEDULE

(Section I.)

MODIFICATIONS OF THE LANDS CLAUSES ACTS.

The following modifications shall have effect in the construction of the provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts incorporated by this Act for the purposes of the Electric Lighting Acts :—

(a) The expression "special Act" means the Electric Lighting Acts, inclusive of any Provisional Order authorising the compulsory acquisition of land, except that the period of three years mentioned in section one hundred and twenty-three of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (8 & 9 Vict. c. 18), shall be calculated from the passing of the Act confirming the Provisional Order; and

(b) The expressions "the promoters" and "the undertaking" mean respectively the undertakers and the undertaking under the Electric Lighting Acts, and the expression "company" in the Railways Act (Ireland), 1851, the Railways Act (Ireland), 1860, and the Railways Act (Ireland), 1864, means the undertakers under the Electric Lighting Acts; and

The expression "land" includes easements in or relating to land.

SECOND SCHEDULE.

Sched. II.

(Section XI.)

SECTIONS TO BE SUBSTITUTED FOR SECTIONS 49, 50, 51, AND 53 OF THE SCHEDULE TO THE ELECTRIC LIGHTING (CLAUSES) ACT, 1899.

"49. The amount of energy supplied by the undertakers to any ordinary consumer under the special Order, or the electrical quantity contained in the supply (according to the method by which the undertakers elect to charge), hereinafter referred to as 'the value of the supply,' shall, except as otherwise agreed between the consumer and the undertakers, be ascertained by means of an appropriate meter duly certified under the provisions of the special Order, and fixed and connected with the service lines in some manner approved by the [Minister of Transport]. Meters to be used except by agreement.

"50. A meter shall be considered to be duly certified under the provisions of the special Order if it be certified by an electric inspector appointed under the special Order to be a meter capable of ascertaining the value of the supply within such limits of error as may, as respects meters of the class to which the meter belongs, be allowed by the [Minister of Transport], and to be of some construction and pattern approved by the [Minister of Transport], and every such meter is hereinafter referred to as a 'certified meter': Provided that, where any alteration is made in any certified meter, that meter shall cease to be a certified meter unless and until it is again certified as a certified meter under the provisions of the special Order. Meter to be certified.

"51. An electric inspector, on being required to do so by the undertakers or by any consumer, and on payment of the prescribed fee by the party so requiring him, shall examine any meter used or intended to be used for ascertaining the value of the supply, and shall certify it as a certified meter if he considers it entitled to be so certified, and the inspector shall, on the like requisition and payment, examine the manner in which any such meter has been fixed and connected with the service lines, and shall certify that it has been fixed and connected with the service lines in some manner approved by the [Minister of Transport], if he considers that it is entitled to be so certified. Inspector to certify meter.

"53. The undertakers shall not, nor shall any consumer, connect any meter used or to be used under the special Order for ascertaining the value of the supply with any electric line through which energy is supplied by the undertakers, or disconnect any such meter from any such electric line, unless the one has given to the other not less than forty-eight hours' notice in writing of the intention to do so, and the undertakers or any consumer acting in contravention of this section shall be liable for each offence to a penalty not exceeding forty shillings." Meters not to be connected or disconnected without notice.

THE DEVELOPMENT AND ROAD IMPROVEMENT FUNDS ACT, 1909.

(9 EDW. 7, c. 47.)

An Act to promote the Economic Development of the United Kingdom and the Improvement of Roads therein. [3rd December 1909.]

PART I.

DEVELOPMENT.

1.—(1) The Treasury may, upon the recommendation of the Development Commissioners appointed under this Act, make advances to a Government Department, or through a Government Department to a public authority, university, college, school, or institution, or an association of persons or company not trading for profit, either by way of grant or by way of loan, Power to make advances for certain purposes.

Section 1. or partly in one way and partly in the other, and upon such terms and subject to such conditions as they may think fit, for any of the following purposes :—

- (a) Aiding and developing agriculture and rural industries by promoting scientific research, instruction and experiments in the science, methods and practice of agriculture (including the provision of farm-institutes (a)), the organisation of co-operation, instruction in marketing produce, and the extension of the provision of small holdings; and by the adoption of any other means which appear calculated to develop agriculture and rural industries;
 - (b) Forestry (including (1) the conducting of inquiries, experiments, and research for the purpose of promoting forestry and the teaching of methods of afforestation; (2) the purchase and planting of land found after inquiry to be suitable for afforestation) (b);
 - (c) The reclamation and drainage of land
 - (d) The general improvement of rural transport (including the making of light railways but not including the construction or improvement of roads) (c);
 - (e) The construction and improvement of harbours (d);
 - (f) The construction and improvement of inland navigations (e);
 - (g) The development and improvement of fisheries;
- and for any other purpose calculated to promote the economic development of the United Kingdom (f).

(2) All applications for advances under this Part of this Act shall be made to the Treasury in accordance with regulations (g) made by the Treasury.

(3) No advance shall be made for any purpose which might be carried out under the provisions of the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1908, upon any terms or conditions different from those contained in that statute except for some special reason which shall be stated in the annual report of the Development Commissioners.

Words in italics in this section repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

(a) As to grants toward "farm institutes," see a circular of the Board of Education, dated July 14th, 1911.

(b) Forestry commissioners have now been appointed under the Forestry Act, 1919 (3 Halsbury's Statutes 443), and no further advance is to be made under this section in the text (Forestry (Transfer of Woods) Act, 1923 (op. cit. 459)).

(c) See as to advances for construction, etc., of roads s. 17 (1) of the Ministry of Transport Act, 1919, post, p. 5206. Under that section the powers of the Development Commissioners in relation to light railways were determined, but advances may now be made by the Minister of Transport for the construction, improvement or maintenance of light railways.

(d) The powers of the Commissioners in relation to harbours are now limited to the construction, improvement and maintenance of harbours in connection with the improvement and development of fisheries, and in such cases the Minister of Transport must be consulted before any recommendation is made (Ministry of Transport Act, 1919, s. 17 (1)).

(e) The powers of the Commissioners in relation to inland navigation were determined by the Ministry of Transport Act, 1919, s. 17 (1), but similar powers are given to the Minister under that section.

(f) The Commissioners have stated that they regard it as outside their province to assist in averting or repairing damage which threatens urban and residential property on the coast. They have, however, recommended the Treasury to make advances for the protection from the sea of agricultural land.

(g) See Regulations dated June 13th, 1910.

Establishment of development fund.

2.—(1) All advances, whether by way of grant or by way of loan, made under this Part of this Act shall be made out of a fund, called the development fund, into which shall be paid—

- (a) Such moneys as may from time to time be provided by Parliament for the purposes of this Part of this Act;

Section 2.

- (b) The sums issued out of the Consolidated Fund under this section ; and
 (c) Any sums received by the Treasury by way of interest on or repayment of any advance made by way of loan under this Part of this Act, and any profits or proceeds derived from the expenditure of any advance which by the terms on which the advance was made are to be paid to the Treasury.

(2) There shall be charged on and issued out of the Consolidated Fund, or the growing produce thereof, in the year ending the thirty-first day of March nineteen hundred and eleven, and in each of the next succeeding four years, the sum of five hundred thousand pounds.

(3) The Treasury may accept any gifts made to them for all or any of the purposes for which advances may be made under this Part of this Act and, subject to the terms of gift, apply them for the purposes of this Part of this Act in accordance with regulations made by the Treasury.

(4) The Treasury shall cause an account to be prepared and transmitted to the Comptroller and Auditor-General for examination, on or before the thirtieth day of September in every year, showing the receipts into and issues out of the development fund in the financial year ended on the thirty-first day of March preceding, and the Comptroller and Auditor-General shall certify and report upon the same, and such account and report shall be laid before Parliament by the Treasury on or before the thirty-first day of January in the following year if Parliament be then sitting, and, if not sitting, then within one week after Parliament shall be next assembled.

(5) Payments out of and into the development fund, and all other matters relating to the fund and the moneys standing to the credit of the fund, shall be made and regulated in such manner as the Treasury may by minute to be laid before Parliament direct.

(6) The Treasury may from time to time invest any moneys standing to the credit of the development fund in any securities in which trustees are by law authorised to invest trust funds.

Sub-s. (2) was repealed as from March 31st, 1912, by the Finance Act, 1911. Section 16 (1) (a) of that Act (see post, p. 5119) provided for payment into the fund of one and a half million pounds instead of the three sums due in 1913, 1914, and 1915.

3.—(1) For the purposes of this Part of this Act it shall be lawful for His Majesty by warrant under the sign manual to appoint [eight] Commissioners, to be styled the Development Commissioners, of whom one to be appointed by His Majesty shall be chairman. Constitution of Development
Commissioners.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this section, the term of office of a Commissioner shall be ten years. One Commissioner shall retire every second year, but a retiring Commissioner may be reappointed. The order in which the Commissioners first appointed are to retire shall be determined by His Majesty. On a casual vacancy occurring by reason of the death, resignation, or incapacity of a Commissioner, or otherwise, the person appointed by His Majesty to fill the vacancy shall continue in office until the Commissioner in whose place he was appointed would have retired, and shall then retire.

(3) There shall be paid to not more than two of the Commissioners such salaries, not exceeding in the aggregate three thousand pounds in each year, as the Treasury may direct.

(4) The Commissioners may act by [four] of their number and notwithstanding a vacancy in their number, and, subject to the approval of the Treasury, may regulate their own procedure.

(5) The Commissioners may, with the consent of the Treasury, appoint and employ such officers and servants for the purposes of this Part of this Act as they think necessary, and may remove any officer or servant so appointed

Section 3. and employed, and there shall be paid to such officers and servants such salaries or remuneration as the Commissioners, with the consent of the Treasury, may determine.

(6) The salaries of the Commissioners and the salaries or remuneration of their officers and servants, and any expenses incurred by the Commissioners in the execution of their duties under this Part of this Act, to such amount as may be sanctioned by the Treasury, shall be defrayed out of the development fund.

This section has been amended by the Development and Road Improvement Funds Acts, 1910 (9 Halsbury's Statutes 218). Under that Act the number of commissioners was increased from five to eight, four now form a quorum instead of three and the provisions as to retirement are varied (s. 1 of the Act of 1910 (op. cit.)).

As to pensions of Development Commissioners and their officers, see s. 2 of the Act of 1910 (op. cit.).

Powers and duties of Commissioners.

4.—(1) Every application for an advance under this Part of this Act, whether by way of grant or by way of loan, by any body qualified to receive an advance under this Part of this Act, shall, if the applicant is a Government Department, be referred by the Treasury to the Development Commissioners, and, if the applicant is any other body or persons, shall be sent by the Treasury to the Government Department concerned, to be by them referred together with their report thereon to the Development Commissioners.

(2) The Commissioners shall consider and report to the Treasury on every application so referred to them, and may for that purpose, if necessary, hold inquiries either by themselves, or by any of their officers, or any other person appointed for the purpose.

(3) The Commissioners may also appoint advisory committees, and may submit to any such advisory committee for their advice any application referred to them.

(4) The Commissioners may also frame schemes with respect to any of the matters for which advances may be made under this Part of this Act with a view to their adoption by a Government Department or other body or persons to whom an advance may be made.

(5) Before making any recommendation for an advance for the purpose of the improvement of rural transport, the Commissioners shall consult with the [Minister of Transport].

(6) The Commissioners shall make to the Treasury an annual report of their proceedings, and such report shall be laid annually before Parliament by the Treasury.

Power to acquire land for certain
purposes.

5.—(1) Where an advance is made under this Part of this Act for any purpose which involves the acquisition of land, the Department, body, or persons to whom the advance is made, may acquire and hold land for the purpose, and, where they are unable to acquire by agreement on reasonable terms any land which they consider necessary, they may apply to the Development Commissioners for an order empowering them to acquire the land compulsorily in accordance with the provisions of the Schedule to this Act, and the Commissioners shall have power to make such order.

(2) No land shall be authorised by an order under this section to be acquired compulsorily which, at the date of the order, forms part of any park, garden, or pleasure ground, or forms part of the home farm attached to and usually occupied with a mansion house, or is otherwise required for the amenity or convenience of any dwelling-house, or which at that date is the property of any local authority, or has been acquired by any corporation or company for the purposes of a railway, dock, canal, water, or other public undertaking, or is the site of an ancient monument or other object of archæological interest.

(3) The Commissioners, in making an order for the compulsory purchase of land, shall have regard to the extent of land held or occupied in the locality by any owner or tenant and to the convenience of other property belonging to or occupied by the same owner or tenant, and shall, so far as practicable, avoid taking an undue or inconvenient quantity of land from any one owner or tenant, and for that purpose where part only of a holding is taken shall take into consideration the size and character of the existing agricultural buildings not proposed to be taken which are used in connection with the holding and the quantity and nature of the land available for occupation therewith, and shall also so far as practicable avoid displacing any considerable number of agricultural labourers or others employed on or about the land. Section 5.

6. For the purposes of this Part of this Act the expression "agriculture and rural industries" includes agriculture, horticulture, dairying, the breeding of horses, cattle, and other live stock and poultry, the cultivation of bees, home and cottage industries, the cultivation and preparation of flax, the cultivation and manufacture of tobacco, and any industries immediately connected with and subservient to any of the said matters. Definition of agriculture and rural industries.

PART II.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT.

This part of this Act has been amended by the Roads Act, 1920, and the Roads Improvement Act, 1925. Both these Acts are set out in Vol. V., post. The Road Board which was constituted by s. 7 of this Act has ceased to exist, its powers and duties having been transferred to the Minister of Transport by the Ministry of Transport Act, 1919, post, p. 5195, consequently throughout this part of the Act, the words "Minister of Transport" or "Minister" have been substituted for "Road Board" or "Board."

Consequent upon the provisions of s. 29 (1) of the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 903, "county road" has been substituted for "main road" wherever those words occur in this Act. The powers of county councils as highway authorities are considerably extended by Part V. of that Act, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 927. Rural district councils cease to be highway authority and their functions are transferred to county councils (s. 30, ibid., Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 904). All classified roads in urban districts are also transferred to the county councils (s. 31, ibid., Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 905) unless "claimed" under s. 32, ibid., Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 906, by an urban district council entitled to make such a claim. The expression "county road" not only includes the former "main roads" but also the roads transferred to county councils by the Act.

7. [Constitution of Road Board.]

Repealed by s. 4 of Roads Act, 1920, Vol. V. and 19 Halsbury's Statutes 88.

8.—(1) The [Minister of Transport] shall have power, with the approval of the Treasury— Powers of [Minister of Transport].

(a) [to make to any highway authority advances in respect of the construction of new roads or the maintenance or improvement of existing roads or to make such advances in conjunction with a highway authority, to any company or person]; (a)

(b) to construct and maintain any new roads; which appear to the [Minister] to be required for facilitating road traffic.

(2) Where advances have been made to highway authorities in respect of the construction of new roads, the [Minister] may, where [he thinks] it desirable, also contribute towards the cost of maintenance of such new roads.

(3) . . . (b).

(4) An advance to a highway authority may be either by way of grant or by way of loan, or partly in one way and partly in the other, and shall be upon such terms and subject to such conditions as the [Minister] think[s] fit.

(5) For the purposes of this Part of this Act the expression "improvement of roads" includes the widening of any road, the cutting off the corners of any road where land is required to be purchased for that purpose, the levelling of roads, the treatment of a road for mitigating the nuisance of dust, and the doing of any other work in respect of roads beyond ordinary repairs essential to placing a road in a proper state of repair; and the expression "roads" includes bridges, viaducts, subways [roadferries and footways] (c).

The Road Board issued a Circular (July, 1910) as to applications for advances under Part II. of the Act, ante, p. 5109. The Minister of Transport issues directions and specifications for the tar-treatment of roads. As to the liability of a highway authority for damage caused by tar-spraying roads, see Dell v. Chesham U. D. C., [1921] 3 K. B. 427; 85 J. P. 186; 26 Digest 408, 1290.

(a) The words in brackets were substituted for the words "to make advances to county councils and other highway authorities in respect of the construction of new roads or the improvement of existing roads" by s. 4 and Sched. I., Roads Act, 1920, Vol. V., post. The amendment is consequential upon s. 17, Ministry of Transport Act, 1919, post, p. 5206. For extension of this power to cases under the Restriction of Ribbon Development Act, 1935, see s. 19 (2) of that Act, ante, p. 2040.

(b) Repealed by s. 4, Roads Act, 1920, Vol. V., post.

(c) The words in brackets were added by s. 4 and Sched. I. of Roads Act, 1920, Vol. V., post.

By s. 2 of the Roads Improvement Act, 1925, Vol. V., post, the expression "improvement of roads" is extended to include the planting, laying out, maintenance and protection of trees, shrubs and grass margins in and beside roads (see s. 1 of the Act of 1925, Vol. V., post), the placing on or near roads of notices, milestones and sign posts (see s. 24 of the Highway Act, 1835, and s. 6 of Highway Rate, etc., Act, 1882), the freeing of roads from tolls (see s. 3 of the Highways and Bridges Act, 1891, ante, p. 4833) and the prescription of building lines along roads (see s. 5 of the Roads Improvement Act, 1925, Vol. V., post).

By s. 4 (8) of the Act of 1925, Vol. V., post, the exercise of the powers under that section for removing or preventing the obstruction of view at corners shall be deemed to be an improvement in respect of which the Minister may make a grant under this section.

By s. 57 (2) of Road Traffic Act, 1930, "improvement of roads" in this part of this Act is extended to include the erection, lighting, maintenance, alteration and removal of refuges in roads and subways under roads for the use of foot passengers.

Provisions as to roads constructed by [Minister of Transport].

9.—(1) Every road constructed by the [Minister] under the provisions of this Part of this Act shall be a public highway, and the enactments relating to highways and bridges shall apply to such roads accordingly, except that every such road shall be maintainable by and at the cost of the [Minister], and, for the purpose of the maintenance, repair, improvement, and enlargement of or dealing with any such road, the [Minister] shall have the same powers (except the power of levying a rate) and be subject to the same duties as a county council have and are subject to as respects [county roads], and may further exercise any powers vested in a county council for the purposes of the maintenance and repair of bridges, and the [Minister] shall have the same powers as a county council for the preventing and removing of obstructions:

Provided that—

(a) Communications between a road or path and a road constructed by the [Minister] shall be made in manner to be approved by the [Minister]; and

(b) The [Minister] and any highway authority in whose district any part of any such road is situate may contract for the undertaking by such authority of the maintenance and repair of the part of such road in their district; and, for the purposes of such undertaking, the highway authority shall have the same powers and be subject to the same duties and liabilities as if the road were a road vested in the highway authority.

(2) Before the Treasury approve of the construction of a new road by the [Minister] they shall consult with the [Minister of Health] (a) and shall satisfy themselves that notice of the intention to construct the road has been sent by the [Minister] to every highway authority in the area of which any part of the proposed road will be situate, and shall consider any objections to the proposed road which they may receive from any such authority (b).

(a) The effect of the Ministry of Transport (Ministry of Health Exception of Powers) Order, 1919, is to substitute the Minister of Transport for the Minister of Health in this subsection.

Note to
Section 9.

(b) By the Unemployment (Relief Works) Act, 1920, s. 4 (20 Halsbury's Statutes 655), this sub-section "shall not apply with respect to the construction of any new road where the Minister of Labour certifies that, having regard to the exceptional amount of unemployment in any area, it is desirable that the construction of the new road should be proceeded with forthwith with a view to the speedy provision of employment for unemployed persons from that area."

10.—(1) Where the [Minister] make[s] an advance to a highway authority in respect of the construction of a new road, the [Minister] may authorise the authority to construct the road, and where so authorised the highway authority shall have power to construct the road and to do all such acts as may be necessary for the purpose, and any expenses of the authority, so far as not defrayed out of the advance, shall be defrayed as expenses incurred by the authority in exercise of their powers as highway authority, and the enactments relating to such expenses, including the provisions as to borrowing, shall apply accordingly.

Provisions as to construction of new road by highway
authorities.

(2) Where the highway authority to whom the advance is made are a county council, the new road, when constructed, shall be a [county road] and in any other case shall be a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large :

Provided that the maintenance of any such road within the administrative county of London shall devolve upon the local authority responsible for the maintenance of streets and roads in whose district the same is situate.

The provision of sub-s. (2) of this section is specially referred to in s. 29 (1) of the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 903, in defining "county roads." See the notes to that sub-section.

11.—(1) Where the [Minister proposes] (a) to construct a new road under this Part of this Act, the [Minister] may acquire land for the purpose, and may in addition, acquire land on either side of the proposed road within two hundred and twenty yards from the middle of the proposed road (b).

Acquisition of land.

(2) . . . (c).

(3) Where a highway authority are authorised to construct a new road under this Part of this Act, or an advance is made to such an authority in respect of the improvement of an existing road, an authority may acquire land for the purpose of such construction or improvement.

(4) For the purpose of the purchase of land by agreement under this Part of this Act by the [Minister] or a highway authority the Lands Clauses Acts shall be incorporated with this Part of this Act, except the provisions of those Acts with respect to the purchase and taking of land otherwise than by agreement, and section one hundred and seventy-eight (d) of the Public Health Act, 1875, shall apply as if the [Minister] and the highway authority were referred to therein.

(5) Where the [Minister] or any highway authority are, unable to acquire by agreement on reasonable terms any land which they consider necessary, they may apply to the Development Commissioners for an order empowering them to acquire the land compulsorily in accordance with the provisions of the Schedule to this Act, and the Commissioners shall have power to make such an order : Provided that the provisions of Part I. of this Act prohibiting the compulsory acquisition of the classes of land mentioned in sub-section (2) (e) of section five of this Act shall apply to the acquisition by the [Minister] of land on either side of a road proposed to be constructed by the [Minister].

(6) The [Minister] shall have full power, with the approval of the Treasury, to sell, lease, and manage any land acquired by [him] under this Part of this Act and not required for the new road . . . (f).

By s. 3 of the Roads Improvement Act, 1925, Vol. V., post, this section is applied to land required for the purpose of being given in exchange for any land forming part of any common, open space or allotment which is required for the improvement or construction of a road under this Act. As to the necessity for such an exchange, see s. 19, post, p. 5112.

Note to
Section 11.

(a) The words in brackets were substituted for the words "Treasury have approved a proposal by the Road Board," by s. 4 and Sched. I., Roads Act, 1920, Vol. V., post.

(b) Observe that this sub-section only applies where the Minister is to construct the road. Reference may, however, be made to s. 154 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 4425, as amended by s. 83 of the P. H. A., 1925, Vol. V., post, which empowers local authorities to purchase lands for the purpose, inter alia, of the improvement and development of frontages or of the lands abutting on or adjacent to any street.

(c) Repealed by s. 20 (3) and Sched. III., Roads Act, 1920, Vol. V., ante.

(d) Now repealed; see L. G. A., 1933, s. 173, ante, p. 1001.

(e) In the Act as originally printed, "sub-section (3)" appeared by a clerical error for "sub-section (2)"; see the amending Act of 1910 (9 Halsbury's Statutes 218).

(f) The closing portion of this section was repealed by s. 4 and Sched. I., Roads Act, 1920, Vol. V., post.

12. [Expenses and Receipts of Road Board.]

Repealed by s. 4, Roads Act, 1920, Vol. V., post.

Power to borrow.

13.—(1) The [Minister] may, with the approval of and subject to regulations made by the Treasury, borrow on the security of the [Road Fund] for the purpose of meeting any expenditure which appears to the Treasury to be of such a nature that it ought to be spread over a term of years, so however that the total amount required for the payment of interest on and the repayment of money so borrowed shall not exceed in any year the sum of two hundred thousand pounds.

(2) If and so far as the [Road Fund] is insufficient to meet the amount required for the payment of interest on and the repayment of principal in any year, that amount shall be charged on and payable out of the Consolidated Fund or the growing produce thereof, but any sums so paid out of the Consolidated Fund shall be made good out of the [Road Fund].

The Road Fund was established by s. 3, Roads Act, 1920, Vol. V., post, and takes the place of the road improvement grant.

14. [Annual Report to Parliament.]

Repealed by s. 4, Roads Act, 1920. Section 3 (6) of the same Act requires the Minister to make an annual report to parliament of his proceedings under this part of this Act.

Application to London.

15. For the purposes of this Part of this Act the expression "highway authority" includes as respects the administrative county of London, the London County Council.

By s. 57 (1) of the Road Traffic Act, 1930, the Minister of Transport is declared to be a highway authority for the purposes of this part of this Act in relation to any roads for the maintenance of which he is responsible.

16. [Application to Scotland.]

17. [Application to Ireland.]

PART III.

GENERAL.

Obligation to consider the state and prospects or employment.

18. In approving, executing, or making advances in respect of the execution of any work under this Act involving the employment of labour on a considerable scale, regard shall be had so far as is reasonably practicable to the general state and prospects of employment.

Provisions as to commons and open spaces.

19.—(1) Where an order made by the Development Commissioners under Part I. or Part II. of this Act authorises the acquisition of any land forming part of any common, open space, or allotment, the order, so far as it relates to the acquisition of such land, shall be provisional only, and shall not have effect unless and until it is confirmed by Parliament, except where the order provides for giving in exchange for such land other land, not being less in area, certified by the [Minister] of Agriculture and Fisheries to be equally advantageous to the persons, if any, entitled to commonable or other rights, Section 19.

and to the public :

Provided that—

- (a) (a) . . .
 - (b) This provision shall not apply to the acquisition of any common land for the purpose of the construction of a new road or the improvement of an existing road within a rural district ; and
 - (c) Nothing in this Act shall authorise the acquisition of land on either side of a new road to be constructed by the [Minister of Transport] where the land forms part of a common, open space, or allotment.
- (2) Before giving any such certificate of equality of exchange, the [Minister] of Agriculture and Fisheries shall give public notice of the proposed exchange, and shall afford opportunities to all persons interested to make representations and objections in relation thereto, and shall, if necessary, hold a local inquiry on the subject.
- (3) Where any order of the Development Commissioners authorises such an exchange, the order shall provide for vesting the land given in exchange in the persons in whom the common, open space, or allotment was vested, subject to the same rights, trusts, and incidents as attached to the common, open space, or allotment, and for discharging the part of the common, open space, or allotment acquired from all rights, trusts, and incidents to which it was previously subject.
- (4) For the purposes of this Act the expression “common” shall include any land subject to be enclosed under the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1882, and any town or village green ; the expression “open space” means any land laid out as a public garden or used for the purposes of public recreation and any disused burial ground ; and the expression “allotment” means any allotment set out as a fuel allotment or a field garden allotment under an Inclosure Act.

Land may be acquired under s. 11, ante, p. 5111, for purposes of exchange under this section as if it were required for the construction or improvement of the road concerned (Roads Improvement Act, 1925, s. 3, Vol. V. and 9 Halsbury's Statutes 221).

(a) This proviso which related to the acquisition of common lands for the purpose of forestry was repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183), consequent upon the transfer of the powers of the Commissioners in relation to forestry under the Forestry Act, 1919 (3 Halsbury's Statutes 443).

20. This Act may be cited as the Development and Road Improvement Short title.
Funds Act, 1909.

SCHEDULE.

SECTIONS 5 AND 11.

(1) Where a Government Department, body, or persons to whom an advance is made under Part I. of this Act, or the [Minister of Transport] or a highway authority (in this Schedule referred to as “the undertakers”) propose to purchase land compulsorily under this Act, the undertakers may submit to the Development Commissioners a draft order putting in force, as respects the lands specified in the order, the provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts with respect to the purchase and taking of land otherwise than by agreement.

(2) The order shall be in the prescribed form and shall contain such provisions as the Development Commissioners may prescribe for the purpose of carrying the order into effect, and shall incorporate the Lands Clauses Acts and sections seventy-seven to eighty-five of the Railways Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, or, in Scotland, sections seventy to seventy-eight of the Railways Clauses Consolidation (Scotland) Act, 1845, and those Acts shall apply accordingly, subject to the following modifications :—

- (a) Any question of disputed compensation shall be determined by a single arbitrator who shall be appointed, and whose remuneration shall be fixed, as respects England, by the Lord Chief Justice of England, as respects

Schedule,

- Scotland by the Lord President of the Court of Session, and as respects Ireland by the Lord Chief Justice of Ireland, and the arbitrator so appointed shall be deemed to be an arbitrator within the meaning of those Acts;
- (b) An arbitrator so appointed may, notwithstanding anything in the Lands Clauses Acts, determine the amount of costs, and shall have power to disallow, as costs of the arbitration, the costs of any witness whom he considers to have been called unnecessarily, and any other costs which he considers have been caused or incurred unnecessarily;
 - (c) In determining the amount of any disputed compensation under any such order, no additional allowance shall be made on account of the purchase being compulsory, and the arbitrator shall have regard to the extent to which the remaining and contiguous lands and hereditaments belonging to the same proprietor may be benefited by the proposed work or road for which the land is authorised to be acquired by the undertakers;
 - (d) The provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts as to the sale of superfluous land shall not apply.

The assessment of compensation must now be determined by an official arbitrator under the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919, post, p. 5213, and the provisions of that Act in respect of the assessment of compensation will apply.

(3) The draft order shall be published by the undertakers in the prescribed manner, and such notice shall be given both in the locality in which the land is proposed to be acquired and to the owners, lessees, and occupiers of that land as may be prescribed, and in the case of land forming part of a common, open space, or allotment, also to the [Minister] of Agriculture and Fisheries.

(4) An order authorising the acquisition of any buildings may, if a portion only of those buildings are required for the purposes of the undertakers, notwithstanding anything in the Lands Clauses Acts, require the owners of and other persons interested in those buildings to sell and convey to the undertakers the portions only of the buildings so required, if the arbitrator is of opinion that such portions can be severed from the remainder of the properties without material detriment thereto, and, in such case, the undertakers shall not be obliged to purchase the whole or any greater portion thereof, and shall pay for the portions acquired by them and make compensation for any damage sustained by the owners thereof or other parties interested therein by severance or otherwise.

This section in effect excludes s. 92 of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, ante p. 4139.

(5) An order may provide for the continuance of any existing easement or the creation of any new easement over the land authorised to be acquired.

(6) Where the land is glebe land or other land belonging to an ecclesiastical benefice, the order shall provide that sums agreed upon or awarded for the purchase of the land or to be paid by way of compensation for the damage to be sustained by the owner by reason of severance or other injury affecting the land, shall not be paid as directed by the Lands Clauses Acts, but shall be paid to the Ecclesiastical Commissioners to be applied by them as money paid to them upon a sale under the provisions of the Ecclesiastical Leasing Acts of land belonging to a benefice.

The provisions of this paragraph shall not apply to Scotland or Ireland.

(7) In construing, for the purposes of this Schedule or any order made thereunder, any enactment incorporated with the order, this Act together with the order shall be deemed to be the special Act and the undertakers shall be deemed to be the promoters of the undertaking, and the expression "land" shall include easements, in or relating to land.

(8) In this Schedule the expression "prescribed" means prescribed by the Development Commissioners, and in Scotland the expression "easements" means servitudes.

THE FINANCE (1909-10) ACT, 1910.

PART I.

DUTIES ON LAND VALUES.

* * * * *

SUPPLEMENTAL.

35.—(1) No duty under this Part of this Act (a) shall be charged in respect of any land or interest in land held by or on behalf of a rating authority or any statutory combination representative of two or more local or rating authorities, . . . (b). Exemption for land held by rating authorities.

(2) For the purposes of this section the expression "rating authority" means any body who have power to raise a rate or administer money raised by a rate; and the expression "rate" means a rate the proceeds of which are applicable to public local purposes, and which is leviable on the basis of an assessment in respect of the yearly value of property, and includes any sum which, though obtained in the first instance by a precept, certificate, or other instrument, requiring payment from some authority or officer, is or can be ultimately raised out of a rate as before defined.

(a) The duties under Part I. were the "Duties on Land Values," viz. Increment Value Duty (ss. 1—12), Reversion Duty (ss. 13—15), Undeveloped Land Duty (ss. 16—19), and Mineral Rights Duty (ss. 20—24 (16 Halsbury's Statutes 747—749)). All these duties, except the Mineral Rights Duty, ceased to be chargeable from 4th August, 1920 (Finance Act, 1920, s. 57 (op. cit. 857)).

(b) The remainder of this sub-section was repealed by s. 64 (3) and Sched. IV., Finance Act, 1920.

* * * * *

PART VI.

CUSTOMS AND EXCISE OTHER THAN LIQUOR LICENCE DUTIES.

* * * * *

85. (a) [Exemptions and allowances in respect of the duty on motor spirit.]

(a) Repealed as from 1st July, 1921, by s. 64 (3) and Sched. IV., Finance Act, 1920. The customs duty on motor spirit was repealed by s. 12 of Finance Act, 1920.

86. (a) [Duty on licences for motor cars.]

(a) Repealed as from 1st January, 1921, by s. 64 (3) and Schedule IV., Finance Act, 1920. The excise duty on licences for mechanically propelled vehicles was repealed by s. 12 of Finance Act, 1920, and fresh duties were imposed by s. 13 of the same Act (16 Halsbury's Statutes 852). See, however, the Roads Act, 1920, Vol. V., post.

PART VII.

PROVISIONS AS TO PAYMENTS TO LOCAL AUTHORITIES AND TO ROAD IMPROVEMENT ACCOUNT.

87.—(1) All payments made in pursuance of conditions attached by licensing justices to the grant of new licences under section four of the Licensing Act, 1904 (a), shall, notwithstanding anything in that or any other Act, be paid into the Exchequer. Payments in respect of monopoly value to go to Exchequer.

(a) See also s. 14 (3) of the Licensing (Consolidation) Act, 1910 (9 Halsbury's Statutes 995).

Section 88.

Payments into local taxation account in respect of liquor licences and provisions as to duties on motor car licences.

88.—(1) For the purpose of subsection (3) of section seventeen of the Finance Act, 1907 (which makes provision with respect to the method of calculating proceeds of duties in the event of any alteration of the rate of duties), the proceeds of the duties on the licences for the sale of intoxicating liquor and on licences for motor cars imposed by this Act shall, so far as respects the sums to be paid into any local taxation account out of the Consolidated Fund in respect thereof, be deemed notwithstanding anything in that subsection to be the amount of the proceeds of the duties on those licences during the year ending the thirty-first day of March nineteen hundred and nine (a).

(2) Notwithstanding the proviso to subsection (4) of section six of the Finance Act, 1908 (b), the duties on licences for motor cars in England and Wales shall continue to be duties to which that section applies, but any sum by which the proceeds of those duties levied in any financial year by the council of any county or county borough exceed the amount of the proceeds of those duties certified by the Local Government Board to have been collected in that county or county borough during the year ending the thirty-first day of March nineteen hundred and nine shall be paid into the Exchequer, and a council shall be entitled to be paid any sum by which the proceeds of those duties levied by them in any year are less than that amount, and the sums so to be paid shall be charged on and paid out of the Consolidated Fund or the growing produce thereof.

(3) Any reference in this section to duties on licences for motor cars or to the proceeds of those duties shall be construed to be a reference only to the duties on the licences which are affected by this Act (c).

(a) The words "and on licences for motor cars" were repealed by the Revenue Act, 1911, post, p. 5117. As to such duties, see next sub-section. The remainder of the sub-section and s. 17 of the Finance Act, 1907, referred to therein were repealed by the L. G. A., 1929, Sched. XII., Pt. VI., Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 1017, consequent upon the winding up of the local taxation accounts, and the discontinuance of the grants out of the Consolidated Fund by ibid., s. 85 and Sched. II., Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 937, 979.

(b) See this sub-section, ante, p. 5066. By virtue of s. 18 (1) of the Revenue Act, 1911, post, p. 5117, the present sub-section now applies to the duties on all carriage licences (including motor cars), and stereotypes the portion thereof applicable to local purposes.

(c) Repealed by the Revenue Act, 1911, post, p. 5117.

* * * * *

Payment of duties on motor spirit and motor car licences to road improvement account.

90.—(1) There shall be charged on and paid out of the Consolidated Fund or the growing produce thereof a sum (in this Act referred to as the road improvement grant) (a) equal to the net proceeds of the duties on motor spirit and the net proceeds of the duties on licences for motor cars which are affected by this Act.

(2) The road improvement grant shall be carried to a separate account to be established under regulations made by the Treasury for the purpose, and, subject to such regulations as may be made by the Treasury with respect to accounts and accumulations of moneys standing to the account, be administered and applied in manner provided by the Development and Road Improvement Funds Act, 1909.

(3) The expression "the net proceeds of the duties" means the amount of those duties paid into the Exchequer, after deducting such sums as are certified by the Commissioners to be the cost of collecting the duties, and after deducting in the case of duties payable on licences for motor cars any sum which is payable to any local taxation account in respect of the proceeds of those duties, or to any council in respect of any deficiency in the proceeds of those duties.

(a) This is now the Road Fund. See the Development and Road Improvement Funds Act, 1909, ante, p. 5105, as amended by the Roads Act, 1920, and notes thereto, Vol. V., post. By s. 18 (3) of the Revenue Act, 1911, post, p. 5117, the provisions of this section were extended to the duties on carriage licences generally.

91. (a)—(1) There shall be charged on and paid out of the Consolidated Fund or the growing produce thereof a sum equal to one-half of the net proceeds of the duties on land values under Part I. of this Act (including mineral rights duties). Section 91.

Payment of half the proceeds of the duties on land values for benefit of local authorities.

(2) The sums so charged shall be carried to a separate account, to be established under regulations made by the Treasury for the purpose, and, subject to such regulations as may be made by the Treasury in respect of accounts, audit, and accumulation of moneys standing to the account, be appropriated for the benefit of local authorities in the United Kingdom in such manner as Parliament may hereafter determine.

(a) The operation of this section is suspended until Parliament otherwise determines: see Revenue Act, 1911, s. 16, infra, as amended by s. 16, Finance Act, 1914 (Sess. 2). The Act of 1911, infra, repealed it, but such repeal was annulled by s. 21 of the Finance Act, 1911, post, p. 5120.

THE REVENUE ACT, 1911.

(1 GEO. 5, c. 2.)

PART V.

PROVISIONS AS TO PAYMENTS FOR LOCAL AUTHORITIES.

16. Section ninety-one (a) of the principal Act (which provides for the payment of half the proceeds of the duties on land values for the benefit of local authorities) shall be suspended in its operation as from the date of the principal Act until Parliament shall otherwise determine (b).

Repeal of s. 91 of 10 Edw. 7, c. 8.

(a) See this section, supra.

(b) The closing words of this section which limited the suspension to 31st March, 1914, were repealed by s. 16 of Finance Act, 1914 (Sess. 2). The next section which dealt with certain payments into the Local Taxation Account was repealed by the L. G. A., 1929, Sched. XII., Pt. VI., Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 1017, see note (a) to s. 88 of the Finance (1909-10) Act, 1910, ante, p. 5116.

* * * * *

18.—(1) So much of subsection (2) of section eighty-eight (a) of the principal Act as provides for the payment of a part of the proceeds of the duties on licences for motor cars in England and Wales into the Exchequer, and for the payment out of the Consolidated Fund to the council of a county or county borough of any deficiency in the proceeds of those duties, shall extend to the proceeds of the duties on all carriage licences (whether licences for motor cars or not), and that provision shall be construed accordingly.

Extension of s. 88 of 10 Edw. 7, c. 8, to all carriage licences.

(2) [Scotland.]

(3) Section ninety (b) of the principal Act (which relates to the payment out of the Consolidated Fund of a sum equal to the net proceeds of the duties on motor spirit and motor car licences as the road improvement grant) shall be construed as if a reference to the duties on carriage licences were substituted in that section for the references to the duties on licences for motor cars which were affected by that Act and to the duties payable on licences for motor cars.

(4) In this section, the expression "duties on carriage licences" means the duties on all licences for carriages, including any duty charged under subsection (1) of section eight of the Locomotives on Highways Act, 1896, and any duty charged under section eighty-six of the principal Act in respect of motor cars.

THE MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS (CORRUPT AND ILLEGAL PRACTICES) ACT, 1911.

(1 & 2 GEO. 5, c. 7.)

An Act to amend the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884 (a). [18th August, 1911.]

Certain false statements concerning a candidate to be an illegal practice.
Injunction against person making false statement.
47 & 48 Vict. c. 70.

1.—(1) Any person who, or the directors of any body or association corporate which, before or during any municipal election, shall, for the purpose of affecting the return of any candidate at such election, make or publish any false statement of fact in relation to the personal character (b) or conduct of such candidate shall be guilty of an illegal practice within the meaning of the provisions of the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884 (c), and shall be subject to all the penalties for and consequences of committing an illegal practice in the said Act mentioned, and the said Act shall be taken to be amended as if the illegal practice defined by this Act had been contained therein.

(2) No person shall be deemed to be guilty of such illegal practice if he can show that he had reasonable grounds for believing and did believe, the statement made by him to be true.

(3) Any person who shall make or publish any false statement of fact as aforesaid may be restrained by interim or perpetual injunction by the High Court of Justice from any repetition of such false statement or any false statement of a similar character in relation to such candidate, and, for the purpose of granting an interim injunction, prima facie proof of the falsity of the statement shall be sufficient (d).

(4) A candidate (e) shall not be liable nor shall be subject to any incapacity, nor shall his election be avoided, for any illegal practice under this Act committed by his agent, unless it can be shown that the candidate has authorised or consented to the committing of such illegal practice, or has paid for the circulation of the false statement constituting the illegal practice, or unless upon the hearing of an election petition the election court shall find and report that the election of such candidate was procured or materially assisted in consequence of the making or publishing of such false statements.

(a) See note to this section, ante, p. 5107.COAL MINES ACT, 1911 (a).

(1 & 2 GEO. 5, c. 50.)

An Act to consolidate and amend the Law relating to Coal Mines and certain other mines.
[16th December, 1911.]

APPLICATION OF ACT.Application of Act.

1. The mines to which this Act applies (b) are mines of coal, mines of stratified ironstone, mines of shale, and mines of fire-clay; and in this Act the expression "mine," unless the context otherwise requires, means a mine to which this Act applies.

Note to
Section 1.

(a) This Act repealed the provisions of the Coal Mines Regulation Act, 1887 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 49), as to the matters dealt with in the text.

(b) Shafts of abandoned mines of a kind to which this Act does not apply are dealt with by the Metalliferous Mines Regulation Act, 1872, ante, p. 4321; and reference should be made to the cases cited in the notes thereto.

* * * * *

26.—(1) Where any mine (a) is abandoned or the working thereof discontinued (b), at whatever time the abandonment or discontinuance occurred, it shall be the duty of the owner (a) thereof, and of every other person interested in the minerals of the mine, to cause the top or entrance of every (c) shaft and outlet to be kept surrounded by a structure of a permanent character sufficient to prevent accidents :

Fencing in case of abandoned mine.

Provided that—

(i) Subject to any contract to the contrary, the owner of the mine shall, as between himself and any other person interested in the minerals of the mine, be liable to carry this section into effect, and to pay any costs, charges and expenses incurred by any other person interested in the minerals of the mine in carrying this section into effect :

(ii) Nothing in this section shall exempt any person from any liability under any other Act, or otherwise.

(2) No person shall be precluded by any agreement or otherwise from doing, or be liable to any injunction, damages, penalty, or forfeiture in respect of, such acts as may be necessary in order to comply with the provisions of this section.

(3) Any shaft or outlet which is not kept surrounded by a structure as required by this section shall be deemed to be a nuisance within the meaning of section ninety-one of the Public Health Act, 1875 (d).

38 & 39 Vict.
c. 55.

(a) See definitions in s. 122, infra.

(b) Where a shaft is abandoned or working thereof discontinued, notice must be given to the Inspector of Mines (s. 19 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 91)). S. 37 (op. cit. 104) deals with the fencing of shafts not abandoned or permanently out of use.

(c) This provision applies to all shafts and outlets and is no longer restricted as under the repealed Act to such as are within fifty yards of a highway, road, footpath, or place of public resort, or are in open or uninclosed land.

(d) For the effect of this provision see note (a) to the Quarry Fencing Act, 1887, ante, p. 4696. There appears to be no longer any penalty for mere neglect to fence before service of a "nuisance" notice.

* * * * *

PART III.

PROVISIONS AS TO HEALTH.

76. General regulations shall be made under this Act with respect to the provision and use of sanitary conveniences in mines, both above and below ground (a).

Provisions as to sanitary conveniences.

(a) As to this section, see note to s. 46 of the P. H. A., 1936, ante, p. 145. The general regulations referred to are made by the Home Secretary (s. 86).

* * * * *

122. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,—

Interpretation

"Mine" includes every shaft in the course of being sunk, and every level and inclined plane in the course of being driven, and all the shafts, levels, planes, works, tramways, and sidings, both below ground and above ground, in and adjacent to and belonging to the mine, but does not include any part of such premises on which any manufacturing process is carried on other than a process ancillary to the getting, dressing or preparation for sale of minerals :

Section 122.

“Owner,” when used in relation to any mine, means any person or body corporate who is the immediate proprietor or lessee, or occupier of any mine, or of any part thereof, and in the case of a mine the business whereof is carried on by a liquidator or receiver includes such liquidator or receiver, but does not include a person or body corporate who merely receives a royalty, rent, or fine from a mine, or is merely the proprietor of a mine subject to any lease, grant, or licence for the working thereof, or is merely the owner of the soil, and not interested in the minerals of the mine; but any contractor for the working of any mine, or any part thereof, shall be subject to this Act in like manner as if he were an owner, but so as not to exempt the owner from any liability :

THE RAG FLOCK ACT, 1911.

(1 & 2 GEO. 5, c. 52.)

An Act to prohibit the sale and use for the purpose of the manufacture of certain articles of unclean Flock manufactured from Rags.

[16th December, 1911.]

Prohibition of sale and use for the purpose of manufacture of certain articles of unclean flock manufactured from rags.

1.—(1) It shall not be lawful for any person to sell or have in his possession for sale flock manufactured from rags (a) or to use for the purpose of making (b) any article of upholstery, cushions, or bedding flock manufactured from rags or to have in his possession flock manufactured from rags intended to be used for any such purpose, unless the flock conforms to such standard of cleanliness as may be prescribed by regulations (c) to be made by the [Minister of Health], and, if any person sells or uses or has in his possession flock in contravention of this Act, he shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding, in the case of a first offence, ten pounds, or in the case of a second or subsequent offence fifty pounds.

56 & 57 Vict. c. 66.

(2) All regulations made by the [Minister of Health] under this Act shall be laid before Parliament as soon as may be after they are made, and the Rules Publication Act, 1893 (d), shall apply to such regulations as if they were statutory rules within the meaning of section one of that Act.

(3) Where, in any proceedings against a person charged with an offence under this Act, it is proved that an offence under this Act has been committed, but that the person charged with the offence—

(a) purchased the flock in respect of which the offence was committed from a person resident within the United Kingdom who sold the flock under a warranty that it complied with the prescribed standard of cleanliness; and

(b) took reasonable steps to ascertain, and did in fact believe in, the accuracy of the statement contained in the warranty; the person so charged shall be entitled upon an information duly laid by him to have the person who gave the warranty brought before the court, and that person may be summarily convicted of the offence, and the person originally charged shall be exempt from any fine, and the person so convicted shall, in the discretion of the court, also be liable to pay any costs incidental to the proceedings.

(4) Where a person is charged with having flock in his possession in contravention of this Act any flock proved in the proceedings to have been found in his possession shall be deemed to be intended for sale or for use in the manufacture of such articles as aforesaid, unless the contrary is proved.

Section 1.

(5) It shall be the duty of a sanitary authority to enforce the provisions of this Act within their district, and for that purpose the medical officer of health, the inspector of nuisances or sanitary inspector, or any other officer whom the sanitary authority may appoint, shall have power, if so authorised (e) by the sanitary authority, to institute and carry on any proceedings which the sanitary authority is authorised to institute and carry on under this Act, and to enter at all reasonable times any premises in which he has reasonable cause to believe that an offence under this Act is being committed, and to examine and take samples for the purposes of analysis of any flock found therein:

Provided that, where a sample is so taken, the occupier of the premises may require the officer taking the sample to divide it into two parts and to mark, seal, and deliver to him one part.

If any person wilfully obstructs any such officer in the execution of his powers under this section, he shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five pounds.

(6) The expenses of sanitary authorities under this Act shall be defrayed—

(a) in the case of the mayor, aldermen and commons of the city of London in common council assembled, out of the general rate ;

(b) in the case of the council of a metropolitan borough, as part of the expenses incurred by the council in the execution of the Public Health (London) Act, 1891 ;

54 & 55 Vict.
c. 76.

(c) [Repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 735.]

(7) All fines imposed in any proceedings instituted by a sanitary authority in pursuance of their powers and duties under this Act shall be paid to the sanitary authority and carried to the credit of the fund out of which the expenses incurred by the authority under this Act are defrayed.

(8), (9) [Application to Scotland and Ireland.]

(a) Flock consisting of jute refuse, composed partly of waste fluff from the machines, and partly of cuttings from woven jute fabric trimmed away in manufacture, was held to be within the Act (Cooper v. Swift, [1914] 1 K. B. 253 ; 78 J. P. 57 ; 39 Digest 463, 891). This case was followed in Bainforth v. Chadburn, [1927] 1 K. B. 663 ; 91 J. P. 21 ; 39 Digest 463, 892, where it was held that the word "rags" in the section was not limited to rags which have become polluted through association with human or animal life, but included flock made from new and uncontaminated material.

In order to remove doubts, the Rag Flock Act (1911) Amendment Act, 1928, Vol. V. and 13 Halsbury's Statutes 1193, was passed, which declares that the expression "flock manufactured from rags" means "flock which has been produced wholly or partly by tearing up woven or knitted or felted materials whether old or new, but does not include flock obtained wholly in the processes of the scouring and finishing of newly woven or newly knitted or newly felted fabrics."

(b) The restuffing of a mattress with flock—the flock being taken from the same cover and put back again without any addition—is not the "making any article of bedding" within the meaning of this sub-section (Gamble v. Jordan, [1913] 3 K. B. 149 ; 77 J. P. 269 ; 38 Digest 221, 539). But putting a new cover in place of an old one on a mattress containing rag flock is "making any article of bedding" within the sub-section (Guildford Corporation v. Brown, [1915] 1 K. B. 256 ; 79 J. P. 143 ; 38 Digest 222, 540). The sub-section does not apply to the mere sale of second-hand articles which contain rag flock (Cooper v. Evan Cook's Depositories, Ltd., [1915] 1 K. B. 344 ; 79 J. P. 159 ; 38 Digest 222, 542).

(c) Regulations, citable as "The Rag Flock Regulations, 1912," were issued on June 8th, 1912, and provide as follows:—"Flock shall be deemed to conform to the standard of cleanliness for the purposes of sub-s. (1) of section 1 of the Act when the amount of soluble chlorine, in the form of chlorides, removed by thorough washing with distilled water at a temperature not exceeding 25 degrees Centigrade from not less than 40 grammes of a well-mixed sample of flock, does not exceed 30 parts of chlorine in 100,000 parts of the flock."

(d) In the case of rules to which s. 1 of the Rules Publication Act, 1893 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1016), applies, notice of the intention to make rules and of the place where copies of the draft rules may be obtained must be published in the Gazette at least forty days before the rules are made, and during those forty days any public body may make representations or suggestions. There is, however, power to make provisional rules without such notice in cases of urgency.

(e) Presumably a general authority will suffice. It should be by resolution (cf. Duchesne v. Finch (1912), 76 J. P. 377; 13 Digest 411, 1308; Watt v. Hegarty (1913), 47 Ir. L. T. 86).

(1 & 2 GEO. 5, c. 55.)

An Act to provide for Insurance against Loss of Health and for the Prevention and Cure of Sickness and for Insurance against Unemployment and for purposes incidental thereto (a). [16th December, 1911.]

(a) This Act was for the most part repealed by the National Health Insurance Act, 1924 (20 Halsbury's Statutes 470), which in its turn has been repealed by the National Health Insurance Act, 1936, Vol. V. and 29 Halsbury's Statutes 1064. The only provision unrepealed and pertinent to this work is s. 64.

SUPPLEMENTARY PROVISIONS.

Provision of sanatoria, etc.

64 (a).—(1) If under any other Act of the present session any sum is made available for the purposes of the provision of or making grants in aid to sanatoria and other institutions for the treatment of tuberculosis or such other diseases as the Local Government Board (b) with the approval of the Treasury may appoint, such sum shall be distributed by the Local Government Board (b) with the consent of the Treasury in making grants for those purposes, and the Treasury before giving their consent shall consult with the Insurance Commissioners :

Provided that such sum shall be apportioned between England, Wales, Scotland, and Ireland in proportion to their respective populations ascertained in accordance with the returns of the census taken in the year nineteen hundred and eleven.

(2) If any such grant is made to a county council, the Local Government Board (b) may authorise the county council to provide any such institution, and, whereso authorised, the county council shall have power to erect buildings and to manage and maintain the institution and for that purpose to enter into agreements and make arrangements with Insurance Committees and other authorities and persons, and to do all such things as may be necessary for the purposes aforesaid, and any expenses of the county council, so far as not defrayed out of the grant, shall be defrayed out of the county fund as expenses for general county purposes, or, if the order of the Local Government Board (b) so directs, as expenses for special county purposes charged on such part of the county as may be provided by the order.

(3) For the purpose of facilitating co-operation amongst county councils, county borough councils, and other local authorities (not being Poor Law authorities) for the provision of such sanatoria and other institutions as aforesaid, the Local Government Board (b) may by order make such provisions as appear to them necessary or expedient, by the constitution of joint committees, joint boards, or otherwise, for the joint exercise by such councils and authorities of their powers in relation thereto, and any such order may provide how, in what proportions, and out of what funds or rates the expenses of providing such institutions, so far as they are not defrayed out of grants under this section, are to be defrayed, and may contain such consequential, incidental, and supplemental provisions as may appear necessary for the purposes of the order, and an order so made shall be binding and conclusive in respect of the matters to which it relates. Section 64.

THE SHOPS ACT, 1912.

(2 GEO. 5, c. 3.)

An Act to consolidate the Shops Regulation Acts, 1892 to 1911 (a)

[29th March, 1912.]

Conditions of Employment.

1.—(1) On at least one week day in each week (c) a shop assistant (c) shall not be employed about (d) the business of a shop (d) after half-past one o'clock in the afternoon (e) :

Provided that this provision shall not apply to the week preceding a bank holiday (f) if the shop assistant is not employed on the bank holiday, and if on one week day in the following week in addition to the bank holiday the employment of the shop assistant ceases not later than half-past one o'clock (e) in the afternoon (e). Hour of employment and meal times (b).

(2) The occupier (g) of a shop shall fix, and shall specify in a notice in the prescribed form (h) which must be affixed in the shop in such manner (i) and at such time (j) as may be prescribed, the day of the week on which his shop assistants are not employed after half-past one o'clock (e), and may fix different days for different shop assistants.

(3) Intervals for meals shall be allowed to each shop assistant in accordance with the First Schedule (k) to this Act :

Provided that this provision shall not apply to a shop if the only persons employed as shop assistants are members of the family of the occupier of the shop, maintained by him, and dwelling in his house (l).

(4) In the case of any contravention of, or failure to comply with, the provisions of this section, the occupier (m) of the shop shall be guilty of an offence against this Act, and shall be liable to a fine (n) not exceeding :—

(a) in the case of a first offence, one pound ;

(b) in the case of a second offence, five pounds ; and

(c) in the case of a third or subsequent offence, ten pounds—

unless, in the case of a shop assistant employed after half-past one o'clock in contravention of this section, he proves that the shop assistant was employed merely for the purpose of serving a customer whom he was serving at the time, or, where the time of the closing of the shop was also half-past one o'clock (o), that the shop assistant was employed merely for the purpose of serving customers who were in the shop at that time.

(a) See also the Shops Act, 1913, post, p. 5140, the Shops (Hours of Closing) Act, 1928, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 647, the Shops Act, 1934, Vol. V. and 27 Halsbury's Statutes 226, the Shops Act, 1936, Vol. V. and 29 Halsbury's Statutes 149, and the Shops (Sunday Trading Restrictions) Act, 1936, Vol. V. and 29 Halsbury's Statutes 152. Under the 1928 Act hours of closing of general application were prescribed, subject to the right of local authorities to vary these hours within limits prescribed by the Act.

These Acts are to be construed together and may be cited as the Shops Acts, 1912 to 1936 (see s. 16 of the 1936 Act, Vol. V. and 29 Halsbury's Statutes 164). Reference should be made to the Hairdressers' and Barbers' Shops (Sunday Closing) Act, 1930 ; 23 Halsbury's Statutes 123, and the Retail Meat Dealers' Shops (Sunday Closing) Act, 1936 ; 29 Halsbury's Statutes 150.

Note to Section 1.

(b) This section substantially re-enacts ss. 1, 8 (1), 13 (2), Sched. I., of the Shops Act, 1911, which never came into operation, being repealed by s. 22, post, p. 5138. There had been no earlier legislation on the subject.

Generally speaking, this section does not, if the employer so elects and takes certain steps, apply to shop assistants employed in the sale of "refreshments"; as to them, see the Shops Act, 1913, post, p. 5140. With one other exception, viz., under certain conditions and for limited periods in holiday resorts (s. 11, post, p. 5134), sub-s. (1) applies to the shop assistants in every shop, even though the shop itself may be one which need not be closed for a weekly half-holiday, and even though the assistants be members of the shopkeeper's family. The shopkeeper fixes the day (which may not be Sunday) on which each assistant is to have his half-holiday; he may fix different days for different assistants, and may vary the days fixed as often as he likes, so long as he complies with sub-s. (2) as to giving notice thereof.

(c) See definition in s. 19 (1), post, p. 5137. A firm gave no half-holiday in the week ending December 21st, but gave whole holidays in the following week on Christmas Day and Boxing Day. It was held that no offence was committed, Christmas Day being a weekday on which (in addition to one Bank Holiday—Boxing Day) the assistant was not employed after 1.30 p.m. (Todd, Burns & Co., Ltd. v. Dublin Corporation, [1913] 2 I. R. 397; 47 I. L. T. 157; 24 Digest 933, f).

(d) "Employed about" means "busy about" or "engaged in": therefore where a bookstall assistant, though ordered to take his weekly half-holiday on a certain afternoon, busied himself on that afternoon about the business of the bookstall, the employers, who had taken no steps under s. 14 (3), post, p. 5136, were held liable (Ward v. W. H. Smith & Sons, [1913] 3 K. B. 154; 77 J. P. 370; 24 Digest 932, 215). The appellant was manager of a shop at B. belonging to a company which owned many similar shops in different parts of the country. The appellant employed his shop assistants in consideration of extra remuneration to distribute certain handbills in the neighbourhood in their spare time. The handbills consisted of an advertisement of the company's margarine, but contained no mention of their particular shop at B. The assistants distributed the handbills to passers-by in the streets and at houses in the neighbourhood on the afternoon of the day of the week fixed under the Act for the weekly half-holiday for that shop. It was held that in order to constitute a breach of the above section it was not necessary that the handbills should specially refer to the shop at B., and that the assistants delivering them were not the less employed about the business of that shop because they were also thereby advertising the business of the company's other shops; and further that the employment of the assistants to do the work in their spare time generally included an employment to do it on the half-holiday afternoon which was their principal spare time (George v. James, [1914] 1 K. B. 278; 78 J. P. 156; 24 Digest 929, 200).

Where an employer has two shops an assistant at one shop cannot lawfully be employed during the time when one shop is closed under this section, at the other shop (London C. C. v. Weitman, [1922] 1 K. B. 153; 86 J. P. 4; 24 Digest 929, 201). It is an illegal contract to agree for wages in lieu of statutory holidays (Wylie v. Lawrence Wright Music Co. (1932), 96 J. P. 156; Digest Supp.).

(e) For "half-past one o'clock" read "one o'clock" in the case of young persons employed in hotels, public entertainments or bathing places (Young Persons (Employment) Act, 1938, s. 8 (2) (a), Vol. V. and 31 Halsbury's Statutes 377).

(f) An employer may fix an assistant's weekly half-holiday to coincide with a bank holiday. If, however, he fixes it for another day in that week, and if he does not employ the assistant at all on the bank holiday, he need not give him a half-holiday in the preceding week.

(g) A brewery company owned a public-house which was in charge of a manager who held the licence. The Liverpool stipendiary convicted the company for not as "occupiers" specifying in a notice the day on which a "shop assistant"—i.e., the licence-holder—was to take his half-holiday. The licence-holder had signed and posted a notice dealing with all other persons employed on the premises (1913, 77 J. P. N. 402). In a similar case, Hancock & Co. v. Nicholas (18th November, 1925, unreported), a Divisional Court upheld the conviction.

(h) For the prescribed form of notice, see Regulation No. 1 and Form I., ante, p. 3728.

(i) As to the prescribed manner of affixing, see Regulation No. 2, ante, p. 3723.

(j) The employer may vary the day of his assistants' weekly half-holiday as often as he likes; but notice must be affixed before assistants to whom it relates cease work on the Saturday preceding the week during which it is to have effect; see Regulation 3, ante, p. 3723.

(k) See this Schedule, post, p. 5139.

(l) If any assistant is not a member of the family, the provision applies to all assistants, whether members or not.

(m) As to the liability of other persons, and as to an occupier shifting the liability on to some one else, see s. 14 (2), (3), post, p. 5136. As to a limited company being an occupier, see note (t) to s. 4, post, p. 5130.

(n) As to the recovery of penalties, see s. 14 (1), post, p. 5136.

(o) As it may be under s. 4 (4), post, p. 5127. See also note (e), supra.

Note to
Section 1.

2. [Hours of employment of young persons (a).]

(a) Repealed by Shops Act, 1934, Vol. V. and 27 Halsbury's Statutes 226.

3.—(1) In all rooms of a shop (b) where female shop-assistants (b) are employed in the serving of customers, the occupier of the shop shall provide seats behind the counter, or in such other position as may be suitable for the purpose, and such seats shall be in the proportion of not less than one seat to every three female shop-assistants employed in each room [and it shall be the duty of the occupier of the shop to permit the female shop assistants so employed to make use of such seats whenever the use thereof does not interfere with their work, and the occupier shall in the prescribed manner and in the prescribed form give notice informing such shop assistants that they are intended to do so (c).]

Seats for female shop assistants (n).

(2) Any person (d) failing to comply with the provisions of this section shall be guilty of an offence against this Act, and liable for a first offence to a fine (e) not exceeding three pounds, and for a subsequent offence to a fine not less than one pound and not exceeding five pounds.

(a) This section reproduces in slightly varied language the provisions of the Seats for Shop Assistants Act, 1899, repealed by s. 22, post, p. 5138.

(b) See definitions in s. 19, post, p. 5137.

(c) Words in square brackets added by the Shops Act, 1934, s. 12, Vol. V. and 27 Halsbury's Statutes 236.

(d) See note (m) to s. 1, ante, p. 5126.

(e) As to the recovery of penalties, see s. 14 (1), post, p. 5136.

Closing of Shops.

4.—(1) Every shop (a) shall, save as otherwise provided by this Act (b), be closed for the serving of customers (c) not later than one o'clock in the afternoon of one week day in every week (a).

Closing of shops on weekly half-holiday.

(2) The local authority (d) may (e), by order (f), fix the day on which a shop is to be so closed (in this Act referred to as "the weekly half-holiday"), and any such order may either fix the same day for all shops, or may fix—

(a) different days for different classes of shops (g); or

(b) different days for different parts of the district; or

(c) different days for different periods of the year:

Provided that—

(i) where the day fixed is a day other than Saturday (h), the order shall (i) provide for enabling Saturday (h) to be substituted for such other day; and

(ii) where the day fixed is Saturday (h), the order shall (i) provide for enabling some other day specified (j) in the order to be substituted for Saturday (h); as respects any shop in which notice (k) to that effect is affixed by the occupier, and that no such order shall be made unless the local authority, after making such inquiry as may be prescribed (l), are satisfied that the occupiers of a majority of each of the several classes of shops affected by the order approve the order (m).

(3) Unless and until such an order is made affecting a shop, the weekly half-holiday as respects the shop shall be such day as the occupier may specify in a notice affixed in the shop, but it shall not be lawful for the occupier of the shop to change the day oftener than once in any period of three months (n).

(4) Where the local authority (d) have reason to believe that a majority of the occupiers of shops of any particular class in any area are in favour of being exempted from the provisions of this section, either wholly or by fixing

Section 4. as the closing hour instead of one o'clock some other hour not later than two o'clock, the local authority, unless they consider that the area in question is unreasonably small, shall take steps to ascertain the wishes of such occupiers, and, if they are satisfied that a majority of the occupiers of such shops are in favour of the exemption, or, in the case of a vote being taken, that at least one half of the votes recorded by the occupiers of shops within the area of the class in question are in favour of the exemption, the local authority shall make an order exempting the shops of that class within the area from the provisions of this section either wholly or to such extent as aforesaid (o).

(5) Where a shop is closed during the whole day on the occasion of a bank holiday (p), and that day is not the day fixed for the weekly half-holiday, it shall be lawful for the occupier of the shop to keep the shop open for the serving of customers after the hour at which it is required under this section to be closed either on the half-holiday immediately preceding, or on the half-holiday immediately succeeding, the bank holiday.

(6) This section shall not apply to any shop in which the only trade or business carried on is trade or business of any of the classes mentioned in the Second Schedule (q) to this Act, but the local authority may, by order (r) made and revocable in the manner hereinafter provided with respect to closing orders (s), extend the provisions of this section to shops of any class exempted under this provision if satisfied that the occupiers of at least two-thirds of the shops of that class approve the order.

(7) In the case of any contravention of or failure to comply with any of the provisions of this section, the occupier (t) of the shop shall be guilty of an offence against this Act, and shall be liable to a fine (u) not exceeding—

- (a) in the case of a first offence, one pound ;
- (b) in the case of a second offence, five pounds ; and
- (c) in the case of a third or subsequent offence, ten pounds :

Provided that the occupier of a shop shall not be guilty of an offence against this Act when a customer is served at any time at which the shop is required to be closed under this section if he proves either that the customer was in the shop before the time when the shop was required to be closed (v), or that there was reasonable ground for believing that the article supplied to the customer was required in the case of illness.

(8) Nothing in this section shall prevent customers from being served at a time when the shop in which they are sold is required to be closed with victuals, stores, or other necessities for a ship, on her arrival at or immediately before her departure from a port (x).

(a) See definition in s. 19, post, p. 5137 ; as regards Jewish hairdressers or barbers, this sub-section is to have effect as if it required every shop to be closed for the serving of customers not later than one o'clock in the afternoon on one day in every week other than Saturday (Hairdressers' and Barbers' Shops (Sunday Closing) Act, 1930, s. 3 (2) (b) (23 Halsbury's Statutes 124)). Where a dairyman had affixed an automatic machine to the door of his shop so that milk could be obtained by putting a penny in a slot while the shop was closed, it was held that the place where the sale of milk occurred was a shop within the meaning of the Act (Willesden U. D. C. v. Morgan, [1915] 1 K. B. 349 ; 79 J. P. 166 ; 24 Digest 933, 222).

(b) Certain shops are or may be exempted from this provision, see sub-ss. (4), (6), but assistants employed in them must nevertheless have a half-holiday on some week-day in every week (see s. 1, ante, p. 5125). There are also special provisions as to bank holidays (sub-s. (5)) and emergency sales (sub-ss. (7), (8)), and as to shops in holiday resorts (s. 11, post, p. 5134).

(c) This means the personal serving of customers and does not apply to trade or business carried on by means of an automatic machine (Willesden U. D. C. v. Morgan, supra). Other work (e.g., tidying up) may be done, but assistants taking their half-holiday on that day must leave by 1.30 p.m. As to sales after 1 p.m. to customers in the shop at that hour, or in cases of illness, see sub-s. (7) and s. 1 (4), ante, p. 5125.

(d) As to the "local authority," see s. 13, post, p. 5135

Note to
Section 4.

(e) If they do not, a shopkeeper fixes his own day (sub-s. (3)).

(f) The order does not require confirmation. As to revocation of such an order, see s. 18 (2), post, p. 5137. For a model form of order, see Form C, ante, p. 3729. An order under s. 11, post, exempting shopkeepers in holiday resorts from the obligation to close for the weekly half-holiday during a portion of the year should not be incorporated in an order under this sub-section. As to publication of such an order, see Regulation 22, ante, p. 3726. There was power to order a weekly half-holiday under the Shop Hours Act, 1904; see s. 22, post, p. 5138, as to how far existing orders under that Act were continued in force. The weekly half-holiday must be fixed on some day other than the "late day" under s. 1 of the 1928 Act, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 647 (s. 1 (2), ibid., Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 647). A large firm of drapers carried on a hairdressing business in a small portion of their premises for the convenience primarily of customers shopping in the various departments of their warehouse. The whole premises were closed every Tuesday afternoon for the statutory weekly half-holiday. The local authority made an order under sub-s. (2) fixing Wednesday as the day on which hairdressers' shops should be closed for the weekly half-holiday. It was held that the hairdressing department in the warehouse in question was not a hairdresser's shop within the meaning of the Act and order, and accordingly did not require to be closed on Wednesday (Thomson v. Somerville, [1917] S. C. (J.) 3). This case was followed in MacDonald v. Groundland, [1923] S. C. (J.) 28, where a jewellery and tobacconist's shop occupied the front of the premises and a barber's shop belonging to the owner occupied a back portion of the premises.

(g) As to a butcher selling dripping on a day when provision and grocery shops (but not butchers' shops) ought to be closed, see Schuck v. Banks, [1914] 2 K. B. 491; 78 J. P. 229; 24 Digest 932, 218.

(h) As regards Jewish hairdressers or barbers, read "Friday" for "Saturday" (Hairdressers' and Barbers' Shops (Sunday Closing) Act, 1930, s. 3 (2) (b) (23 Halsbury's Statutes 124)).

(i) The authority cannot insert conditions fettering a shopkeeper's right to elect between two days.

(j) The alternative day must be specified, and not left to the discretion of each shopkeeper.

(k) No special form of notice has been prescribed.

(l) Regulation 4, ante, p. 3723, prescribes the inquiries to be made by an authority who contemplate making an order under this sub-section. As to the necessary register to be prepared, see Regulation 19, ante, p. 3725; as to the method of taking a vote of occupiers, see Regulation 20, ante, p. 3726.

(m) A person occupying more shops than one, has a vote in respect of each. As to "classes" of shops, see Att.-Gen. v. Brighton Corporation, post, p. 5131.

(n) Where no weekly half-holiday order has been made by a local authority, and the shopkeepers of a town have themselves fixed the day and specified it in notices affixed on their shops in accordance with this sub-section, a change of the day in one week and the reversion in the subsequent week back to the original closing day is a contravention of the concluding words of the section (Owen v. Parry (1914), 79 J. P. 64; 12 L. G. R. 1228; 24 Digest 933, 221).

(o) Such an order does not require confirmation. As to revocation of such an order, see s. 18 (2), post, p. 5138. No hour later than 2 p.m. can be fixed; effect can only be given to a desire for a later closing hour by complete exemption.

There is apparently no power to make an order for part only of a year; but it would be possible to make and revoke orders at the beginning and end of every "season." The sub-section does not allow a general exemption of all shops; each class of shop must be dealt with separately. As to "classes," see Att.-Gen. v. Brighton Corporation, post, p. 5131.

Semble, whether an area is "unreasonably small" is not a question only of superficial area, but may partly depend upon whether out of similar shops of the same class, some are just within and others just without the proposed boundary (R. v. Manchester City Council, Ex parte Batty (1912), 77 J. P. 43, per CHANNELL, J.; 24 Digest 931, 213).

A council after ascertaining the wishes of the shopkeepers, of whom a majority desired exemption, rescinded their former resolution approving of the area selected and consenting to grant exemption; an application for a mandamus directing the council to make an exemption order was refused on the ground that, if the court could grant a mandamus, they ought not to do so in view of the circumstances under which the two resolutions were passed (ibid.).

The "steps" to be taken by the authority are in their discretion; the majority required is a majority of occupiers, not of shops as under sub-s. (2); and if a vote is taken, one-half of the votes recorded (not of the persons entitled to vote) is sufficient.

(p) See definition in s. 19, post, p. 5137.

(q) See this Schedule, post, p. 5139; as to mixed businesses, see s. 10 (1), post, p. 5133, and Schuck v. Banks, supra; as to post office shops, see s. 12, post, p. 5134.

Note to
Section 4.

(r) It will be noticed that this does not merely declare the provisions of s. 4 to be extended to the particular class of shop, leaving the authority to make and revoke further orders under sub-s. (2), and (if necessary) sub-s. (4), as to the day and hour for closing. It appears to contemplate that the shopkeepers will ask for a particular day (and perhaps hour) and that any subsequent variation must be sanctioned by the Home Secretary. An order was made under this sub-section extending the provisions of the section to such parts of the retail businesses of pork butchers as are exempted by Sched. II., post, p. 5139. The respondents were confectioners and refreshment-room proprietors, and as incidental to this trade they sold, on the afternoon of the weekly half-holiday, pork sausages for consumption off the premises. It was held that they had not committed an offence against the Act (Margerison v. Wilson (1914), 79 J. P. 38; 112 L. T. 76; 24 Digest 932, 219). Where an order under this sub-section extended the provisions of this Act to the sale by retail of confectionery (including sweets and chocolates), it was held that the order included shops in which sweets and chocolates only were sold, and not only those in which they were sold in addition to pastry and confectionery (Gee v. Davies (1916), 80 J. P. 285; 85 L. J. K. B. 1431; 24 Digest 933, 226). An order extending the provisions of sub-s. (2) to the sale of tobacco and smokers' requisites does not apply to a railway bookstall at which a substantial part of the business consists in the sale of these articles (Fyfe v. Mcnzies, [1920] S. C. (J.) 7; 24 Digest 932, b).

(s) See ss. 5, 8, infra, and post, p. 5132.

(t) As to the liability of other persons, and as to an occupier shifting the liability on to some one else, see s. 14 (2), (3), post, p. 5136. A limited company can be fined as an "occupier" under this section (Evans & Co., Ltd. v. London C. C., [1914] 3 K. B. 315; 78 J. P. 345; 24 Digest 932, 214).

(u) As to recovery of penalties, see s. 14 (1), post, p. 5136.

(v) This proviso applies only to the case of a customer who has accidentally failed to complete a purchase by the closing hour. It does not enable a shopkeeper to collect persons on the premises before the closing hour so as to carry on business after that hour by inviting them to bid for articles which they had not set out to purchase and which were not in process of being sold before the closing hour (Salford Cattle Market Salerooms, Ltd. v. Osborne (1923), 87 J. P. 134; 21 L. G. R. 468; 24 Digest 931, 211).

(x) In a sea-port town it will probably be advisable to insert a similar provision in closing orders under s. 5, infra.

Closing orders.

5 (a).—(1) An order (in this Act referred to as "a closing order") made by a local authority (b), and confirmed by the Secretary of State in manner provided by this Act, may fix the hours on the several days of the week at which, either throughout the area of the local authority or in any specified part thereof, all shops (c) or shops of any specified class are to be closed for serving customers (d).

(2) The hour fixed by a closing order (in this Act referred to as "the closing hour") shall not be earlier than seven o'clock in the evening on any day of the week.

(3) The order may—

(a) define the shops and trades to which the order applies; and

(b) authorise sales after the closing hour in cases of emergency and in such other circumstances as may be specified or indicated in the order; and

(c) contain any incidental, supplemental, or consequential provisions which may appear necessary or proper (e).

(4) (f). . . .

(5)

(a) Closing orders made under this section and in force on 3rd August, 1928, which fix earlier closing hours than those prescribed by or under the Shops (Hours of Closing) Act, 1928, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 647, continue in force, but any order which fixes hours later than those so prescribed or any provision in any closing order inconsistent with the Act of 1928, has ceased to have effect. The power to make closing orders under the section in the text is now severely limited by the Act of 1928, s. 4, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 648. As to orders by local authorities varying the general hours of closing prescribed by the Act of 1928 see s. 2, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 648 (as to confectionery), s. 3, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 648 (as to tobacco, etc.), s. 5 (Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 649 (as to exhibitions), and s. 6, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's

Note to
Section 5.

Statutes 649 (as to holiday resorts, etc.). Nothing in any closing order made under this Act is to prevent the serving of a customer already in the shop at the closing hour, or in case of illness or any transaction mentioned in Sched. I. of the 1928 Act, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 651 (s. 1 (3), ibid., Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 647). Any closing order made under this Act may be suspended by the Home Secretary or by local authorities on special occasions. The power to suspend in the case of local authorities is limited to an aggregate of not more than seven days in any one year (s. 7 of the 1928 Act, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 650).

(b) See s. 13, post, p. 5135.

(c) See definition in s. 19, post, p. 5137.

(d) Under similar words in the Shop Hours Act, 1904, it was held that an authority might fix a closing hour to be observed on one or more days of the week, and need not fix one for every day (Att.-Gen. v. Brighton Corporation (1908), 72 J. P. 306; 77 L. J. Ch. 603; 24 Digest 931, 212). In the same case it was held in the court below, that barbers and hairdressers formed one sufficiently specific "class," and that an authority were not bound to distinguish between the different requirements of different shopkeepers in the same trade (77 L. J. Ch. 6); see also as to this point the Home Office Circular of April 4th, 1912.

Semble, when once an authority have made an order and submitted it for approval, the court will not interfere by injunction to restrain the authority from acting upon it (Att.-Gen. v. Brighton Corporation, supra).

See s. 22, post, p. 5138, as to how far existing orders made under the Shop Hours Act, 1904, were continued in force. As to revocation of closing orders, see s. 8, post, p. 5132.

(e) See, e.g., note (x) to s. 4, ante, p. 5130, and s. 10 (2), and s. 12 (1) (c), post, pp. 5133, 5135.

(f) These two subsections which dealt with exemptions from and penalties for contravention of a closing order were repealed by s. 10 (4) and Sched. IV. of the Act of 1928, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 651, 653. As to exemptions see now s. 1 (3), ibid., Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 647, and as to penalties for contravention of a closing order see s. 8, ibid., Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 650.

6.—(1) Whenever a local authority (b) are satisfied that a prima facie case is made out for making a closing order (c), the authority shall give public notice in the prescribed manner and in the prescribed form (d) of their intention to make an order, specifying therein a period (not being less than the prescribed period (e)) within which objections may be made to the making of the proposed order, and, if after taking into consideration any objections they may have received the local authority are satisfied (f) that it is expedient to make the order and that the occupiers of at least two-thirds in number of the shops to be affected by the order approve the order, they may make the order.

Procedure
for making orders (a).

(2) Notice of the provisions of the order shall be given, and copies thereof shall be supplied in the prescribed manner (g), and the order shall be submitted to the Secretary of State (h), and the Secretary of State shall consider any objections to the order, and may either disallow the order or confirm the order with or without amendment.

(3) As soon as the Secretary of State has confirmed any order (i), the order shall become final and have the effect of an Act of Parliament (k):

Provided that every closing order shall be laid before each House of Parliament as soon as may be after it is confirmed, and, if an address is presented to His Majesty by either House within the next subsequent forty days on which that House has sat after any such order is laid before it praying that the order may be cancelled, His Majesty in Council may annul the order, and any order so annulled shall thenceforth become void and of no effect, but without prejudice to any proceedings which may in the meantime have been taken under the order and without prejudice to the power of making any new closing order.

(a) As to revoking orders, see s. 8, post, p. 5132.

(b) See s. 13, post, p. 5135.

(c) As soon as they are so satisfied they must cause the necessary register to be prepared: see Regulations 6, 19, ante, pp. 3724, 3725.

Note to
Section 6.

(d) As to the prescribed manner and form, see Regulation 7, and Form A, ante, pp. 3724, 3728.

(e) The prescribed period is four weeks (Regulation 8, ante, p. 3724).

(f) Regulation 9, ante, p. 3724, prescribes how they are to satisfy themselves as to the wishes of the occupiers concerned; as to the method of taking a vote of occupiers, see Regulation 20, ante, p. 3726.

(g) As to the giving of this notice, see Regulation 10, ante, p. 3724.

(h) As to the documents, etc., to be submitted with the order, see Regulation 11, ante, p. 3725.

(i) As to publication of such an order, see Regulation 22, ante, p. 3726.

(k) As to the meaning of this expression, see Patent Agents Institute v. Lockwood, [1894] A. C. 347; 42 Digest 751, 1755, and comments thereon in R. v. Pharmaceutical Society, [1899] 2 I. R. 132; Waterford Corporation v. Murphy, [1920] 2 I. R. 165. See also per YOUNGER, L.J., in R. v. Electricity Commissioners, [1924] 1 K. B. at p. 212. Notwithstanding this provision a closing order fixing hours of closing later than the general closing hours fixed by the 1928 Act will be of no effect; see s. 4 of the 1928 Act, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 648.

As to the suspension of a closing order, see s. 7 of the 1928 Act, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 650.

Local inquiries for the purpose of promoting and facilitating early closing (a).

7.—(1) Where it appears to the Secretary of State, on the representation of the local authority (b) or a joint representation from a substantial number of occupiers of shops and shop assistants in the area of the local authority, that it is expedient to ascertain the extent to which there is a demand for early closing in any locality, and to promote and facilitate the making of a closing order therein, the Secretary of State may appoint a competent person to hold a local inquiry.

(2) If, after holding such an inquiry and conferring with the local authority, it appears to the person holding the inquiry that it is expedient that a closing order should be made, he shall prepare a draft order and submit it to the Secretary of State together with his report thereon.

(3) If the Secretary of State, after considering the draft order and report, and any representations which the local authority may have made in respect thereof, is of opinion that it is desirable that a closing order should be made, he may communicate his decision to the local authority, and thereupon there shall be deemed to be a prima facie case for making a closing order in accordance with the terms of the draft order, subject to such modifications (if any) as the Secretary of State may think fit.

(4) The person who held the inquiry shall, if so directed by the Secretary of State on the application of the local authority, assist and co-operate with the local authority in taking the steps preliminary to making order.

(a) Regulations 12—18, ante, p. 3725, provide for the holding of such local inquiries. See further as to their object a Home Office Circular of April 4th, 1912. As to the expenses, see s. 15, post, p. 5137.

(b) See s. 13, post, p. 5135.

Revocation of closing orders (a).

8. The Secretary of State may, at any time on the application of the local authority, revoke a closing order either absolutely or so far as it affects any particular class of shops, and, if at any time it is made to appear to the satisfaction of the local authority that the occupiers of a majority of any class of shops to which a closing order applies are opposed to the continuance of the order, the local authority shall apply to the Secretary of State to revoke the order in so far as it affects that class of shops, but any such revocation shall be without prejudice to the making of any new closing order.

(a) Orders made under s. 4 (6), ante, p. 5128, are on the same footing as closing orders. Other orders may be revoked by the local authority; see s. 18, post, p. 5137. Before asking the Home Secretary to revoke an order the authority must ascertain the wishes of the shopkeepers concerned; see Regulation 23, ante, p. 3726.

As to publication of notice of revocation, see Regulation 24, ante, p. 3726.

Provisions with respect to Special Classes of Trade or Business.

Section 9.

9. It shall not be lawful in any locality to carry on in any place not being a shop (a) retail trade or business of any class at any time when it would be unlawful in that locality to keep a shop open for the purposes of retail trade or business of that class, and, if any person carries on any trade or business in contravention of this section, this Act shall apply as if he were the occupier of a shop and the shop were being kept open in contravention of this Act:

Provisions as to trading elsewhere than in shops.

Provided that—

- (a) the prohibition imposed by this section shall, as respects any day other than the weekly half-holiday, be subject [in so far as the prohibition is affected by any closing order, to such exemptions and conditions, if any, as may be contained in the order)] (b); and
- (b) nothing in this section shall be construed as preventing a barber or hairdresser from attending a customer in the customer's residence, or the holding of an auction sale of private effects in a private dwelling-house; and
- (c) nothing in this section shall apply to the sale of newspapers.

(a) E.g., in the streets, or in a house temporarily used for the purpose (Cowden v. McEvoy, [1914] 3 K. B. 108; 78 J. P. 336; 24 Digest 932, 220). For definitions of "shop," "retail trade or business," see s. 19, post, p. 5137. As to the sale of milk by means of an automatic machine affixed to the door of a closed shop, see Willesden U. D. C. v. Morgan, ante, p. 5128. Semble, this section cannot apply to the weekly half-holiday where each shopkeeper fixes his own half-holiday at will. But, when an order fixes (say) Thursday for the half-holiday, trading in the streets, or in places not being shops, on that afternoon is forbidden, although an individual shopkeeper might elect to substitute Saturday for his own shop (Cowden v. McEvoy, supra). As to weekly half-holidays, see s. 4, and as to closing orders, see s. 5, ante, p. 5130.

(b) Words in brackets were substituted for the words "to such exemptions and conditions (if any) as may be contained in closing orders" by s. 9 and Sched. III. of the Act of 1928, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 651, 652.

10.—(1) Where several trades or businesses are carried on in the same shop, and any of those trades or businesses is of such a nature that, if it were the only trade or business carried on in the shop, the shop would be exempt from the obligation to be closed on the weekly half-holiday, the exemption shall apply to the shop so far as the carrying on of that trade or business is concerned, subject, however, to such conditions as may be prescribed (a).

Provisions as respects shops where more than one business is carried on.

["(1A) Where several trades and businesses are carried on in the same shop and any of those trades or businesses consist only of transactions of such a nature that if they were the only transactions carried on in the shop the provisions of this Act relating to general closing hours would not apply to the shop, the shop may be kept open after the general closing hour for the purposes of those transactions alone, subject, however, to such conditions as may be prescribed";] (b)

(2) Where several trades and businesses are carried on in the same shop and any of those trades or businesses are of such a nature that if they were the only trades or businesses carried on in the shop a closing order would not apply to the shop, the shop may be kept open after the closing hour for the purposes of those trades and businesses alone, but on such terms and under such conditions as may be specified in the order (c).

(3) Where several trades or businesses are carried on in the same shop, the local authority may require the occupier of the shop to specify which trade or business he considers to be his principal trade or business, and no trade or business other than that so specified shall, for the purpose of determining a majority [or any proportion or number of occupiers or of shops for the purposes of] (d) this Act, be considered as carried on in the shop

Section 10. unless the occupier of the shop satisfies the local authority that it forms a substantial part of the business carried on in the shop (e).

(a) This sub-section relates to s. 4, ante, p. 5127. For the prescribed conditions, see Regulation 5, ante, p. 3724; certain notices must be affixed, and, as far as reasonably practicable, no goods connected with a business not exempted may be exhibited.

(b) This sub-section was added by s. 9 and Sched. III. of the 1928 Act, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 651, 652. As to transactions which are excluded from the operation of the general closing hours, see Sched. I. of the 1928 Act, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 651.

(c) This sub-section relates to s. 5, ante, p. 5130.

(d) These words were substituted for "under" by s. 9 and Sched. III. of the 1928 Act. The added words were included to meet the cases provided for by s. 3 of the 1928 Act, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 648.

(e) The effect of this provision is that a shopkeeper selling a little drapery as a mere adjunct to a distinct business, but being in no real sense a draper, will not be entitled to vote on questions affecting drapers. In connection with this sub-section, see Regulations 4 (1), 6 and 19, ante, pp. 3723, 3724, 3725, as to preparation of a register of occupiers of shops.

Special provisions as to holiday resorts.

11(a).—(1) In places frequented as holiday resorts (b) during certain seasons of the year, the local authority may by order (c) suspend, for such period or periods as may be specified in the order, not exceeding in the aggregate four months in the year, any obligation imposed by this Act to close shops on the weekly half-holiday (d).

[(1A) Any order made under this section may be made so as to apply to the whole or to any part of the area of the local authority, and to all shops, or to shops of any class, within that area or part.] (e)

(2) Where the occupier of any shop in any place in which any such order of suspension is in force satisfies the local authority that it is the practice (f) to allow all his shop assistants a holiday on full pay of not less than two weeks in every year, and keeps affixed in his shop a notice to that effect, the requirement (g) that on one day in each week a shop assistant shall not be employed after half-past one o'clock shall not apply to the shop during such period or periods as aforesaid.

(a) As to the alteration of general closing hours under the 1928 Act in case of holiday resorts and sea fishing centres, see s. 6 of the 1928 Act, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 649.

(b) "Holiday resort" is not defined: presumably it means a resort frequented by holiday makers at particular seasons of the year as opposed to one where the influx of visitors is not appreciably greater at one time than at another. If an authority wrongly treat their town as a holiday resort, the validity of their order could apparently be impugned in the courts.

(c) As to revocation of such an order, see s. 18 (2), post, p. 5137. The order, if made at all, must apparently apply to all classes of shops. For this reason it should be kept distinct from orders under s. 4, ante, p. 5127, fixing the day and hour for half-holiday closing.

(d) I.e., under s. 4, ante, p. 5127.

(e) This sub-section was added by s. 9 and Sched. III. of the 1928 Act, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 651, 652, in order to make the power of suspension under the section in the text consistent with the power of altering the general closing hours given by s. 6 of that Act, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 649.

(f) The authority must be satisfied as to the shopkeeper's practice on the point. See as to this the Home Office Circular of April 4th, 1912. Semble, the holiday must be one of two consecutive weeks.

(g) I.e., in s. 1, ante, p. 5125.

Application to Post Office business.

12.—(1) Where Post Office business is carried on in any shop in addition to any other business, this Act shall apply to that shop subject to the following modifications:—

(a) If the shop is a telegraph office, the obligation to close on the weekly half-holiday shall not apply to the shop so far as relates to the transaction of Post Office business thereat:

- (b) Where the Postmaster-General certifies that the exigencies of the postal service require that Post Office business should be transacted in any such shop at times when under the provisions of this Act relating to the weekly half-holiday the shop would be required to be closed, or under conditions not authorised by section one of this Act, the shop shall, for the purpose of the transaction of Post Office business, be exempted from the provisions of this Act to such extent as the Postmaster-General may certify to be necessary for the purpose :

Note to
Section 12.

Provided that in such cases the Postmaster-General shall make the best arrangements that the exigencies of the postal service allow with a view to the conditions of employment of the persons employed being on the whole not less favourable than those secured by this Act :

- (c) The provisions contained in any closing order imposing terms or conditions on the keeping open of any such shop after the closing hour for the transaction of Post Office business shall be subject to the approval of the Postmaster-General (a).

(2) Save as aforesaid, nothing in this Act shall apply to Post Office business, or to any premises in which Post Office business is transacted.

(a) This sub-section was repealed by s. 10 (4) and Sched. IV. of the 1928 Act, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 651; 653.

Enforcement of Act.

13.—(1) It shall be the duty of every local authority (a) to enforce within their district the provisions of this Act, and of the orders made thereunder or under any enactment repealed by this Act (b), and for that purpose to institute and carry on such proceedings in respect of failures to comply with or contraventions of this Act and such orders as aforesaid as may be necessary to secure the observance thereof, and to appoint inspectors (c); and an inspector so appointed shall, for the purposes of his powers and duties, have in relation to shops all the powers conferred in relation to factories and workshops on inspectors by section one hundred and nineteen of the Factory and Workshop Act, 1901 (d), and that section and section one hundred and twenty-one (e) of the same Act shall apply accordingly; and an inspector may, if so authorised by the local authority, institute and carry on any proceedings under this Act on behalf of the authority (f).

Powers and duties of local authorities.

1 Edw. 7, c. 22.

- (2) In this Act the expression "local authority" means—
as respects the city of London, the common council;
as respects any municipal borough, the council of the borough;
as respects any urban district with a population according to the returns of the last published census for the time being of twenty thousand or upward, the district council;
elsewhere, the county council:

Provided that a county council may, with the approval of the Secretary of State, make arrangements with the council of an urban district in the county with a population of less than twenty thousand, or with the council of a rural district, for the exercise by the council of that district as agents for the county council, on such terms and subject to such conditions as may be agreed on, of any powers of the county council under this Act within the district, and the council of the district may, as part of the agreement, undertake to pay the whole or any part of the expenses incurred in connection with the exercise of the powers delegated to them, and the London County Council may, with the like approval, make similar arrangements with the council of any metropolitan borough.

Section 13. (3) The expenses of a local authority under this Act (including any expenses which a council undertake to pay as aforesaid) shall be defrayed—in the case of the common council of the city of London, out of the general rate ;

* * * * * * (g) in the case of a county council, as expenses for special county purposes ;

in the case of a metropolitan borough council, as part of the expenses of the council.

(a) For definition of "local authority," see sub-s. (2).

(b) As to closing orders made under the repealed Shop Hours Act, 1904, continuing in force until expressly revoked, see proviso to s. 22, post, p. 5138. See also note (a) on s. 14, post.

(c) The Home Secretary deprecated the appointment of police officers as whole time or part time inspectors under this Act, see Home Office Circular of June 28th, 1912. See the same Circular for suggestions as to how the police may nevertheless render assistance in enforcing the Act.

(d) This section (8 Halsbury's Statutes 581) gives to an inspector wide powers of entering and inspecting shops and of questioning persons found therein.

(e) This section (op. cit. 582) requires an inspector on applying for admission to produce a certificate of his appointment if it be asked for. A form of certificate is prescribed, see Regulation 25 and Form V., ante, pp. 3726, 3728.

(f) Presumably a general authority will suffice. It should be by resolution: cf. Duchesne v. Finch (1912), 76 J. P. 377; 13 Digest 411, 1308; Watt v. Hegarty (1913), 47 Ir. L. T. 86.

(g) Certain words here were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 735.

Provisions with respect to offences.

14.—(1) All offences against this Act shall be prosecuted, and all fines under this Act shall be recovered in like manner as offences and fines are prosecuted and recovered under the Factory and Workshop Act, 1901, and sections one hundred and forty-three to one hundred and forty-six of that Act, and so much of section one hundred and forty-seven thereof as relates to evidence respecting the age of any person, so far as those provisions are applicable, shall have effect as if re-enacted in this Act and in terms made applicable thereto (a) :

Provided that all fines imposed in any proceedings instituted by or on behalf of a local authority in pursuance of their powers and duties under this Act shall be paid to the local authority and carried to the credit of the fund out of which the expenses incurred by the authority under this Act are defrayed.

(2) Where an offence for which the occupier of a shop is liable under this Act, has, in fact, been committed by some manager, agent, servant, or other person, the manager, agent, servant, or other person shall be liable to the like penalty as if he were the occupier.

(3) Where the occupier of a shop is charged with an offence against this Act, he shall be entitled upon information duly laid by him to have any other person whom he charges as the actual offender brought before the court at the time appointed for hearing the charge; and if, after the commission of the offence has been proved, he proves to the satisfaction of the court that he has used due diligence to enforce the execution of the Act, and that the said other person has committed the offence in question without his knowledge, consent, or connivance, the said other person shall be summarily convicted of such offence, and the occupier shall be exempt from any fine.

(a) See these sections (8 Halsbury's Statutes 591, 592). Sections 13 and 14 of the present Act are applied also by s. 4 (2) of the Hairdressers' and Barbers' Shops (Sunday Closing) Act, 1930 (23 Halsbury's Statutes 124); s. 13 (1) of the Shops Act, 1934 (27 Halsbury's Statutes 237); s. 6 of the Retail Meat Dealers' Shops (Sunday Closing) Act, 1936 (29 Halsbury's Statutes 152); s. 14 of the Shops (Sunday Trading Restrictions) Act, 1936 (ibid. 163).

General Provisions.

Section 15.

15. Any expenses incurred by the Secretary of State under this Act, including the remuneration of any person holding a local inquiry under section seven of this Act, shall, to such extent as may be sanctioned by the Treasury, be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament. Expenses of Secretary of State.

16. In addition to the local inquiries which the Secretary of State is empowered to hold under section seven of this Act, the Secretary of State may cause a local inquiry to be held for the purposes of any of his powers and duties under this Act, and the costs incurred in relation to any such last-mentioned inquiry, including the salary of any officer engaged in the inquiry, not exceeding three guineas a day, shall be paid by the local authority concerned, and the Secretary of State may certify the amount of the costs incurred. Any sums so certified shall be a debt to the Crown from the local authority (a). Local inquiries.

(a) They would therefore be recoverable by an extent of the authority's property.

17. The Secretary of State may make regulations (a)—

Regulations.

- (a) for prescribing anything which under this Act is to be prescribed ; and
- (b) as to the mode of ascertaining the opinion of occupiers of shops ; and
- (c) as to conduct of local inquiries and matters incidental thereto ; and
- (d) as to the procedure for obtaining the revocation of a closing order ; and
- (e) generally for carrying into effect the provisions of this Act.

(a) Regulations (see ante, p. 3723) dated April 1st, 1912 (Stat. R. & O., No. 316 of 1912), have been made under this section.

By Regulation 21 (ante, p. 3726) no informality in complying with the Regulations is to frustrate the making of, or invalidate, any order.

18.—(1) Any order made by a local authority under this Act may be proved by the production of a copy thereof certified to be a true copy by a person purporting to be the clerk of the local authority by whom the order is made. Proof and revocation of orders.

(2) Any order made by a local authority under this Act may, unless some other method of revocation is provided by this Act, be revoked by an order made in the like manner and subject to the like approval, if any, as the original order (a)

(a) Closing orders under s. 5 and orders made under s. 4 (6), which require confirmation by the Home Secretary, can only be revoked by him, see s. 8, ante, p. 5132. The authority may themselves revoke the orders : cf. Interpretation Act, 1889, s. 32 (3) (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1003). Before doing so, they must ascertain the wishes of the shopkeepers concerned : see Regulation 23, ante, p. 3726.

As to publication of notice of revocation, see Regulation 24, ante, p. 3726.

19.—(1) In this Act (a)—

The expression "shop" (b) includes any premises where any retail trade or business is carried on (c) ;

Interpretation and saving.

The expression "retail trade or business" includes the business of a barber or hairdresser, the sale of refreshments or intoxicating liquors, [the business of lending books or periodicals when carried on for purposes of gain (d)] and retail sales by auction, but does not include the sale of programmes and catalogues and other similar sales at theatres and places of amusement ;

Section 19.

The expression "shop assistant" means any person wholly or mainly employed in a shop in connexion with the serving of customers or the receipt of orders or the despatch of goods (a);

The expression "bank holiday" includes any public holiday or day of public rejoicing or mourning;

The expression "week" means the period between midnight on Saturday night and midnight on the succeeding Saturday night.

(2) Nothing in this Act shall apply to any fair lawfully held or any bazaar or sale of work for charitable or other purposes from which no private profit is derived.

(a) As to these definitions, see the Home Office Memorandum of March, 1912.

(b) In the Shop Hours Act, 1892, unless the context otherwise required, "shop" meant "retail and wholesale shops, markets, stalls, and warehouses in which assistants are employed for hire," and included "licensed public houses and refreshment houses of any kind." A building used solely as a high-class hotel and restaurant, having no bar or counter for the sale of liquor, and not being in the ordinary sense of the term a "public house," although fully licensed under the Alehouse Act, 1828, was held to be a "public house," and therefore a "shop" within this definition (Suway Hotel Co. v. London C. C., [1900] 1 Q. B. 665; 64 J. P. 262; 24 Digest 928, 192). See, however, as to refreshment houses the Act of 1913, post, p. 5140. A boy employed at the railway bookstall at R. went every morning to the village two miles off to deliver newspapers; he then sold newspapers for a short time at the station before returning to R.; for the purposes of such sale, he erected each day a stall consisting of a board upon trestles. It was held that the stall was probably a "shop" for some purposes of the Act, but not for the purposes of s. 4 of the 1892 Act (see s. 2 (3) of this Act (8 Halsbury's Statutes 615)), as to exhibiting a notice, because the boy was really employed at R., where a notice was duly exhibited (Smith & Son v. Kyle, [1902] 1 K. B. 286; 66 J. P. 101; 24 Digest 928, 195). See also Ward v. Smith & Son, ante, p. 5126. Where milk was procured from an automatic machine attached to the door of a closed shop it was held that the place where the sale occurred was a shop within the meaning of the Act (Willesden U. D. C. v. Morgan, ante, p. 5128). A hotel is not a shop, nor are the waiters employed therein shop assistants within the meaning of this definition (Gordon Hotels, Ltd. v. London C. C., [1916] 2 K. B. 27; 80 J. P. 266; 24 Digest 928, 193). But the dining-room of a non-residential hotel which is open to non-residents is a shop and waiters therein are shop assistants (George Hotel (Colchester) v. Ball, [1938] 3 All E. R. 790; 102 J. P. 337; Digest Supp.). Also a coal merchant's branch office in which no coal is kept and only orders are dealt with is a shop, and the attendant in it who takes the orders is a shop assistant (Wallace v. Dixon, [1917] 2 L. R. 236; 24 Digest 928, p).

A booth or stall erected on a beach and used only for mechanical games of chance or skill, in which members of the public are invited to participate on payment of an entrance fee is not a shop within the above definition (Dennis v. Hutchinson, [1922] 1 K. B. 693; 86 J. P. 85; 24 Digest 930, 209). As to a kitchenmaid in a restaurant being a "shop assistant," see Melluish v. London C. C., [1914] 3 K. B. 325; 78 J. P. 441; 24 Digest 928, 194. As to the employment of a potman on licensed premises whose duties were regarded by the court as sufficiently proximate to the serving of customers, see Prance v. London C. C., [1915] 1 K. B. 688; 79 J. P. 242; 24 Digest 929, 205.

For the purposes of s. 2 (8 Halsbury's Statutes 614), wholesale shops and warehouses are to be treated as shops (see s. 2 (5) op. cit. 615).

(c) An order under the Act fixed the closing hours for shops "in which the retail trade or business of a jeweller, gold or silversmith, ironmonger, hardware merchant, or tool dealer is carried on." The respondent, who was an auctioneer, and who sold on his premises, being a shop, all kinds of articles, including articles of jewellery entrusted to him for sale by auction and pawnbrokers' pledges, sold by auction in the ordinary way, on certain days after the closing hours fixed by the order, articles of jewellery. It was held that the respondent had not thereby carried on the retail business of a jeweller within the meaning of the order (Lucas v. Reubens, [1921] 2 K. B. 482; 85 J. P. 166; 24 Digest 930, 208).

(d) Words in square brackets added by the Shops Act, 1936 (29 Halsbury's Statutes 149), with further words excluding philanthropic or charitable objects and clubs or institutions not carried on for purposes of gain.

(2) This Act shall come into operation on the first day of May nineteen hundred and twelve.

(3) The Shops Regulation Acts, 1892 to 1911 (a), are hereby repealed : (b) Section 22.

Provided that any closing order made under the Shop Hours Act, 1904 (c), ^{4 Edw. 7, c. 31.} which is in force at the commencement of this Act, shall continue in force until revoked in accordance with the provisions of this Act, except in so far as it fixes a closing hour earlier than seven o'clock for any shop to which the provisions of this Act with respect to the weekly half-holiday apply.

(a) The Shops Regulation Acts, 1892 to 1911, were : (i.) the Shop Hours Act, 1892, as to hours of employment of young persons, substantially re-enacted in s. 2 (8 Halsbury's Statutes 614) ; (ii.) the Shop Hours Act, 1893, as to salaries of inspectors ; (iii.) the Shop Hours Act, 1895, passed merely to remedy a draftsman's omission disclosed by Hammond v. Puleford, [1895] 1 Q. B. 223 ; 59 J. P. 533 ; 24 Digest 930, 207 ; (iv.) the Seats for Shop Assistants Act, 1899, substantially re-enacted in s. 3, ante, p. 5127 ; (v.) the Shop Hours Act, 1904, as to closing orders, substantially re-enacted in ss. 5 et seq., ante, pp. 5130 et seq. ; and (vi.) the Shop Hours Act, 1911, as to hours of employment and meal times and weekly half-holidays, see now ss. 1, 4, ante, pp. 5125, 5127. This last Act never came into operation.

(b) Words in italics repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

(c) Such orders could combine weekly half-holiday and ordinary closing provisions.

SCHEDULES.

FIRST SCHEDULE (a).

Section 1.

INTERVALS FOR MEALS.

Intervals for meals shall be arranged so as to secure that no person shall be employed for more than six hours without an interval of at least twenty minutes being allowed during the course thereof.

Without prejudice to the foregoing provision—

(1) where the hours of employment include the hours from 11.30 a.m. to 2.30 p.m., an interval of not less than three-quarters of an hour shall be allowed between those hours for dinner ; and

(2) where the hours of employment include the hours from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m., an interval of not less than half-an-hour shall be allowed between those hours for tea ;

and the interval for dinner shall be increased to one hour in cases where that meal is not taken in the shop, or in a building of which the shop forms part or to which the shop is attached :

Provided that an assistant employed in the sale of refreshments or in the sale by retail of intoxicating liquors need not be allowed the interval for dinner between 11.30 a.m. and 2.30 p.m., if he is allowed the same interval so arranged as either to end not earlier than 11.30 a.m. or to commence not later than 2.30 p.m., and the same exemption shall apply to assistants employed in any shop on the market day in any town in which a market is held not oftener than once a week, or on a day on which an annual fair is held.

(a) For a modification applying to " young persons," see s. 9 (4) of the Shops Act, 1934 (27 Halsbury's Statutes 234).

SECOND SCHEDULE (a).

Section 4.

TRADES AND BUSINESSES EXEMPTED FROM THE PROVISIONS AS TO WEEKLY HALF-HOLIDAY.

The sale by retail of intoxicating liquors.

The sale of refreshments, including the business carried on at a railway refreshment room.

The sale of motor, cycle, and air-craft supplies and accessories to travellers (b).

The sale of newspapers and periodicals.

The sale of meat, fish, milk, cream, bread, confectionery, fruit, vegetables, flowers, and other articles of a perishable (c) nature.

The sale of tobacco and smokers' requisites.

The business carried on at a railway bookstall on or adjoining a railway platform.

The sale of medicines and medical and surgical appliances.

Sched. II.

Retail trade carried on at an exhibition or show, if the local authority certify that such retail trade is subsidiary or ancillary only to the main purpose of the exhibition or show.

(a) See as to this schedule generally, the notes to s. 4, ante, p. 5127, and the cases therein cited.

(b) This provision only includes the sale of supplies and accessories for motors, cycles, and air-craft and not the sale of other supplies or accessories to travellers (Williams v. Gosden, [1914] 1 K. B. 35; 77 J. P. 464; 24 Digest 933, 224).

(c) The Home Secretary has been advised that "preserved" foods, etc., are not "of a perishable nature." Butter has been held to be "perishable" (London C. C. v. Welford's Surrey Dairies Co., Ltd., [1913] 2 K. B. 529; 77 J. P. 206; 24 Digest 933, 223). Semble, "run honey" is not confectionery (ibid.). As to the sale of sweets and chocolates, see Gee v. Davies, ante, p. 5130.

Section 5.

THIRD SCHEDULE.

TRADES AND BUSINESSES EXEMPTED FROM PROVISIONS OF CLOSING ORDERS (a).

(a) This schedule was repealed by s. 10 (4) and Sched. IV. of the 1928 Act, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 651, 653. As to transactions exempted from the provisions of closing orders see now Sched. I. of that Act, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 651.

FOURTH SCHEDULE.

FIFTH SCHEDULE.

[Ireland.]

THE SHOPS ACT, 1913.

(2 & 3 GEO. 5, c. 24.)

An Act to amend the Shops Act, 1912, in its application to premises for the sale of refreshments. [7th March, 1913.]

Amendment of 2 Geo. 5, c. 3, in its application to premises for the sale of refreshments.

1.—(1) The provisions of section one (a) of the Shops Act, 1912, shall not apply to shop assistants employed in any premises for the sale of refreshments, whether licensed for the sale of intoxicating liquor or not, if their employment is wholly or mainly in connexion with the sale of intoxicating liquors or refreshments for consumption on the premises, and if the occupier of the premises, by such notice as is hereinafter mentioned, signifies that he elects that instead of those provisions the following provisions shall apply:—

(a) No such assistant shall be employed for more than sixty-five hours in any week exclusive of meal times (b).

(b) Provision shall be made for securing to every such assistant—

(i) thirty-two whole holidays on a week day in every year, of which at least two shall be given within the currency of each month and which shall comprise a holiday on full pay of not less than six consecutive days;

(ii) twenty-six whole holidays on Sunday in every year, so distributed that at least one out of every three consecutive Sundays shall be a whole holiday:

Provided that two half holidays on a week day shall be deemed equivalent to one whole holiday on a week day.

- (c) Intervals for meals shall be allowed to every such assistant amounting on a half holiday to not less than three-quarters of an hour, and on every other day to not less than two hours, and no assistant shall be employed for more than six hours without being allowed an interval of at least half an hour : Section 1.

Provided that this provision shall not apply if the only persons employed as such shop assistants are members of the family of the occupier of the premises maintained by him and dwelling in his house.

- (d) The occupier shall affix and constantly maintain in a conspicuous position in the premises a notice in the prescribed form referring to the provisions of this section, and stating the steps taken with a view to compliance therewith.

(2) Where the occupier of any premises has signified as aforesaid that he elects that the foregoing provisions shall apply, and any of those provisions are not complied with, the occupier of the premises shall be guilty of an offence against the Shops Act, 1912, and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding :—

- (a) in the case of a first offence, one pound ;
- (b) in the case of a second offence, five pounds ; and
- (c) in the case of a third or subsequent offence, ten pounds.

(3) For the purposes of this section, the expression “ half holiday ” means a day on which the employment of an assistant ceases not later than three o'clock in the afternoon and on which he is not employed for more than six hours including meal time.

(4) A notice under this section may be withdrawn by the occupier of the shop at the expiration of a year from the date when it was given, and thereafter at the expiration of any succeeding year, and upon any such withdrawal section one of the Shops Act, 1912, shall apply to the shop in like manner as before the notice was given.

(5) The Shops Act, 1912, as amended by this Act, shall, in its application to any premises in respect to which a notice under this section is in force, have effect as though the definition of “ shop assistant ” included all persons wholly or mainly employed in any capacity at the premises in connexion with the business there carried on (c).

(a) See this section, ante, p. 5125.

(b) But see sub-s. (5) of s. 5 of the Shops Act, 1934 (27 Halsbury's Statutes 230) as regards “ young persons ” to whom that Act applies.

(c) Where the occupier of premises elects to apply this Act to such premises he must be taken to elect to adopt the definition of “ shop assistant ” contained in this sub-section and cannot be heard to say that any one who falls within that definition is not a shop assistant (Rutherford v. Trust Houses, Ltd., [1926] 1 K. B. 321 ; 90 J. P. 62 ; Digest Supp.).

2.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Shops Act, 1913, and shall be construed as one with the Shops Act, 1912 ; and the Shops Act, 1912, and this Act may be cited together as the Shops Acts, 1912 and 1913. Short title and extent.

(2) This Act shall not extend to shops in Ireland in which the business of the sale by retail of intoxicating liquors is carried on.

THE FABRICS (MISDESCRIPTION) ACT, 1913.

(3 & 4 GEO. 5, c. 17.)

An Act to prevent the Misdescription of Fabrics.

[15th August, 1913.]

1. It shall not be lawful for any person to sell, or expose, or have in his possession for sale, any textile fabric either in the piece, or made up into garments, or in any other form, to which is attributed expressly or inferentially the Prohibition of sale with misleading description as to inflam-

Section 1. quality of non-inflammability, or safety from fire, or any degree of such quality of non-inflammability or safety from fire—

(1) by wording or marking, descriptive or otherwise—

(a) upon the material; or

(b) upon any wrapper or band; or

(c) contained in any letterpress or writing referring to the material; or

(2) by verbal representation at the time of sale;

unless such textile fabric conforms to such standard of non-inflammability as may be prescribed by regulations (a) to be made by the Secretary of State, and, if any person sells, or has in his possession, textile fabric in contravention of this Act, he shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding, in the case of a first offence, ten pounds, or, in the case of a second or subsequent offence, fifty pounds.

(a) On January 20th, 1914, the Home Secretary made the following regulations under this section:—1. A textile fabric shall be deemed to conform to the standard of non-inflammability if, when tested in accordance with the prescribed method of testing, it is not set alight, or, if set alight, burns without a flame or with a flame which does not spread but converges and dies out. 2. The prescribed method of testing shall be as follows:—A sample of the fabric measuring not less than one square yard shall be taken, and, after it has been four times in succession thoroughly washed with soap and water, dried and ironed, shall be suspended vertically without folds or creases and so that the lower edge shall not be a selvage or a folded edge. The flame of a wax taper not less than $\frac{1}{4}$ inch or more than $\frac{3}{8}$ inch in thickness shall then be brought in contact with the fabric at its lower edge and shall be kept in contact for not less than twelve or more than fifteen seconds.

Power of
Secretary of State to make regulations.
56 & 57 Vict.
c. 56.

2. All regulations made by the Secretary of State under this Act shall be laid before Parliament as soon as may be after they are made, and the Rules Publication Act, 1893, shall apply to such regulations as if they were statutory rules within the meaning of section one of that Act.

Cases where vendors purchase under warranty.

3. Where in any proceedings against a person charged with an offence under this Act, it is proved that an offence under this Act has been committed, but that the person charged with the offence—

(a) purchased the textile fabric in respect of which the offence was committed from a person resident within (a) the United Kingdom who sold the textile fabric under a warranty that it complied with the prescribed standard of non-inflammability; and

(b) took reasonable steps to ascertain, and did in fact believe in the accuracy of the statement contained in the warranty;

the person so charged shall be entitled upon an information duly laid by him to have the person who gave the warranty brought before the court, and that person may be summarily convicted of the offence, and the person originally charged shall be exempt from any fine, and the person so convicted shall, in the discretion of the court, also be liable to pay any costs incidental to the proceedings.

(a) If the fabric is purchased from a person outside the United Kingdom, the purchaser must take all responsibility for it.

Material found in possession deemed to be for sale.

4. Where a person is charged with having textile fabric in his possession in contravention of this Act, any such material proved in the proceedings to have been found in his possession shall be deemed to be intended for sale as aforesaid unless the contrary is proved.

Powers and duties of local authorities.

5.—(1) It shall be the duty of every local authority to enforce the provisions of this Act within their district, and for that purpose any male or female person or officer whom the local authority may appoint shall have power, if so authorised by the local authority, to institute and carry on any proceedings which the local authority is authorised to institute and carry on under this Act. Section 5.

- (2) In this Act the expression "local authority" means—
 as respects the city of London the common council;
 as respects any municipal borough, the council of the borough;
 as respects any urban district, the district council;
 elsewhere, the county council:

Provided that the London County Council may, with the approval of the Secretary of State, make arrangements with the council of any metropolitan borough for the exercise by the metropolitan borough as agents for the London County Council, on such terms and subject to such conditions as may be agreed on, of any powers of the London County Council under this Act within the district of the metropolitan borough, and the council of the metropolitan borough may, as part of the agreement, undertake to pay the whole or any part of the expense incurred in connection with the exercise of the powers delegated to them.

- (3) The expenses of a local authority under this Act shall be defrayed,— in the case of the common council of the city of London, out of the general rate;

* * * * *

in the case of a county council, as expenses for special county purposes;
 in the case of a metropolitan borough council, as part of the expenses of the council.

(a) Certain words repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 735.

6. All fines imposed in any proceedings instituted by a local authority in pursuance of their powers and duties under this Act shall be paid to the local authority and carried to the credit of the fund out of which the expenses incurred by the authority under this Act are defrayed. Fines imposed to be paid to local authorities.

Miscellaneous.

18. Where it appears to the council of a borough or a district, which expression in this Act shall include the Common Council of the City of London, that the erection of buildings of a style of architecture in harmony with other buildings of artistic merit existing in the locality is impeded in consequence of any byelaws (a) with respect to new streets or buildings in force in the borough or district, the council may, with the consent of the Local Government Board (b), relax the byelaws so far as may be necessary to allow the erection of such buildings (c), provided that the council is satisfied that such buildings can be erected with due regard to safety from fire and to sanitation: Provided also that no byelaws in force in the city of London shall be relaxed under this Relaxation of byelaws.

Section 18. section except such as are administered by the Common Council of the city of London.

(a) As to such byelaws, see the P. H. A., 1875, s. 157, ante, p. 4432, and P. H. A., 1936, ss. 61 et seq., ante, pp. 190 et seq.

THE BANKRUPTCY ACT, 1914.

(4 & 5 GEO. 5, c. 59.)

An Act to consolidate the Law relating to Bankruptcy (a).

[10th August, 1914.]

* * * * *

Priority of debts.

33.—(1) In the distribution of the property of a bankrupt there shall be paid in priority to all other debts (b)—

(a) All parochial or other local rates (c) due from the bankrupt at the date of the receiving order, and having become due and payable within twelve months next before that time, and all assessed taxes, land tax, property or income tax, assessed on the bankrupt up to the fifth day of April next before the date of the receiving order, and not exceeding in the whole of one year's assessment (d);

(b) All wages or salary of any clerk or servant in respect of services rendered to the bankrupt during four months before the date of the receiving order, not exceeding fifty pounds (e);

(c) All wages of any labourer or workman not exceeding twenty-five pounds, whether payable for time or for piece work, in respect of services rendered to the bankrupt during two months before the date of the receiving order: Provided that, where any labourer in husbandry has entered into a contract for the payment of a portion of his wages in a lump sum at the end of the year of hiring, the priority under this section shall extend to the whole of such sum, or a part thereof, as the court may decide to be due under the contract, proportionate to the time of service up to the date of the receiving order;

(d) All amounts, not exceeding in any individual case one hundred pounds (f), due in respect of compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, the liability whereof accrued before the date of the receiving order, subject nevertheless to the provisions of section five of that Act (g); and

(e) All contributions payable under the National Insurance Act, 1911, by the bankrupt, in respect of employed contributors or workmen in an insured trade during four months before the date of the receiving order (h).

(2) The foregoing debts shall rank equally between themselves and shall be paid in full, unless the property of the bankrupt is insufficient to meet them, in which case they shall abate in equal proportions between themselves.

(3) Subject to the retention of such sums as may be necessary for the costs of administration or otherwise, the foregoing debts shall be discharged forthwith so far as the property of the debtor is sufficient to meet them.

(4) In the event of a landlord or other person distraining or having distrained on any goods or effects of a bankrupt within three months next

6 Edw. 7,
c. 58.

1 & 2 Geo. 5,
c. 55.

before the date of the receiving order the debts to which priority is given by this section shall be a first charge on the goods or effects so distrained on, or the proceeds of the sale thereof: Section 33.

Provided that in respect of any money paid under any such charge the landlord or other person shall have the same rights of priority as the person to whom such payment is made (i).

(5) This section shall apply, in the case of a deceased person who dies insolvent, as if he were a bankrupt, and as if the date of his death were substituted for the date of the receiving order (k).

(6) In the case of partners the joint estate shall be applicable in the first instance in payment of their joint debts, and the separate estate of each partner shall be applicable in the first instance in payment of his separate debts. If there is a surplus of the separate estates, it shall be dealt with as part of the joint estate. If there is a surplus of the joint estate, it shall be dealt with as part of the respective separate estates in proportion to the right and interest of each partner in the joint estate.

(7) Subject to the provisions of this Act, all debts proved in the bankruptcy shall be paid pari passu.

(8) If there is any surplus after payment of the foregoing debts, it shall be applied in payment of interest from the date of the receiving order at the rate of four pounds per centum per annum on all debts proved in the bankruptcy.

(9) Nothing in this section shall alter the effect of section three of the Partnership Act, 1890, or shall prejudice the provisions of the Friendly Societies Act, 1896, or of section fourteen of the Trustee Savings Banks Act, 1863, or the provisions of any enactment relating to deeds of arrangement respecting the payment of expenses incurred by the trustee under a deed of arrangement which has been avoided by the bankruptcy of the debtor (l). 53 & 54 Vict. c. 39.
59 & 60 Vict. c. 25.
26 & 27 Vict. c. 37.

* * * * *

(a) This Act repeals the Bankruptcy Act, 1883 (1 Halsbury's Statutes 581), and the sections which are here set out are in substance a re-enactment of those of the earlier Act relating to the preferential payments in bankruptcy.

For the corresponding provisions of the Companies Act, 1929, relating to preferential payments in the winding-up of companies, see that Act, Vol. V. and 2 Halsbury's Statutes 775.

As to when a bankruptcy commences, see Re Bumpus, Ex parte White, [1908] 2 K. B. 330; 5 Digest 646, 5794.

(b) These words must be read subject to s. 130 (6) of the Act (1 Halsbury's Statutes 691), which provides that in the administration of the property of a deceased debtor under an order of administration the official receiver or trustee shall have regard to any claim by the legal personal representative of the deceased debtor to payment of the proper funeral and testamentary expenses incurred by him in and about the debtor's estate, and such claims shall be deemed a preferential debt under the order, and shall, notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the provisions of the Act relating to the priority of other debts, be payable in full out of the debtor's estate in priority to all other debts.

(c) This expression would include general rates made by an urban or rural authority. It does not include harbour dues (Re H. & Co. (1891), 27 L. R. Ir. 271; 4 Digest 474, 4280 i). It was held Re Mannesman Tube Co., [1901] 2 Ch. 93; 65 J. P. 377; 10 Digest 798, 5042 (apparently without argument), to include meter charges for water: sed quere. The Mannesman Tube case was not followed by a county court judge in Worthing Corporation v. Orbell (1923), 45 M. C. C. 217, who applied the definition of "local rate" contained in the Local Loans Act, 1875, s. 34, ante, p. 4541, and held that a water rate was not a "local rate" within the Act since it was not applicable for public local purposes. See also Re An Arranging Debtor, [1921] 2 Ir. R. 1.

(d) A. was assessed to a local rate as the occupier of certain premises, and his rate was payable in advance for half a year on October 8th, 1886. On January 17th, 1887, A. became bankrupt, and at that time the rate remained unpaid. On February 1st, 1887, the official receiver, as trustee, sold A.'s interest in the premises to B., who allowed A. to remain in occupation as his tenant. The rate was claimed from the trustee for the whole half-year; the trustee offered to pay the proportion of it up to February 1st, being for the period during which he continued occupier. Held, that the bankrupt had not ceased to be occupier, and that the trustee was liable for the rate for the whole half-year (Ex parte Ystradgynodwg L. B., Re Thomas (1887), 57 L. J. Q. B. 39; 58 L. T. 113; 4 Digest 474, 4282). See also in Re Smith, Ex parte Mason, ante, p. 4310. Where a trustee in bankruptcy entered upon the premises of the bankrupt and subsequently disclaimed the tenancy under s. 54 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1914 (1 Halsbury's Statutes 655), the trustee was held personally liable for the rates on the premises during the period between his entry and the subsequent disclaimer (Re Lister, Ex parte Bradford Overseers and Bradford Corporation, [1926] 1 Ch. 149; 90 J. P. 33; Digest Supp.).

(e) See Re Smith, Ex parte Fox (1886), 17 Q. B. D. 4; 4 Digest 477, 4315; Re Klein, Ex parte Goodwin, [1906] W. N. 148; 22 T. L. R. 664; 4 Digest 475, 4287; Cairney v. Back, [1906] 2 K. B. 746; 4 Digest 476, 4299; Re Newspaper Proprietary Syndicate, Ltd., [1900] 2 Ch. 349; 4 Digest 476, 4298; Winter German Opera, Ltd. (1907), 23 T. L. R. 662; 42 Digest 909, 58. The wages or salary referred to in this paragraph apply to the said wages or salary whether or not earned wholly or in part by way of commission (Bankruptcy (Amendment) Act, 1926, s. 2 (1 Halsbury's Statutes 716)).

The reference to local rates in this paragraph includes sums due on account of the spindles levy under the Cotton Spinning Industry Act, 1936, s. 19 (29 Halsbury's Statutes 999).

(f) Words in italics repealed by the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923, s. 31 and Sched. II. (11 Halsbury's Statutes 513).

(g) This exception is taken from the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, s. 5 (3). The costs of obtaining an award under that Act are not, however, a priority payment. See Re Jinks, [1914] W. N. 337; 112 L. T. 88; 34 Digest 489, 4037.

(h) This exception was taken from the National Insurance Act, 1911, s. 110, see now s. 106 of the National Health Insurance Act, 1924.

(i) This sub-section was an addition to the previous law. The landlord who has distrained within the three months herein mentioned, must, out of the proceeds of his distress, pay the rates and other preferential debts mentioned in the section, but he, in turn, will have the right to be repaid before other creditors.

(k) The priority as to rates, etc., applies in the case of a deceased insolvent whose estate is being administered in the Chancery Division (Re Heywood, Parkington v. Heywood, [1897] 2 Ch. 593; 4 Digest 474, 4279).

(l) The Law of Partnership Act, 1865, was repealed by the Partnership Act, 1890 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 529); but s. 5 was, in effect, reproduced by ss. 2 (3) (d) (e) and 3 (op. cit. 531, 532) thereof. By s. 2 (op. cit. 530), in determining whether a partnership does or does not exist, regard shall be had to the following rules: (3) The receipt by a person of a share of the profits of a business is prima facie evidence that he is a partner in the business, but the receipt of such a share or of a payment contingent on or varying with the profits of a business does not of itself make him a partner in the business; and in particular (d) the advance of money by way of loan to a person engaged or about to engage in any business on a contract with that person that the lender shall receive a rate of interest varying with the profits, or shall receive a share of the profits arising from carrying on the business, does not of itself make the lender a partner with the person or persons carrying on the business or liable as such. Provided that the contract is in writing, and signed by or on behalf of all the parties thereto; (e) a person receiving by way of annuity or otherwise a portion of the profits of a business in consideration of a sale by him of the goodwill of the business is not by reason only of such receipt a partner in the business or liable as such. And by s. 3 of the same Act, in the event of any person to whom money has been advanced by way of loan upon such a contract as is mentioned in the last foregoing section, or of any buyer of a goodwill in consideration of a share of the profits of the business, being adjudged a bankrupt, entering into an arrangement to pay his creditors less than twenty shillings in the pound, or dying in insolvent circumstances, the lender of the loan shall not be entitled to recover anything in respect of his loan; and the seller of the goodwill shall not be entitled to recover anything in respect of the share of profits contracted for until the claims of the other creditors of the borrower or buyer for valuable consideration in money or money's worth have been satisfied. But this section does not deprive the lender of his right to retain any security he may have taken for his money nor to foreclose his security (Re Lonergan, Ex parte Sheil (1877), 4 Ch. D. 789; 4 Digest 484, 4353; Badeley v. Consolidated Bank (1886), 34 Ch. D. 536; 26 Digest 121, 854).

The Friendly Societies Act, 1875, is now repealed by the Friendly Societies Act, 1896 (8 Halsbury's Statutes 933), but the provisions of s. 15 (7) are reproduced by s. 35 of that Act (op. cit. 953) as follows, viz. (1) In the following cases, namely, (a) upon the death or bankruptcy of any officer of a registered society or branch having in his possession by virtue of his office any money or property belonging to the society or branch; or (b) if any execution, attachment, or other process is issued, or action or diligence raised against any such officer or against his property, his heirs, executors, or administrators, or trustee in bankruptcy, or the sheriff or other person executing the process, or the party using the action or diligence respectively, shall, upon demand in writing of the trustees of the society or branch, or of any two of them, or of any person authorised by the society or branch or by the committee thereof, to make the demand, pay the money, and deliver over the property to the trustees of the society or branch in preference to any other debt or claim against the estate of the officer. (2) In this section the expression "bankruptcy" shall include liquidation of a debtor's affairs by arrangement in England, Cessio bonorum of a debtor in Scotland, and a petition for arrangements with creditors in Ireland; and the expression "trustee in bankruptcy" shall include a judicial factor in Scotland, and an assignee in Ireland. Upon the bankruptcy of an officer of a friendly society the trustees are, under this sub-section, entitled to preferential payment of sums received by him by virtue of his office, notwithstanding that these sums cannot be specifically traced, and are not at the time of the bankruptcy in his actual possession (Re Miller, Ex parte Official Receiver, [1893] 1 Q. B. 327; 57 J. P. 469; 4 Digest 472, 4265, applied to the case of an ex-officer in Re Filbeck, [1910] 1 K. B. 136; 4 Digest 471, 4250).

The Trustee Savings Bank Act, 1863, s. 14 (17 Halsbury's Statutes 718), provides that the executors, trustees in bankruptcy, etc., of officers of savings banks shall pay any money due to savings banks before any other debts.

THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT (EMERGENCY PROVISIONS) ACT, 1916.

(6 & 7 GEO. 5, c. 12.)

An Act to make provision with respect to Officers and Servants of Local Authorities serving in or with His Majesty's Forces and to make various administrative provisions with a view to economy in money and labour in connection with the present War. [17th May 1916.]

This Act with the exception of ss. 2, 3, 16, 17, 18 and 23 (4), was originally temporary only, but by s. 1 and Sched. I. of the Expiring Laws Act, 1925 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1182), the following sections were also made permanent: ss. 5 (now repealed), 12, 13 (1) (now repealed), (2) and (3), 14 (now repealed), 21, 22 except para. (3) and 24 (1) (10 Halsbury's Statutes 854, 856).

S. 17, which is now spent, was repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183), and s. 13 (3) (10 Halsbury's Statutes 856) is repealed by the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 883.

PART I.

PROVISIONS AS TO OFFICERS OF LOCAL AUTHORITIES IN NAVAL OR MILITARY SERVICE.

1. . . .

This section, which related to the payments to officers, etc., of local authorities in naval or military service during the war which began in 1914, is now spent and was repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183). The following cases which were decided under this section or contracts to the like effect may be of some assistance in arriving at the amounts payable under s. 3 of this Act, infra: Sutton v. Att.-Gen. (1923), 39 T. L. R. 295; 34 Digest 85, 629; Adams v. Liverpool Corporation (1927), 91 J. P. 106; Aylott v. West Ham Corporation, [1927] 1 Ch. 30; 90 J. P. 165; 34 Digest 85, 628; Kelsey v. Birmingham Corporation (1927), 92 J. P. 12; Stevens v. Hampstead B. C., [1929] 2 Ch. 239; 45 T. L. R. 430; Digest Supp. See also the L. G. Staffs (War Service) Act, 1939 (32 Halsbury's Statutes 1118), for similar provisions enacted during the war which began in 1939.

2. If an officer or servant of a local authority dies whilst serving in or with His Majesty's forces, or in consequence of wounds or disease received or contracted during such service which prevented him from returning to the service of the local authority, the local authority shall have, and shall be deemed always to have had, power to make to his widow or other dependants such payments as could have been made to them under any superannuation scheme (whether established by statute or otherwise) in force in the district had he been actually serving the local authority at the time of his death.

Payments under superannuation schemes.

3.—(1) All service by an officer or servant of a local authority in or with His Majesty's forces for the purposes of the present war shall, for the purposes of any enactment providing for the superannuation of such officers and servants applicable to his case, be aggregated and reckoned with his

Reckoning service for tion.

Section 3.

service as an officer or servant of the local authority, and, unless an agreement to the contrary has been made before the passing of this Act, he shall contribute to the superannuation fund (if any) the same amounts (if any) as he would have contributed if he had continued in their actual service and had received the normal remuneration of that service.

(2) For the purposes of calculating the amount of such contributions and of superannuation allowances the amount of the salary or wages and emoluments during the period of service in or with His Majesty's forces shall be deemed to be the amount which the officer or servant would have received during that period if he had remained in the actual service of the local authority (a).

4 & 5 Geo. 5,
c. 66.

(3) Nothing in this section shall affect the provisions of the Elementary School Teachers (Superannuation) Acts, 1898 to 1912 (b), or of the Elementary School Teachers (War Service Superannuation) Act, 1914.

As to service in connection with naval or military operations counting as actual naval or military service, see s. 21, post, p. 5151.

Reference may be made to the Local Government Superannuation Act, 1937, ante, p. 2057.

(a) As to the inclusion of war bonuses under a local Act, see Cannon v. Southwark B. C. (1929), 45 T. L. R. 403; Digest Supp. See also the cases cited in the note to s. 1, ante, p. 5149, as to the salary payable during war service.

(b) These Acts were amended by the School Teachers (Superannuation) Act, 1918 (7 Halsbury's Statutes 303), the School Teachers (Superannuation) Act, 1922 (op. cit., 314), and the Teachers (Superannuation) Acts, 1924 and 1925 (op. cit., 316, 317).

PART II.

MISCELLANEOUS ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISIONS.

5. [Repealed by the P. H. A., 1936, s. 346 (1), Sched. III., ante, pp. 720, 732.]

Use of local authority's premises and officers for military purposes.

6. The use of any institution, building, or other premises belonging to any local authority for the accommodation of sick or wounded sailors or soldiers, or for other purposes in connection with the present war, and any expenditure incurred in connection therewith, shall be deemed to be and always to have been lawful, and the service or employment of any officers or servants of a local authority in or about any institution, building, or other premises so used or otherwise, with the consent of the local authority, in connection with the present war shall be deemed for all purposes to be and always to have been service or employment under that local authority:

Provided that, except in the case of—

(a) a shire, county, town, or district hall and offices connected therewith; and

(b) the temporary use of other premises in case of urgent necessity; this section shall not authorise the use after the passing of this Act for such purposes as aforesaid of any such institution, building, or premises unless the approval of the appropriate Government department has been obtained.

This section was made permanent by the Expiring Laws Act, 1931 (24 Halsbury's Statutes 445), but only to such extent as it confers rights on officers or servants of a local authority in respect of their service or employment in or about certain premises.

Simplifying mode of giving sanctions, etc.

12.—(1) Notwithstanding any statutory or other provision requiring a sanction, assent, approval, authority or direction of the [Minister of Health] to be given, altered or varied by order or by instrument under seal, any such sanction, assent, approval, authority or direction may be given, altered or varied in a letter or other writing signed by a secretary or assistant secretary of the [Ministry], and shall be as valid in all respects and shall have the same effect as if it had been given by an order of the [Minister] or by an instrument under the seal of the [Minister], and for the purposes of the Documentary Evidence Act, 1868, as amended by any subsequent enactment, such letter or writing shall be deemed to be an order of the Board. Section 12.

(2) This section shall not apply to Scotland or Ireland.

"Minister of Health" and "Minister" or "Ministry" have been substituted for Local Government Board and Board throughout this section in consequence of Ministry of Health Act, 1919, post, p. 5191. The section was made permanent by the Expiring Laws Act, 1925 (18 Halsbury's Statutes, 1181).

31 & 32 Vict.
c. 37.

13.—(1) . . .

(2) A local authority shall not be required to report to the Local Government Board the proceedings of its assessment committee or to make to that Board any return of the superannuation allowances and gratuities paid under the Poor Law Officers' Superannuation Act, 1896.

This sub-section, so far as it relates to assessment committees, has not been repealed, but see now Sched. I., r. 7, of the R. and V. Act, 1925, ante, p. 2237.

PART III.

GENERAL.

21. For the purposes of this Act the expression "local authority" means any person or body of persons who receive or expend the proceeds of any local rate and any other public body which the [Minister of Health] may determine to be a local authority, but overseers of the poor (a) shall not be included except by direction of that [Minister]: Interpretation.

Provided that where any such authority is a police authority it shall not, as such, be deemed, for the purposes of Part I. of this Act, to be a local authority.

In England and Wales a teacher, officer, or servant appointed by the managers of a public elementary school not provided by the local education authority shall, and a teacher, officer, or servant of an institution aided by a local education authority out of the proceeds of any rate, may, if that authority think fit, be deemed, for the purposes of this Act, to be an officer or servant of the local education authority concerned.

Where the Board of Education certify to the [Minister of Health] that it is expedient that this Act shall apply to any public educational institution, this Act shall apply thereto, notwithstanding any trust affecting the institution, as if the managers or other governing body of the institution were a local authority, and the teachers, officers, and servants of the institution were officers and servants of a local authority.

Section 21. For the purposes of this Act, or for such of them as may be specified by the [Minister of Health], service in connection with naval or military operations which that [Minister] considers may properly be treated in the same manner as actual naval or military service shall be deemed to be service with His Majesty's forces.

Except where the context otherwise requires the expression "allowances" means the separation allowances made to the wives and families and dependants of sailors and soldiers, and includes family allowances for soldiers living at their own homes in the United Kingdom.

The expression "civil remuneration" includes the salary or wages and other emoluments which the officer or servant would have been receiving if he had remained in the actual service of the local authority.

"Minister of Health" and "Minister" have been substituted throughout this section for "Local Government" and "Board" in consequence of Ministry of Health Act, 1919, post, p. 5191.

(a) Overseers were abolished by the R. & V. Act, 1925, s. 62, ante, p. 2222. Their powers and duties have been in the main transferred to the rating authority. See, however, the Overseers Order, 1927, ante, p. 3595.

22. [Application to Scotland.]

* * * * *

Short title and duration.

24.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Local Government (Emergency Provisions) Act, 1916.

(2) This Act, except the provisions of sections two, three, sixteen, seventeen, eighteen and paragraph (4) of section twenty-three thereof, shall have effect only during the continuance of the present war and afterwards for such period or periods (if any) not exceeding one year as the Local Government Board may fix; and the Board may fix different periods for different provisions of the Act.

This sub-section was repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183), but its effect had meantime been varied, see the first note on p. 5149, ante.

THE GAS (STANDARD OF CALORIFIC POWER) ACT, 1916.

(6 & 7 GEO. 5, c. 25.)

An Act to authorise as respects gas undertakings the substitution of a standard of calorific power for a standard of illuminating power (a).

[3rd August, 1916.]

Power to substitute standard of calorific power for standard of illuminating power.

1.—(1) Where, by virtue of any Act or Order confirmed by Act of Parliament regulating the undertaking of any company, authority, or person authorised to supply gas in any area in the United Kingdom (hereinafter referred to as the undertakers), the gas supplied by the undertakers is required to be of a prescribed illuminating power, and the undertakers are liable to penalties in the case of the illuminating power of the gas provided by them being less than, or being less by a prescribed extent than, such prescribed illuminating power, then on application being made by the undertakers the appropriate Government department (b) may, if they think it expedient, and subject to such conditions, if any, as they consider proper, including such variation as they may think desirable of the prescribed pressure at which the gas is to be supplied, by order—

(a) substitute for the prescribed standard of illuminating power a prescribed standard of calorific power;

(b) exempt the undertakers from penalties in respect of a deficiency in illuminating power and substitute for the provisions imposing such penalties provisions imposing penalties in the case of deficiency in calorific power; and

(c) substitute for the provisions as to testing for illuminating power Section 1.
provisions as to testing for calorific power ;
and on the making of such an order the Act or Order regulating the undertaking shall have effect as amended by the order.

(2) In considering the expediency of making such an order the department shall have special regard to whether the undertakers have erected and worked, or are prepared to erect and work, suitable crude benzol recovery plant for the production of benzol and toluol.

(3) Before making an order under this section the appropriate Government department (b) shall require the undertakers to give public notice, in such manner as the department may consider best adapted for informing persons affected, of the application for an order under this section, and of the calorific standard proposed to be adopted, and as to the manner in which and time within which objections may be made, and shall consider any objections which may be duly made, and shall, where they think it expedient to do so, hold an inquiry, and the costs (if any) incurred by the department in connection with the inquiry shall be borne by the undertakers.

(4) For the purposes of this section "the appropriate Government department" means—

(a) in cases where the undertakers are a local authority, the Local Government Board (c), or the Secretary for Scotland, or the Local Government Board for Ireland, as the case may be ; and

(b) in any other case, the Board of Trade.

(a) The special Act or order applicable to a gas undertaking makes provision for a standard of illuminating power, the minimum power usually required being a light equal to fourteen sperm candles. For some time past, however, conditions have changed, consequent on the introduction of the incandescent gas mantle and the development of the use of gas for cooking, heating, and power, whereby the importance of a high illuminating power is greatly lessened. The Act provides that, subject to certain conditions, a standard of calorific power may be substituted for the prescribed standard of illuminating power. See generally as to the latter standard the provisions of the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871, ante, p. 4307.

See further as to the power of the Board of Trade to make orders providing for the repeal of any enactments or other provisions requiring the undertakers to supply gas of any particular illuminating or calorific value, and for substituting power to charge for thermal units supplied in the form of gas, the Gas Regulation Act, 1920, Vol. V., post. The Gas Undertakings Act, 1929, Vol. V. and 8 Halsbury's Statutes 1293, requires the Board of Trade to make such orders in the case of undertakers supplying more than 20 million cubic feet of gas in any year subsequent to 1927.

(b) See the definition of this expression in sub-s. (4).

(c) The powers under this Act were transferred to the Minister of Health by the Ministry of Health Act, 1919, s. 3 (1), post, p. 5191. They have again been transferred to the Board of Trade by an Order in Council made on November 9th, 1920, under sub-ss. (3) and (4) of the same section.

2. This Act may be cited as the Gas (Standard of Calorific Power) Act, Short title. 1916.

THE WAR CHARITIES ACT, 1916.

(6 & 7 GEO. 5, c. 43.)

An Act to provide for the Registration of Charities for purposes connected with the present War (a). [23rd August, 1916.]

1.—(1) It shall not be lawful to make any appeal to the public for donations or subscriptions in money or in kind to any war charity as herein-after defined, or to raise or attempt to raise money for any such charity by promoting any bazaar, sale, entertainment or exhibition, or by any similar means, unless the charity is registered under this Act and the approval in writing of the committee or other governing body of the charity has been

Prohibition against raising money for war charities unless registered.

Section 1. obtained, either directly or through any person duly authorised to give such approval on behalf of such governing body, and if any person contravenes the provisions of this section he shall be guilty of an offence against this Act:

Provided that this Act shall not apply to any collection at divine service in a place of public worship nor to any charity which may, under any regulations made under this Act, be exempted by the registration authority from the provisions of this section.

(2) This section, so far as it relates to registration, shall not apply to any charity until the expiration of one month after the passing of this Act, nor to any charity pending the decision of the registration authority on an application for the registration of such charity made within such month (b).

(a) This Act is repealed by the War Charities Act, 1940, Vol. V. and 33 Halsbury's Statutes 47, but is included in the present volume because of the duties it imposes on the councils of boroughs and urban districts in connection with the registration of charities for the blind to which it was applied by the Blind Persons Act, 1920, s. 3 (20 Halsbury's Statutes 595), and for which purpose it is saved from repeal by Proviso (a) to s. 14 (3) of the 1940 Act, Vol. V. and 33 Halsbury's Statutes 36.

(b) Repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

Registration of war charities.

2.—(1) The registration authority shall —

- (a) as respects the City of London, be the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London in common council assembled;
- (b) as respects a municipal borough or urban district, be the council of the borough or district;
- (c) elsewhere, be the county council (a):

(2) Applications for registration or exemption under this Act shall be sent to the registration authority for the area in which the administrative centre of the charity is situate, and any question as to where the administrative centre of any charity is situate shall be finally determined by the Charity Commissioners.

(3) The registration authority may, before registering any charity, make such inquiries with respect to the charity as they think fit, but shall not refuse to register any charity having its administrative centre within the area of the authority unless they are satisfied that the charity is not established in good faith for charitable purposes, or will not comply with the conditions imposed by this Act, or that it will not be properly administered.

(4) An appeal from a refusal by a registration authority to register any charity shall lie to the Charity Commissioners, and, if as the result of such appeal the Charity Commissioners determine that the application for registration ought not to be refused, the registration authority shall register the charity.

(5) Every registration authority shall give to each charity registered or exempted a certificate of registration or exemption, and shall keep a register of the charities registered by them under this Act, and lists of all charities registration of which has been refused by them and of all charities which have been exempted from registration by them, and shall send to the Charity Commissioners a copy of such register and such lists, and shall from time to time notify the Charity Commissioners of any changes in the particulars entered in the register and of changes in such lists.

(6) The Charity Commissioners shall keep a combined register of all charities registered under this Act, and a combined list of all charities in respect of which applications for registration under this Act have been refused, and a combined list of all charities which have been exempted from registration under this Act.

(7) . . . (b)

(8) Any expenses incurred by the London County Council under this Act shall be defrayed out of the county fund as expenses for general county purposes. Section 2.

(a) A proviso authorising any council to act through a committee was repealed by the L. G. A., 1933; see s. 85 of that Act, ante, p. 847.

(b) Repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 735.

3. Charities registered under this Act shall comply with the following conditions— Conditions to be complied with by registered charities.

- (i) the charity shall be administered by a responsible committee or other body consisting of not less than three persons; and minutes shall be kept of the meetings of the committee or other body in which shall be recorded the names of the members of the committee or other body attending the meetings;
- (ii) proper books of account shall be kept, and such accounts shall include the total receipts and the total expenditure of any collection, bazaar, sale, entertainment, or exhibition held with the approval of the governing body of the charity, and the accounts shall be audited at such intervals as may be prescribed by regulations under this Act by some person or persons approved by the registration authority, and copies of the accounts so audited shall be sent to the registration authority;
- (iii) all moneys received by the charity shall be paid into a separate account at such bank or banks as may be specified as respects the charity in the register;
- (iv) such particulars with regard to accounts and other records as the registration authority or the Charity Commissioners may require shall be furnished to the registration authority or the Charity Commissioners, and the books and accounts of the charity shall be open to inspection at any time by any person duly authorised by the registration authority or by the Charity Commissioners.

4. The Charity Commissioners may, subject to the approval of the Secretary of State, make regulations (a)— Regulations.

- (a) prescribing the forms for applications under this Act and the particulars to be contained therein;
- (b) prescribing the form of the registers to be kept under this Act and the particulars to be entered therein;
- (c) providing for the inspection of registers and lists kept under this Act, and the making and the furnishing and certification of copies thereof and extracts therefrom;
- (d) prescribing the fee (not exceeding ten shillings) to be paid on registration, and the fees for making or obtaining copies of, and extracts from, registers and lists;
- (e) requiring notification to the registration authority of any changes requiring alterations in the particulars entered in the register;
- (f) providing for the exemption of charities from this Act and prescribing the grounds of exemption;
- (g) generally for carrying this Act into effect.

(a) Various regulations under this section relating to war charities and to charities for the blind (to which this Act has been extended) have been made by the Commissioners. These are too long for insertion here, but they will be found in the annual volumes on Local Government published by Butterworth & Co.

5.—(1) The registration authority, if satisfied that any charity registered under this Act is not being carried on in good faith for charitable purposes, or is not complying with any of the conditions imposed under this Act, or is Removal from the register.

Section 5. not being properly administered, may remove the charity from the register, and shall notify such removal to the Charity Commissioners, and if they so remove it shall give public notice of its removal :

Provided that an appeal shall lie to the Charity Commissioners against the decision of the registration authority to remove a charity from the register.

(2) Where any charity is removed from the register the Charity Commissioners may, notwithstanding that an appeal is pending,—

(a) order any bank or other person who holds money or securities on behalf of the charity not to part with such money or securities without the authority of the Commissioners ;

(b) order any cash or securities held for any such charity to be paid or transferred to the Official Trustees of Charitable Funds and for that purpose may make, without any application to them for the purpose, any such order as they are authorised under section two of the Charitable Trusts Act, 1860, to make ;

28 & 24 Vict.
c. 136.

and if any person fails to comply with any such order he shall, without prejudice to any other liability, be guilty of an offence against this Act.

(3) The Charity Commissioners may also, where a charity is removed from the register, establish a scheme for the regulation of the charity in accordance with their ordinary jurisdiction under the Charitable Trusts Acts, 1853 to 1914, as if the charity were a charity within the jurisdiction of the Commissioners under those Acts, but without the necessity of any application being made for the purpose.

Powers of Charity Commissioners for purposes of appeals.

6. For the purposes of an appeal under this Act the Charity Commissioners shall, in relation to charities registered or applying to be registered under this Act, have all such powers with respect to requiring accounts, statements, written answers to inquiries, the attendance of persons for examination on oath or otherwise, the production of documents, the furnishing of copies and extracts from documents, the examination of registers and records, and the transmission of documents for examination, as are exercisable by them under the Charitable Trusts Acts, 1853 to 1914, in relation to charities within the jurisdiction of the Commissioners under those Acts, and those Acts shall apply accordingly.

Powers as to
war charities.

7.—(1) Where the Charity Commissioners are satisfied on the representation of the registration authority or a chief officer of police that there is reasonable ground for believing that any unregistered war charity is not being or has not been carried on in good faith for charitable purposes, or is not complying or has not complied with conditions substantially corresponding with the conditions imposed on registered charities under this Act, or is not being or has not been properly administered, the Commissioners may exercise as respects the charity any of the powers which are exercisable by them with respect to a charity which, having been registered under this Act, has been removed from the register, and for the purpose of an inquiry into any charity under this section the Charity Commissioners shall have such powers in relation to the charity as are conferred by this Act on the Commissioners for the purposes of appeals :

Provided that the Charity Commissioners shall not exercise the power of establishing a scheme for the regulation of any charity under this section without giving the charity a full opportunity of being heard.

(2) This section shall apply to unregistered war charities whether or not an application for registration has been made, and to war charities registration of which has been refused.

8. If any person in any application for registration or exemption or in any notification of any change requiring alterations in the registered particulars makes any false statement or false representation, or if any person falsely represents himself to be an officer or agent of a war charity, or if he fails to send any notification which he is required under this Act to send, he shall be guilty of an offence against this Act. Section 8.
False statements, etc.

9.—(1) Any person guilty of an offence against this Act shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds, or to imprisonment with or without hard labour for a term not exceeding three months. Penalties for offences.

(2) No proceedings for an offence against this Act shall be instituted except by or with the consent of the Charity Commissioners.

10. For the purposes of this Act—

The expression “war charity” means any fund, institution, or association (whether established before or after the commencement of this Act) having for its object or amongst its objects the relief of suffering or distress, the supply of needs or comforts, or any other charitable purpose connected with the present war, but shall not include any fund, institution or association established before the commencement of the present war where any such object as aforesaid is subsidiary only to the principal purposes of the charity (a), nor shall it include the Royal Patriotic Fund Corporation or the Statutory Committee or any local or district committee established under the Naval and Military War Pensions, etc., Act, 1915. Interpretation.
5 & 6 Geo. 5,
c. 83.

Any question whether a charity is a war charity shall be finally determined by the Charity Commissioners.

(a) A registered trade union may be a “war charity” within this Act as extended by Blind Persons Act, 1920 (20 Halsbury’s Statutes 593) (Barber v. Chudley (1922), 87 J. P. 69; Digest Supp.).

THE DEFENCE OF THE REALM (ACQUISITION OF LAND) ACT, 1916.

(6 & 7 GEO. 5, c. 63.)

An Act to make provision with respect to the possession and acquisition of land occupied or used for the Defence of the Realm in connection with the present War and for other purposes connected therewith (a).

[22nd December, 1916.]

1 (b).—[Continuation of possession of land occupied for the purposes of the defence of the realm.]

(a) This Act is amended by Defence of the Realm (Acquisition of Land) Act, 1920, Vol. V., post. Those parts of the Act which are now spent have been repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury’s Statutes 1183).

(b) Repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927.

2 (a).—[Power to remove buildings and works.]

(a) Repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (op. cit.).

Section 3. 3 (a).—[Power to acquire land permanently.]

(a) This section with the exception of sub-s. (7) was repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

(7) Any person having power (whether subject to any consent or conditions or not) to sell land authorised to be acquired by any Government department may, subject to the like consent and conditions, grant or demise the land in perpetuity or for any term of years to the Government department at such fee farm or other rent, secured by such condition of re-entry or otherwise as may be agreed upon, and with or without a right of renewal, or grant to the Government department an option to acquire the land:

Provided that, where the power to sell arises under the Settled Lands Acts, 1882 to 1890, the powers conferred by this section shall be exercised only with the consent of the trustees of the settlement for the purposes of those Acts, or with the sanction of the court.

User of land acquired.

4. Any land which, or an interest in which, has been acquired under this Act may be used by any Government department for the purpose for which it was used during the war or for any other purpose for which it could have been used had the land been acquired under the Defence Acts, 1842 to 1873 (a), or the Military Lands Acts, 1892 to 1903 (b), notwithstanding that such user could, but for this Act, have been restrained as being in contravention of any covenant or for any other reason, and no person interested in any adjoining or neighbouring land or entitled to any riparian rights shall be entitled to restrain such user; but if, apart from this Act, any such person would have been entitled to restrain such user, then, if application for the purpose is made within three years after the date of the acquisition of the land under this Act or after the commencement of the user causing the depreciation, whichever may be the later, he shall,—

- (i) if the land is used for a purpose for which it could have been used had the land been acquired under the Defence Acts, 1842 to 1873, or the Military Lands Acts, 1892 to 1903, be entitled to such compensation in respect of any breach of a restrictive covenant or damage caused by the pollution, abstraction, or diversion of water, or by the emission of noxious fumes, as in default of agreement may be determined in manner provided by this Act (c); and
- (ii) if the land is used for any other purpose, be entitled to such compensation in respect of any damage occasioned by such user as in default of agreement may be determined in manner provided by this Act (c):

Provided that—

- (a) where such compensation is claimed in respect of any land, the department may, at any time before such claim is determined, and on payment of all costs properly incurred by the claimant in respect of his claim, require the claimant to sell the land or his interest therein at such price as would have been proper if the value of the land had not been so depreciated, such price in default of agreement to be determined in like manner as if the land had been acquired under section three of this Act; and
- (b) nothing in this section shall be construed as depriving any person of any right to recover damages in respect of any injury to property caused by accident due to such user as aforesaid; and
- (c) in the user of land or an interest in land acquired under this Act the provisions of the Alkali, &c. Works Regulation Act, 1906 (d), and the Rivers Pollution Prevention Acts, 1876 and 1893 (e), and of any local Act dealing with the like matters, shall be complied with, and those Acts shall apply accordingly, and

6 Edw. 7, c. 14.
39 & 40 Vict.
c. 75.
56 & 57 Vict.
c. 31.

nothing in this section shall affect the powers conferred by any Act, whether public, general or local, on any local authority, board of conservancy, or other public authority, with respect to the prevention of the pollution of rivers, or the abatement of nuisances caused by the emission of smoke or other noxious fumes. Section 4.

(a) These Acts are Defence Act, 1842; Defence Act, 1860; Defence Acts Amendment Act, 1873 (3 Halsbury's Statutes 467, 488, 500).

(b) These Acts are Military Lands Acts, 1892, 1897, 1900 and 1903 (17 Halsbury's Statutes 574, 589, 597, 599).

(c) See s. 8, post, p. 5161. See also the provision in Defence of the Realm (Acquisition of Land) Act, 1920, s. 1 (2), Vol. V., post, as to compensation in respect of the sale of land free from restrictive covenants.

(d) See the Act referred to, Alkali, etc., Works Regulation Act, 1906, ante, p. 5003.

(e) These Acts are Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876, ante, p. 4581, and Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1893, ante, p. 4872.

5.—(1) Where any land or any interest therein has by virtue of this Act been acquired by any Government department, the department may at any time thereafter sell, lease, or otherwise dispose of the land or interest (a). Power to sell land acquired under Act.

(2) Where any such land is disposed of, then on the execution and delivery to the purchaser by the Government department concerned of the necessary or proper assurance of the land disposed of, the purchaser shall notwithstanding any defect in the title of such Government department thereto stand possessed thereof for such estate or interest as may be expressed or intended to be assured to him, freed and absolutely discharged (save as in the assurance may be expressed) from all prior estates, interests, rights, and claims therein or thereto:

Provided that if at any time after such disposition any such prior estate, interest, right, or claim as aforesaid is established by the person entitled thereto, there shall be paid to such person compensation to be determined in manner provided by the Lands Clauses Acts, as modified by this Act, with respect to interests in lands which by mistake have been omitted to be purchased (b).

(3) Before any Government department sell any land so acquired or interest therein they shall, unless such land is land upon which buildings of a permanent nature have been erected wholly or partly at the expense of the State or at the request of, or by arrangement with, any Government department, or is land used in connection with such buildings, first offer to sell the same to the person then entitled to the lands (if any) from which the same were originally severed; or if such person refuse to purchase the same, or cannot after diligent inquiry be found, then the like offer shall be made to the person or to the several persons whose lands shall immediately adjoin the lands so proposed to be sold (c).

(4) If any such persons be desirous of purchasing such lands, then within six weeks after such offer they shall signify their desire in that behalf to the Government department concerned, or if they decline such offer, or if for six weeks they neglect to signify their desire to purchase such lands, the right of pre-emption of every such person so declining or neglecting in respect of the lands included in such offer shall cease.

(5) If any person entitled to such pre-emption be desirous of purchasing any such lands and such person and the Government department concerned do not agree as to the price thereof, or other consideration therefor, then such price or other consideration shall be determined in manner provided by this Act (d).

(6) The provisions of the last three foregoing subsections shall apply in the case of a lease of land for a term exceeding twenty-one years in like manner as they apply to a sale of land, except where the land is leased for the purpose of the development thereof in connection with any factory,

Section 5. building, camp, or other premises erected or established on land retained by the Government.

(a) As to the power to dispose of land free from restrictive covenants, see Defence of the Realm (Acquisition of Land) Act, 1920, s. 1, Vol. V., post.

(b) The provisions of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, ante, p. 4104, as to interest in lands which by mistake have been omitted to be purchased, are contained in ss. 124—126 of that Act, ante, pp. 4149, 4150. The schedule to this Act does not modify these provisions, except in so far as it affects compensation generally.

(c) This provision, and that in each of the three following sub-sections, take the place of the sections of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, ss. 128—131 (2 Halsbury's Statutes 1159), which were expressly excluded from incorporation in this Act by r. 2 of the Schedule. The words in italics are repealed by Defence of the Realm (Acquisition of Land) Act, 1920, s. 2 (1), Vol. V., post.

(d) See s. 8, post, p. 5161.

Provisions as to highways.

6.—(1) Where, in the exercise or purported exercise of any prerogative right of His Majesty or any powers conferred by or under any enactment relating to the defence of the realm, or by agreement, or otherwise, for purposes connected with the present war, any railway or tramway or any cable line or pipes have been laid along, across, over, or under any public highway, it shall be lawful after the termination of the war (a) for the railway or tramway or the cable line or pipes to continue to be used and maintained along, across, over, or under the highway, subject to such conditions as the Board of Trade (b), in the case of railways and tramways, and in other cases as the Commission (c) after giving the local authority (d) and the authority or person responsible for the maintenance of the highway or of any other railway or tramway laid thereon an opportunity of being heard, may by order prescribe, and any such authority or person may apply to the Board or Commission to make such an order :

Provided that where any such railway or tramway crosses the roadway on the level it shall not be lawful to use the crossing after the expiration of two years from the termination of the present war (a) without the consent of the local authority (e).

(2) In the event of the use of any such railway or tramway (f) being discontinued, the Government department by whom it was laid down or used shall take up and remove the rails and restore the highway on which they are laid to the satisfaction of the authority or person responsible for the maintenance of such highway.

(3) Where in exercise of any such right or powers as aforesaid any public highway has been closed, it may be kept closed after the termination of the present war (a), but not, by virtue of this section, beyond the expiration of twelve months after such termination unless the consent of the Commission is obtained (g), and the Commission before giving such consent shall give to the local authority and the authority or person responsible for the maintenance of the highway an opportunity of being heard, and the Commission may require as a condition of their consent the provision of another highway in the place of the highway so closed, and any person interested in any land adjoining any highway so closed who suffers loss or damage in consequence of the closing thereof shall be entitled to such compensation as, in default of agreement, may be determined in manner provided by this Act to be the amount of such loss or damage (h).

(4) For the purposes of this section the expression "local authority" means, in the case of a borough or urban district, the council of the borough or urban district, and elsewhere the county council.

(5) Where any such railway, tramway, cable line, or pipes have been laid along, across, over, or under any public highway, or a public highway has been closed, in pursuance of an agreement with, or subject to any undertaking given to, the authority or person responsible for the maintenance of the highway, nothing in this section shall authorise the continuance of the user of the railway, tramway, cable line, or pipes, or the continuance of the closing of the highway beyond the time specified in the agreement or undertaking without the consent of the authority or person so responsible.

Section 6.

(a) As to the date of the termination of the war see the Termination of the Present War (Definition) Act, 1918, post, p. 5190. By an Order in Council under that Act dated August 10th, 1921, the date fixed was August 31st, 1921 (S. R. & O. (1921), No. 1276).

(b) Now M. of T. (see Ministry of Transport Act, 1919 (post, p. 5197), and orders made thereunder).

(c) That is the Railway and Canal Commission.

(d) See sub-s. (4).

(e) See sub-s. (4). As to the right of appeal where the consent is unreasonably withheld see s. 4 (2) of the Act of 1920, Vol. V., post. See also the power of the Commission to grant an extension of time under this section in s. 1 (1) of the Railway and Canal Commission (Consents) Act, 1922, Vol. V., post.

(f) Note, not a cable line or pipes.

(g) See also the Railway and Canal Commission (Consents) Act, 1922, Vol. V., post, and Secretary of State for War v. Middlesex County Council (1923), 39 T. L. R. 357; 21 L. G. R. 291; Digest Supp.

(h) As to the assessment of compensation, see s. 8, infra.

7 (a).—[Provisions as to water, light, heat, and power companies and authorities.]

(a) Repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

8.—(1) All questions as to compensation or as to the purchase price of land or any interest therein to be paid under this Act shall,—

- (a) if both parties agree within such time as may be allowed by the Commission, be determined by a single arbitrator agreed by the parties;
- (b) if either party so requires within such time as may be allowed by the Commission, be referred to such one of a panel of referees to be appointed in like manner as the panel appointed under Part I. of the Finance (1909–10) Act, 1910, as may be selected by the Reference Committee as defined by section thirty-three of that Act, whose decision shall, subject to an appeal to the Commission on any question of law, be final (a);
- (c) in any other case, be determined by the Commission.

(2) The provisions of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1888 (b), as amended by any subsequent enactment, relating to the procedure for the determination of questions by the Commission under that Act, including the provisions relating to appeals, shall apply to the determination of questions, including appeals from referees, referred to the Commission under this Act, as if they were herein re-enacted and in terms made applicable to this Act:

Provided that—

- (a) the Commission may in any case in which they think it expedient to do so call in the aid of one or more assessors specially qualified, and hear the case wholly or partially with the assistance of such assessors;
- (b) the Commission may hold a local enquiry for the purposes of this Act by any one of their members, or by any officer of the Commission or other person whom they may direct to hold the same, and the said provisions of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1888, except the provisions relating to appeals, shall, so far as applicable, apply to such enquiries, and any officer or person directed to hold an enquiry shall have power to administer an oath and shall report the result of the enquiry to the Commission;

- (c) the Commission may act by two of their members, one of whom shall be the judge;
- (d) the discretion of the Commission with respect to costs shall be subject to the provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts as modified by this Act as to costs, in cases where those Acts as so modified apply, but shall not be limited in the manner provided by section two of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1894 (c).

57 & 58 Vict.
c. 54.

(a) Under the Finance (1909-10) Act, 1910, s. 33, the Reference Committee for England is to consist of the Lord Chief Justice, the Master of the Rolls, and the President of the Surveyors' Institution. By s. 34 of the same Act, such number of persons, being persons who have been admitted Fellows of the Surveyors' Institution or other persons having experience in the valuation of land as may be appointed by the Reference Committee, are to form a panel of persons to act as referees for the purposes of Part I. of the Act. The provision that the decisions of the referee shall be final may be compared with Revenue Act, 1911, s. 7, under which the Commissioners of Inland Revenue have a right of appeal from the decision of a referee.

(b) See the Act, ante, p. 4705.

(c) Under the Act of 1888, ante, p. 4705, the Commissioners have no power to award costs on either side unless they are of opinion that either the claim or the defence has been frivolous or vexatious (Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1894, s. 2 (14 Halsbury's Statutes 251)). But this does not apply to cases under this Act, and in cases where the Lands Clauses Act applies the Commissioners have the powers conferred by r. 10 of the Sched.

Payment of compensation and purchase money.

9. Until Parliament otherwise determines, all compensation and purchase money payable by a Government department under this Act, and all other expenses incurred by any Government department thereunder, shall be defrayed out of money provided by Parliament.

Evidence of certificate by Government department.

10. For the purposes of this Act a certificate by any Government department—

- (a) that possession has been taken of any land for purposes connected with the present war; or
 - (b) that the department is in possession of such land or is the occupying department within the meaning of this Act; or
 - (c) that any sums therein specified have been expended by the State in erecting, constructing, or making buildings, works, or improvements for purposes connected with the present war on, over, or under any land; or
 - (d) that any such buildings, works, or improvements have been erected, constructed, or made with the consent of the occupying department at the expense of a person not being a person interested in the land; or
 - (e) that a railway or tramway has been laid along, across, over, or under a public highway, or that a public highway has been closed, in the exercise of any prerogative right of His Majesty, or any powers conferred by or under any enactment relating to the defence of the realm for purposes connected with the present war; or
 - (f) that water, light, heat, or power has been supplied to any premises on the requisition or at the request of a Government department for purposes connected with the present war;
- shall be prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated (a).

(a) The certificate is only prima facie evidence, and it may be rebutted by evidence contradicting it on any of the points above mentioned.

Application of building laws.

11.—(1) Any street, building, or work which has been formed, erected, or constructed otherwise than in accordance with the provisions of any general or local Acts relating to streets or buildings, and with any byelaws or regulations made thereunder on any land to which section one of this Act applies, or which has been acquired under section three thereof, shall, unless the authority by whom such provisions, byelaws, or regulations are enforced consent to the continuance thereof, either be so altered as to comply with such provisions, byelaws, or regulations, or be discontinued or removed within such reasonable time, not being less than two years, after such land or building has ceased to be occupied by a Government department as such authority may order, and the owner (as defined by such Acts, byelaws, or regulations) shall have power to enter upon and carry out any works without the consent of any other person, and if he fails to comply with such order such authority as aforesaid may remove any such building or work and recover the expense incurred in such removal from the owner in a summary manner as a civil debt (a).

(2) If any person feels aggrieved by the neglect or refusal of such authority to give its consent, or by the conditions on which such consent is given, or as to the time within which such discontinuance or removal is ordered, he may appeal to the Local Government Board (b), whose decision shall be final and shall have effect as if it were a decision of the authority: Provided that the Board may before considering any such appeal require the appellant to deposit such sum not exceeding ten pounds to cover the costs of appeal as may be fixed by rules to be made by them.

(a) That is to say, in manner provided by the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879, ss. 6, 35 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 325, 342).

(b) Now the Minister of Health.

12.—(1) For the purposes of this Act, and of the provisions of the Lands Interpretation. Clauses Acts incorporated with this Act, land includes any building or part of a building, any pier, jetty, or other structure on the shore or bed of the sea or any river, and any easement or right over or in relation to land.

(2) Where consideration has been given or an advance made by the State for the erection, construction, or making of any building, work, or improvement on over or under any land for purposes connected with the present war, or where any money which would otherwise have been payable to the State has with the consent of a Government department been applied towards the erection, construction, or making of any such building, work, or improvement, the building, work, or improvement shall for the purposes of this Act be deemed to have been erected, constructed, or made wholly or partly, as the case may be, at the expense of the State.

(3) For the purposes of this Act, except where the context otherwise requires, the expression "building" includes machinery and plant fixed or attached to the building, the expression "common" shall include any land subject to be enclosed under the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1882 (a), and any town or village green, and any other land subject to any right of common; the expression "open space" shall mean any land laid out as a public garden or public park or used for the purposes of public recreation; and the expression "allotment" shall mean any allotment set out for any public purpose under an Inclosure Act or award.

(4) For the purposes of this Act references to the Defence Acts, 1842 to 1873, and the Military Lands Acts, 1892 to 1903, shall include references to those Acts as applied by the Naval Works Act, 1895 (b).

(5) For the purposes of this Act a competent naval or military authority acting under the Acts relating to the Defence of the Realm shall be deemed to be a Government department.

58 & 59 Vict.
c. 35.

(a) With these Acts must now be read the Commons Act, 1899. See s. 24 of that Act, ante, p. 4982.

Note to
Section 12.

(b) See the notes to s. 4, ante, p. 5158, as to the Defence Acts, 1842—1873 (3 Halsbury's Statutes 467, 500) and the Military Lands Acts, 1892—1903 (17 Halsbury's Statutes 574, 599). The Naval Works Act, 1895 (17 Halsbury's Statutes 585), extends these Acts with some modifications to the Admiralty and His Majesty's Naval Forces.

13 (a).—[Savings.]

(3) Where possession has been taken of any land under any agreement authorising the retention of the land for any period specified in the agreement, nothing in this Act shall authorise the retention of possession after the expiration of such period without the consent of the person with whom the agreement was made or the persons deriving title under him.

(a) This section, with the exception of sub-s. (3), was repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1118).

Saving of powers.

14. The powers conferred by this Act shall be in addition to and not in derogation of any other right or power of His Majesty (a).

52 & 53 Vict.
c. 69.

1. A person convicted on indictment of a misdemeanour under the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1906, or the Public Bodies Corrupt Practices Act, 1889, shall, where the matter or transaction in relation to which the offence was committed was a contract or a proposal for a contract with His Majesty or any Government Department or any public body (b), or a subcontract to execute any work comprised in such a contract, be liable to penal servitude for a term not exceeding seven nor less than three years :

Provided that nothing in this section shall prevent the infliction in addition to penal servitude of such punishment as under the above-mentioned Acts may be inflicted in addition to imprisonment, or prevent the infliction in lieu of penal servitude of any punishment which may be inflicted under the said Acts.

(b) See s. 4 (2), post, p. 5165.

2. Where in any proceedings against a person for an offence under the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1906, or the Public Bodies Corrupt Practices Act, 1889, it is proved that any money, gift, or other consideration has been paid or given to or received by a person in the employment of His Majesty or any Government Department or a public body by or from a person, or agent of a person (a), holding or seeking to obtain a contract from His Majesty or any Government Department or public body (b), the money, gift, or consideration shall be deemed to have been paid or given and received corruptly as such inducement or reward as is mentioned in such Act unless the contrary is proved.

taking proceedings

4.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1916, and the Public Bodies Corrupt Practices Act, 1889, the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1906, and this Act may be cited together as the Prevention of Corruption Acts, 1889 to 1916.

Short title and interpretation.

(2) In this Act and in the Public Bodies Corrupt Practices Act, 1889, the expression "public body" includes, in addition to the bodies mentioned in the last-mentioned Act, local and public authorities of all descriptions (a).

(a) In the Act of 1889, ante, p. 4796, the expression "public body" is defined to mean any council of a county or county of a city or town, any council of a municipal borough, also any board, commissioners, select vestry, or other body which has power to act under and for the purposes of any Act relating to local government or the public health, or to poor law, or otherwise to administer money raised by rates in pursuance of any public general Act, but does not include any public body existing elsewhere than in the United Kingdom.

(3) A person serving under any such public body is an agent within the meaning of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1906, and the expressions "agent" and "consideration" in this Act have the same meaning as in the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1906, as amended by this Act (b).

(b) In the Act of 1906, ante, p. 5027, the expression "agent" is defined to include a person serving under the Crown or under any corporation or any municipal borough, county or district council or any board of guardians. It also includes any person employed by or acting for another. And the expression "consideration" includes valuable consideration of any kind.

THE FINANCE ACT, 1917.

(7 & 8 GEO. 5, c. 31.)

An Act to grant certain duties of Customs and Inland Revenue (including Excise), to alter other duties, and to amend the Law relating to Customs and Inland Revenue (including Excise) and the National Debt, and to make further provision in connection with Finance.

Power of trustees, etc.
to borrow and invest in war securities.

35.—(1) It shall be lawful and shall be deemed always to have been lawful for a trustee to borrow for the purpose of subscribing to or investing in any securities which have been or may be issued in connection with any Government loan raised for the purpose of the present war, and a trustee shall not be liable for any loss resulting from any borrowing so authorised or from any subscription to or investment in such securities or the sale of any securities for the purpose of such subscription or investment, or from the exercise of any option to convert any securities into securities so issued, whether such borrowing, subscription, investment or sale, or the exercise of such option, was before or after the passing of this Act; and trustees and other persons acting in any fiduciary character [are hereby expressly authorised to exercise such powers of borrowing, subscription, investment, sale, or conversion, notwithstanding anything to the contrary in any instrument creating the trust and without the consent of any other person, notwithstanding that such consent is required by the instrument creating the trust]:

Provided that—

- (a) In the case of transactions after the passing of this Act, a trustee shall before borrowing for the purpose aforesaid give notice of his intention so to do to the persons for the time being beneficially entitled to the income of the trust fund and the amount borrowed shall not exceed the value for the time being of the trust fund;
 - (b) For the purpose of transactions after the passing of this Act the power to borrow for the purpose of investing in any such securities shall be deemed not to include a power to borrow for the purpose of purchasing any such securities at any time after the subscription list has been closed, or, in the case of any such securities which are issued on application from day to day, after the issue thereof has been discontinued.
- (2) This section shall apply to any officer or department who hold funds on account of or for the benefit of any persons or class of persons as part of, or in consequence of, the duties of the officer or department, but shall not apply to any trustee under an implied or constructive trust, except a resulting trust arising on the determination or failure of an express trust.
- (3) The foregoing provisions of this section, so far as they relate to the exercise of such powers as aforesaid before the passing of this Act, shall apply to local and other public authorities, notwithstanding any limitations on their powers, in like manner as they apply to trustees. Section 35.

(4) It is hereby declared that the power conferred by subsection (6) of section one of the War Loan Act, 1916, on companies and bodies of persons and persons responsible for the direction and management of a company or body of persons to hold government securities purchased in pursuance of the powers conferred by that subsection is not limited to the continuance of the present war and a period of twelve months thereafter.

The powers conferred by the said subsection shall include, and shall be deemed as from the commencement of the war to have included, a power on the part of a company or body of persons and of persons responsible for the direction or management of the company or body to borrow, notwithstanding any such limitations as are mentioned in that subsection, for the purpose of investing in or purchasing Government securities in accordance with that subsection.

The securities in which local authorities can invest money for the purpose of a loans fund or a sinking fund are enumerated in the Trustee Act, 1925, s. 1, Vol. V., post. Under this Act an investment in war securities made prior to the passing of the Act was legalised.

The words in square brackets were inserted, in substitution of the original wording, with retrospective effect by Finance Act, 1918, s. 39 (16 Halsbury's Statutes 833).

REPRESENTATION OF THE PEOPLE ACT, 1918.

(7 & 8 Geo. 5, c. 64.)

An Act to amend the Law with respect to Parliamentary and Local Government Franchises, and the Registration of Parliamentary and Local Government Electors, and the conduct of elections, and to provide for the Redistribution of Seats at Parliamentary Elections, and for other purposes connected therewith (a). [6th February 1918.]

(a) Only those portions of this Act which affect local authorities are included in this work. Reference should be made to the Ministry of Health (Registration and Elections, Transfer of Powers) Order, 1921, ante, p. 2617, for the transfer of powers under this Act from the Minister of Health (as successor to the L. G. B.) to the Secretary of State.

The Act has been materially amended by the Representation of the People Act, 1922, Vol. V., post, the Rating and Valuation Act, 1925, ante, p. 2113, the Economy (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1926, Pt. III. (separately entitled the Representation of the People (Economy Provisions) Act, 1926), Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 649, and the Representation of the People (Equal Franchise) Act, 1928, Vol. V., post. The effect of these amendments is noted in the sections affected.

PART I.

FRANCHISES (b).

(b) The local government franchise enacted by this Act take the place, as far as respects local government elections within the meaning of the Act, of all local government franchises existing at the time of the passing of the Act (see s. 42, post, p. 5177).

Section 3.

Local government franchise
(men).

3. ["A person shall be entitled to be registered as a local government elector for a local government electoral area (a) if he or she is of full age and not subject to any legal incapacity, and—

(a) is on the last day of the qualifying period (b) occupying (c) as owner or tenant any land or premises in that area; and

(b) has during the whole of the qualifying period (b) so occupied (c) any land or premises in that area, or, if that area is not an administrative county or a county borough, in any administrative county or county borough in which the area is wholly or partly situate; or

(c) is the husband or wife of a person entitled to be so registered in respect of premises in which both the person so entitled and the husband or wife, as the case may be, reside (d):

Provided that—

(i) for the purposes of this section a person who inhabits any dwelling-house by virtue of any office, service, or employment, shall, if the dwelling-house is not inhabited by the person in whose service he or she is in such office, service, or employment, be deemed to occupy the dwelling-house as a tenant; and

(ii) for the purposes of this section the word tenant shall include a person who occupies a room or rooms as a lodger (e) only where the room or rooms is or are let to that person in an unfurnished state; and

(iii) for the purpose of paragraph (c) of this section, a naval or military voter who is registered in respect of a residence qualification which he or she would have had but for his or her service shall be deemed to be resident in accordance with that qualification."]

The provision set out above is the substituted section which was contained in s. 2 of the Representation of the People (Equal Franchise) Act, 1928, Vol. V., post. By that section it is provided that "for the purpose of providing that the local government franchise shall be the same for men and women sub-section (3) of section 4 of the principal Act shall be repealed and the following section shall be substituted for section three of that Act." As this section is the only provision of the 1928 Act, Vol. V., post, relevant to this work it has been thought more convenient to embody it in the text of this Act.

(a) See as to this expression, s. 41 (2), post, p. 5176.

(b) See ss. 6 and 7 (4), infra, and post, p. 5170.

(c) As to occupation, see s. 7 (1), post, p. 5169.

(d) As to residence, see s. 7 (2), post, p. 5169.

(e) As to the difference between an occupier and a lodger, see the cases cited, ante, pp. 1189 et seq.

Local government franchise
(women).

4. . . .

Repealed by s. 2, Representation of the People (Equal Franchise) Act, 1928, Vol. V., post. The present local government franchise for women is governed by the substituted s. 3 set out, supra.

* * * * *

Qualifying period.

6. ["The qualifying period shall be three months ending on the first day of June and including that day:

Provided that in the application of this section to a person who is a naval or military voter, or who has been serving as a member of the naval, military, or air forces of the Crown at any time during the said three months and has ceased so to serve, one month shall be substituted for three months as the qualifying period.”]

Section 6.

The section set out in the text is the substituted section enacted by s. 9 (2) (b) and Sched. III. of the Economy (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 649, 650. That Act which substituted one register a year for two reduced the qualifying period from 6 months to 3 months.

7.—(1) Where land or premises are in the joint occupation of two or more persons, each of the joint occupiers shall, for the purposes of this Part of this Act, be treated as occupying the premises, subject as follows :—

Supplemental provisions as to residence and occupation.

* * * * *

(c) Not more than two joint occupiers shall be entitled to be registered in respect of the same land or premises, unless they are bonâ fide engaged as partners carrying on their profession, trade or business on the land or premises.

(2) Residence in a house or the occupation of a house shall not be deemed to be interrupted for the purposes of this Act by reason only of permission being given by letting or otherwise for the occupation of the house as a furnished house by some other person [“for part of the “qualifying period not exceeding two months in the whole, or where the “occupation of the person giving the permission commenced more than “six months before the last day of the qualifying period, for not more “than four months in the whole during that period of six months”] or by reason only of notice to quit being served and possession being demanded by the landlord of the house; but the express enactment of this provision shall not affect in any way the general principles governing the interpretation of the expression “residence” and cognate expressions.

Residence is not required for the local government franchise except under s. 3 (a), ante, p. 5168.

The words in brackets were substituted for the words “for part of the qualifying period not exceeding four months in the whole” by s. 9 (2) (b) and Sched. III. of the Economy (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 649, 650.

Further provision with regard to interruption of residence is made by the Representation of the People Act, 1921, s. 1 (7 Halsbury's Statutes 646), which as amended by the Economy (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 650, reads as follows:

“The residence of a person in any premises shall not be deemed to have been interrupted for the purposes of the Representation of the People Acts, 1918 to 1920, by reason only of the fact that that person has been absent from the premises during part of the qualifying period, not exceeding two months at any one time or if the residence commenced more than six months before the last day of the qualifying period during a part of those six months not exceeding four months at any one time, in the performance of any duty arising from or incidental to any office, service, or employment held or undertaken by him; but the express enactment of this provision shall not affect in any way the general principles governing the interpretation of the expression ‘residence’ and cognate expressions.”

Section 7.

(4) Notwithstanding anything in this Act, a person shall not be entitled to be registered as a local government elector for a local government electoral area though that person may have been occupying land or premises in the area on the last day of the qualifying period, if that person commenced to occupy the land or premises within thirty days before the end of the qualifying period, and ceased to occupy the land or premises within thirty days after the commencement of the occupation.

Right of person registered to vote.

8. . . .

(2) A person registered as a local government elector for any local government electoral area (a) shall while so registered (and in the case of a woman notwithstanding sex or marriage) be entitled to vote at a local government election for that area (b); but where, for the purposes of election, any such area is divided into more than one ward or electoral division, by whatever name called, a person shall not be entitled to vote for more than one such ward or electoral division.

Notwithstanding anything in this provision a person may be registered for more than one such ward or division of a local government electoral area (not being a municipal borough), and may vote in any such ward or division for which he is registered at an election to fill a casual vacancy.

(a) See as to this expression s. 41 (2), post, p. 5176.

(b) See the next section as to disqualifications for voting.

* * * * *

Provisions
as to disqualifications.

9.—(1) A person shall not be disqualified from being registered or from voting as a parliamentary or local government elector by reason that he or some person for whose maintenance he is responsible has received poor relief or other alms (a).

(a) The statutes imposing disqualifications of this nature (Representation of the People Act, 1832, s. 36; Representation of the People Act, 1867, s. 40; Divided Parishes and Poor Law Amendment Act, 1876, s. 14) are repealed by this Act.

This sub-section which imposed a temporary disqualification on "conscientious objectors" is now spent and has been repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

(3) A person shall not be entitled to be registered or to vote as a parliamentary or local government elector if he is not a British subject, and nothing contained in this Act shall, except as expressly provided therein, confer on any person who is subject to any legal incapacity to be registered or to vote either as a parliamentary or local government elector any right to be so registered or to vote.

(4) A person shall not be disqualified from voting at any election as a parliamentary or local government elector by reason that he is employed for payment by or on behalf of a candidate at such election, so long as the employment is legal.

(5) Any incapacity of a peer to vote at an election arising from the status of a peer (b) shall not extend to peeresses in their own right.

(b) A peer cannot vote at a parliamentary election (Earl Beauchamp v. Madresfield (Mansfield) Overseers (1872), L. R. 8 C. P. 245; sub nom. Salisbury (Marquis) v.

Bontems, Bulwer and South Mimms Overseers, 37 J. P. 39 ; 20 Digest 9, 29 ; Mackenzie and Lushington's Registration Manual, p. 297).

Note to
Section 9.

10. [Repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante.] Provision as to qualification of councillor.

PART II.

REGISTRATION.

This part of the Act has been amended by the Economy (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1926, Part III. of which may be cited as the Representation of the People (Economy Provisions) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 649). The effect of these provisions is that one register only will be prepared each year and that the requirements of the 1918 Act as to the autumn register are to apply to the preparation of that register. The qualifying period is also reduced, see the substituted section 6, ante, p. 5168. All references to the spring register in the provisions of the 1918 Act cease to have effect and have accordingly been printed in italics in the text. The material parts of the Act of 1926 will be found set out in Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 649, 650.

11.—(1) Two (a) registers of electors shall be prepared in every year, Spring and autumn registers. of which one (in this Act referred to as the spring register) shall be made for the qualifying period ending on the fifteenth day of January (a), and the other (in this Act referred to as the autumn register) shall be made for the qualifying period ending on the [first day of June] (b).

(a) One register only has now to be prepared, and references to the spring register cease to have effect, see the Economy (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 649.

(b) The qualifying period now ends on June 1st, see s. 6, ante, p. 5168.

(2) The spring register shall come into force on the commencement of the fifteenth day of April and remain in force until the fifteenth day of October, and (a) the autumn register shall come into force on the commencement of the fifteenth day of October and remain in force until the fifteenth day of [October in the next following year] (b).

(a) See note (a) to s. 11 (1), supra.

(b) The words in brackets give effect to s. 9 (2) (a) of the Economy (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 649.

(3) If for any reason the registration officer fails to compile a fresh spring or (a) autumn register for his area or any part of his area, the register in force at the time when the fresh register should have come into force shall continue to operate as the register for the area or part of an area in respect of which default has been made.

(a) See note (a) to s. 11 (1), supra.

12.—(1) Each parliamentary borough and each parliamentary county shall be a registration area, and there shall be a registration officer for each registration area. Registration officers and areas.

(2) Where the registration area is a parliamentary county and is coterminous with, or wholly contained in, one administrative county, the clerk of the county council, and where the registration area is a parliamentary borough and is coterminous with, or wholly contained in, one municipal borough, the town clerk of the borough, shall be the registration officer for the area.

Section 12. In any other case such clerk of the county council, or town clerk, shall be registration officer for the area as the Local Government Board (a) may by order direct, subject to any conditions which may be made by the order as to the appointment of deputies for any part of the area.

See the special provisions as to urban districts and London contained in s. 16. post, p. 5174.

(a) Throughout this Act as set out herein for "Local Government Board" must now be read "Secretary of State," to whom the powers and duties of the Minister of Health were transferred by the Ministry of Health (Registration and Elections, Transfers of Powers) Order, 1921.

As to fees payable under this Act to the clerk of a metropolitan borough council who by this section necessarily became the registration officer forming part of the "emoluments of his office" of town clerk for the purposes of superannuation, see Stoke Newington Corporation v. Richards, [1930] 1 K. B. 222; 94 J. P. 27; Digest Supp.

(3) Any of the duties and powers of the registration officer may be performed and exercised by any deputy for the time being approved by the Local Government Board, and the provisions of this Act shall apply to any such deputy so far as respects any duties or powers to be performed or exercised by him as it applies to the registration officer.

(4) In the event of any vacancy in the office of any clerk of the county council or town clerk who is a registration officer, or in the event of his incapacity to act, any acts authorised or required to be done by or with respect to the registration officer may be done by or with respect to any person temporarily appointed in that behalf by the chairman of the county council or the mayor, as the case may be.

Registration duties.

13.—(1) It shall be the duty of the registration officer to compile the spring and (a) autumn register, and to place, or cause to be placed, on the register in accordance with the rules set out in the First Schedule to this Act the names of those entitled to vote as parliamentary electors or local government electors in his registration area, and to comply with any general or special directions which may be given by the Local Government Board with respect to the arrangements to be made by the registration officer for carrying out his duties as to registration.

If a registration officer refuses, neglects or fails without reasonable cause to perform any of his duties in connection with registration, he shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds.

(2) His Majesty may by Order in Council prescribe the forms to be used for registration purposes and any fees to be taken in connection therewith, and alter the rules contained in the First Schedule to this Act for the purpose of carrying this Act into full effect, or for carrying into effect any Act for the time being in force amending or affecting this Act.

The rules contained in the First Schedule to this Act and any Order so made shall have effect as if enacted in this Act (b).

(a) See note (a) to s. 11 (1), ante, p. 5171.

(b) See as to the effect of this provision Ex parte Ringer and the other cases cited therewith in the note under s. 295 of the P. H. A., 1875, ante, p. 4506.

14.—(1) An appeal shall lie to the county court, as defined by rules of court (a), from any decision of the registration officer on any claim or objection which has been considered by him under this Act, or the placing of or refusal to place any mark against any name on the register, and rules of court (a) shall be made for the purpose of determining the procedure on any such appeals and for applying and adapting thereto any enactments relating to county courts and the procedure therein : Section 14.
Appeals.

Provided that an appeal shall not lie where a claimant or objector (b) has not availed himself of his opportunity, as provided in the First schedule to this Act, of being heard by the registration officer on the claim or objection, or as to the placing of or refusing to place any such mark as aforesaid.

(a) See the County Court (Registration Appeals) Rules, S. R. & O., 1918, No. 802, L. 27, and amending Rules, S. R. & O., 1918, No. 938; S. R. & O., 1919, No. 162 and S. R. & O., 1925, No. 645.

(b) The claimant or objector must appeal personally, and an appeal by an election agent is not sufficient (Hampshire Parliamentary County Registration Officer v. Ainslie (1933), 97 J. P. 121; 148 L. T. 496; Digest Supp.).

(2) An appeal shall lie on any point of law from any decision of the county court on any such appeal from the registration officer in accordance with rules of the Supreme Court to the Court of Appeal, but no appeal shall lie from the decision of the Court of Appeal.

See the Registration Appeals Rule, 1918, Rules of the Supreme Court, O. 58, r. 21.

(3) The right of voting of any person whose name is for the time being on the register shall not be prejudiced by any appeal pending under this section, and any vote given in pursuance of that right shall be as good as if no such appeal were pending, and shall not be affected by the subsequent decision of the appeal.

(4) Notice shall be sent to the registration officer in manner provided by rules of court of the decision of the county court or of the Court of Appeal on any appeal under this section, and the registration officer shall make such alterations in the electors lists or register as may be required to give effect to the decision.

(5) On any appeal under this section the registration officer shall be deemed to be a party to the proceedings.

(6) If the Lord Chancellor is satisfied on the representation of the judge of any county court that the judge is unable, owing to the necessity of dealing with appeals under this Act, to transact the business of the court with proper despatch, the Lord Chancellor may appoint a barrister of at least seven years' standing to act as assistant judge for such time as the Lord Chancellor may direct, and subject to any conditions which he may impose.

Any assistant judge so appointed shall have all the powers and privileges and may perform any of the duties of the judge, whether under this Act or otherwise, to whom he has been appointed assistant.

An assistant judge shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament such remuneration and travelling allowances as may be allowed by the Treasury.

In the application of this provision to a county court district the whole

Section 14. of which is within the Duchy of Lancaster, the Chancellor of the Duchy shall be substituted for the Lord Chancellor.

Expenses of registration.

15.—(1) Any expenses properly incurred by a registration officer in the performance of his duties in relation to registration, including all proper and reasonable charges for trouble, care and attention in the performance of those duties (a), and any costs incurred by him as party to an appeal (in this Act referred to as “registration expenses”) shall be paid by the council whose clerk the registration officer is, or by whom he is appointed, subject, in cases where the registration area is not coterminous with or wholly contained in the area of that council, to such contributions by the council of any other county or borough as the Local Government Board may direct (b).

Any such expenses shall be paid in the case of the council of a county . . . if the case requires as expenses for special county purposes. . . .

The residue of this section was repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1290.

The Public Authorities Protection Act, 1893, ante, p. 4875, as amended by the Limitation Act, 1939, applies to an action for recovery of these expenses (Mountain v. Bermondsey B. C., [1942] 1 K. B. 204; [1941] 3 All E. R. 498).

(2) The Treasury may frame a scale of registration expenses applicable to all or any class or classes of those expenses, and may alter the scale as and when they think fit.

Any expenses incurred by the registration officer of a class to which the scale is applicable shall be taken to be properly incurred if they do not exceed the maximum amount determined by or in accordance with the scale, and so far as they do exceed that amount shall be taken not to have been properly incurred unless the excess is specially sanctioned by the council and the Treasury either before or after the expenses have been incurred.

If any question arises whether any expenses incurred by the registration officer of a class to which the scale is not applicable have been properly incurred or not, that question shall be referred to the Local Government Board, and the decision of the Board on the question shall be final.

The Scales of Registration Expenses now in force are prescribed by an order of 1926 (S. R. & O., 1926, No. 1376).

(3) Any fees or other sum received by the registration officer in respect of his duties as such officer, other than sums paid to that officer in respect of his registration expenses, shall be accounted for by that officer and paid to the credit of the fund or rate out of which the expenses of that officer are paid.

(4) There shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament to the council of any county or borough in aid of the fund or rate out of which any registration expenses are paid by the council, in accordance with this Act, one half of the amount so paid by the council.

(5) On the request of the registration officer of any registration area for an advance on account of registration expenses, the council whose clerk the registration officer is may, if they think fit, make such an advance to him of such amount and subject to such conditions as the council may approve.

16.—(1) Where an urban district is coterminous with a registration area which is a parliamentary borough or is wholly contained in such area, this Part of this Act shall apply to that district as it applies to a municipal borough, with the substitution of the clerk of the urban district council for the town clerk, of the urban district council for the council of the borough. . . .

Section 16.

Special provisions with respect to urban districts and London.

The concluding words of this section were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 307, Sched. XI., Pt. IV., ante, pp. 1194, 1290.

17.—(1) A freeman of the City of London, being a liveryman of one of the several companies who is entitled to be registered as a parliamentary elector in respect of a business premises qualification within the city, shall be entitled, if he thinks fit, to be entered in a separate list of liverymen in the register of parliamentary electors, and to record his vote for Parliament as a liveryman.

Special provision as to registration of freemen, etc.

(2) The foregoing provision shall apply to the freemen of any borough if the council of the borough so resolve, and the expression "freemen" shall include any persons by whatever name called enjoying in that borough rights similar to those enjoyed by freemen of the city of London in that city.

18. Every person who is an assistant overseer at the time of the passing of this Act, and who suffers any direct pecuniary loss in consequence of this Act, shall be entitled to have compensation paid to him as registration expenses by the council responsible for the payment of registration expenses, and in determining such compensation—

Compensation to existing officers.

- (a) regard shall be had to the conditions and other circumstances required by subsection (1) of section one hundred and twenty of the Local Government Act, 1888, in regard to cases of compensation under that section; and
- (b) the compensation shall not exceed the limit therein mentioned; and
- (c) the expression in subsection (1) of that section "The Acts and rules relating to Her Majesty's Civil Service" shall mean the Acts and rules relating to His Majesty's Civil Service which were in operation at the date of the passing of the Local Government Act, 1888; and
- (d) the provisions of subsections (2) to (7) of the same section shall apply with such modifications (including the substitution of the "Local Government Board" for the "Treasury") as may be required, and including in subsection (2) the substitution of the words "next before the thirtieth day of September, nineteen hundred and fourteen" for the words "next before the passing of this Act."

51 & 52 Vict. c. 41.

In this section the expression "assistant overseer" includes any person executing any of the duties of overseer, and receiving payment therefor.

The Local Government (Elections) Act, 1896 ; shall become permanent Acts, and any provision in any Act in force at the date of the passing of this Act which limits the period for which any of those Acts are to remain in operation shall cease to have effect.

These Acts, now made permanent, had previously been renewed from year to year by the Expiring Laws Continuance Acts.

PART V.GENERAL.

* . . . *

Regulations to be laid before Parliament.

40.—(1) All rules, regulations, or provisions made by Order in Council under this Act shall be laid before each House of Parliament forthwith ; and unless and until an address is presented to His Majesty by either House of Parliament within the next subsequent twenty-one days on which that House has sat next after any such rule, regulation, or provision is laid before it, praying that the rule, regulation, or provision may be annulled, the rule, regulation, or provision shall have effect as if enacted in this Act.

(2) Any Order in Council under this Act may be revoked or varied as occasion requires by any subsequent Order in Council.

Interpretation.

41. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,—

(2) The expression “ local government electoral area ” means the area for which any county council, municipal borough council, metropolitan borough council, district council, board of guardians, parish council, or any other body elected at the time of the passing of this Act by persons on the local government register or on the register of parochial electors is elected ; and the expression “ local government election ” means an election for any such council, board, or body :

Boards of guardians have now ceased to exist and their functions are transferred to county and county borough councils (L. G. A., 1929, s. 1, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury’s Statutes 883).

(5) A person who is an inmate or patient in any prison, lunatic asylum, workhouse, poorhouse, or any other similar institution shall not by reason thereof be treated as resident therein for any purpose of this Act :

(7) For the purposes of registration a person’s age shall be taken to be that person’s age on the last day of the qualifying period :

(8) The expression “ dwelling-house ” includes any part of a house where that part is occupied separately as a dwelling-house :

Section 41.

(9) [The yearly value of land or premises shall—

- (a) if the gross value thereof for rating purposes appears in the valuation list for the time being in force, be taken to be the gross value as so appearing, any necessary apportionment of that value being made by the registration officer :
- (b) if no gross value thereof for rating purposes appears in the valuation list, but the value thereof is assessed under Schedule A. of the Income Tax Act, 1918, as amended by any subsequent enactment, be taken to be the gross annual value of the land or premises for income tax purposes, any necessary apportionment of that value being made by the registration officer :
- (c) in any other case, be taken to be the amount which would, in the opinion of the registration officer, have been the gross value for rating purposes of the land or premises under the enactments relating to rating and valuation in force on the sixth day of February, nineteen hundred and eighteen.]

This substituted sub-section is enacted by s. 80 of the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 934, consequent upon the derating provisions of Part V. of that Act, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 927.

As to the cases in which gross value does not appear in the valuation list, see s. 22 (1) (b) of the R. and V. Act, 1925, ante, p. 2169, and Rule 5, Col. 7, of the R. and V. Act (Form of Valuation List) Rules, 1932, ante, pp. 3659, 3663 et seq., and s. 67 (2) of the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 928. Power is given to obtain copies of the annual values for income tax purposes from surveyors of taxes by s. 81, ibid., Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 934.

(11) The expression "prescribed" means prescribed by His Majesty by Order in Council.

42. The parliamentary and the local government franchises enacted by this Act shall take the place of all parliamentary and, so far as respects local government elections within the meaning of this Act, of all local government franchises existing at the time of the passing of this Act; and the provisions set out in the Sixth Schedule to this Act with respect to the adaptation of Acts shall have effect for the purpose of adapting the law to the provisions of this Act.

Adaptation of Acts.

45. The provisions of this Act shall apply to the Isles of Scilly as if those isles were an administrative county, and as if the council of those isles were a county council, and any expenses incurred by the council under this Act shall be paid as general expenses of the council.

Application of Act to the

SCHEDULES.

FIRST SCHEDULE.

REGISTRATION RULES.

Form of Register.

1. The register shall be framed in separate parts for each registration unit in the registration area.

The registration unit shall be the parish where the parish is wholly contained in one voting area, and where a parish is contained in more than one voting area, shall be each part of the parish contained in a separate voting area; and for the purposes of this rule the expression "voting area" means any polling district, electoral division, borough, county district other than a borough, and any ward of a borough, county district, or parish, and any other area for which a separate election at which the register is to be used is held.

2. The register shall, as respects each registration unit, contain the names of those who are entitled to vote as parliamentary electors and of those who are entitled to vote as local government electors, but shall be framed so as to show in separate divisions the names of those who are entitled to vote both as parliamentary and local government electors, the names of those who are entitled to vote as parliamentary electors but not as local government electors, and the names of those who are entitled to vote as local government electors, but not as parliamentary electors.

Where a person whose name is entered as a local government elector in any registration unit is not entitled to vote in respect of that entry at the local government elections for all the local government electoral areas which comprise that unit, the registration officer shall place a mark against his name, with a note to signify that the person against whose name the mark is placed is not entitled to vote for the local government elections mentioned in the note, and any such note shall be deemed to be part of the register.

* * * * *

4. Where the registration unit is situated in a parliamentary borough, the names in the register shall be arranged in street order, unless the authority whose clerk the registration officer is or by whom he is appointed considers that, having regard to the general character of the area forming the registration unit, arrangement in street order is inapplicable; and where the registration unit is situated in a parliamentary county, the names in the register shall be arranged in alphabetical order, unless the said authority considers that, having regard to the general character of the area forming the registration unit, arrangement in street order is possible and convenient.

5. The registers for the registration units making up any constituency, so far as they relate to parliamentary electors, shall together form the register of parliamentary electors for that constituency, and the registers of the registration units making up any local government electoral area, so far as they relate to local government electors, shall together form the register of local government electors for that area.

Duty of Registration Officer to prepare and publish Lists.

6. It shall be the duty of the registration officer to cause a house to house or other sufficient inquiry to be made, and to prepare or cause to be prepared lists (in this Act referred to as electors lists) for each registration unit within his registration area of all persons appearing to be entitled to be registered as parliamentary or local government electors in the spring and (a) autumn register respectively, and to publish those lists in the form in which the register is to be framed, as respects the lists for the spring register on or before the first day of February (a) and as respects the lists for the autumn register on or before the [fifteenth day of July] (b).

The registration officer shall at the same time publish a notice specifying the mode in which, and the time within which, claims and objections are to be made under these rules.

(a) See (a) note to s. 11 (1), ante, p. 5171.

(b) July 15th was substituted for August 1st (Representation of the People Act, 1922, s. 1 and Sched. Pt. I., Vol. V., post). See the substituted schedule at Vol. V., post.

7. The registration officer, where he does not himself perform the duties of overseers, may require the overseers of any parish which, or any part of which, forms a registration unit within his registration area to make the necessary inquiries and to prepare the electors lists for that unit and publish the lists in the unit on his behalf, and it shall be the duty of the overseers to furnish lists as so required, and also at any time, if required by the registration officer, to furnish that officer with information respecting any persons resident or occupying land or premises in their parish, or the removal of any person from the parish.

Any reasonable expenses incurred by the overseers in performing any duties required of them in pursuance of this rule (including reasonable remuneration where the duties are performed by an assistant overseer or other paid officer) shall be paid by the registration officer as part of his registration expenses. In this rule the expression "overseers" includes any person for the time being executing any of the duties of overseers.

Overseers having been abolished by s. 62 of the R. and V. Act, 1925, ante, p. 2222, the duties of overseers under this provision are transferred to the rating authority subject to Art. 3 of the Overseers Order, 1927 (S. R. & O., 1927, No. 52), ante, p. 3596. That order provides that if the registration officer so requires the rating authority shall designate one or more of their officers to perform the duties of overseers under this provision. Any dispute as to whether a designated officer is an officer to whom the work can properly be assigned is to be determined by the Home Secretary.

A designation may be revoked by the rating authority on their own initiative or on a notification by the registration officer that the assistance of the designated officer will not be required by him, but a revocation or notification if given between April 30th and October 15th will not have effect until October 15th in the same year. Notice of revocation by a rating authority must be given to the registration officer.

8. The registration officer shall publish, together with the electors lists, the corrupt and illegal practices list (if any) made by him under section thirty-nine of the Corrupt and Illegal Practices Prevention Act, 1883, or made by or sent to him under section twenty-four of the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884.

Claims to be Registered.

9. Any person who claims to be entitled to be registered as a parliamentary or local government elector, and who is not entered, or is entered in an incorrect place or manner or with incorrect particulars on the electors lists, may claim to be registered, or to be registered correctly, by sending to the registration officer a claim in the prescribed officer to prepare electors lists.

Duty of overseers to prepare electors lists and furnish information if required.

Corrupt and illegal practices list.

Claim to be registered or is sent to registration officer.

Schedule 1. form not later than the eighteenth day of February where the claim is for the spring register, and (a) the [seventh] (b) day of August where the claim is for the autumn register.

Section 9.

(a) See note (a) to s. 11 (1), ante, p. 5171.

(b) "Seventh" is substituted by the Economy (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1926, Sched. III., Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 650. See the Schedule substituted by that Act in Representation of the People Act, 1922, Vol. V., post.

Form of claim.

10. The form of claim for a person making a claim on his own behalf shall contain a declaration of the qualification of the claimant to be registered, including a declaration that the claimant has attained the required age, and is a British subject, and of the character in which the claimant desires to be registered, that is to say, either as a parliamentary elector, or as a local government elector, or as a local government elector who is not entitled to vote for all local government elections, and where the claimant claims in respect of a non-residential qualification a declaration of residence or, in case such person has no settled residence, an address to which communications may be sent. A note shall also be added to the form warning the claimant that any false declaration for the purpose of this provision will involve a penalty.

Where a claim is made on behalf of a claimant by another person, the registration officer shall not enter the name of the claimant on the register, unless the matters required to be stated in the declaration under the foregoing provision are proved to his satisfaction.

Publication of lists of claimants.

11. It shall be the duty of the registration officer to publish the lists of claimants, as respects the lists for the spring register not later than the twenty-fourth day of February, and (a) as respects the lists for the autumn register not later than the [thirteenth] (b) day of August.

(a) See note (a) to s. 11 (1), ante, p. 5171.

(b) See the substituted Schedule to the Representation of the People Act, 1922, Vol. V., post.

Objections.

Notice of objections.

12. Any person whose name appears on the electors lists for a constituency or local government electoral area may object to the registration of any person whose name is included in the electors lists for the constituency or the local government electoral area, as the case may be, by sending notice of objection in the prescribed form to the registration officer not later than the fifteenth day of February in the case of the spring register and (a) the [thirty-first day of July] (b) in the case of the autumn register, and may object to the registration of any person whose name is included in the list of claimants by sending notice of objection in the prescribed form to the registration officer not later than the seventh day of March in the case of the spring register and (a) the [eighteenth day of August] (b) in the case of the autumn register.

(a) See note (a) to s. 11 (1), ante, p. 5171.

(b) See the substituted schedule to the Representation of the People Act, 1922, Vol. V., post.

Notice to persons affected by objection.

13. The registration officer shall, as soon as practicable after receiving any notice of objection, send a copy of the notice to the person in respect of whose registration the notice of objection is given.

Publication of objections to lists.

14. It shall be the duty of the registration officer to publish a list of the names of persons to whose registration notice of objection has been given not later than the twenty-first day of February in the case of the spring register and (a) not later than the [thirteenth] (b) day of August in the case of the autumn register. Schedule 1.

(a) See note (a) to s. 11 (1), ante, p. 5171.

(b) See the substituted schedule to the Representation of the People Act, 1922, Vol. V., post.

15. It shall be the duty of the registration officer to publish a list of the names of persons included in the list of claimants to whose registration notice of objection has been given as soon as practicable after the seventh day of March in the case of the spring register and (a) the [eighteenth day of August] (b) in the case of the autumn register. Publication of objections to claims.

(a) See note (a) to s. 11 (1), ante, p. 5171.

(b) See the substituted schedule to the Representation of the People Act, 1922, Vol. V., post.

Absent Voters List.

* * * * *

Preparation of the Register from the Lists.

20. The registration officer shall, as soon as practicable, consider all objections of which notice has been given to him in accordance with these rules, and for that purpose shall give at least five clear days' notice to the objector and to the person in respect of whose registration the notice of objection has been given, of the time and place at which the objection will be considered by him. Consideration of objections.

21. The registration officer shall also consider all claims of which notice is given to him in accordance with these rules, and in respect of which no notice of objection is given, and, if he considers that the claim may be allowed without further inquiry, shall give notice to the claimant that his claim is allowed. Consideration of claims.

If the registration officer is not satisfied that any such claim can be allowed without inquiry, he shall give at least five clear days' notice to the claimant of the time and place at which the claim will be considered by him.

22. If on the consideration of any claim or objection it appears to the registration officer that the claimant, or person in respect of whose name objection is taken, is not entitled to be entered on the register in the character in which he claims to be registered, or in which he is entered on the list, but is entitled to be entered on the register in another character or in another place on the register, the registration officer may decide that the name of that person shall be so entered on the register. Supplemental powers on consideration of claims and objections.

23. The registration officer shall make such additions and corrections in the electors lists (including the absent voters list) as are required in order to carry out his decisions on any objections or claims, and shall also make any such corrections in those lists by way of the removal of duplicate entries (subject to any expression of choice by the person affected as to those entries), the expunging of the names of persons who are dead or subject to any legal incapacity, or the placing of marks or the correction of marks placed against the name of an elector, or otherwise as he thinks necessary in order to secure that no person is registered as a parliamentary elector in respect of more than one qualification in the same constituency, or as a local government elector in respect of more than one qualification— Correction of lists.

(a) in the same borough for the purpose of borough council elections; or

Schedule 1.
Section 24.

(b) in the same electoral division or ward for the purpose of county council, metropolitan borough council, and urban district council elections ; or

(c) in the same parish or ward of a parish for the purpose of rural district council, guardians, or parish elections ; and otherwise to make those lists complete and accurate as a register.

* * * * *

Objections to corrections.

25. Where the registration officer makes any correction in the lists (including the absent voters list) otherwise than in pursuance of a claim or objection, or for the purposes of correcting a clerical error, he shall give notice to the person affected by the correction, and give that person an opportunity of objecting to the correction, and, if necessary, of being heard with respect thereto.

Formation of lists into register.

26. The registration officer shall make all the necessary corrections of the lists (including the absent voters list) and do everything necessary to form those lists into a register (with a separate letter and a separate series of numbers for each polling district) in time to allow the publication of the lists so corrected as a register as required by these rules.

Duty to publish and deliver Copies of the Register.

Publication of register.

27. It shall be the duty of the registration officer to publish the spring register not later than the fifteenth day of April, and (a) the autumn register not later than the fifteenth day of October in each year, by publishing a notice that a copy of the register is open to inspection at his office, and that copies of the part of the register relating to any registration unit are open to inspection during business hours in the registration unit at the place mentioned in the notice.

It shall be the duty of the registration officer to keep copies of the register for inspection in his office, and also to arrange for copies of the part of the register relating to any registration unit being kept for inspection in that unit either in the principal post office (if the Postmaster General gives authority for the purpose) or at some other convenient place to which the public have access to be arranged by him.

It shall be the duty of the registration officer to transmit a copy of the register, as soon as may be after it is published, to the Local Government Board (b).

(a) See note (a) to s. 11 (1), ante, p. 5171.

(b) Now the Home Secretary, to whom the powers, etc., of the Minister of Health in respect of registration and elections were transferred by the Ministry of Health (Registration and Elections, Transfer of Powers) Order, 1921.

Delivery of copies of the register.

28. It shall be the duty of the registration officer, on the application of any person during business hours and on payment of the prescribed fee, to furnish copies to the applicant of the register or of so much of the register as relates to any registration unit.

Appeals from Registration Officer.

Notice of appeal from registration
officer.

29. A person desiring to appeal against the decision of a registration officer must give notice of appeal in the prescribed form to the registration officer and to the opposite party, if any, when the decision is given or within five days thereafter, specifying the grounds of appeal.

The registration officer shall forward any such notices to the county court in manner directed by rules of court together, in each case, with a statement of the material facts which, in his opinion, have been established in the case, and of his decision upon the whole case and on any point which may be specified as a ground of appeal, and shall also furnish Schedule 1.

to the court any further information which the court may require and Section 29.
which he is able to furnish.

30. Where it appears to the registration officer that any notices of Appeals appeal given to him are based on similar grounds, he shall inform the relating to county court of the fact for the purpose of enabling the county court the same (if the court thinks fit) to consolidate the appeals, or select a case as a point.

31. Where the registration officer by these rules is required to publish Publication any document, and no specific provision is made as to the mode of of documents.
publication, he shall publish the document by making copies of the document available for inspection by the public in his office, and in the chief post office (if the Postmaster General gives authority for the purpose), or some other convenient place in the area forming the registration unit to which the document relates and, if he thinks fit, in any other manner which is, in his opinion, desirable for the purpose of bringing the contents of the document to the notice of those interested.

Any document required to be published shall be kept published for the prescribed time.

Any failure to publish a document in accordance with these rules shall not invalidate the document, but this provision shall not relieve the registration officer from any penalty for such a failure.

If any person without lawful authority destroys, mutilates, defaces or removes any notice published by the registration officer in connection with his registration duties, or any copies of a document which have been made available for inspection in pursuance of these rules, he shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five pounds.

of his duties as registration officer; and if any person fails to give the required information, or gives false information, he shall be liable, on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds. Any notice requiring information under this rule may be sent by post.

Schedule 1. 36. The registration officer shall, subject to such directions as the Local Government Board may give, have access to the national register compiled under the National Registration Act, 1915.

Access to national register.

Repealed, S. R. L. A. 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

Declaration as to age and nationality.

37. The registration officer, before registering any person as an elector, may, if he thinks it necessary—

(a) require that person either to produce a certificate of birth or, if that is not practicable or convenient, to make a statutory declaration that such person has attained the required age, and

(b) require that person to produce a certificate of naturalisation or to make a statutory declaration that he is a British subject.

Where a declaration is so required, any fee payable in connection therewith shall be paid by the registration officer as part of his registration expenses, and the declaration shall be exempt from stamp duty.

The registration officer shall during business hours allow any person to inspect and take a copy of any such declaration.

Power to obtain a certificate of birth at reduced fee.

38. Where for the purpose of the provisions of this Act any person requires a certificate of birth, that person shall on presenting a written requisition in the prescribed form and containing the prescribed particulars, and on payment of a fee of sixpence, be entitled to obtain a certified copy of any entry of the birth of that person in the birth register under the hand of the registrar or the superintendent registrar having the custody thereof, and forms of requisition for the purpose shall on application be supplied without charge by every registrar of births and deaths and by every superintendent registrar.

Hearing of claims and objections.

39. On the consideration of any claim or objection or other matter by the registration officer, any person appearing to the registration officer to be interested may appear and be heard either in person or by any other person, other than counsel, on his behalf.

Power to require evidence on oath.

40. The registration officer may at the request of any person interested, or if he thinks fit without such request, on the consideration of any claim or objection or other matter require that the evidence tendered by any person should be given on oath and may administer an oath for the purpose.

Provisions as to misnomer or inaccurate description.

41. No misnomer or inaccurate description of any person or place on any list or on the register or in any notice shall prejudice the operation of this Act or these rules as respects that person or place, provided that the person or place is so designated as to be commonly understood.

Reckoning
of time.

42. In reckoning time for the purpose of these rules, Sunday, Christmas Day, Good Friday, and any bank holiday or day set apart as a public holiday, or day of public fast, or public thanksgiving shall be excluded; and where anything is required by these rules to be done on any day falls to be done on any such day, that thing may be done on the next day not being one of any such days.

SIXTH SCHEDULE.

Schedule 6.
Section 2.

ADAPTATION OF ACTS.

Section 42.

* * * * *

2. A reference to local government electors registered under this Act shall, so far as local government elections and the right to vote at any such elections are concerned, be substituted for any reference in any other Act to local government electors, county electors, burgesses, parochial electors, or other persons entitled to vote at a local government election, by whatever name called, and local government electors so registered shall for all purposes, whether statutory or not, be in the same position as any such local government electors, county electors, burgesses, parochial electors, or persons.

3. A reference to the register kept in pursuance of this Act shall, so far as it relates to parliamentary electors, be substituted for any reference in any Act to the parliamentary register of electors or to the parliamentary register or to the register of parliamentary electors or to the register of persons entitled to vote at a parliamentary election, by whatever name called, and, so far as it relates to the local government register, shall be substituted for the local government register of electors, the burgess roll, the county register, the register of parochial electors, and for the register of persons entitled to vote at a local government election, by whatever name called.

4. The registration officer shall be substituted for the overseers in sections eleven and twelve of the Parliamentary and Municipal Registration Act, 1878, and in any other enactment dealing with the duties of the overseers in connection with the registration of electors; and in sections thirty-nine, sixty-eight and sixty-nine of the Corrupt and Illegal Practices Prevention Act, 1883, "registration officer" means the registration officer under this Act.

5. Subsection (4) of section forty of the Local Government Act, 1888, shall have effect as if the words "for the time being" were substituted for the words "at the passing of this Act"; and, in order to meet any difficulty (consequent on the change of boundaries under this provision) in filling casual vacancies by election in the London County Council, any such casual vacancy shall, until the first election of the whole number of councillors which takes place after the passing of this Act, be filled by means of the choice by the Council of a person to fill the vacancy, and the councillor so chosen shall hold office in such manner and in all respects as if he had been elected to fill the vacancy.

6. Sections eleven and thirteen and (so far as necessary) section twelve of the Parliamentary and Municipal Registration Act, 1878, shall be adapted so as to be applicable to parishes situated in any constituency or in any local government area, and for that purpose "constituency" shall be substituted in those sections for "parliamentary borough," "local government area" for "municipal borough," and "registered as a local government elector" for "enrolled as a burgess."

7. The Local Government Board may, by order, make such further adaptations in the provisions of any Act (including any local Act and any Act to confirm a Provisional Order and any scheme under the Schedule 6. Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, as amended by any subsequent Act) as may seem to them necessary to make those provisions conform with the provisions of this Act; and any order so made shall operate as if enacted in this Act.

THE TERMINATION OF THE PRESENT WAR (DEFINITION) ACT, 1918.

(8 & 9 GEO. 5, c. 59.)

An Act to make provision for determining the date of the termination of the present war, and for purposes connected therewith.

[21st November, 1918.]

Power to determine date of termination of the present war.

1.—(1) His Majesty in Council may declare what date is to be treated as the date of the termination of the present war, and the present war shall be treated as having continued to, and as having ended on that date for the purposes of any provision in any Act of Parliament, Order in Council, or Proclamation, and, except where the context otherwise requires, of any provision in any contract, deed, or other instrument referring, expressly or impliedly, and in whatever form of words, to the present war or the present hostilities:

Provided that in the case of any such Act conferring powers on any Government Department, or any officer of any Government Department, exercisable during the continuance of the present war, if it appears to His Majesty that it is expedient that the powers shall cease before the date so fixed as aforesaid, His Majesty in Council may fix some earlier date for the termination of those powers (a).

(2) The date so declared shall be as nearly as may be the date of the exchange or deposit of ratifications of the treaty or treaties of peace :

Provided that, notwithstanding anything in this provision, the date declared as aforesaid shall be conclusive for all purposes of this Act (b).

(3) His Majesty in Council may also similarly declare what date is to be treated as the date of the termination of war between His Majesty and any particular State (c).

(a) Words in italics were repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

(b) By an Order in Council dated August 10th, 1921 (S. R. & O., 1921, No. 1276), August 31st, 1921, was declared to be the date of the termination of the war generally. See, however, the War Emergency Laws (Continuance) Act, 1920 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1177), which provides for the continuance of various Acts, etc., whose duration depended on that of the war.

(c) Orders have been made under this section in relation to Germany (S. R. & O., 1920, No. 264), Austria (S. R. & O., 1920, No. 1347), Bulgaria (S. R. & O., 1920, No. 1612), Hungary (S. R. & O., 1921, No. 1284), Turkey (S. R. & O., 1924, No. 819).

2. This Act may be cited as the Termination of the Present War Short title. (Definition) Act, 1918.

MINISTRY OF HEALTH ACT, 1919.

(9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 21.)

An Act to establish a Ministry of Health to exercise in England and Wales powers with respect to Health and Local Government, and confer upon the Chief Secretary certain powers with respect to Health in Ireland, and for purposes connected therewith. [3rd June, 1919.]

1. For the purpose of promoting the health of the people throughout England and Wales, and for the purpose of the exercise of the powers transferred or conferred by this Act, it shall be lawful for His Majesty to appoint a Minister of Health (hereinafter called the "Minister"), who shall hold office during His Majesty's pleasure (a).

(a) See sub-s. (1) of s. 11, post, p. 5193, which enacted that this Act should come into operation on such day or days as might be appointed by Order in Council and that different days might be appointed for different purposes and provisions of the Act. By Order in Council of June 25th, 1919, that day was fixed as the appointed day for s. 1.

2. It shall be the duty of the Minister, in the exercise and performance of any powers and duties transferred to or conferred upon him by or in pursuance of this Act, to take all such steps as may be desirable to secure the preparation, effective carrying out and co-ordination of measures conducive to the health of the people, including measures for the prevention and cure of diseases, the avoidance of fraud in connection with alleged remedies therefor, the treatment of physical and mental defects, the treatment and care of the blind, the initiation and direction of research, the collection, preparation, publication, and dissemination of information and statistics relating thereto, and the training of persons for health services (a).

(a) An Order in Council of June 25th, 1919, fixed July 1st, 1919, for the coming into operation of this section.

3.—(1) There shall be transferred to the Minister—

(a) all the powers and duties of the Local Government Board (a);

(b) all the powers and duties of the Insurance Commissioners and the Welsh Insurance Commissioners (b);

(c) all the powers of the Board of Education with respect to attending to the health of expectant mothers and nursing mothers and of children who have not attained the age of five years and are not in attendance at schools recognised by the Board of Education (c);

Section 3.

(d) . . . (d);

2 Edw. 7, c. 17.
8 & 9 Geo. 5,
c. 43.

(e) all the powers of the Privy Council and of the Lord President of the Council under the Midwives Acts, 1902 and 1918 (e);

8 Edw. 7, c. 67.

(f) such powers of supervising the administration of Part I. of the Children Act, 1908 (which relates to infant life protection), as have heretofore been exercised by the Secretary of State (f):

Provided that—

1 & 2 Geo. 5,
c. 55.

(i) the power conferred on the Insurance Commissioners by the proviso to subsection (2) of section sixteen of the National Insurance Act, 1911, of retaining and applying for the purposes of research such sums as are therein mentioned shall not be transferred to the Minister, but the duties heretofore performed by the Medical Research Committee shall after the date of the commencement of this Act be carried on by or under the direction of a Committee of the Privy Council appointed by His Majesty for that purpose, and any property held for the purposes of the former Committee shall after that date be transferred to and vested in such persons as the body by whom such duties as aforesaid are carried on may appoint, and be held by them for the purposes of that body (g); and

(ii) . . . (h).

(2) It shall be lawful for His Majesty from time to time by Order in Council to transfer to the Minister (i)—

(a) all or any of the powers and duties of the Minister of Pensions with respect to the health of disabled officers and men after they have left the service; (k)

(b) all or any of the powers and duties of the Secretary of State under the enactments relating to lunacy and mental deficiency (l);

(c) any other powers and duties in England and Wales of any Government department which appear to His Majesty to relate to matters affecting or incidental to the health of the people.

(3) It shall be lawful for His Majesty from time to time by Order in Council to transfer from the Minister to any other Government department any of the powers and duties of the Minister, whether relating to the relief of the poor or otherwise, which appear to His Majesty not to relate to matters affecting or incidental to the health of the people (m).

And it is hereby declared that it is the intention of this Act that, in the event of provision being made by Act of Parliament passed in the present or in any future session for the revision of the law relating to the relief of the poor and the distribution amongst other authorities of the powers exercisable by boards of guardians, there shall be transferred from the Minister to other Government departments such of the powers and duties under the enactments relating to the relief of the poor then vested in the Minister (not being powers or duties relating or incidental to the health of the people) as appear to His Majesty to be such as could be more conveniently exercised and performed by such other departments.

(4) His Majesty may by Order in Council make such incidental, consequential, and supplemental provisions as may be necessary or expedient for the purpose of giving full effect to any transfer of powers or duties by or under this section, including provisions for the transfer of any property, rights, and liabilities held, enjoyed, or incurred by any Government department in connection with any powers or duties transferred, and may make such adaptations in the enactments relating to such powers or duties as may be necessary to make exercisable by the Minister and his officers or by such other Government department and their officers, as the case may be, the powers and duties so transferred (n).

(5) In connection with the transfer of powers and duties to or from the Minister by or under this Act, the provisions set out in the First Schedule to this Act shall have effect (n).

(a) An Order in Council of June 25th, 1919, fixed July 1st, 1919, for the coming into operation of this part of this sub-section. Except so far as related to powers and duties conferred or imposed upon the L. G. B. by any Act of Parliament passed, or Provisional Order confirmed or other instrument made, on or after July 1st, 1919, but during the then present session of Parliament, in respect of which powers and duties the appointed day was declared to be the day on which such Act, order or instrument came into operation. The L. G. B. was constituted by Local Government Board Act, 1871, the unrepealed sections of which are set out, ante, p. 4319. By the Ministry of Transport Act, 1919, post, p. 5195, and Orders in Council made thereunder, certain powers of the Minister of Health in relation to highway and other matters were transferred to the Minister of Transport.

(b) An Order in Council of June 25th, 1919, fixed July 1st, 1919, for the coming into operation of this part of this sub-section. The Insurance Commissioners and the Welsh Insurance Commissioners were constituted by the National Insurance Act, 1911 (20 Halsbury's Statutes 465).

(c) An Order in Council of September 22nd, 1919, fixed October 1st, 1919, for the coming into operation of this part of this sub-section.

(d) This sub-section is repealed by s. 172 and Sched. VII. of the Education Act, 1921 (7 Halsbury's Statutes 215, 225). It provided for the transfer to the Minister of the powers and duties of the Board of Education with respect to medical inspection and treatment of school children. See now Part VII. of the Education Act, 1921 (op. cit. 174).

(e) An Order in Council of June 25th, 1919, fixed July 1st, 1919, for the coming into operation of this part of this sub-section. See the Acts of 1902, 1918 and 1926, ante, pp. 1535, 1546, 1552.

(f) An Order in Council of September 22nd, 1919, fixed October 1st, 1919, for the coming into operation of this part of this sub-section.

(g) An Order in Council dated February 9th, 1920, fixed April 1st, 1920, for the coming into operation of this proviso.

(h) This proviso was repealed by s. 133 and Sched. VII. of the National Health Insurance Act, 1924 (20 Halsbury's Statutes 563, 571).

(i) An Order in Council dated June 25th, 1919, fixed July 1st, 1919, for the coming into operation of this and the three following sub-sections. See the Ministry of Health (Factories and Workshops Transfer of Powers) Order, 1921, and the Ministry of Health (Transfer of Powers as to Water Undertakings) Order, 1920.

(k) This paragraph was repealed by the S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183), no Order in Council having been made under the provision.

(l) An Order in Council transferred certain of these powers to the Minister as from May 17th, 1920.

(m) See note (i), supra. An Order in Council dated May 17th, 1920, transferred from the Ministry of Health to the Board of Education certain powers and duties in relation to public libraries, museums, and gymnasiums. See also the Ministry of Health (Registration and Elections, Transfer of Power) Order, 1921, the Ministry of Health (Transfer of Powers as to Gas Undertakings) Order, 1920.

(n) See note (g), supra.

4.—(1) It shall be lawful for His Majesty by Order in Council to establish consultative councils in England and Wales for giving, in accordance with the provisions of the Order, advice and assistance to the Minister in connection with such matters affecting or incidental to the health of the people as may be referred to in such Order (a)

(2) Every such council shall include women as well as men, and shall consist of persons having practical experience of the matters referred to the council.

(a) An Order in Council of June 25th, 1919, fixed July 1st, 1919, for the coming into operation of this and the six following sections. Consultative Councils were set up on a number of subjects by Order in Council dated August 18th, 1919. See "Local Government, 1919" (published by Butterworth & Co.), p. 395. This Order was amended by an Order dated June 26th, 1923 (see "Local Government, 1923," p. 320).

5. The Minister shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, appoint such officers as he may think fit to constitute a Board of Health in Wales through

Section 3.

Provisions to Wales.

Section 5. whom he may exercise and perform in Wales in such manner as he may think fit any of his powers and duties ; the Board and any officer who is a member thereof shall act under the directions, and comply with the instructions, of the Minister (a).

(a) See note (a) to s. 4, ante, p. 5191. The Minister of Health has from time to time transferred to the Welsh Board of Health, with offices at Cardiff, a number of his functions so far as exerciseable in Wales and Monmouthshire. Details will be found in circulars dated 30th September, 1920 (ante, p. 3924) ; 20th April, 1941 (ante, p. 3425) ; and 26th April, 1940 (ante, p. 3427).

Staff and remuneration.

6(a).—(1) The Minister may appoint one parliamentary secretary and such secretaries, officers, and servants as the Minister may, subject to the consent of the Treasury as to number, determine, and in the making of such appointments shall give equal consideration to the suitability of persons of both sexes.

(2) There shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament to the Minister an annual salary not exceeding five thousand pounds, and to the secretaries, officers, and servants of the Ministry such salaries or remuneration as the Treasury may from time to time determine (a).

(3) The expenses of the Ministry, including payments to members of consultative councils and committees thereof, to such amount as may be sanctioned by the Treasury, shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament :

Provided that no payments shall be made to members of consultative councils and committees thereof other than the repayment of travelling expenses and payment of subsistence allowance and reasonable compensation for loss of remunerative time.

(4) There shall be transferred and attached to the Ministry the persons employed under the Local Government Board, the Insurance Commissioners and the Welsh Insurance Commissioners, and such of the persons employed under any other Government department in or about the execution of the powers and duties transferred by or under this Act to the Minister, as the Minister and Government department, with the sanction of the Treasury, may determine.

(5) The Minister may from time to time distribute the business of the Ministry amongst the several persons transferred or attached thereto in pursuance of this Act in such manner as he may think right, and those persons shall perform such duties in relation to that business as may be directed by the Minister :

Provided that such persons shall be in no worse position as respects the tenure of office, salary or superannuation allowances than they would have been if this Act had not been passed (b).

(a) For the salary of the Parliamentary Secretary now see s. 1 of the Ministers of the Crown Act, 1937 (30 Halsbury's Statutes 117).

(b) See note (a) to s. 4, ante, p. 5191.

Seal, style, and acts of Minister.

7(a).—(1) The Minister may sue and be sued by the name of the Minister of Health, and may for all purposes be described by that name (b).

(2) The Minister shall have an official seal, which shall be officially and judicially noticed, and shall be authenticated by the signature of the Minister, or of a secretary, or any person authorised by the Minister to act in that behalf (c).

(3) For the purpose of acquiring and holding land, the Minister for the time being shall be a corporation sole by the name of the Minister of Health, and all land vested in the Minister shall be held in trust for His Majesty for the purposes of the Ministry of Health.

(4) Upon and by virtue of the appointment of any person to be Minister, the benefit of all deeds, contracts, bonds, securities, or things in action vested in his predecessor at the time of his predecessor ceasing to hold office shall be transferred to and vested in and enure for the benefit of the person so appointed, in the same manner as if he had been contracted with instead of his predecessor, and if his name had been inserted in all such deeds, contracts, bonds, or securities instead of the name of his predecessor. Section 7.

(5) Subsections (2) to (4) of section eleven and section twelve of the New Ministries and Secretaries Act, 1916, shall apply to the Minister and the Ministry of Health, and to the office of the Minister of Health and in like manner as they apply to the Ministers and Ministries mentioned in those sections. 6 & 7 Geo. 5, c. 68.

(a) See note (a) to s. 4, ante, p. 5191.

(b) This sub-section does not have the effect of enabling an action to be brought against the Minister of Health for breach of contract; but the proper remedy is still against the Crown by petition of right (Gilleghen v. Minister of Health, [1932] 1 Ch. 86; Digest Supp.).

(c) As to the cases in which the signature of a secretary or assistant secretary may be used in place of the seal, see L. G. (Emergency Provisions) Act, 1916, s. 12, ante, p. 5150.

8(a).—(1) Any Order in Council made under this Act may be revoked or varied by a subsequent Order. Provisions as to Orders in Council.

(2) Before any Order in Council under this Act (other than an Order appointing a day for the commencement of this Act or any provision thereof) (b) is made, notice of the proposal to make the Order and of the place where copies of a draft of the Order can be obtained shall be published in the London Gazette, and in such other manner as the Minister thinks best adapted for insuring publicity, and a draft of the Order shall be laid before each House of Parliament for not less than thirty days on which such House is sitting.

(3) In the case of a draft of an Order providing for any transfer of powers or duties to or from the Minister under subsections (2) and (3) of section three of this Act, or for the establishment of any consultative council under section four thereof, the Order shall not be made until both Houses by resolution have approved the draft, nor, if any modifications are agreed to by both Houses, otherwise than as so modified, and in the case of a draft of any other Order which is required to be laid as aforesaid, if either House before the expiration of such thirty days presents an Address to His Majesty against the draft, or any part thereof, no further proceedings shall be taken thereon, without prejudice to the making of any new draft Order.

(a) See note (a) to s. 4, ante, p. 5191.

(b) Words in italics repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

9(a).

(a) See note (a) to s. 4, ante, p. 5191. Sub-s. (1) deals only with Ireland and is omitted. Sub-s. (2) was repealed by s. 133 and Sched. VII. of the National Health Insurance Act, 1924 (20 Halsbury's Statutes 563, 571).

Consequential modifications of Insurance Acts.

10.—[Application to Ireland.]

11(a).—(1) This Act may be cited as the Ministry of Health Act, 1919, and shall come into operation upon such day or days as may be appointed by Order in Council, and different days may be appointed for different purposes and provisions of this Act: Short title, commencement, and repeal, and interpretation.

Provided that the latest day for the transfer of powers to the Minister under subsection (1) of section three of this Act shall not be later than one year after the passing of this Act:

Provided that the day appointed for the transfer of the powers of the Minister of Pensions shall not be earlier than one year or later than three years after the termination of the present war.

Section 11. (2) The enactments mentioned in the Second Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that Schedule (b).

(3) For the purposes of this Act, Monmouthshire shall be deemed to form part of Wales (c).

(4) The expression "Government department" includes the Insurance Commissioners, the Welsh Insurance Commissioners, and any other public department and any Minister of the Crown acting as the head of a Government department (c).

(a) Words in italics repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

(b) An Order in Council of February 9th, 1920, fixed April 1st, 1920, for the coming into operation of so much of this sub-section and of the Second Schedule as repealed para. (b) of and the proviso to sub-s. (2) of s. 16 of the National Insurance Act, 1911.

(c) An Order in Council of June 25th, 1919, fixed July 1st, 1919, for the coming into operation of this and the next sub-section.

Section 3.

TRANSITORY PROVISIONS.

1. In the construction and for the purposes of any Act of Parliament, judgment, decree, order, award, deed, contract, regulation, byelaw, or other document passed or made before the transfer to or from the Minister from or to any other Government department of any powers or duties by or under this Act, but so far only as may be necessary for the purpose of such transfer, the name of the Minister or of the other Government department shall be substituted for the name of the other Government department or of the Minister, as the case may require.

2. Where anything has been commenced by or under the authority of any other Government department or the Minister before the transfer to the Minister or another Government department of any powers or duties by or under this Act, and such thing is in relation to the powers or duties so transferred, such thing may be carried on and completed by or under the authority of the Minister or the other Government department, as the case may be.

3. Where at the time of the transfer of any powers or duties by or under this Act any legal proceeding is pending to which any Government department or the Minister is a party, and such proceeding has reference to the powers and duties transferred by or under this Act, the Minister or the other Government department shall be substituted in such proceeding for the other Government department or the Minister, as the case may be, and such proceeding shall not abate by reason of the substitution.

MINISTRY OF TRANSPORT ACT, 1919.

(9 & 10 GEO. 5, c. 50.)

An Act to establish a Ministry of Transport and for purposes connected therewith. [15th August, 1919.]

1. For the purpose of improving the means of, and the facilities for, locomotion and transport, it shall be lawful for His Majesty to appoint a Minister of Transport (hereinafter referred to as the Minister), who shall hold office during His Majesty's pleasure.

2.—(1) It shall be the duty of the Minister in the exercise and performance of any powers and duties transferred to, or conferred or imposed upon, him by or in pursuance of this Act, to take steps to carry out the purposes aforesaid, and there shall, as from such date or dates as His Majesty in Council may by Order determine, be transferred to the Minister all powers and duties of any Government Department in relation to—

- (a) railways;
- (b) light railways;
- (c) tramways;
- (d) canals, waterways, and inland navigations;
- (e) roads, bridges and ferries, and vehicles and traffic thereon;
- (f) harbours, docks and piers;

including any powers and duties of any Government Department in relation to any railway, light railway, tramway, canal, inland navigation, harbour, dock, pier, or other undertaking concerned with any of the matters aforesaid, and any powers of any Government Department with respect to the appointment of members or the procedure of any commissioners, conservancy board or other body having jurisdiction with respect to any such matters as aforesaid, and any powers of any Government Department with respect to the making, confirming, issuing, granting, or giving (as the case may be) of byelaws, regulations, orders, licences, approvals, or consents relating to any of the matters hereinbefore mentioned:

Provided that—

- (i) His Majesty in Council may by Order except from such transfer any particular powers or duties, or provide for the exercise or performance of any power or duty so excepted by the Minister concurrently or in consultation with or at the instance of the Government Department concerned, or by the Government Department concerned concurrently or in consultation with the Minister, or provide for the retransfer to any such Department of any powers and duties transferred to the Minister by this section; and
- (ii) Nothing in this section shall transfer to the Minister any powers or duties of the Admiralty exerciseable in or in relation to ports declared under the Dockyard Port Regulation Act, 1865, to be dockyard ports, but His Majesty in Council may by Order transfer to the Admiralty, instead of to the Minister, any of the powers of the Board of Trade with respect to dockyard ports, or with respect to the appointment of members of any commissioners, conservancy board, or other body having jurisdiction in the whole or any part of a dockyard port; and
- (iii) Nothing in this section shall transfer to the Minister the powers of the Board of Trade with respect to the appointment of members or the procedure of the Railway and Canal Commission,

28 & 29 Vict.
c. 125.

Section 2.

but His Majesty in Council may by Order transfer those powers to a Secretary of State instead of to the Minister (a).

(2) His Majesty in Council may by Order make such incidental, consequential and supplemental provisions as may be necessary or expedient for the purpose of giving full effect to any transfer of powers or duties by or under this section, including provisions for the transfer of any property, rights and liabilities held, enjoyed, or incurred by any Government Department in connexion with any powers or duties transferred, and may make such adaptations in the enactments relating to such powers or duties as may be necessary to make exercisable by the Minister and his officers or by the Admiralty and their officers, as the case may be, the powers and duties so transferred: Provided always that nothing herein contained shall enable the powers so transferred to be increased.

(2) In connexion with the transfer of powers and duties to the Minister, Admiralty, or Secretary of State, by or under this Act, the provisions set out in the First Schedule to this Act shall have effect.

(4) There shall be attached to the Ministry a separate department charged with dealing in the ordinary course of departmental business with road construction, improvement, maintenance, and development.

(a) With certain exceptions, the powers of the Board of Trade in relation to (a) railways (b) light railways; (c) tramways; (d) canals, waterways, inland navigations; (e) roads, bridges, ferries, vehicles and traffic thereon; and (f) harbours, docks, and piers passed to the Minister of Transport on September 23rd, 1919, by virtue of an Order in Council dated September 22nd, 1919. The exceptions were as follows: (1) All powers and duties under the Lands Clauses Acts; s. 36 of the Railway Companies Act, 1867 (14 Halsbury's Statutes 175); ss. 3 (14 Halsbury's Statutes 220), 7, 20, 25, and 31 of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1888, ante, pp. 4705, 4708, 4711, 4715; and ss. 5 and 13 of the Light Railways Act, 1896 (14 Halsbury's Statutes 254, 257); (2) powers and duties so far as they relate to navigation under the Preliminary Inquiries Act, 1851 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 76); Harbours Transfer Act, 1862 (op. cit., 119); ss. 7 to 11 of the General Pier and Harbour Act, 1861, Amendment Act, 1862 (op. cit., 114, 115), and any local, special, or private Act; and (3) powers and duties under s. 8 (20 Halsbury's Statutes 350) (in regard to appointment of commissioners after consultation as therein mentioned) and sub-ss. (1) and (2) of s. 27 of the Port of London Act, 1908.

Further, with certain exceptions, the powers of the Minister of Health in relation to the matters above mentioned passed to the Minister of Transport on September 23rd, 1919, by virtue of an Order in Council dated September 22nd, 1919. The exceptions were: (1) the powers and duties of the Minister of Health in regard to the matters aforesaid of giving sanction to the borrowing of money by local authorities; (2) the powers and duties of the Minister of Health under the Housing Acts, 1890 to 1919, ante, p. 1809; and (3) the powers and duties of the Minister of Health with respect to the confirmation of byelaws made by local authorities other than byelaws made under s. 26 of the Highways and Locomotives (Amendment) Act, 1878 (9 Halsbury's Statutes 181), and byelaws made under s. 6 of the Locomotives Act, 1898. There is, however, a proviso in the Order in Council that in the exercise of the powers so excepted so far as they relate to roads, bridges, vehicles, and traffic thereon the Minister of Health shall act in consultation with the Minister of Transport.

By a third Order in Council of the same date the powers and duties of the Road Board in relation to the matters aforesaid passed to the Minister of Transport on September 23rd, 1919. Under s. 39 (1) of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, post, p. 5265, and the Ministry of Transport (Electricity Supply) Order, 1920, the powers and duties of the Board of Trade under the Electric Lighting Acts and local Acts relating to the supply of electricity passed to the Minister of Transport on January 23rd, 1920.

3. (a)—(1) With a view to affording time for the consideration and formulation of the policy to be pursued as to the future position of undertakings to which this section applies, the following provisions shall, unless Parliament otherwise determines, have effect for a period of two years after the passing of this Act, or where as respects any particular provision a longer period is expressly provided, for such longer period:—

(a) Where at the passing of this Act possession has been taken of any railroad undertaking or part thereof in pursuance of section sixteen of the Regulation of the Forces Act, 1871, or otherwise, possession

Power to control

thereof shall be retained without any renewal of the warrant granted by the Secretary of State in pursuance of that section, upon the same terms as to compensation as those heretofore in force, and the Minister may exercise over all such undertakings all such powers as have hitherto been exercised by the Board of Trade under the said Act or with the consent of the owners of the undertakings or otherwise, and such other powers as may be conferred by this section or agreed to by the railway companies concerned :

- (b) The Minister may, after giving not less than one month's notice in writing, take possession, in the name or on behalf of His Majesty, of the whole or any part of any other statutory railway undertaking or of any light railway or tramway undertaking (other than a tramway or a light railway used as a tramway belonging to a local authority), or of any canal or inland navigation undertaking, and, subject as hereinafter, mentioned, of any harbour, dock or pier undertaking, or of any plant belonging to any such undertaking as aforesaid or used thereon (exclusive of privately owned railway wagons), and of any barges, tugs, and other craft owned or held by the undertaking of which possession has been taken : Provided that such notice as aforesaid shall not, in the event of the matter being referred to an advisory committee as hereinafter provided, be given until the committee has reported :

- (c) The directors and other persons concerned with the management, and officers and servants of any undertaking of the whole or part of which, or of the plant whereof, possession is retained or taken shall obey the directions of the Minister as to the user thereof, and any directions of the Minister in relation to the undertaking or part or plant thereof of which possession is retained or taken—

(i) as to the rates, fares, tolls, dues and charges to be charged ; subject, however, to the provisions hereinafter contained respecting references to the advisory committee established for advising as to directions on the matters aforesaid ;

(ii) as to the salaries, wages, and remuneration and conditions of employment of persons employed on or in connexion with the undertaking ;

(iii) as to the working or discontinuance of the working of the undertaking or any part thereof including directions as to keeping open or closing of any stations ;

(iv) for securing that the permanent way, rolling stock, plant, appliances, or equipment, whether fixed or moveable, are satisfactory in type and design ;

(v) as to the carrying out of alterations, improvements, and additions which the Minister considers necessary for the public safety or for the more efficient and economic working of the undertaking ;

(vi) for securing co-operation between undertakings and for securing the common user of facilities, rolling stock and equipment whether fixed or moveable ;

(vii) for affording running powers over their system, or any part thereof, to the owners of any other undertaking ;

(viii) for securing that manufacturing and repairing facilities and auxiliary and ancillary services shall be used, and the purchase and distribution of stores shall be conducted, in such manner as may be most conducive to economy and efficiency.

Nothing in this section shall be construed as authorising the Minister to compel the owners of any such undertaking either to incur capital expenditure, or to draw upon their reserve funds, for new works or capital improvements to an extent which would seriously interfere with their finances, it being the intention that the financing of the undertakings from a capital point of view shall remain as far as possible with the owners.

(d) For enabling any directions given by the Minister under the last foregoing paragraph as to alterations, and improvements and additions to be carried into effect, the Minister may, by order, authorise the owners of any undertaking to acquire any land (or easements) and to construct any works, and the order may incorporate the Lands Clauses Acts, subject to such modifications as may be specified in the order, being modifications of those Acts made or authorised to be made by the Development and Road Improvement Funds Act, 1909, or any other enactment, and may incorporate or apply any of the provisions of any enactment relating to the construction, maintenance, or working of railways, light railways, tramways, canals, harbours, docks, and piers, and any such order shall have effect as if enacted in this Act: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to empower the Minister to authorise the acquisition, otherwise than by agreement, of any land belonging to the owners of another undertaking to which this section applies, or of a local authority, or of a harbour dock or pier undertaking, but the Minister may authorise the acquisition of an easement or right of using such land for the purposes of any works the construction of which he may authorise under this section.

(e) In the case of any undertaking of which possession is retained or taken by the Minister as aforesaid any rates, fares, tolls, dues and other charges directed by the Minister shall be deemed to be reasonable, and may, notwithstanding any agreement or statutory provisions limiting the amount of such charges or increases therein, be charged in respect of any undertaking during the period for which the Minister retains possession of such undertaking, and for a further period of eighteen months after the expiration of the said period, or until fresh provision shall be made by Parliament with regard to the amount of any such rates, fares, tolls, dues, and other charges, whichever shall first happen:

(f) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, the rights of a consignor or consignee of goods or minerals, any trader or class of traders, or any port or harbour authority or dock company to complain to the Railway and Canal Commission under the Railway and Canal Traffic Acts 1854 to 1913 in respect of undue preference or undue disadvantage or allowances or rebates in relation to the provision of station accommodation or terminal services shall not be deemed to be affected, and it shall be no answer to any such complaint that the railway company in respect of which the complaint is made was acting under the directions of the Minister.

(2) Subject as aforesaid, any agreement made between the owners of any undertaking, of the whole or part of which possession has been retained or taken under this section, and any other person shall continue in force in like manner as if such possession had not been so retained or taken, unless the Minister considers that such agreement is contrary to the public interest, and in that case he may suspend or modify the operation of such agreement during the period of such possession and for a period not exceeding eighteen months thereafter, and any party to the agreement who suffers loss or injury by reason of such suspension or modification, and any person who, by virtue of any special statutory provision or agreement, is entitled to the benefit of any special rate, fare, toll, due, or other charge, and whose position relatively to other persons is prejudiced by any direction of the Minister altering such special charge, shall be entitled to receive such compensation as, in default of agreement, may be determined by the Railway and Canal Commission, regard being had to any change in circumstances. Section 3.

(3) The exercise by the Minister of any of his powers under this section as respects any tramway or light railway used as a tramway which a local authority, or two or more local authorities, have power to purchase under any Act of Parliament or order having the effect of an Act of Parliament shall not affect such right of the local authority, or authorities, and upon the purchase thereof such tramway or light railway shall cease to be in the possession of the Minister.

(4) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to exempt from any local rate or assessment any undertaking to which this section applies.

(5) For the purposes of this Act, possession so taken or retained as aforesaid shall confer on the Minister such rights of control and direction as may be necessary for the exercise of his powers under this Act, but shall not confer on him any rights of ownership.

(a) The operation of this section appears to be now spent, except sub-s. (1) (c), in relation to canals (Canals (Continuance of Charging Powers) Act, 1922; Expiring Laws Continuance Act, 1928; 14, 18 Halsbury's Statutes 387, 1226).

4. (a)—[Saving for statutory harbour, dock and pier authorities.]

(a) This section was repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183), being of temporary operation only and then spent.

5. The Minister shall have the power to require through-runings on adjoining tramways (a) belonging to different owners, whether local authorities or not, and in default of agreement between such owners to settle the terms of such through-running, after hearing the said owners, in such manner as he thinks fit. Power to grant through-runings on tramways.

(a) "Tramway" includes a trackless trolley vehicle system. See s. 80 (2), post, p. 5211.

6. Where in pursuance of any direction given by the Minister under this Act the owners of any undertaking shall acquire any lands or easement, or construct any works, or carry out any alteration or improvement or addition to their undertaking, the owners may, after the expiration of the period of possession, continue to hold and use such lands or easement and maintain and use such works, alteration, improvement, or addition for the purposes of their undertaking, and such land, easement, works, alteration, improvement, and addition shall for all purposes be deemed to form part of their undertaking. Power to retain lands, etc.

7.—(1) The following provisions shall apply with respect to officers or servants of any undertaking of which, or of any part or plant of which possession has been retained or taken under this Act (all of which officers and servants are in this Act hereinafter referred to as "existing officers and servants") :— Provisions as to officers and servants.

(i) Where the Minister requires the services of any existing officer or servant, that officer or servant may be transferred to the Minister—

(a) either permanently with the consent of the officer or servant; or

(b) temporarily with the consent (which shall not unreasonably be withheld) of the officer or servant, and of the owners of the undertaking;

(ii) No existing officer or servant so transferred, whether temporarily

Section 7.

- or permanently, shall without his consent be, by reason of such transfer or anything done under this Act, in any worse position in respect to the conditions of his service (including tenure of office, remuneration, gratuities, pension, superannuation, sick fund or any benefits or allowances, whether obtaining legally or by customary practice), as compared with the conditions of service obtaining with respect to him at the passing of this Act, and, if any question arises as to whether the provisions of this paragraph have been complied with, the question shall be referred to a standing arbitrator or board of arbitration appointed by the Lord Chancellor for the purposes of this section, and, if the arbitrator or board consider that those provisions have not been complied with and that the officer or servant has thereby suffered loss or injury, they shall award him such sum as they think sufficient to compensate him for such loss or injury :
- (iii) Where an existing officer or servant has been transferred either temporarily or permanently to the Minister under this section, then, so long as the Minister remains in possession of that undertaking or any part or plant thereof, that officer or servant may remain a full member of any pension or superannuation fund established in connexion with the undertaking with all the rights to which he would be entitled had he continued in the service of the owners of the undertaking, and any contributions payable under the rules of the pension or superannuation fund or by customary practice by the owners of the undertaking may be paid by the Treasury out of moneys provided by Parliament, and he shall be entitled to receive such reasonable allowances for temporary disturbance as the Minister with the consent of the Treasury may determine (including direct pecuniary loss sustained in consequence of the transfer) :
- (iv) Every existing officer or servant not transferred to the Minister in pursuance of this Act shall, notwithstanding the powers conferred upon the Minister by this Act, continue to hold his office or situation under the owners of the undertaking under the same tenure and upon the same terms and conditions (including all conditions regarding gratuities, pension, superannuation, sick fund, or any benefits or allowances), whether obtaining legally or by customary practice, as he held it on the date of the passing of this Act, and while performing the same duties shall receive not less salary, wages, or remuneration than under existing regulations, agreements, or established customs of the service he would have been entitled to if this Act had not been passed :
- (v) The Minister may direct that the office or situation of any existing officer or servant which he deems unnecessary shall be abolished : Provided that the Minister shall not require the abolition of any such office which will, in the opinion of the owners of the undertaking, be essential to them in their conduct of the undertaking at the end of the period of possession :
- (vi) If by or in consequence of a direction of the Minister any existing officer or servant is, during the period of possession, required to perform duties such as are not analogous or which are an unreasonable addition to those which he has, prior to the date of the passing of this Act, been required to perform, such officer or servant may relinquish his office or service :
- (vii) Every such officer or servant who so relinquishes his office or service as aforesaid, and every such officer or servant whose services by or in consequence of any such direction are dispensed with on the ground that his services are not required, or for any reason not being on account of any misconduct or incapacity, or whose salary, wages, or remuneration are reduced on the ground that his duties have been diminished by or in consequence of any such direction, or who otherwise suffers any direct pecuniary loss in consequence of this Act (including any loss of prospective superannuation or other retiring or death allowances, whether obtaining legally or by customary practice), shall be entitled to be paid by the Minister compensation for such pecuniary loss, to be determined by the Treasury, subject to appeal to such standing arbitrator or board of arbitration as aforesaid, in accordance with the provisions contained in section one hundred and twenty of the Local Government Act, 1888, relating to compensation to existing officers, and those provisions shall apply accordingly as if they were herein re-enacted with the necessary modifications:

Section 7.

51 & 52 Vict.
c. 41.

Provided that, in the case of any officer or servant who was appointed to his office as a specially qualified person at an age exceeding that at which public service usually begins, or of any officer or servant who suffers any loss of prospective superannuation or other retiring or death allowances as aforesaid, such addition may be made to the amount of compensation authorised under the said provisions as may seem just, having regard to the particular circumstances of such case: Provided further that the expression in subsection (1) of section one hundred and twenty of the Local Government Act, 1888, "the Acts and Rules relating to Her Majesty's Civil Service" shall mean the Acts and Rules relating to His Majesty's Civil Service which were in operation at the date of the passing of the Local Government Act, 1888.

(2) Any person formerly in the employment of the owners of an undertaking of which or of any part or plant of which possession is retained or taken under this Act, who on the date of the passing of this Act is, though not legally entitled thereto, in receipt of a pension or other superannuation allowance, shall continue to receive from the owners of such undertaking the same pension or allowance on the same terms and conditions as if this Act had not been passed.

(3) Any person who, at the date of the passing of this Act, was in the employment of the owners of an undertaking of which or of any part or plant of which possession is retained or taken under this Act and who, during the period of such possession, would, though not legally entitled thereto, in accordance with customary practice, be granted a pension or superannuation allowance by the owners of such undertaking, shall not be in any worse position in regard thereto by reason of the passing of this Act.

(4) This section shall apply to persons who are, or have been, members of the staff of the Railway Clearing House, or the Irish Railway Clearing House, or any railway conference, in like manner as if they were, or had been, officers or servants of an undertaking of which possession had been taken and the period of possession thereof had been the same as that of a railway undertaking, and to the Railway Clearing System Superannuation Fund, as if it was a pension or superannuation fund established in connexion with an undertaking of which possession has been taken, and as if payments and contributions heretofore made by railway companies thereto were contributions payable by the owners of the undertaking.

8.—(1) Where at the end of the period of possession by the Government of any undertaking or of any part or plant of an undertaking the value Claims against and by the Min-of the undertaking on a revenue-earning basis has been reduced or enhanced as compared with the value at the commencement of such period, or where during that period the income thereof has been reduced or enhanced, after taking into account in either case—

(a) any capital expenditure by the owners of the undertaking on any works brought into use in the interval ; and

(b) the natural growth of traffic on the undertaking, then, if and so far as such reduction or enhancement is due to the exercise by the Minister during that period upon the undertaking in question of the powers under section three of this Act (including such powers as have been hitherto exercised by the Board of Trade as mentioned in paragraph (1)(a) of that section) the owners of the undertaking shall, unless such reduction or enhancement is otherwise provided for by the compensation mentioned in paragraph (1)(a) of that section, be entitled to be recouped, or liable to pay, the amount by which that value has been so reduced or enhanced, and if any question arises as to such amount or the liability to pay the same, or otherwise with respect to the financial relations between the Minister and any person affected by the exercise by the Minister of any of his powers under the said section, the question shall be determined by the Railway and Canal Commission having regard to all the circumstances of the case :

Provided that—

- (i) no claim in respect of any loss alleged to be due to any direction issued by the Minister shall be entertained if the direction was issued with the concurrence of the owners of the undertaking ; and
- (ii) if, whilst an undertaking of which or of any part or plant of which possession has been taken remains in the possession of the Government, the State is authorised by Parliament to acquire the undertaking, nothing in this subsection restricting claims for enhancement attributable to the exercise by the Minister of such powers as aforesaid to cases where the value of the undertaking has been enhanced as compared with the value thereof at the commencement of the period of possession shall be held to affect, one way or the other, any question as to the principle on which the price to be paid on such acquisition is to be based.

(2) Without prejudice to any other form of payment or satisfaction, the Treasury, on the recommendation of the Minister, may, as or as part of the consideration for exercising any powers of control under the said section, guarantee the payment of any dividends or interest on any stock or other securities issued by the owners of an undertaking up to such amount as may be agreed, or the payment of any working expenses of the undertaking, and any sums required to fulfil any such guarantee shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament.

(3) Wherever the Minister has expended any sum in the capital improvement of any undertaking, the owners of the undertaking shall be liable to pay to the Minister the unexhausted value of such expenditure at the end of the before-mentioned period, if and so far as such expenditure is not covered by the payments to be made by the owners under the preceding provisions of this section, and that value shall, in default of agreement, be determined by the Railway and Canal Commission.

(4) The owners of the undertaking may satisfy any payment due from them under this section by creating a charge in favour of the Treasury upon the undertaking to such amount and in such form and with such priority as may be agreed, or, in case of difference, may be settled by the Railway and Canal Commission, who shall have due regard to the rights and interests of all parties concerned, but the charge so created shall in no case take priority to any capital raised by loan or debenture stock issued by the owners of the undertaking, Section 8.

(5) Any claim by a railway company against the Government for compensation in respect of the exercise by the Board of Trade of any powers over or in respect of the undertaking in pursuance of section sixteen of the Regulation of the Forces Act, 1871, or with the consent of the railway company, or otherwise, may be determined by the Railway and Canal Commission in like manner as if it were a claim arising under this section, and the Minister was the person liable to satisfy the claim.

(6) The Minister shall indemnify, and keep indemnified, the owners of any undertaking of which or of any part of which, or of any plant of which possession has been retained or taken, and the owners of any harbour, dock or pier undertaking, against all actions, claims, and demands made in respect of loss or injury alleged to be caused by the carrying out of any directions given by the Minister under section three of this Act, or, as the case may be, any requirements contained in any order made by the Minister under section four of this Act:

Provided that, where the loss or injury is due to the breach of any contractual obligation, the Minister shall not be liable under this provision unless before carrying out the directions the owners of the undertaking have given written notice to the Minister of the existence of the obligation.

9.—(1) It shall be lawful for the Minister to establish, and either by himself or through any other person to work, transport services by land or water, and to acquire either by agreement or compulsorily such land or easements, to construct such works, and to do all such other things, as may be necessary for the purpose:

Power to establish transport services.

Provided that—

(i) no new transport service shall be established by the Minister until an estimate of the capital expenditure required to complete it, accompanied by details of the scheme for the establishment of the service, has been approved by the Treasury;

(ii) if in the case of any such service such estimate as aforesaid exceeds half a million pounds, or if the establishment of any such service involves the acquisition of land or easements compulsorily, or the breaking up of any roads, the Minister shall not exercise his powers of establishing the service unless authorised to do so by Order in Council a draft whereof has been approved by a resolution passed by both Houses of Parliament, and the Order may incorporate the provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts, subject to such modifications as may be specified in the Order, being modifications of those Acts made or authorised to be made by the Development and Road Improvements Funds Act, 1909, or any other enactment, and the Order may also incorporate or apply any enactments relating to the construction and maintenance of the works in question;

(iii) where it appears to the Minister that the establishment of any such service could properly be undertaken by the owners of any existing undertaking, the Minister shall not himself establish the service without first giving to such owners an opportunity of establishing the service, and, where such an opportunity is given to the owners of an undertaking of which possession has been retained or taken under section three of this Act, and those owners prefer that the establishment of the service should be undertaken by themselves rather than by the Minister, they may require the Minister to give them directions under that section to that effect, but shall not be deemed to have thereby concurred in those directions; and

Section 9.

(iv) the Minister shall not, after two years from the passing of this Act unless Parliament otherwise determines, commence the construction of any new works, or provide equipment for any transport service not established before that date.

(2) The Minister or other person working a service established under this section may charge such rates, fares, tolls, and charges in connexion therewith as may be prescribed by the Minister, subject to reference to the Advisory Committee on Rates hereinafter established, and the expenses of working such services shall be paid out of the revenues derived therefrom, and the Minister shall keep or cause to be kept such accounts of the receipts from and expenditure on the services and in such form, and those accounts shall be audited in such manner as the Treasury may prescribe.

Extraordinary traffic.

41 & 42 Vict. c. 77.

41 & 42 Vict. c. 51.

1 & 2 Geo. 5, c. 45.

10. Any transport service on roads established by the Ministry shall be subject to the provisions relating to extraordinary traffic contained in the Highways and Locomotives (Amendment) Act, 1878 (a), or in Scotland the Roads and Bridges (Scotland) Act, 1878, or in Ireland the Public Roads (Ireland) Act, 1911 (as amended by any subsequent enactment).

(a) These provisions have been repealed and replaced with variations by s. 54, Road Traffic Act, 1930, Vol. V. and 23 Halsbury's Statutes 649.

Appeal as to bridges.

11. An appeal shall lie to the Minister in respect of any restriction upon any traffic passing over or seeking to cross any bridge or culvert, and the Minister shall have power, notwithstanding any provision in any other statute, to make such order as he may think fit concerning the strengthening, standard of maintenance, and maintenance of any bridge or culvert, the traffic using it or seeking to use it, and apportionment of any expenditure involved, but no order made by the Minister under this section shall enlarge the pecuniary liability of any railway or canal company or impose any new liability upon any such company (a).

(a) In addition to the protection given to railway and canal companies by this section, see the protection given to local authorities by s. 24, post, p. 5209.

6 & 7 Geo. 5, c. 12.

12 (a). [Provisions as to new routes for omnibuses.]

(a) This section is now spent, and was repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183). For the right of appeal from a refusal to grant a licence for an omnibus, or against conditions imposed on such a grant for which inter alia this section provided, see now s. 14 (3) of the Roads Act, 1920, Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 98, so far as that section still applies, but see (as regards most such vehicles), Part IV. of the Road Traffic Act, 1930; 23 Halsbury's Statutes 654. Powers as to railway wagons.

13.—(1) It shall be lawful for the Minister to purchase privately-owned railway wagons required for use on any railway on such terms and conditions as may be authorised by or under an Order in Council, a draft whereof has been approved by a Resolution passed by both Houses of Parliament, and to work or lease any such wagons when so purchased, or to apportion them among the several railway undertakings in such manner, on such terms, and subject to such conditions as may be provided by or under the Order:

Provided that the Minister shall not be entitled to purchase in England and Wales, or Scotland, or Ireland, respectively, wagons used for the conveyance of any particular class of traffic unless he purchases all privately-owned wagons so used which belong to or are used by persons carrying on business therein, and which comply with the regulations with respect to such wagons in force at the date of such purchase.

(2) Where, in the case of any wagon which has been in use on or before the fifteenth day of May, nineteen hundred and nineteen, the wagon has since that date been the subject of a purchase agreement, the price paid on such purchase shall not be evidence of the value of the wagon in determining the price to be paid by the Minister.

(3) Where the Minister has, in pursuance of his powers under this section, purchased any wagon, any contract then in force for the repair of the wagon shall upon the purchase be determined, unless otherwise agreed with the Minister. Section 13.

(4) Where the Minister exercises his powers of purchasing wagons under this section, or of prohibiting or restricting the use of privately-owned wagons, or of limiting the number of wagons to be so used, the following provisions shall have effect:—

(a) The reasonable facilities which every railway company is required to afford under section two of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1854, as amended or explained by any other Act, shall, where the railway wagons of traders of any class have been purchased, include the provision of suitable railway wagons for the use of traders of that class, and it shall be the duty of the Minister so to exercise his powers of working or disposing of the wagons purchased by him as to enable the railway companies to fulfil their obligations under this provision as fully as may be practicable: 17 & 18 Vict.
c. 31.

(b) Where the provision of wagons is not included in the authorised maximum rates of conveyance, a railway company may charge for the use of such wagons such sums as may be directed by the Minister under section three of this Act, and, if and so far as no such directions are in force, any sums not exceeding those prescribed for the use of such wagons by any Railway Rates and Charges Order applicable thereto:

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of any other Act or any decision thereunder, in determining what sum may be charged under the provisions of any Railway Rates and Charges Order for the detention of wagons at the premises of any trader, regard shall be had to the requirements and reasonable usages of the trade carried on at those premises in connexion with which such wagons are used.

(5) Notwithstanding any statutory or other provision to the contrary, it shall be lawful for the Minister to make regulations prohibiting or restricting the use on railways of privately-owned wagons or limiting the number of wagons to be so used and prescribing the type and capacity thereof:

Provided that nothing in this Act shall authorise the prohibition of the use on railways of such wagons as comply with regulations for the time being in force made in pursuance of the Railways Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, the Railways Clauses Consolidation (Scotland) Act, 1845, or any other enactment in force at the date of the passing of this Act, and as are in use, under repair, or in course of construction at that date. 8 & 9 Vict.
c. 20.
8 & 9 Vict
c. 33.

14.—(1) Any capital sum payable under this Act for reduction in the value of an undertaking, or for the purchase of privately-owned railway wagons, or any interest therein, may be discharged in whole or in part, if the Treasury so direct, by the issue of securities, and the amount of such securities equivalent to such capital sum shall, in default of agreement, be determined by the Railway and Canal Commission. Power to discharge capital liabilities by issue of stock.

For that purpose the Treasury may create and issue securities which shall bear interest at such rate and shall be subject to such conditions and regulations as to repayment, redemption, or otherwise as the Treasury may direct or prescribe, and the regulations may apply with the necessary modifications any of the enactments relating to the local loans stock; the interest on any such securities as aforesaid shall—

(a) in the case of securities issued for the purchase of railway wagons, be charged on the revenues derived from the wagons so acquired after payment thereof of working expenses, and, if and so far as such

Section 14.

revenues are insufficient, on the Consolidated Fund of the United Kingdom or the growing produce thereof; and

- (b) in the case of other securities, be charged on the Consolidated Fund of the United Kingdom or the growing produce thereof.

(2) Where the whole or any part of the purchase money for the interest in railway wagons belonging to a wagon finance company is discharged by the issue to the company of such securities as aforesaid, and the company in consequence of the exercise by the Minister of his powers under this Act of purchasing railway wagons is wound up voluntarily, the liquidator may present to the court having jurisdiction to wind up the company a scheme for the discharge in whole or in part of the liabilities of the company to the holders of debentures or debenture stock of the company by means of the transfer to them of an amount of the securities so issued to the company, and, if the court sanctions the scheme, those liabilities may be discharged accordingly.

For the purpose of this subsection, "wagon finance company" means a company whose principal business is the advance of money to colliery companies and other persons for the purpose of the acquisition by them of railway wagons.

Incorporation of certain sections.

15. An order made by the Minister authorising the owners of any railway undertaking to acquire any land (including easements), and to construct any works, or an Order in Council authorising the Minister to acquire land compulsorily for the purpose of a railway, shall incorporate sections seventy-seven to eighty-five of the Railways Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, or, in Scotland, sections seventy to seventy-eight of the Railways Clauses Consolidation (Scotland) Act, 1845 (which relate to the working of mines), subject to any statutory modifications thereof then in force.

5 & 6 Geo. 5,
c. 72.

16 (a).—[Amendment of Special Acts (Extension of Time) Act, 1915.]

(a) This section is now spent and was repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

Power to make advances for certain
purposes.

17.—(1) The Minister may, subject to the approval of the Treasury, make advances out of the moneys provided by Parliament to any authority, company or person, either by way of grant or by way of loan, or partly in one way and partly in another, and upon such terms and conditions as he thinks fit for any of the following purposes:—

- (a) The construction, improvement, or maintenance of railways, light railways, or tramways:
- (b) The construction, improvement or maintenance of roads, bridges, or ferries:
- (c) The construction, improvement or maintenance of harbours, docks or piers:
- (d) The construction, improvement or maintenance of canals or inland navigations:
- (e) The promotion and improvement of transport services by land or water:

And the power of the Treasury on the recommendation of the Development Commissioners to make advances for any of the purposes aforesaid shall cease and determine, except as respects advances for the construction improvement, or maintenance of harbours in connexion with the improvement and development of fisheries, in which case the Development Commissioners shall consult with the Minister before reporting on any application referred to them:

Provided that the Minister shall not make an advance exceeding one million pounds at any one time for the purpose of any work, unless specially authorised to do so by a Resolution of the House of Commons.

(2) For the purpose of advances for the construction, improvement, or maintenance of roads, the Minister may, after consultation with the Roads Committee hereinafter referred to and the local authorities affected, classify roads in such manner as he thinks fit (a), and may, by agreement with the local authority (b), defray half the salary and establishment charges of the engineer or surveyor to a local authority responsible for the maintenance of such roads, subject to the condition that the appointment, retention, and dismissal of such engineer or surveyor, and the amount of such establishment charges, shall be subject to the approval of the Minister (c). Section 17.

(a) It is upon the classification of roads under this provision that the transfer of roads in urban districts under s. 31 of the L. G. A., 1929, Vol. V., post, to county councils depends.

(b) As to such agreements, see Circulars of 1922 and 1929, ante, pp. 3433 and 3434.

(c) Nothing in Part IV. of the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 860, affects the terms of any agreement made under this subsection with respect to the appointment, retention or dismissal of any engineer or surveyor of the local authority responsible for the maintenance of the roads (L. G. A., 1933, s. 124 (3), ante, p. 914).

18 (a).—[Accounts, statistics and returns.]

(a) This section is now spent and was repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

19. The provisions of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1888, as amended by any subsequent enactment, relating to the procedure for the determination of questions by the Commission under that Act, including the provisions relating to appeals, shall apply to the determination of questions referred to the Commission under this Act, as if they were herein re-enacted and in terms made applicable to this Act: Provisions as to the Railway and Canal Commission. 51 & 52 Vict. c. 25.

Provided that—

- (a) the Commission may, in any case in which they think it expedient to do so, call in the aid of one or more assessors, specially qualified, and hear the case wholly or partially with the assistance of such assessors;
- (b) the Commission may hold a local inquiry for the purposes of this section by any one of their members, or by any officer of the Commission or other person whom they may direct to hold the same, and the said provisions of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1888, except the provisions relating to appeals, shall, so far as applicable, apply to such inquiries, and any officer or person directed to hold an inquiry shall have power to administer oaths and shall report the result of the inquiry to the Commission;
- (c) the discretion of the Commission with respect to costs shall not be limited in the manner provided by section two of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1894.

20.—(1) The Minister may hold such inquiries as he considers necessary or desirable for the purposes of this Act, and the Minister, and, if authorised by the Minister, the person appointed to hold any such inquiry, may by order require any person, subject to the payment or tender of the reasonable expenses of his attendance, to attend as a witness and give evidence or to produce any documents in his possession or power which relate to any matter in question at the inquiry, and are such as would be subject to production in a court of law, and, if any person fails without reasonable excuse to comply with any of the provisions of any such order, he shall be liable, on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding five pounds, and the person holding the inquiry shall have power to take evidence on oath and for that purpose to administer oaths. Power to hold inquiries.

(2) Notices of inquiries may be given and published in accordance with such general or special directions as the Minister may give.

Section 20. (3) The powers of the Minister under this section shall be in addition to and not in derogation of any powers of holding inquiries transferred to him from any other Government Department under this Act.

This section is applied by a number of later statutes; see, e.g., the Road Traffic Act, 1930, s. 114, Vol. V. and 23 Halsbury's Statutes 684; the London Passenger Transport Act, 1933, s. 102, Vol. V. and 26 Halsbury's Statutes 844; the Road and Rail Traffic Act, 1933, s. 47, Vol. V. and 26 Halsbury's Statutes 911; and the London Passenger Transport Act, 1934, s. 114 (1) (27 Halsbury's Statutes 642). As to local inquiries generally, see notes to L. G. A., 1933, s. 290, ante, p. 1170.

Rates advisory committee.

21.—(1) For the purpose of giving advice and assistance to the Minister with respect to and for safeguarding any interests affected by any directions as to rates, fares, tolls, dues, and other charges or special services, a committee shall be appointed consisting of five persons, one being a person of experience in the law (who shall be chairman) nominated by the Lord Chancellor, two being representatives of the trading and agricultural interests nominated by the Board of Trade, after consultation with the Associated Chambers of Commerce, the Central Chamber of Agriculture, and other interests concerned, one being a representative of transportation interests nominated by the Minister, one being a representative of labour interests nominated by the Minister of Labour, after consultation with the Parliamentary Committee of the Trades Union Congress and other interests concerned, together with, if deemed advisable, one additional member who may at the discretion of the Minister be nominated from time to time by him.

(2) Before directing any revision of any rates, fares, tolls, dues, or other charges, or of any special services, the Minister shall refer the matter to the committee for their advice, and they shall report thereon to him, and, where such revision is for the purpose of an increase in the net revenue of any undertakings which the Minister determines to be necessary, the committee shall also advise as to the best methods of obtaining such increase from the different classes of traffic, having due regard to existing contracts and the fairness and adequacy of the methods proposed to be adopted. Before prescribing the limits of rates, tolls, or charges in connexion with a new transport service established under section nine of this Act, the Minister shall refer the matter to the Committee for their advice.

(3) The committee, before reporting or advising on any matters referred to them under this section, shall, unless in their discretion they consider it unnecessary or undesirable to do so, give such public notice as they think best adapted for informing persons affected of the date when and the place where they will inquire into the matter, and any persons affected may make representations to the committee, and, unless in their discretion the committee consider it unnecessary, shall be heard at such inquiry, and, if the committee in their discretion think fit, the whole or any part of the proceedings at such inquiry may be open to the public:

Provided that, for the purpose of this provision, the council of any city, borough, burgh, county, or district shall be deemed to be persons affected in any case where such council or any persons represented by them may be affected by any such proposed revision as aforesaid.

(4) The committee shall hear such witnesses and call for such documents and accounts as they think fit, and shall have power to take evidence on oath, and for that purpose any member of the committee may administer oaths.

(5) There shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament to all or any of the members of the committee such salaries or other remuneration as the Minister, with the consent of the Treasury, may determine.

(6) For the purposes of this section, "special services" means the services mentioned in section five of the schedule to the orders relating to railway rates and charges, and in the corresponding sections of the schedules to the orders relating to canal tolls, rates and charges, confirmed by various Acts passed in the years eighteen hundred and ninety-one to eighteen hundred and ninety-four. Section 21

22. [Roads advisory committee.]

Repealed by the Road and Rail Traffic Act, 1933, s. 48, Sched. III., Vol. V. and 26 Halsbury's Statutes 912, 915.

23.—(1) For the purpose of giving advice and assistance to the Minister in connexion with the exercise and performance of his powers and duties, the Minister shall set up a panel of experts, and of impartial persons of wide commercial and trading experience, appointed from nominees, after consultation with the various undertakings and interests concerned, of the various classes of undertakings affected by this Act, and of labour, trading interests, local authorities, and such other interests as he may deem desirable. Advisory committees.

(2) Before exercising any of the powers under subsection (1) (b) of section three of this Act, to the exercise of which the owners of the undertaking concerned object, or establishing new transport services by land or water the Minister shall refer the matter to a committee selected by him from the said panel.

(3) The advisory panel or any committee to whom any matter is referred under this section shall, before reporting or advising, if they see fit, give public notice and permit any person affected or likely to be affected to place his views before them either orally or in writing.

(4) Any member of the advisory panel, or any committee thereof, or of any other committee established under this Act, for giving advice and assistance to the Minister, shall be considered to be acting entirely in a confidential capacity.

24. Nothing in this Act shall be construed as giving power to the Minister to impose any conditions upon a local authority which shall entail expenditure without consent of such local authority, or of the Minister of Health, or in Scotland the Secretary for Scotland, or in Ireland the Local Government Board for Ireland. Consent of local authority.

25.—(1) The Minister may appoint such secretaries, officers, and servants of the Ministry as the Minister may, subject to the consent of the Treasury as to number, determine. Staff and remuneration.

Provided that there shall not be more than one paid parliamentary secretary of the Ministry.

(2) There shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament . . . to the . . . secretaries [other than the Parliamentary Secretary], officers, and servants of the Ministry such salaries or remuneration as the Treasury may from time to time determine.

(3) The expenses of the Ministry, to such amount as may be sanctioned by the Treasury, shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament.

(4) There shall be transferred and attached to the Ministry such of the persons employed under any other Government Department in or about the execution of the powers and duties transferred by or under this Act to the Minister, as the Minister and the other Government Department, with the sanction of the Treasury, may determine.

(5) The Minister may from time to time distribute the business of the Ministry amongst the several persons transferred or attached thereto in pursuance of the foregoing provisions of this section in such manner as he may think right, and those officers shall perform such duties in relation to that business as may be directed by the Minister :

Provided that such persons shall be in no worse position as respects the Section 25. tenure of office, salary or superannuation allowances than they would have been if this Act had not been passed.

The variations noted in this section were made by the Ministers of the Crown Act, 1937, Scheds. III., IV. ; 30 Halsbury's Statutes 122, 123.

Seal, style and acts of Minister.

26.—(1) The Minister may sue and be sued in respect of matters, whether relating to contract tort or otherwise arising in connexion with his office, by the name of the Minister of Transport, and may for all purposes be described by that name and shall be responsible for the acts and defaults of the officers and servants and agents of the Ministry in like manner and to the like extent as if they were his servants, and costs may be awarded to or against the Minister (a).

(2) The Minister shall have an official seal, which shall be officially and judicially noticed, and shall be authenticated by the signature of the Minister, or of a secretary, or any person authorised by the Minister to act in that behalf.

(3) For the purpose of acquiring and holding land, the Minister for the time being shall be a corporation sole by name of the Minister of Transport, and all land vested in the Minister shall be held in trust for His Majesty for the purposes of the Ministry of Transport.

(4) Upon and by virtue of the appointment of any person to be Minister, the benefit of all deeds, contracts, bonds, securities or things in action vested in his predecessor at the time of his predecessor ceasing to hold office, shall be transferred to and vested in and enure for the benefit of the person so appointed, in the same manner as if he had been contracted with instead of his predecessor, and if his name had been inserted in all such deeds, contracts, bonds or securities instead of the name of his predecessor.

(5) Subsections (2) to (4) of section eleven, and subsections (2) and (3) of section twelve of the New Ministries and Secretaries Act, 1916, shall apply to the Minister and the Ministry of Transport and to the office of Minister of Transport in like manner as they apply to the Ministers and Ministries mentioned in those sections.

(a) The words in italics were repealed by the Administration of Justice (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1933, s. 10 (3) (26 Halsbury's Statutes 92). As to costs in Crown proceedings, see ibid., s. 7 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 91).

27. [Ability of Minister and secretaries to sit in Parliament.]

Repealed by the Ministers of the Crown Act, 1937, Sched. IV. (30 Halsbury's Statutes 123).

Provisions as to Orders in Council.

28.—(1) Before any Order in Council under this Act is made, notice of the proposal to make the Order and of the place where copies of a draft of the Order can be obtained shall be published in the London, Edinburgh, and Dublin Gazette, as the case may require, and in such other manner as the Minister thinks best adapted for ensuring publicity.

(2) An Order in Council under this Act may be altered or revoked by a subsequent order.

Provision as to orders and Orders in Council relating to the acquisition of land and the construction of
works.

29.—(1) The Minister may make rules in relation to matters preliminary to the making of Orders and Orders in Council under this Act which authorise the acquisition of land or easements, or the breaking up of road and the construction of works, including the publication of notices and advertisements, and the deposit of plans and sections and books of reference to those plans, and the manner in which and the time within which representations or objections are to be made, and to the holding of local enquiries.

Any rules so made shall be laid before Parliament as soon as they are made and shall have the same effect as if enacted in this Act: Provided that, if an Address is presented to His Majesty by either House of Parliament within twenty-one days on which that House has sat next after any such rules are so laid praying that any such rule may be annulled, His Majesty may annul the rule, and it shall thenceforth be void, but without prejudice to the validity of anything done thereunder. Section 29.

(2) The rules of procedure set out in the Second Schedule to this Act shall apply to the making of any Order under paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of section three of this Act and of any draft of an Order in Council to be submitted to Parliament under section nine of this Act.

(3) (a) The Minister on publication of notice of a proposal to make an order under paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of section three of this Act, shall, except as hereinafter provided, send to the Chairman of Committees of the House of Lords and the Chairman of Ways and Means in the House of Commons a copy of the draft Order, and if within fourteen days of the receipt of the copy, if Parliament is then sitting, or within one month thereof if Parliament is not then sitting, either such Chairman reports to the Minister that he is of opinion that the proposals of the draft Order are of such a character or magnitude that they ought not to be proceeded with without the authority of Parliament, the Minister shall not make the Order unless or until the draft Order has been approved by a Resolution passed by both Houses of Parliament, and, if the Resolution of either House directs that the proposals shall be dealt with by Private Bill and not by such Order as aforesaid, notices published and served and deposits made for the purpose of the proposed Order shall, subject to standing order, be held to have been published, served and made for a Private Bill applying for similar powers:

Provided that this subsection shall not apply to any Order with respect to which the Minister certifies that the acquisition of the land or easements authorised to be acquired thereunder and the works authorised to be constructed thereunder do not involve an estimated expenditure exceeding one million pounds, nor to any Order of any class which may be exempted from the provisions of this subsection by rules made by the said chairmen.

(a) Words in italics in this subsection repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

30.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Ministry of Transport Act, 1919. Short title and interpretation.

(2) In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires—

The expression "Government Department" includes any Government Department and any Minister of the Crown acting as the head of a Government Department, and for the purposes of this Act the Road Board and the Lord Lieutenant and the Privy Council of Ireland, the Commissioners of Public Works in Ireland, and the Congested Districts Board for Ireland and the Commissioners of the Caledonian Canal and the Commissioners of the Conservancy of the River Mersey shall be deemed to be Government Departments;

The expression "tramway" includes a trackless trolley vehicle system; The expression "easement" includes any right in or over land;

The expression "undertaking" includes any services carried on as ancillary to the principal business of the undertaking;

The expression "transport services by water," shall not include any transport service by sea other than such as is, or could under their existing statutory powers, or any extension thereof which may hereafter be authorised by Parliament, be established by the owners of any undertaking of which the Minister is for the time being in possession under this Act.

Section 30. Where an undertaking is leased to or worked by a company or person other than the owners, the expression "the owners of an undertaking" shall include that company or person, except where such an interpretation is inconsistent with the terms of the lease or working agreement, and except for the purposes of the provisions of this Act relating to payments to be made to or by the owners of an undertaking in respect of any reduction or enhancement of the value of the undertaking.

SCHEDULES.

Section 2.

FIRST SCHEDULE.

TRANSITORY PROVISIONS.

1. In the construction and for the purposes of any Act of Parliament, any judgment, decree, order, award, deed, contract, regulation, byelaw, or other document passed or made before the transfer to the Minister or Admiralty or Secretary of State from any other Government Department of any powers or duties by or under this Act, but so far only as may be necessary for the purpose of such transfer, the name of the Minister or Admiralty or Secretary of State shall be substituted for the name of the other Government Department.

2. Where anything has been commenced by or under the authority of any other Government Department before the transfer to the Minister or Admiralty or Secretary of State of any powers or duties by or under this Act, and such thing is in relation to the powers or duties so transferred, such thing may be carried on and completed by or under the authority of the Minister or Admiralty or Secretary of State.

3. Where at the time of the transfer of any powers or duties by or under this Act any legal proceeding is pending to which any Government Department is a party, and such proceeding has reference to the powers and duties transferred by or under this Act, the Minister or Admiralty or Secretary of State shall be substituted in such proceeding for the other Government Department, and such proceeding shall not abate by reason of the substitution.

Sections 9 and 29.

SECOND SCHEDULE.

1.—(1) Before any Order under section 3 (1) (d) of this Act is made, or any draft Order in Council under section 9 of this Act is submitted to Parliament, notice shall be published in such manner as the Minister may think best adapted for informing persons affected of the proposal to make the Order or Order in Council, and of the place or places where copies of the draft Order or Order in Council may be obtained, and of the place or places where plans of any lands (including easements) proposed to be compulsorily acquired, and plans and sections of any works proposed to be constructed and books of reference to those plans may be inspected and of the time (which shall not be less than twenty-one days) within which any objection made with respect to the draft by or on behalf of persons affected must be sent to the Minister.

(2) Every objection must be in writing, and state—

(a) the specific grounds of objection; and

(b) the omissions, additions, or modifications asked for.

(3) The Minister shall consider any objection made by or on behalf of any person, being in the case of a draft Order a person affected, and in the case of a draft Order in Council a person whose property will be injuriously affected by reason of the acquisition of the land or the construction of the proposed works, if the objection is sent to the Minister within the required time, and may, if thought fit, amend the draft, and shall then cause the amended draft to be dealt with in like manner as an original draft.

(4) Where the Minister does not amend or withdraw a draft to which any objection has been made, then (unless the objection either is withdrawn or appears to him to be frivolous) he shall before making the Order or submitting the draft Order in Council to Parliament direct an inquiry to be held in the manner hereinafter provided, and may, after considering the report of the person who held the inquiry, make the Order or submit the draft Order in Council to Parliament either without modification or subject to such modification as he may think fit, or may refuse to make the Order or submit the draft Order in Council to Parliament. Sched. II.

2.—(1) The Minister may appoint a competent and impartial person to hold an inquiry with regard to any draft and to report to him thereon.

(2) The inquiry shall be held in public, and any person who being entitled to do so has duly made an objection, may appear at the inquiry either in person or by counsel, solicitor, or agent.

(3) The witnesses on the inquiry may, if the person holding it thinks fit, be examined on oath.

(4) Subject as aforesaid, the inquiry and all proceedings preliminary and incidental thereto shall be conducted in accordance with rules made by the Minister.

(5) The fee to be paid to the person holding the inquiry shall be such as the Minister may direct.

ACQUISITION OF LAND (ASSESSMENT OF COMPENSATION) ACT, 1919.

(9 & 10 GEO. 5, c. 57.)

An Act to amend the law as to the Assessment of Compensation in respect of Land acquired compulsorily for public purposes and the costs in proceedings thereon. [19th August 1919.]

This Act does not give any new power to acquire land, its function being only to provide machinery for the ascertainment of the purchase price or compensation, and to prescribe rules for the assessment of compensation so as to enable the bodies concerned to obtain land on reasonable terms. In cases where it applies there will no longer be two arbitrators and an umpire or a jury or, in cases of small claims, a reference to justices. In lieu of these superseded methods there will be either (1) a reference by consent to an agreed arbitrator or (2) a reference by consent to the Commissioners of Inland Revenue, or (3) failing a consent to either of the former methods, a reference to an official arbitrator.

1.—(1) Where by or under any statute (whether passed before or after the passing of this Act) (a) land (b) is authorised to be acquired compulsorily (c) by any Government Department or any local or public authority (d), any question of disputed compensation, and, where any part of the land to be acquired is subject to a lease which comprises land not acquired, any question as to the apportionment of the rent payable under the lease, shall be referred to and determined by the arbitration of such one of a panel of official arbitrators to be appointed under this section as may be selected in accordance with rules made by the Reference Committee under this section (e). Tribunal for assessing compensation in respect of land compulsorily acquired for public purposes.

(2) Such number of persons, being persons with special knowledge in the valuation of land, as may be appointed for England and Wales, Scotland and Ireland by the Reference Committee, shall form a panel of persons to act as official arbitrators for the purposes of this Act in England and Wales, Scotland and Ireland respectively: Provided that of the members of the said panel for England and Wales one at least shall be a person having special knowledge of the valuation of land in Wales and acquainted with the Welsh language.

(3) A person appointed to be a member of the panel of official arbitrators shall hold office for such term certain as may be determined by the Treasury before his appointment, and whilst holding office shall not himself engage, or be a partner of any other person who engages, in private practice or business.

(4) There shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament to official arbitrators such salaries or remuneration as the Treasury may determine.

Section 1.

(5) The Reference Committee—

- (a) for England and Wales shall consist of the Lord Chief Justice of England, the Master of the Rolls and the President of the Surveyors' Institution;
- (b) for Scotland shall consist of the Lord President of the Court of Session, the Lord Justice Clerk and the Chairman of the Scottish Committee of the Surveyors' Institution;
- (c) for Ireland shall consist of the Lord Chief Justice of Ireland, the Master of the Rolls in Ireland and the President of the Surveyors' Institution, or (if the President of the Surveyors' Institution thinks fit) a person, being a member of the council of that institution and having special knowledge of valuation of land in Ireland appointed by him to act in his place.

The tribunal appointed under this section may only be excluded from the determination of a question of disputed compensation to which the Act applies by the agreement of both parties to a submission to a single agreed arbitrator or the Commissioners of Inland Revenue (s. 8 (1), post, p. 5218).

Where an official arbitrator selected from the panel had been appointed to assess compensation and after two hearings had been taken ill and resigned his appointment, the Reference Committee revoked the appointment in the part heard case and appointed a new arbitrator. The first arbitrator had then recovered from his illness and was prepared to complete the hearing of the part heard case, but in the meantime had engaged in private practice. In an action for a declaration that the notice revoking the first appointment was ultra vires, it was held that the first arbitrator having become disqualified under sub-s. (3) from acting as an official arbitrator and having resigned from the panel, the Committee had full power under the rules to appoint a new arbitrator (Gross, Sherwood and Heald v. Essex C. C., [1927] 1 Ch. 205; 91 J. P. 17; Digest Supp.). A company does not, by nominating under protest an arbitrator in pursuance of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, ante, p. 4104, admit that the case is one entitling the claimant to any compensation (Sutton Harbour Improvement Co. v. Hitchens (1851), 1 De G. M. & G. 161; Digest Supp.).

(a) The compensation payable in respect of laying a sewer under s. 16 of the P. H. A., 1875 (13 Halsbury's Statutes 633) (now replaced by s. 15 of the P. H. A., 1936, ante, p. 26), must be determined under this Act (Thurrock, Grays and Tilbury Joint Sewerage Board v. Thames Land Co., Ltd. (1925), 90 J. P. 1; 23 L. G. R. 648; Digest Supp.).

In a case where powers were given to a railway company by private Act to purchase certain lands, but not compulsorily, and the time for exercise was subsequently extended in favour of the London Passenger Transport Board who had acquired the railway company's undertaking and who had general compulsory powers, it was held that this Act applied though it would not have done so had the power of purchase been exercised before the transfer of the undertaking (Drapers Co. v. London Passenger Transport Board, [1937] Ch. 344; [1937] 2 All E. R. 12; Digest Supp.).

(b) "Land" is defined in s. 12 (2), post, p. 5220.

(c) The Act has no application in cases of agreements for sale and purchase. This is so even where the agreement takes the form of a statutory bargain embodied in a special Act (Blackpool Corporation v. Starr Estate Co., Ltd., [1922] 1 A. C. 27; 86 J. P. 25; Digest Supp.).

(d) "Local authority" is not defined, but the expression usually means any body of persons who receive and expend any local rate. See the definition in the Local Government (Emergency Provisions) Act, 1916, s. 21, ante, p. 5151. The expression "public authority" is defined in s. 12 (2), post, p. 5220. See as to this definition, Metropolitan Water Board v. Berton, [1921] 1 Ch. 299.

(e) See the Rules made hereunder, ante, p. 3127. The power of the Reference Committee under this section includes a power to replace an arbitrator who becomes incapable of continuing the arbitration (Gross, Sherwood and Heald, Ltd. v. Essex County Council, [1927] 1 Ch. 205; 91 J. P. 17; Digest Supp.).

Rules for the assessment of compensation.

2. In assessing compensation, an official arbitrator (a) shall act in accordance with the following rules :—

- (1) No allowance shall be made on account of the acquisition being compulsory (b) :
- (2) The value of land shall, subject as hereinafter provided, be taken to be the amount which the land if sold in the open market by a willing seller might be expected to realise: Provided always that the arbitrator shall be entitled to consider all returns and assessments of capital value for taxation made or acquiesced in by the claimant:

- (3) The special suitability or adaptability (c) of the land for any purpose shall not be taken into account if that purpose is a purpose to which it could be applied only in pursuance of statutory powers, or for which there is no market apart from the special needs of a particular purchaser or the requirements of any Government Department or any local or public authority: Provided that any bonâ fide offer for the purchase of the land made before the passing of this Act which may be brought to the notice of the arbitrator shall be taken into consideration (d):
- (4) Where the value of the land is increased by reason of the use thereof or of any premises thereon in a manner which could be restrained by any court, or is contrary to law, or is detrimental to the health of the inmates of the premises or to the public health, the amount of that increase shall not be taken into account:
- (5) Where land is, and but for the compulsory acquisition would continue to be, devoted to a purpose of such a nature that there is no general demand or market for land for that purpose, the compensation may, if the official arbitrator is satisfied that reinstatement in some other place is bonâ fide intended, be assessed on the basis of the reasonable cost of equivalent reinstatement:
- (6) The provisions of Rule (2) shall not affect the assessment of compensation for disturbance or any other matter not directly based on the value of land (e).

For the purposes of this section, an official arbitrator shall be entitled to be furnished with such returns and assessments as he may require.

This section prescribes the principles upon which compensation is to be assessed in cases to which this Act applies unless the Act under which the land is acquired makes special provision to the contrary, e.g. Housing Act, 1936, s. 40, ante, p. 1650 (s. 7 (1), post, p. 5218).

(a) The rules laid down in this section also apply when the parties agree upon an arbitrator. See s. 8 (3), post, p. 5219.

(b) It had become a general practice, though it is not expressly authorised by the Lands Clauses Acts, in assessing the value of land taken, to add a percentage (usually 10 per cent.) for what is called compulsory purchase. The practice has been defended on various grounds, one of them being that the addition is to cover the cost to which the owner is put in purchasing other land or in reinvesting the purchase money. In cases to which this Act applies no such allowance is to be made. The exclusion of that allowance in cases where land was being purchased by local authorities had before this Act been introduced in the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1908, s. 39 (5), ante, p. 5076; the Development and Road Improvement Funds Act, 1909, Sched., r. (2) (c), ante, p. 5113; and the Housing, Town Planning, &c., Act, 1909, Sched. I, r. 3 (now repealed).

(c) See as to the meaning of this expression Re Lucas & Chesterfield Gas and Water Board, [1909] 1 K. B. 16; 72 J. P. 437; 11 Digest 127, 169; Sidney v. N. E. Ry. Co., [1914] 3 K. B. 629; 11 Digest 128, 171.

(d) See hereon Percival v. Peterborough Corporation, [1921] 1 K. B. 414; 85 J. P. 77; 11 Digest 128, 173, in which it was decided that this proviso is of general application and is not limited to cases of special suitability or adaptability within the rule.

(e) The provisions of this rule do not give a claimant a right to compensation for good-will or injury by severance if no such right is given by the statute under which the land is acquired (Courtaulds, Ltd. v. City of London Corporation, [1926] 2 K. B. 506; 90 J. P. 164). They do no more than leave unaffected the right which the owner would, before the Act, have had in a proper case to claim that the compensation should be increased because he had been disturbed (Horn v. Sunderland Corporation, [1941] 1 All E. R. 480; 105 J. P. 223). Therefore an owner of land who himself farms it cannot claim both the value of the land as building land and for compensation for disturbance of his farming business, since he could only realise the building value by abandoning the farming (ibid.).

A builder whose land is acquired is not entitled to compensation for loss of profits (Collins v. Feltham U. D. C., [1937] 4 All E. R. 189; Digest Supp.; Wimpey & Co. v. Middlesex C. C., [1938] 3 All E. R. 781; Digest Supp.).

Section 3.

Provision as to procedure before official arbitrators.

3.—(1) In any proceedings before an official arbitrator, not more than one expert witness on either side shall be heard unless the official arbitrator otherwise directs :

Provided that, where the claim includes a claim for compensation in respect of minerals, or disturbance of business, as well as in respect of land, one additional expert witness on either side on the value of the minerals, or, as the case may be, on the damage suffered by reason of the disturbance may be allowed.

(2) It shall not be necessary for an official arbitrator to make any declaration before entering into the consideration of any matter referred to him.

(3) The official arbitrator shall, on the application of either party, specify the amount awarded in respect of any particular matter the subject of the award.

(4) The official arbitrator shall be entitled to enter on and inspect any land which is the subject of proceedings before him.

(5) Proceedings under this Act shall be heard by an official arbitrator sitting in public.

(6) The fees to be charged in respect of proceedings before official arbitrators shall be such as the Treasury may prescribe (a).

(7) Subject as aforesaid, the Reference Committee may make rules regulating the procedure before official arbitrators (b).

The provisions of this section except those of sub-ss. (5) and (6) will apply also to an arbitrator agreed upon by the parties (see s. 8 (3), post, p. 5219).

(a) See the rules of 1931, ante, p. 3141.

(b) See the rules, ante, p. 3127.

Consolidation of proceedings on claims for compensation in respect of various interests in the same land.

4. Where notices to treat have been served for the acquisition of the several interests in the land to be acquired, the claims of the persons entitled to such interests shall, so far as practicable, and so far as not agreed and if the acquiring authority so desire, be heard and determined by the same official arbitrator, and the Reference Committee may make rules providing that such claims shall be heard together, but the value of the several interests in the land having a market value shall be separately assessed.

The provisions of this section will not apply where an arbitrator has been agreed upon. See the rules (r. 7), ante, p. 3128.

Provisions as to costs.

5.—(1) Where the acquiring authority has made an unconditional offer (a) in writing of any sum as compensation to any claimant and the sum awarded by an official arbitrator to that claimant does not exceed the sum offered, the official arbitrator shall, unless for special reasons he thinks proper not to do so, order the claimant to bear his own costs and to pay the costs of the acquiring authority so far as such costs were incurred after the offer was made.

(2) If the official arbitrator is satisfied that a claimant has failed to deliver to the acquiring authority a notice in writing of the amount claimed by him giving sufficient particulars (b) and in sufficient time to enable the acquiring authority to make a proper offer, the foregoing provisions of this section shall apply as if an unconditional offer had been made by the acquiring authority at the time when in the opinion of the official arbitrator sufficient particulars should have been furnished and the claimant had been awarded a sum not exceeding the amount of such offer.

The notice of claim (b) shall state the exact nature of the interest in respect of which compensation is claimed, and give details of the compensation claimed, distinguishing the amounts under separate heads and showing how the amount claimed under each head is calculated, and when such a notice of claim has been delivered the acquiring authority may, at any time within six weeks after the delivery thereof, withdraw (c) any notice to treat which has been served on the claimant or on any other person interested in the land authorised to be acquired, but shall be liable to pay compensation to any such claimant or other person for any loss or expenses occasioned by the notice to treat having been given to him and withdrawn (d), and the amount of such compensation shall, in default of agreement, be determined by an official arbitrator.

Section 5.

(3) Where a claimant has made an unconditional offer in writing to accept any sum as compensation and has complied with the provisions of the last preceding subsection, and the sum awarded is equal to or exceeds that sum, the official arbitrator shall, unless for special reasons he thinks proper not to do so, order the acquiring authority to bear their own costs and to pay the costs of the claimant so far as such costs were incurred after the offer was made.

(4) Subject as aforesaid, the costs of an arbitration under this Act shall be in the discretion of the official arbitrator who may direct to and by whom and in what manner those costs or any part thereof shall be paid, and the official arbitrator may in any case disallow the cost of counsel.

(5) An official arbitrator may himself tax the amount of costs ordered to be paid, or may direct in what manner they are to be taxed.

(6) Where an official arbitrator orders the claimant to pay the costs, or any part of the costs, of the acquiring authority, the acquiring authority may deduct the amount so payable by the claimant from the amount of the compensation payable to him.

(7) Without prejudice to any other method of recovery, the amount of costs ordered to be paid by a claimant, or such part thereof as is not covered by such deduction as aforesaid shall be recoverable from him by the acquiring authority summarily as a civil debt (e).

(8) For the purpose of this section, costs include any fees, charges, and expenses of the arbitration or award.

The provisions of this section apply also to an agreed arbitrator (s. 8 (3) post, p. 5219). The arbitrator may award a lump sum as costs. If an unconditional offer is made by the acquiring authority and no unconditional offer is made by the claimant, the arbitrator has an absolute discretion as to costs if the amount awarded exceeds the unconditional offer of the acquiring authority (Bradshaw v. Air Council, [1926] 1 Ch. 329; 24 L. G. R. 351; Digest Supp.).

An agreement between the parties as to costs not communicated to an arbitrator may be enforced by an action on the agreement (Mansfield v. Robinson, [1928] 2 K. B. 353; 92 J. P. 126; Digest Supp.).

(a) As to this see Fisher v. G. W. Ry. Co., [1911] 1 K. B. 551; 11 Digest 200, 790.

(b) There was previously no obligation upon a claimant to formulate a claim unless he elected to have the compensation settled by arbitration instead of by a jury, and even then he need only give the total claimed. The exact nature of the claimant's interest must now be given, and the claimant must give details of the compensation claimed, and must distinguish the amounts under separate heads and show how the amount under each head is calculated.

(c) Formerly, a notice to treat could only be withdrawn by consent.

(d) These expenses do not include ground rent, or interest on money borrowed to purchase a head lease, during the currency of the notice to treat (L. C. C. v. Montague Burton, Ltd., [1934] 1 K. B. 360; 97 J. P. 318; Digest Supp.).

(e) That is to say by proceedings under the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879, ss. 6, 35 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 325, 342).

6.—(1) The decision of an official arbitrator (a) upon any question of fact, shall be final and binding on the parties, and the persons claiming under them respectively, but the official arbitrator may, and shall, if the High Court so directs, state at any stage of the proceedings, in the form of a special case for the opinion of the High Court, any question of law (b) arising in the course of the proceedings, and may state his award as to the whole or part thereof in the form of a special case for the opinion of the High Court.

Finality of award and statement of special cases.

Section 6.

(2) The decision of the High Court upon any case so stated shall be final and conclusive, and shall not be subject to appeal to any other court.

(a) S. 6 of the Arbitration Act, 1934, does not apply to an official arbitrator under this Act (All Souls' College, Oxford v. Middlesex C. C., [1938] 2 All E. R. 586; Digest Supp.), and his award carries interest only from its date (Collins v. Feltham U. D. C., ante, p. 5215).

(b) Including a question of title (Goodwin Foster Brown, Ltd. v. Derby Corporation, [1934] 2 K. B. 23; Digest Supp.).

The provisions of this section apply also to an agreed arbitrator (s. 8 (3), post, p. 5219).

Where an award has been given under this section in the form of a special case, the case should be set down in the Crown Paper list (Hewitt v. Essex C. C. (1927), 92 J. P. 36; 26 L. G. R. 48; Digest Supp.).

Where an official arbitrator had during the inquiry by him stated a case for the opinion of the court and had embodied the decision of the court in his final award, an application to set the award aside on the ground that it was bad in law was dismissed in view of sub-s. (2) in the text, and it was held that no appeal would lie from such dismissal (Northwood v. L. C. C. (No. 2) (1927), 91 J. P. 93; 137 L. T. 49; Digest Supp.).

Effect of Act on existing enactments.

7.—(1) The provisions of the Act or order by which the land is authorised to be acquired, or of any Act incorporated therewith, shall, in relation to the matters dealt with in this Act, have effect subject to this Act, and so far as inconsistent with this Act those provisions shall cease to have or shall not have effect (a):

53 & 54 Vict. c. 70.
6 & 7 Geo. 5, c. 63.

Provided that nothing in this Act relating to the rules for assessing compensation shall affect any special provisions as to the assessment of the value of land acquired for the purposes of Part I. or Part II. of the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1890, or under the Defence of the Realm (Acquisition of Land) Act, 1916, and contained in those Acts respectively, or any Act amending those Acts, if and so far as the provisions in those Acts are inconsistent with the rules under this Act and the provisions of the Second Schedule to the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1890, as amended by any subsequent enactment (except paragraphs (4), (5), (29), and (31) thereof) shall apply to an official arbitrator as they apply to an arbitrator appointed under that schedule, and an official arbitrator may exercise all the powers conferred by those provisions on such arbitrator.

8 Edw. 7, c. 36.

(2) The provisions of this Act shall apply to the determination of the amount of rent or compensation payable in respect of land authorised to be hired compulsorily under the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1908 (b), or any Act amending that Act, and any matter required thereby to be determined by a valuer appointed by the [Minister] of Agriculture and Fisheries shall be determined by an official arbitrator in accordance with this Act.

The provisions of this section in so far as they apply to an official arbitrator will also apply to an agreed arbitrator (s. 8 (3)). Words in italics in this section were repealed by the Housing Act, 1925, s. 136 and Sched. VI. (13 Halsbury's Statutes 1071, 1077). See now s. 40 of the Act of 1936, ante, p. 1650.

(a) See hereon Blackpool Corporation v. Starr Estate Co., Ltd., [1922] 1 A. C. 27; 86 J. P. 25; Digest Supp.; and Courtanlds, Ltd. v. City of London Corporation, [1926] 2 K. B. 506; 90 J. P. 164. This provision can only apply to Acts existing on September 1, 1919, and, in so far as the provisions of a later Act are inconsistent herewith, the provisions of the later Act prevail (Vauxhall Estates, Ltd. v. Liverpool Corporation, [1932] 1 K. B. 733; 95 J. P. 224; Digest Supp.; Ellen Street Estates, Ltd. v. Minister of Health, [1934] 1 K. B. 590; 98 J. P. 167; Digest Supp.).

(b) See this Act, s. 39 (2), ante, p. 5076.

Power to refer to Commissioners of Inland Revenue or to agreed arbitrator.

8.—(1) Nothing in this Act shall prevent, if the parties so agree, the reference of any question as to disputed compensation or apportionment of rent to the Commissioners of Inland Revenue or to an arbitrator agreed on between the parties.

(2) Where a question is so referred to the Commissioners of Inland Revenue, the Commissioners shall not proceed by arbitration, but shall cause an assessment to be made in accordance with the rules for the assessment of compensation under this Act, and the following provisions shall have effect:—

Section 8.

- (a) The parties shall comply with any direction or requirements as to the furnishing of information (whether orally or in writing) and the production of documents and otherwise;
- (b) Any officer of the Commissioners appointed for the purpose shall be entitled to enter on and inspect any land which is subject to the reference to them;
- (c) The Commissioners, if either party so desires within such time as the Commissioners may allow, shall give the parties an opportunity of being heard before such officer of the valuation office of the Commissioners as the Commissioners may appoint for the purpose;
- (d) The assessment when made shall be published to the parties and take effect as if it were an award of an official arbitrator under this Act;
- (e) If either party refuses or neglects to comply with any direction or requirement of the Commissioners, the Commissioners may decline to proceed with the matter, and in that case the question shall be referred to an official arbitrator as if there had been no reference to the Commissioners, and the official arbitrator when awarding costs shall take into consideration any report of the Commissioners as to the refusal or neglect which rendered such a reference to him necessary.

(3) Where a question is referred to an arbitrator under sub-section (1) of this section, the provisions of this Act, except sections one and four and so much of section three as requires proceedings to be in public and as provides for the fixing of fees, shall apply as if the arbitrator was an official arbitrator.

(4) Either party to a claim for compensation may require the Commissioners for Inland Revenue to assess the value of the land in respect of which the claim arises, and a copy of any such assessment shall be sent forthwith by the Commissioners to the other party, and a certified copy of such assessment shall be admissible in evidence of that value in proceedings before the official arbitrator, and the officer who made the assessment shall attend, if the official arbitrator so require, to answer such questions as the official arbitrator may think fit to put to him thereon.

9. An official arbitrator may on the application of any person certify the value of land being sold by him to a Government department or public or local authority, and the sale of the land to the department or authority at the price so certified shall be deemed to be a sale at the best price that can reasonably be obtained.

Certificates of value of official arbitrators.

10.—(1) The provisions of this Act shall not apply to any purchase of the whole or any part of any statutory undertaking under any statutory provisions in that behalf prescribing the terms on which the purchase is to be effected.

Saving for statutory purchases of statutory undertakings.

(2) For the purposes of this section, the expression "statutory undertaking" means an undertaking established by Act of Parliament or order having the force of an Act, and the expression "statutory provisions" includes the provisions of an order having the force of an Act.

11. [Application to Scotland and Ireland.]

12.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919, and shall come into operation on the first day of September nineteen hundred and nineteen, but shall not apply to the determination of any question where before that date the appointment of an arbitration, valuation, or other tribunal to determine the question has been completed, or a jury has been empanelled for the purpose.

Short title, commencement and interpretation.

Section 12. (2) For the purposes of this Act, the expression "land" includes water and any interests in land or water and any easement or right in, to, or over land or water (a), and "public authority" means any body of persons, not trading for profit, authorised by or under any Act to carry on a railway, canal, dock, water or other public undertaking (b).

Words in italics repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

(a) E.g. the compensation to be paid for the laying of a sewer or water main through land must now be determined under the machinery provided by this Act (Thurrock, Grays & Tilbury Joint Sewerage Board v. Thames Land Co. (1925), 90 J. P. 1; 23 L. G. R. 648; Digest Supp.).

(b) The Metropolitan Water Board is a "public authority" within this definition since although trading it does not trade for profit (Metropolitan Water Board v. Berton, [1921] 1 Ch. 299; 18 L. G. R. 766).

THE LAND SETTLEMENT (FACILITIES) ACT, 1919.

(9 & 10 Geo. 5, c. 59.)

An Act to make further provision for the acquisition of land for the purposes of small holdings, reclamation, and drainage, to amend the enactments relating to small holdings and allotments, and otherwise to facilitate land settlement. [19th August 1919.]

Notwithstanding the title of this Act, it is really one of the group of Acts dealing with small holdings and allotments. See s. 34, post. These Acts comprise the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1908, ante, p. 5067; the Small Holdings Act, 1910; the Allotments Act, 1922; the Allotments Act, 1925; the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 303, 317, 322, and Part II. of the Agricultural Land (Utilisation) Act, 1931, Vol. V. and 24 Halsbury's Statutes 53. By the Land Settlement (Facilities) Amendment Act, 1925 (1 Halsbury's Statutes 322), an entirely new provision was substituted for s. 27 of the Act in the text. This substituted section is set out in the text in place of the original section and the Act of 1925 is not printed since apart from this section, the only other section contained in the Act was that giving the short title.

Throughout the Act "Minister" has been substituted for "Board" in reference to the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries in consequence of Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries Act, 1919 (3 Halsbury's Statutes 451).

PART I.

PROVISIONS AS TO THE ACQUISITION OF LAND.

1. . . .

This section which was of temporary effect only was repealed by the Small Holdings and Allotments Act, 1926, s. 22 and Sched. II., Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 333, 335. See now ibid., s. 17, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 331.

2.—(1) Where an order for the compulsory purchase of land has been made, and where necessary confirmed, under the principal Act, whether such order was made before or after the passing of this Act, the council entitled to purchase the land under the order may, at any time after a notice to treat has been served, and on giving not less than fourteen days' notice to each owner, lessee and occupier of the land, enter on and take possession of the land or such part thereof as is specified in the notice without previous consent or compliance with sections eighty-four to ninety of the Lands Clauses (Consolidation) Act, 1845 (a), but subject to the payment of the like compensation for the land of which possession is taken and interest thereon as would have been payable if the provisions of those sections had been complied with :

Provided that, where a council have so entered on land, the council shall not be entitled to exercise the powers conferred by subsection (8) of section thirty-nine of the principal Act (b).

(2) Where a council have agreed, for the purposes of the principal Act, Temporary suspension of requirements as to confirmation of orders for the acquisition of land. Power of entry on land.

s. & 9 Vict. c. 18.

to purchase land subject to the interest of the person in possession thereof, and that interest is not greater than that of a tenant for a year, or from year to year, then at any time after such agreement has been made the council may, after giving not less than fourteen days' notice to the person so in possession, enter on and take possession of the land or of such part thereof as is specified in the notice without previous consent, but subject to the payment to the person so in possession of the like compensation for the land of which possession is taken, with such interest thereon as aforesaid, as if the council had been authorised to purchase the land compulsorily and such person had, in pursuance of such power, been required to quit possession before the expiration of his term or interest in the land, but without the necessity of compliance with sections eighty-four to ninety of the Lands Clauses (Consolidation) Act, 1845 (a).

Section 2.

(3) Where a notice of entry under this section relates to land on which there is a dwelling-house and the length of notice is less than three calendar months, the occupier of the dwelling-house may, by notice served on the council within ten days after the service on him of the notice of entry, appeal against such notice, and in any such case the appeal shall be determined by an arbitrator under and in accordance with the provisions of the Second Schedule of the Agricultural Holdings Act, 1908 (except that the arbitrator shall, in default of agreement, be appointed by the President of the Surveyors' Institution) (c), and the council shall not be entitled to enter on the land under this section except on such date and on such conditions as the arbitrator may award.

(4) This section shall with such necessary adaptations as may be prescribed apply in the case of an order authorising the compulsory hiring of land, or of an agreement to hire land (d).

As to the purchase and hiring of land for purposes of the principal Act, see s. 39 and Sched. I. thereof, ante, pp. 5075, 5088, as amended by s. 17 of the 1926 Act, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 331.

(a) See the sections referred to, ante, pp. 4135-4138. See also the Small Holdings and Allotments (Compulsory Purchase) Regulations, 1936, ante, p. 3154.

(b) See this sub-section, ante, p. 5076. It enables the council in certain circumstances to withdraw a notice to treat; this cannot be done where entry has been made under this section.

(c) Under the Act referred to, the arbitrator is nominated by the Minister.

(d) See the Small Holdings and Allotments (Compulsory Hiring) Regulations, 1936, ante, p. 3157.

3. . . .

Sections 3, 4, and 5 were repealed by the Expiring Laws Act, 1922, s. 2 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1179).

* * * * *

6. In any case of acquisition of land by the [Minister] of Agriculture and Fisheries under this Act, subsection (5) of section one of the Small Holding Colonies Act, 1916 (which relates to compensation to labourers), shall apply with the substitution of references to this Act for references to that Act.

The Minister had power to acquire land for small holdings under s. 20 of the principal Act. This section was, however, repealed by the 1926 Act, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 322 and there is no corresponding provision under that Act.

7. Where under the principal Act or the Small Holding Colonies Acts, 1916 and 1918, the [Minister] of Agriculture and Fisheries or a council have power to purchase land in consideration of a fee farm rent [or terminable rentcharge] the [Minister] or council shall have power and shall be deemed always to have had power to covenant to pay the rent [or rentcharge] as and when it becomes due.

Power to covenant to pay rentcharges.

Note to
Section 7.

As to the purchase of land at a fee farm rent or terminable rentcharge, see s. 57 of the Settled Land Act, 1925 (17 Halsbury's Statutes 893) (see note (c), ante, p. 5078). See also s. 10 of the 1922 Act, Vol. V., post.

Words in brackets were inserted by s. 21 and Sched. I. of the 1926 Act, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 333, 334.

Sales of glebe.

8. For the purpose of a sale of land under the Ecclesiastical Leasing Acts to a council or to the [Minister] of Agriculture and Fisheries for the purposes of the principal Act or the Small Holding Colonies Acts, 1916 and 1918, the consent of the patron to the sale shall not be necessary.

PART II.

AMENDMENT OF THE SMALL HOLDINGS AND ALLOTMENTS ACT, 1908.

Power to sell and acquire land for annuity.

9.—(1) Any person having power (whether subject to any consent or conditions or not) to sell land authorised to be acquired by a county council under the principal Act may, subject to the like consent and conditions, sell the land to the council in consideration, wholly or partially, of a perpetual annuity under this section payable by the council.

(2) Where the vendor of the land sold in consideration for an annuity is not absolutely entitled for his own benefit to the land sold, the annuity shall be treated as if the land had been sold for a capital sum and that sum invested in the purchase of the annuity.

(3) Subject to the provisions of this section, the council liable for the payment of an annuity under this section may at any time redeem the annuity.

The council shall in each case give to the annuitant one month's notice of their intention to redeem the annuity, and shall pay to him as consideration for the redemption such sum as may be agreed, or in default of agreement such sum as would, according to the average price at the date of the expiration of the notice of such Government securities as may for the time being be prescribed by the Treasury, yield annual dividends equal to the amount of the annuity.

The redemption of an annuity under this section shall be deemed to be a purpose for which a council may borrow under the principal Act.

(4) The power to sell land in consideration of an annuity under this section shall apply to land belonging to His Majesty in right of the Crown or of the Duchy of Lancaster and to land belonging to the Duchy of Cornwall.

(5) The provisions set out in the First Schedule to this Act shall have effect with respect to annuities under this section.

10. . . .

This section was of temporary effect only and was repealed by s. 22 and Sched. II. of the 1926 Act, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 333, 335.

Amendment of principal Act as respects power to acquire land for small holdings.

Duties of county councils with respect to sale or lease of land.

11.—(1) Land acquired by a county council under the principal Act shall be sold or let by the council at the best price or sum that can reasonably be obtained, and, where sold or let for small holdings, be sold or let, except where the [Minister] of Agriculture and Fisheries for any special reason otherwise direct, subject to a reservation of all minerals vested in the council.

(2)

(3) A tenant of a holding provided by a county council on land purchased by the council, who has been in occupation thereof for a period of not less than six years, shall, on notice of his desire to purchase the holding being given to the council at any time before the tenant has received notice to quit the holding, be entitled to require the sale to him of the holding at the expiration of [six months] from the date of the notice at the then value of the holding, exclusive of any increase of the value thereof due to any improvement executed thereon by and at the expense of the tenant, and thereupon the council shall sell the holding to the tenant accordingly unless the council obtain the consent of the [Minister] of Agriculture and Fisheries to the requirements of the tenant being refused by the council. Section 11.

(4) The value of the holding shall in default of agreement be determined by arbitration under and in accordance with the provisions of the Second Schedule to the Agricultural Holdings Act, 1908.

Words in italics were repealed by s. 22 and Sched. II. of the 1926 Act, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 333, 335, as were also sub-ss. (2), (5), (6) and (7) of this section.

The words in brackets were substituted for "one month" by s. 21 and Sched. I., ibid., Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 333, 335.

Sub-s. (3) of this section applies only to the case of tenants in occupation of small holdings on December 15th, 1926.

In the case of tenants who have gone into occupation since that date the provisions of the 1926 Act apply (s. 19, ibid., Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 332).

12.—(1) Subject to the consent of the [Ministry] of Agriculture and Fisheries in cases where their consent is required under this section or under regulations made by the [Ministry], a county council shall have power in any case where in the opinion of the council it is necessary or expedient so to do for the better carrying into effect of the principal Act—

(a) to erect, repair, or improve dwelling houses and other buildings on any land acquired by the council under the principal Act, or to execute any other improvement on or in connection with and for the benefit of any such land, or to arrange with the tenant of any such land for the execution of any such improvement of such terms as may be agreed :

(b) to sell, mortgage, exchange, or let any such land or any interest therein, subject, in the case of any sale, mortgage, or exchange, to the consent of the [Minister], and in the case of a mortgage subject also to the consent of the [Minister of Health] (a):

(c) in a case where no power of appropriation is otherwise provided, with the consent of the [Minister] and the [Minister of Health] and subject to such conditions as to the repayment of any loan made for the purpose of the acquisition of the land or otherwise as the last-mentioned [Minister] may impose—

(i) to appropriate for any purpose for which the council is authorised to acquire land under the principal Act any land held by the council for other purposes of the council ; or

(ii) to appropriate for other purposes of the council land acquired by the council under the principal Act (a):

(d) generally to manage any land acquired by the council under the principal Act.

(2) . . .

(3) The provisions of the Lands'Clauses (Consolidation) Act, 1845, with s & 9 Vict. c. 18. respect to the sale of superfluous land, shall not apply to land acquired by a council under the principal Act.

Sub-section (2) of this section was repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, the consent of the Minister will not be required for the sale of any land acquired under Part I. of the 1926 Act without his consent (s. 20 (1), ibid. ; Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 333).

The powers of appropriation conferred by this section constitute an exception to the general rule that land acquired for a given purpose may not be used for any other purpose. See notes to s. 163 (1) of the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 989. Further powers of appropriation are given by s. 22, post, p. 5225. See also the further restriction on the appropriation of land in s. 28, post, p. 5229.

The provisions of the Lands Clauses Act referred to are contained in s. 127 of the Act of 1845 (2 Halsbury's Statutes 1158).

(a) These two paragraphs are excluded from application to the Agricultural Land (Utilisation) Act, 1931, by s. 10, ibid., Vol. V., post.

Section 13.

Removal of necessity for consent of [Minister] after a certain period.

13. Notwithstanding any provision in the principal Act, the consent of the [Minister] of Agriculture and Fisheries shall not, after the thirty-first day of March, nineteen hundred and twenty-six, be required for the acquisition, sale, mortgage, exchange, letting, improvement, or management of land by a county council under the principal Act, except in cases where such consent is required by some enactment other than the principal Act.

Words in italics repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183). This section will not exempt a county council from obtaining the consent of the Minister where such consent is required under the 1926 Act (s. 20 (2), ibid.; Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 333).

Extension of term of loans.

14.—(1) The Public Works Loan Commissioners may lend to a county council any money which the council are authorised to borrow under the principal Act on such terms and conditions as the Treasury may prescribe.

(2) . . .

38 & 39 Vict.
c. 89.

(3) After the expiration of the said two years any loans so made by the Public Works Loan Commissioners shall be made from the Local Loans Fund in manner provided by the Public Works Loans Act, 1875 (a), as modified by subsection (2) of section fifty-two of the principal Act (b).

(4) . . .

(5) This section shall be deemed to have had effect as from the first day of April, nineteen hundred and nineteen.

Sub-section (2) and part of sub-s. (3) which were of temporary effect only and sub-s. (5) were repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927. Sub-s. (4) was repealed by the L. G. A., 1933.

(a) This Act is set out in full, ante, p. 4544.

(b) See the section referred to, ante, p. 5084.

15. . . .

This section which was of temporary effect only was repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927.

Consent of [Minister] to period of borrowing by county councils.
Amendment of section 41 of principal Act.

16.—(1) An order under the principal Act may, notwithstanding anything in section forty-one thereof, authorise the compulsory acquisition—

(a) of any land which at the date of the order forms part of any park or of any home farm attached to and usually occupied with a mansion house, if the land is not required for the amenity or convenience of the mansion house; or

(b) of a holding of fifty acres or less in extent or any part of such a holding.

(2) Where it is proposed to acquire any land forming part of a park or any such home farm, or, except where required for purposes of allotments, a holding of fifty acres or less in extent or of an annual value not exceeding [one hundred] pounds for the purposes of income tax, or any part of such a holding, the order authorising the acquisition of the land shall not be valid unless confirmed or made by the [Minister] of Agriculture and Fisheries.

(3) A holding to which the preceding subsection applies shall not in whole or in part be compulsorily acquired under the principal Act by the [Minister] or a council where it is shown to the satisfaction of the [Minister] or the council, as the case may be, that the holding is the principal means of livelihood of the occupier thereof, except where the occupier is a tenant and consents to the acquisition.

This section amends s. 41 of the principal Act, ante, p. 5078, which contains certain restrictions on the acquisition of land which are partly removed by the provision in the text. See also s. 8 of the 1922 Act, Vol. V., post.

The words in brackets were substituted for "fifty" by s. 21 and Sched. I. of the 1926 Act, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 333, 334, and the words in italics were repealed by s. 22 and Sched. II., ibid., Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 333, 335.

Power of county council to acquire land for letting to parish

17. A county council may acquire land for the purpose of leasing it to the council of a parish within the county for the provision of allotments, and the provisions of the principal Act relating to the acquisition, and to proceedings in relation to the acquisition, of land for the purpose of providing small holdings shall apply to such acquisition as if the land were to be acquired for the provision of small holdings. Section 17.

18. . . .

This section was repealed by s. 22 and Sched. II. of the 1926 Act, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 333, 335.

council for allotments.
Power to advance money to certain tenants of small holdings for purchase of stock, etc.
Power of entry to inspect land.

19. A council, with a view to ascertaining whether any land is suitable for any purpose for which the council has power to acquire land under the principal Act, may by writing in that behalf authorise any person (upon production, if so required, of his authority), to enter and inspect the land specified in the authority, and any one who obstructs or impedes any person acting under and in accordance with any such authority shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds.

The power of entry conferred by this section is for purposes of inspection only. It must not be confused with the power of entry given by s. 2, ante, p. 5220.

20. . . .

This section was repealed by s. 22 and Sched. II. of the 1926 Act Provisions as to small holdings of less than one acre.

21.—(1) The council of any borough, urban district or parish may purchase any fruit trees, seeds, plants, fertilisers or implements required for the purposes of allotments cultivated as gardens, whether provided by the council or otherwise, and sell any article so purchased to the cultivators, or, in the case of implements, allow their use, at a price or charge sufficient to cover the cost of purchase (a).

Provisions as to allotments.

(2) The powers conferred by the preceding subsection shall be exercisable by a council only where in the opinion of the council the facilities for the purchase or hire of the articles therein referred to from a society on a co-operative basis are inadequate.

(3) Rules made by a council under section twenty-eight of the principal Act shall, unless otherwise expressly provided, apply to an allotment, though held under a tenancy made before the rules come into operation (b).

(4) (c).

(5) Stamp duty shall not be payable on any lease or agreement for the letting of any allotment or garden, whether provided under the principal Act or otherwise, or on any duplicate or counterpart of any such lease or agreement where the rent does not exceed ten shillings per annum and no premium is paid.

(a) The Minister may make grants to assist in providing seeds, fertilisers and equipment for unemployed persons (Agricultural Land (Utilisation) Act, 1931, s. 16, Vol. V. and 24 Halsbury's Statutes 62).

(b) See the section referred to and the notes thereon, ante, p. 5071.

(c) This sub-section was repealed by the Act of 1922. A slightly different provision is made by s. 19 of that Act, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 314.

22.—(1) A council of a borough, urban district, or parish may, in a case where no power of appropriation is otherwise provided, with the consent of the [Minister] of Agriculture and Fisheries and the [Minister of Health], and subject to such conditions as to the repayment of any loan obtained for the purpose of the acquisition of land or otherwise as the last-mentioned [Minister] may impose,—

Power of appropriation of land.

(a) appropriate for the purpose of allotments any land held by the council for other purposes of the council; or

(b) appropriate for other purposes of the council land acquired by the council for allotments.

Section 22. (2) This section shall apply, in the county of London, to the council of the county and to any metropolitan borough council.

See as to appropriation the note to s. 12, ante, p. 5223.

The powers of this section are saved by the L. G. A., 1933, s. 179, Sched. VII., ante, pp. 1005, 1264.

Agreements as to compensation where land is let for provision of allotments.

23. Where land is let for the provision of allotments either to a council under the principal Act or to an association formed for the purpose of creating or promoting the creation of allotments, the right of the council or association to claim compensation from the landlord on the determination of the tenancy shall be subject to the terms of the contract of tenancy, notwithstanding the provision of any Act to the contrary:

Provided that this section shall not prejudice or affect any right on the part of a person holding under a tenancy granted by the council or association to claim compensation from the council or association on the determination of his tenancy.

Power of metropolitan boroughs as to allotments.

24. The powers as to allotments conferred on borough councils by the principal Act may be exercised by a metropolitan borough council. . . .

Minor amendments of principal Act.

25.—(1) The provisions of the principal Act specified in the first column of the Second Schedule to this Act shall be amended in the manner specified in the second column of that schedule.

(2) Subsection (2) of section twenty-seven of the principal Act is hereby repealed.

Words in italics repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183)

PART III.

RECOUPMENT OF LOSSES INCURRED BY COUNCILS.

Recoupment of losses incurred in exercise of powers under principal Act.

26. . . .

This section was repealed by s. 22 and Sched. II. of the 1926 Act, Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 333, 335. See now s. 2, ibid., Vol. V. and 1 Halsbury's Statutes 323.

Recoupment of capital losses.

27.—(1) For the purpose of this section there shall be ascertained—

- (a) the amount of the charges which will fall to be met (a) in the half-year beginning on the appointed day (a) and every subsequent half-year (b) by any council (b) in respect of expenditure properly incurred (b) by them before the appointed day in respect of the acquisition, adaptation or improvement of, or otherwise in relation to, their small holdings estate (b) (in this section referred to as "small holdings charges"); and
- (b) the net income (c) which will accrue in the year beginning on the appointed day (b) and in every subsequent year (b) to the council (b) from the council's small holdings estate (b).
- (2) The amount of a small holdings charge falling to be met in any half-year (b) shall, for the purpose of this section, be taken to be—
 - (a) in the case of a tithe redemption annuity or any perpetual or terminable rentcharge created on the acquisition of land (d), one-half of the amount payable in the year (b) in respect thereof;
 - (b) in the case of an annuity issued under section nine of this Act (e), one-half of the amount of the annuity, together with one-half of the amount which the council (b) is directed to set apart in the year (b) to form a sinking fund for the discharge of the annuity;
 - (c) in the case of a mortgage repayable by payments of principal and interest combined, or by equal yearly or half-yearly instalments of principal together with interest on the balance of the principal sum for the time being outstanding, one-half of the aggregate of the amounts so payable in the year (b); Section 27.

- (d) in the case of any other mortgage or charge, such amount as is agreed between the Minister and the council (b) concerned to be payable in that half-year (b) as interest thereon, together with one-half of the amount which the council is required to set apart in the year (b) to form a sinking fund for the discharge of the principal sum.

(3) For the purpose of ascertaining the net annual income of the council's small holdings estate (b) for any year (b), the net annual income of land forming part of that estate shall be taken to be—

- (a) in the case of land other than leasehold land, the amount representing the estimated average yearly rent obtainable by the council for the land after deducting therefrom the estimated cost of repairs, insurance, expenses of management and other outgoings reasonably necessary to secure that rent, but without deducting any small holdings charges (f) or income tax;

- (b) in the case of leasehold land, the difference between the estimated average yearly rent obtainable by the council (b) for the land and the estimated annual expenditure of the council on account of rent and other necessary outgoings in connection with the land, including any amounts required to meet the estimated net liability of the council to the landlord or to the tenants of the council on the expiration of the current tenancy:

Provided that—

- (i) if the amount of the estimated average yearly rent is less than the amount of the estimated annual expenditure, the deficiency shall be brought into account; and

- (ii) no rent shall be deemed to be obtainable by the council in respect of the land after the expiration of the current tenancy of the council.

(4) Where before the appointed day (b) a council (b) has properly incurred (b) any expenditure in respect of the acquisition, adaptation or improvement of, or otherwise in relation to, their small holdings estate (b), but has not obtained a loan under the principal Act in respect of that expenditure, or where a council after the appointed day (b) has incurred any such expenditure in respect of which the approval of the Minister was given before the appointed day, there shall be ascertained, on the basis of the foregoing provisions of this section, the amount representing the half-yearly charges which would have become payable by the council if the amount of the expenditure had been raised by loan, and the amount so ascertained shall, for the purpose of this section, be treated as if it were a small holdings charge.

(5) The Minister shall, on such date as may be agreed between him and the council (b), pay to every council in respect of each half-year (b) a sum equal to the amount, if any, by which the aggregate amount of the small holdings charges payable by the council during that half-year exceeds one-half of the net annual income of the council's small holdings estate for the year ascertained as aforesaid:

Provided that, as regards the payments to be made in respect of the financial year ending on the thirty-first day of March, nineteen hundred and twenty-seven, and in respect of each of the two next following years, the date to be agreed as aforesaid shall be a date not earlier than the first day of the financial year following the year in respect of which the payment is to be made.

Any sum paid to a council under this sub-section may be applied by the council in defraying any expenditure in connection with the council's small holdings estate.

Section 27. (6) There shall also be ascertained the amount of the loss which a council will necessarily or without any unreasonable default on its part incur in respect of—

- (a) any advance made or guaranteed before the appointed day by the council under section eighteen of this Act (g); and
- (b) any arrears of rent due or accruing to the council on the appointed day from any person who is or was a tenant of land acquired by the council under the principal Act and of any other liabilities of such a tenant to the council remaining undischarged on the appointed day, and the aggregate of the amounts so ascertained shall be paid to the council by the Minister in four equal annual instalments, the first of which shall be made on the appointed day (b) or as soon thereafter as the loss is ascertained, and the remainder of which shall be made on each succeeding first day of April.

(7) If any question arises between the Minister and a council with respect to any matter to be ascertained under this section, that question shall be determined by arbitration in accordance with the provisions of the Second Schedule to the Agricultural Holdings Act, 1923, except that—

13 & 14
Geo. 5, c. 9.

- (a) in default of agreement, the arbitrator shall be appointed by the Reference Committee for England and Wales constituted under section one of the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919 (h), and may be a person who is not a member of the panel formed under the said Second Schedule, and for the purposes of this provision the Reference Committee shall be deemed to include the President of the Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales as well as the persons mentioned in the said section one; and
- (b) the Minister and the council shall each bear their own costs and pay the costs of the award in equal shares.

9 & 10
Geo. 5, c. 57.

(8) For the purposes of this section unless the context otherwise requires—

“The council’s small holdings estate” means the land acquired by a council under the principal Act and vested in them on the appointed day, other than any land acquired by them when acting in default of a district or parish council (j) or any small holdings of less than one acre (k);

“Rent” means, in the case of land capable of being let for the purposes of small holdings or allotments, the amount which would be obtainable as rent if the land were let for those purposes;

“Council” means the council of a county (l);

“Year” means the year beginning on the first day of April, and “half-year” means the period beginning on the first day of April or the first day of October in any year;

“Current” in relation to a tenancy means current until the first day after the appointed day on which the tenancy might be terminated by the landlord and no longer;

“The appointed day” means the first day of April, nineteen hundred and twenty-six;

Expenditure shall not be treated as having been properly incurred if, being expenditure for which the approval of the Minister was by law required, such approval was not given.

(9) The provisions of this section shall apply to the council of a county borough in respect of land acquired by the council for the purposes of small holdings in like manner as it applies to the council of a county.

(10) Amounts required to be ascertained for the purposes of this section may be so ascertained before the appointed day, and if not so ascertained shall be so ascertained as soon as possible thereafter

(11) When any amount has once been ascertained in accordance with the provisions of this section, it shall not thereafter be subject to revision or variation.] Section 27.

This section was substituted by the Land Settlement (Facilities) Amendment Act, 1925 (1 Halsbury's Statutes 322). See the headnote to this Act at p. 5220, ante.

(l) "Or county borough," so far as small holdings are concerned (see sub-s. (9)).

PART IV.

GENERAL.

28.—(1) Any land which is, or forms part of, a metropolitan common within the meaning of the Metropolitan Commons Act, 1866, or which is subject to regulation under an order or scheme made in pursuance of the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1899, or under any local Act or otherwise, or which is or forms part of any town or village green, or of any area dedicated or appropriated as a public park, garden, or pleasure ground, or for use for the purposes of public recreation, shall not be appropriated under this Act by a council for small holdings or allotments, and shall not be acquired by a council or by the [Minister] of Agriculture and Fisheries under the principal Act except under the authority of an order for compulsory purchase made under the principal Act, which so far as it relates to such land shall be provisional only, and shall not have effect unless it is confirmed by Parliament (a). Provisions as to commons and open spaces. 29 & 30 Vict. c. 122.

(2) The [Minister] of Agriculture and Fisheries, in giving or withholding [his] consent under this Act to the appropriation and in confirming an order for compulsory acquisition by a council for the purpose of small holdings or allotments of any land which forms part of any common, and in the exercise by the [Minister] of [his] powers of acquiring land under this Act, shall have regard to the same considerations and shall hold the same inquiries as are directed by the Commons Act, 1876 (b), to be taken into consideration and held by the [Minister] before forming an opinion whether an application under the Inclosure Acts shall be acceded to or not. Any consent by the [Minister] of Agriculture and Fisheries for the appropriation of land forming part of any common for the purpose of small holdings or allotments shall be laid before Parliament while Parliament is sitting, and, if within twenty-one days in either House of Parliament a motion is carried dissenting from such appropriation, the order of the [Minister] shall be cancelled. 39 & 40 Vict. c. 56.

(3) Where an order for compulsory purchase to which this section applies or a consent by the [Minister] to the appropriation of land provides for giving other land in exchange for the common or open space to be purchased or

Section 28. appropriated, the order for compulsory purchase or an order made by the [Minister] in relation to the consent for appropriation may vest the land given in exchange in the persons in whom the common or open space purchased or appropriated was vested subject to the same rights, trusts, and incidents as attached to the common or open space and discharges the land purchased or appropriated from all rights, trusts, and incidents to which it was previously subject.

7 Edw. 7,
c. cxxxvi.
Local and Private.

(4) Nothing in the principal Act shall be deemed to authorise the acquisition of any land which forms part of the trust property to which the National Trust Act, 1907, applies.

Expenses.

31. The expenses of the [Minister] of Agriculture and Fisheries under this Act to such extent as may be sanctioned by the Treasury shall, except so far as is otherwise expressly provided, if incurred for the purposes of Part I. of this Act, be defrayed out of moneys provided by Parliament, and if incurred for the purposes of any other Part of this Act be defrayed out of the Small Holdings Account.

Now the small holdings and allotments account, see s. 51 of the Act of 1908, ante, p. 5083.

Construction.

32.—(1) This Act, so far as it amends the principal Act, shall be construed as one with that Act, and references in this Act to the principal Act, or to any provision of the principal Act, shall, where the context permits, be construed as references to the principal Act, or the provisions of the principal Act as amended by this Act.

(2) References to small holdings provided, and to land acquired, under the principal Act shall be construed as including references to small holdings provided and land acquired under any enactment repealed by the principal Act.

As to the effect of this Act being construed as one with the principal Act, see note (b) to s. 14 of the Midwives Act, 1926, ante, p. 1555.

Repeal.

33. The enactments mentioned in the Third Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that schedule.

This section and the Schedule referred to therein were repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927.

Short title.
8 Edw. 7, c. 36.
10 Edw. 7, & 1
Geo. 5, c. 34.

34. This Act may be cited as the Land Settlement (Facilities) Act, 1919, and the Small Holdings and Allotments Acts, 1908 and 1910, and so much of this Act as amends those Acts may be cited together as the Small Holdings and Allotments Acts, 1908 to 1919.

Schedule 1.

SCHEDULES.

FIRST SCHEDULE.

Section 9.

1. Every annuity shall be charged on and payable out of the county fund or borough fund or rate, as the case may be, of the county or borough by the council of which the annuity is payable.

2. The council shall issue a certificate of the annuity to the person entitled thereto (in this schedule referred to as "the annuitant"), and for the purposes of this provision the person who could, if the land had been disposed of for cash, have given a good discharge for the purchase money, shall be deemed to be the person entitled to the annuity.

If any question arises as to the person to whom a certificate ought to be issued, that question shall be referred to and decided by the [Minister] of Agriculture and Fisheries, whose decision shall be final and conclusive.

3. If in any case the [Ministry] think it desirable so to do for the purpose of protecting the interests of persons entitled to any mortgage, charge, or other incumbrance on an annuity, they may direct that the certificate to be issued in respect of the annuity shall be issued to and held by such persons as they appoint to be trustees for the purpose, and the persons so appointed shall, subject to the provisions of any regulations made under this schedule, be deemed to be the persons entitled to the annuity.

4. Any annuity may be divided at the option of the annuitant into two or more annuities of any amount not being less than one pound, and any annuities whether sub-divided or not may be consolidated with other annuities payable by the same council as the annuitant may direct.

5. An annuity shall be payable by equal half-yearly payments on the thirty-first day of March and thirtieth day of September in every year, and the first half-yearly payment in respect of the annuity, or, if a full half-yearly payment has not then accrued due, payment of a proportionate part of the annuity, shall be made on the half-yearly day which occurs next after the date on which the land in respect of which the annuity is issued is acquired.

6. The council shall deliver to the annuitant or send to him by post a warrant or order on the county or borough treasurer, as the case may be, for every payment due to him.

7. An annuity shall be included among the securities upon which a trustee may invest under the Trustee Act, 1893 (a).

8. If within thirty days after a payment in respect of an annuity becomes due the payment is not made, the annuitant may recover the amount thereof against the council in any court of competent jurisdiction.

9. The annuitants, without prejudice to other remedies, may enforce payment of arrears of their annuities by the appointment of a receiver as though each annuity was interest on a mortgage granted to them by the council under the Local Government Act, 1888, or the Public Health Act, 1875, as the case may be.

10. The [Minister of Health] may make regulations with respect to the keeping by a council of a register of annuitants, and with respect to the transfer and transmission of annuities, and with respect to the redemption of annuities, and the creation of a sinking fund by councils for that purpose, and the [Minister] of Agriculture and Fisheries may make regulations for the purpose of otherwise carrying the provisions of this Schedule into effect.

11. No notice of any trust expressed, implied or constructive shall be receivable by a council in respect of an annuity, and no entry with respect to any such trust shall be made in any register of annuitants.

(a) The Trustee Act, 1893, is now repealed, see the Trustee Act, 1925, Vol. V., post.

THE RATS AND MICE (DESTRUCTION) ACT, 1919.

(9 & 10 GEO. 5, c. 72.)

An Act to make further provision for the Destruction of Rats and Mice.

[23rd December, 1919.]

1. Any person who shall fail to take such steps as may from time to time be necessary and reasonably practicable for the destruction of rats and mice on or in any land of which he is the occupier, or for preventing such land from becoming infested with rats or mice, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five pounds, or, where he has been served with a notice under this Act requiring him to take such steps, not exceeding twenty pounds. Penalty for failure to destroy rats and mice.

"Person" includes a corporation (Interpretation Act, 1889, s. 19; 18 Halsbury's Statutes 1001).

For definitions of "land" and "occupier," see s. 8, post, p. 5236.

As to prosecutions, see s. 7, post, p. 5235.

Section 2.

Enforcement
of Act.

2.—(1) The following local authorities shall execute and enforce this Act ; that is to say,—

- (a) In the city of London, the common council ;
- (b) In any metropolitan borough, the borough council ;
- (c) In any administrative county (other than the county of London) or county borough (except any part thereof which is a port sanitary district), the council of the county or borough ;
- (d) In any port sanitary district, the port sanitary authority :

Provided that the London County Council shall, to the exclusion of any other authority, be the local authority for the purpose of executing and enforcing this Act with respect to the sewers vested in, and the sludge vessels belonging to, that council ; provided also that a county council may, with the consent of the council of any borough or county district in the county, delegate its powers and duties under this Act to that borough or district council, and, where powers and duties have been so delegated, the borough or district council shall be the local authority for the purposes of this Act.

(2) The expenses incurred by the local authority under this Act shall be defrayed in the case of a county out of the general county fund, and in the case of a port sanitary authority as part of their expenses as a port sanitary authority, and in any other case as expenses incurred by the local authority in the execution of the Public Health (London) Act, 1891, or the Public Health Act, 1875, as the case may be.

54 & 55 Vict.
c. 76.
38 & 39 Vict.
c. 55.

“Port sanitary districts” and “port sanitary authorities” are now “port health districts” and “port health authorities” (see ante, p. 9).

As to expenses (outside London), see now L. G. A., 1933, Part VIII., ante, pp. 1007 et seq.

Powers of Board of Agriculture and Fisheries in case of default by local authority.

3.—(1) Where a local authority having power to enforce this Act fails, in respect of land of which it is the occupier, to comply with the provisions of section one of this Act or fails, in respect of land for which it is the local authority under section two of this Act, to execute or enforce any of the provisions of this Act, the Board of Agriculture and Fisheries may by order empower the person therein named to enter upon such land and to execute and enforce those provisions or to procure the execution and enforcement thereof.

(2) The expenses incurred by or on behalf of the Board by reason of any such default of a local authority shall be paid to the Board on demand by the treasurer or other proper officer of that local authority, and in default of payment the Board may recover the amount of such expenses (except in so far as such expenses are otherwise recoverable under this Act) from the local authority ; and any sum paid by a local authority under this section shall be defrayed as expenses under this Act.

(3) For the purposes of this section, any statement contained in an order of the Board that a local authority has failed to comply with, execute, or enforce any of the provisions of this Act shall be conclusive evidence of such default, and a certificate by the Board of expenses incurred under this section shall be conclusive evidence of such expenses.

The powers of the Board (now Minister) of Agriculture and Fisheries in so far as they relate to the supervision of the administration and enforcement of this Act in port sanitary districts (now port health districts) or in respect to vessels, were transferred to the Minister of Health by the Ministry of Health (Rats and Mice Destruction, Transfer of Powers) Order, 1922 (S. R. & O. 1922, No. 948). To this extent, therefore, the words “Minister of Health” must be substituted in the Act for the words “Board of Agriculture and Fisheries.”

For definition of “land,” see s. 8, post, p. 5236.

4. A local authority having power to enforce this Act may from time to time, by public notice within its area, give instructions as to the most effective methods that can be adopted, both individually and collectively, with a view to the destruction of rats and mice. Section 4.

Notice by local authority of effective methods.

As to giving of public notice by a local authority, see L. G. A., 1933, s. 287, ante, p. 1169.

5.—(1) Where a local authority having power to enforce this Act is of opinion that the occupier of any land in its district has failed to take such steps as are required by section one of this Act, such local authority may either serve a notice on the occupier requiring him to take such steps as are prescribed in the notice within a time specified therein, or, after not less than twenty-four hours previous notice to the occupier, enter upon the land and take such steps as are necessary and reasonably practicable for the purpose of destroying the rats and mice on the land or of preventing the land from becoming infested with rats and mice, and may recover any reasonable expenses so incurred from the occupier of the land summarily as a civil debt. Powers of local authorities and authorised persons, and penalty for interference.

(2) A local authority in the exercise of its powers under this section shall, as far as possible, take or secure collective action for the destruction of rats or mice.

(3) . . .

(4) Any person authorised in writing by a local authority under this Act, or by a person empowered to act in default of a local authority, may enter any land in the district of such local authority for the purpose of ascertaining whether the steps required by section one of this Act are being taken or of executing and enforcing this Act in any other respect. Any such person must produce the document by which he is authorised if so required.

(5) Any person who shall obstruct or impede an officer or other person authorised as aforesaid in the execution of his duties or powers under this Act, or who, being the occupier of any land, shall fail to comply with any reasonable requirement of any such officer or other authorised person for facilitating the execution of his duties or powers, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds.

Sub-s. (3) has been repealed by the L. G. A., 1933. As to delegation of powers to a committee by a local authority, see s. 85 of that Act, ante, p. 847.

As to prosecutions under sub-s. (5), see s. 7, infra.

6.—(1) This Act shall apply to a vessel as if the vessel were land, and the master of the vessel shall be deemed to be the occupier thereof. Application to vessels.

(2) A local authority having power to enforce this Act may, by notice served on the master of a vessel in its district, require him to take such necessary and reasonably practicable steps as are prescribed by the notice for preventing the escape of rats and mice from the ship, and, if a master fails to comply with the requirements of any such notice served on him, he shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds.

See the Port Sanitary Regulations, 1933, ante, p. 2430.

As to prosecutions, see s. 7, infra.

7.—(1) A prosecution for an offence under this Act shall not be instituted except by or with the authority of the Board of Agriculture and Fisheries or the local authority: Provided that this section shall not apply to Scotland. Prosecutions.

(2) In any proceedings under this Act a notice purporting to be signed by the clerk of a local authority shall, unless the contrary is proved, be deemed to have been signed by the clerk with the authority of the local authority.

For circumstances in which the words "Minister of Health" are to be read for "Board of Agriculture and Fisheries," see notes to s. 3, ante, p. 5234.

Section 8.Interpretation.8. In this Act—

The expression "occupier" means, in the case of land not occupied by any tenant or other person, the owner of the land ;

The expression "land" includes any buildings and any other erection on land, and any cellar, sewer, drain or culvert in or under land.

9. [Application to Scotland.]Saving of existing powers.

10. The powers conferred by this Act shall be in addition to and not in derogation of any powers conferred on any Government department or local authority, and all such powers may be exercised concurrently in respect of any land.

See definition of "land" in s. 8, supra.

Service of notices.

11. Any notice under this Act may be served either personally or by registered post.

Short title.

12. This Act may be cited as the Rats and Mice (Destruction) Act, 1919, and shall come into operation on the first day of January nineteen hundred and twenty.

THE FERRIES (ACQUISITION BY LOCAL AUTHORITIES) ACT, 1919.

(9 & 10 GEO. 5, c. 75.)

An Act to enable Local Authorities to acquire existing Ferries by Agreement.

[23rd December, 1919.]

Power of local authority to acquire, etc.
existing ferries.

1.—(1) A local authority (a) may, with the consent of the Minister of Transport, purchase or accept the transfer of, and the owner of any existing ferry (b) may sell or transfer to a local authority, upon such terms as may be agreed on between the owner and the local authority, any existing ferry which is within the area of that local authority or which serves the inhabitants of that area (c).

(2) Subject to the provisions of any Act of Parliament under which the ferry was established, and to the rights of any other persons, the local authority may work, maintain and improve the ferry and charge such tolls as were legally chargeable in respect of the ferry before the sale or transfer thereof to the local authority, or such other tolls as the local authority, with the approval of the Minister of Transport, may determine, or, with the approval of the Minister of Transport, the local authority may, if they think fit, free the ferry from tolls, and shall have the rights and powers which the owner of the ferry possessed and shall be subject to the obligations and liabilities to which he was subject.

(3) A local authority may join with any other local authority for the purchase or acceptance, working, maintenance, or improvement of a ferry under this Act, or may contribute towards the expenses of the purchase or acceptance, working, maintenance, or improvement of a ferry by another local authority, and any difference which may arise between any local authorities who are acting jointly or jointly bearing any expenses under this subsection shall be determined by the Minister of Transport, or by an arbitrator appointed by him, and such determination shall be final and binding.

(4) In this Act the expression "existing ferry" means any ferry legally established by Act of Parliament or otherwise (d) at the date of the purchase or transfer, and includes all boats and other vessels, landing stages, approaches, apparatus, plant and other property used in connection with the ferry. Section 1.

51 & 52 Vict.
c. 41.

(5) The Minister of Transport shall have the like powers with respect to the holding of local inquiries for the purposes of this Act as are conferred by section eighty-seven of the Local Government Act, 1888, upon the Minister of Health for the purposes of that Act (e).

(6) In this Act the expression "local authority" means and includes a county council, the mayor, aldermen and burgesses of a county or other borough, and the council of any urban or rural district.

(7) . . . (f).

(8) A local authority . . . may borrow for the purposes of this Act . . . (g).

(a) See the definition of a local authority in sub-s. (6).

(b) See the definition of an existing ferry in sub-s. (4).

(c) This is a wide expression. A ferry may serve the inhabitants of an area though it does not adjoin that area.

(d) A ferry is created by Royal grant, or in modern days by Act of Parliament, or exists by prescription which implies a Royal grant. See as to the creation of a ferry and generally as to the law relating to ferries, Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. 15, p. 21. Reference may also be made to Hammerton v. Earl of Dysart, [1916] 1 A. C. 57; 80 J. P. 97; 24 Digest 974, 66; Layzell v. Thompson (1927), 91 J. P. 129; Digest Supp.; Bournemouth-Swanage Motor Road and Ferry Co. v. Harvey & Sons, [1930] A. C. 549; 94 J. P. 217; Digest Supp.

(e) This section is set out in full at p. 4763, ante.

(f) Subsection repealed by L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 735.

(g) Certain words in this subsection were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933.

2. In the case of every ferry acquired under this Act, regulations with regard to the working shall be made by the local authority for the protection from injury of passengers and the general public: Provided that no such regulation shall have any force or validity until the same have been confirmed by the Minister of Transport with or without amendment. Offenders against such regulations shall be liable on summary conviction to such penalties, not exceeding forty shillings, as may be thereby prescribed. Protection of general public.

3. Nothing in this Act affects prejudicially any estate, right, power, privilege, or exemption of the Crown and in particular nothing herein contained authorises any local authority to take, use, or in any manner interfere with any portion of the shore or bed of the sea or of any river, channel, creek, bay, or estuary or any land, hereditaments, subjects, or rights of whatsoever description belonging to His Majesty in right of His Crown and under the management of the Commissioners of [Crown Lands] (a) or of the Board of Trade respectively without the consent in writing of the Commissioners of [Crown Lands] (a) or the Board of Trade, as the case may be, on behalf of His Majesty first had and obtained for that purpose (which consent the said Commissioners and Board are hereby respectively authorised to give). Crown rights.

(a) Words in brackets substituted for "Woods" in consequence of the Forestry (Title of Commissioners of Woods) Order, 1924. See Crown Lands Act, 1927, s. 1 (4) (3 Halsbury's Statutes 330).

4. Without prejudice to any existing right of His Majesty, and save as provided by the Army Act, nothing in this Act shall extend to authorise any tolls to be demanded or received from any person when on duty in the service of the Crown, or for any animal, vehicle, or goods the property of, or when being used in the service of, the Crown, or returning after being so used, or from any police officer acting in the execution of his duty, or for any mail bag as defined by the Post Office Act, 1908 (a). If any person wilfully and with intent to defraud claims or takes the benefit of any such exemption as aforesaid without being entitled thereto, he shall for every Exemption from tolls in case of persons in service of Crown, etc.

8 Edw. 7. c. 48.

Section 4 such offence be liable, on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding ten pounds.

(2) This Act may be cited as the Ferries (Acquisition by Local Authorities) Act, 1919.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARIES ACT, 1919.

(9 & 10 GEO. 5, c. 93.)

An Act to amend the Public Libraries Acts, 1892 to 1901 (a), and to repeal so much of the Museums and Gymnasiums Act, 1891 (b), as authorises the provision of Museums in England and Wales. [23rd December, 1919].

Powers of county councils to adopt the Public Libraries Acts*

1.—(1) The council of any county in England or Wales shall have power by resolution specifying the area to which the resolution extends to adopt the Public Libraries Acts for the whole or any part of their county, exclusive of any part of the county which is an existing library area within the meaning of this Act, as if the area specified in the resolution were a library district for the purposes of those Acts (c).

(2) Where any resolution is passed by the council of a county under this section, the Public Libraries Acts shall, as respects the area specified in the resolution, be carried into execution by the council as the library authority of the area, and, subject to the provisions of this Act, the power to adopt those Acts for any district comprised in that area, being a library district within the meaning of the Public Libraries Act, 1892, shall cease (d).

55 & 56 Vict. c. 53.

(3) Where the Public Libraries Acts have been adopted by the council of a county, the council may borrow for the purposes of those Acts . . . (e) :

Provided that money borrowed for the purposes of those Acts shall not be reckoned as part of the total debt of the county for the purposes of subsection (2) of section sixty-nine of the Local Government Act, 1888, and that sixty years shall be substituted for thirty years in subsection (5) of the said section sixty-nine as the maximum period within which money borrowed for the purposes of those Acts is to be repaid (f).

(a) The Acts referred to are the Public Libraries Act, 1892, the Public Libraries (Amendment) Act, 1893, and the Public Libraries Act, 1901. All these Acts are set out in extenso, ante, pp. 4840, 4871, 4995.

(b) See this Act in extenso, ante, p. 4827.

(c) The power of adopting these Acts is extended by the text to a County Council. For the definition of an existing library area, see s. 10, post, p. 5244. And for the definition of a library district, see the Act of 1892, s. 1 (2), ante, p. 4840.

(d) The power to adopt the Public Libraries Acts is that conferred by the Act of 1892, s. 1 (2), on urban districts and parishes not within urban districts. Where the County Council adopt the Acts for any area under sub-s. (1), the power to adopt by urban districts and parishes will cease.

(e) Certain words here were repealed by the L. G. A., 1933; for power to borrow, see now ibid., s. 195, ante, p. 1023.

(f) The L. G. A., 1888, s. 69, ante, p. 4756, authorised a county council to borrow for any purpose for which a county council were authorised by any Act to borrow. But it

Note to
Section 1.

provided by sub-s. (2) that where the total debt of the county exceeded one-tenth of the rateable value of the county, the amount should not be borrowed save pursuant to a provisional order made by the L. G. B. (now the Minister of Health), and confirmed by Act of Parliament. This restriction having been removed by s. 74 of the L. G. A., 1929, post, Vol. V., the words in italics were repealed by Sched. XII., Pt. V., ibid., post, Vol. V. By sub-s. (5) of s. 69 the loan had to be repaid within thirty years; this is extended to sixty years by the provision in the text in case of loans for the purposes of the Public Libraries Acts.

2.—(1) Any library authority, being the library authority of an existing library area (a) and not being the council of a county borough, may, on such terms as may be agreed upon between the authority and the council of the county and approved by the Board (b), relinquish in favour of the council of the county any of their powers and duties under the Public Libraries Acts, and in that case the powers and duties so relinquished shall cease and the provisions of this Act shall have effect as if the council of the county had passed a resolution under this Act (c) adopting the Public Libraries Acts as respects that area.

Arrangements between existing library authorities and county councils.

(2) Where under the provisions of this Act any existing library authority relinquishes its powers and duties in favour of the council of a county, any property or rights acquired for the purpose of the performance of those powers and duties shall by virtue of this Act be transferred to and become vested in the county council and any liabilities incurred for that purpose shall by virtue of this Act become liabilities of the county council.

(a) See the definition of this expression in s. 10, post, p. 5242.

(b) I.e. the Board of Education. See s. 10, post, p. 5242.

(c) See s. 1, ante, p. 5238.

3.—(1) Where after the commencement of this Act the Public Libraries Acts are adopted by an authority which is not the library authority of an existing library area (a) and which is the local education authority for the purpose of Part II. of the Education Act, 1902 (b), all matters relating to the exercise by the authority of their powers under the Public Libraries Acts, except the power of raising a rate or borrowing money, shall stand referred to the education committee established under the Education Acts, 1870 to 1918 (c), and the authority before exercising any such powers shall, unless in their opinion the matter is urgent, receive and consider the report of the education committee with respect to the matter in question.

Reference and delegation of library powers to education committees.
2 Edw. 7, c. 42.

(2) A library authority, being the local education authority for the purpose of Part II. of the Education Act, 1902, may refer any matters relating to the exercise by them of their powers under the Public Libraries Acts to the education committee established under the Education Acts, 1870 to 1918 (c), and may delegate to that committee any of those powers other than the power of raising a rate or borrowing money, and any education committee to which any powers are delegated under this section may, subject to any directions of the council, delegate all or any of those powers to a sub-committee consisting either in whole, or in part, of members of the education committee.

(3) Where any powers stand referred or are delegated to an education committee in pursuance of this section, those powers shall not, by reason of being so delegated, be deemed for any purposes whatsoever to be powers conferred by the Education Acts, 1870 to 1918.

(a) See the definition of this expression in s. 10, post, p. 5242.

(b) Part II. of the Education Act, 1902, related to Higher Education, and the local education authority for that purpose was the council of a county or county borough.

(c) The education committee was established under the Education Act, 1902, s. 17. See now s. 4 of the Education Act, 1921 (7 Halsbury's Statutes 132), which repealed the Act of 1902.

Section 4.

Provision as to expenses and audit.

55 & 56 Vict.
c. 53.

4.—(1) Section two of the Public Libraries Act, 1892 (which imposes limitations on the amount of the rate which may be levied for the purposes of that Act) shall cease to have effect, and, where the expenses incurred by any library authority for the purposes of the Public Libraries Acts during the financial year current at the commencement of this Act exceed the amount produced by the maximum rate which the authority have power to levy for the purposes of those Acts, no part of those expenses shall be open to objection on the audit of the accounts of the authority on the ground that the statutory limitation on expenditure has been exceeded, if and in so far as the expenses were in the opinion of the Ministry of Health reasonably incurred (a) :

Provided that, if the library authority of any library district, either at the time when the Public Libraries Acts are adopted for the district or at any subsequent time, by resolution declare that the rate to be levied for the purposes of those Acts in the district or any specified portion of the district in any one financial year shall not exceed such sum in the pound as may be specified, the power to raise a rate for the purpose of those Acts in that district shall be limited accordingly, and any such resolution shall not be rescinded until the expiration of twelve months from the date on which it was passed.

(2) Any expenses incurred by the council of a county under the Public Libraries Acts shall be defrayed out of the county fund (b), and the council may, if they think fit, after giving reasonable notice to the overseers of the parish or parishes (c) concerned, and in the case of an area situate within a borough including a metropolitan borough or urban district after consultation with the council of the borough or urban district, charge any expenses incurred by them under those Acts on any parish or parishes which in the opinion of the council of the county are served by any institution which has been provided or is being maintained by that council under those Acts :

Provided that the council of a county shall not charge any expenses so incurred on any parish or parishes within an existing library district without the concurrence of the library authority of that district (d).

(3) . . . (e).

(a) Words in italics repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183). No statutory limit is now imposed, but the library authority may themselves limit the expenditure in connection with these Acts by resolution.

(b) For the provisions in force as to the county fund, see the L. G. A., 1933, s. 181, ante, p. 1009. The expenses will therefore fall on the county at large, except in cases within the latter part of the section.

(c) Overseers were abolished by s. 62 of the R. & V. Act, 1925, ante, p. 2222. Art. 14 of the Overseers Order, 1927, ante, p. 3600, provides that notice must now be given in the case of an urban parish to the clerk to the rating authority and in a rural parish to the chairman of the parish council or parish meeting.

(d) See the Act of 1892, s. 1, ante, p. 4840.

(e) Repealed by the L. G. A., 1933, ante, p. 735.

Power to rescind resolutions of county councils adopting the Public Libraries Acts.

5.—(1) The council of a county by whom a resolution has been passed under this Act adopting the Public Libraries Acts may, if they think it advisable so to do with a view to the better carrying into effect of those Acts in any district (a), apply to the Board (b) for an order rescinding the resolution as respects that district, and the Board may on any such application, if they think fit, make an order accordingly, and thereupon the Public Libraries Acts shall, as respects that district, have effect as from the date specified in that behalf in the order as though the resolution had not been passed.

(2) Any order made under this section may contain such consequential and supplemental provisions with respect to the transfer of any property or rights acquired or liabilities incurred under the Public Libraries Acts from the council of the county to the library authority of the district concerned as the Board think fit, but no such liabilities shall be transferred to such last-mentioned library authority without their consent. Section 5.

(3) In this section the expression "district" means, as the case requires, either a library district or a district which would have been a library district if a resolution adopting the Public Libraries Acts had not been passed under this Act by the council of the county (c).

(a) See sub-s. (3).

(b) That is, the Board of Education. See s. 10, post, p. 5242.

(c) For the definition of library district see s. 1 (2) of the 1892 Act, ante, p. 4840. And see s. 1 (2) of this Act, ante, p. 5238, as to the excluding effect of a resolution of the county council.

6. A library authority, being the local education authority for the purpose of Part II. of the Education Act, 1902 (a), may be authorised to purchase land compulsorily for the purpose of any of their powers or duties under the Public Libraries Acts in the same manner as they are authorised to purchase land compulsorily for the purpose of their powers or duties under the Education Acts, 1870 to 1918, and subsection (1) of section thirty-four of the Education Act, 1918, shall apply accordingly with the substitution of a reference to the Public Libraries Acts for references therein to the Education Acts, and with the omission of proviso (b) thereof (b). Power of certain library authorities to purchase land compulsorily. 8 & 9 Geo. 5, c. 39.

(a) See note (c) to s. 3, ante, p. 5239.

(b) Under s. 34 (1) of the Act of 1918 land might be compulsorily acquired by an order submitted to the Board of Education and confirmed by them. The Act of 1918 was repealed by the Education Act, 1921. See the provisions of ss. 109 et seq. of that Act (7 Halsbury's Statutes 190 et seq.) and the Order of 1933 (S. R. & O., 1933, No. 1021), ante, p. 3144, as to the acquisition of land.

7. Section three of the Public Libraries Act, 1893, shall cease to have effect and accordingly any resolution passed in accordance with the ordinary procedure of the council concerned shall have full effect for the purposes of that Act (a). Repeal of s. 3 of 56 & 57 Vict. c. 11.

(a) Sect. 3 of the Act of 1893, ante, p. 4871, provided for the manner in which the Libraries Acts might be adopted. It is now superseded by the provision in the text. Words in italics repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

8. As from the date of the commencement of this Act, the power of providing schools for science and schools for art conferred by section eleven of the Public Libraries Act, 1892, shall cease, without prejudice, however, to the power of maintaining under the Public Libraries Acts any such school established under that section before that date (a). Power of providing schools of science and of art under s. 11 of 55 & 56 Vict. c. 53 to cease.

(a) See the section referred to, ante, p. 4842.

9. As from the date of the commencement of this Act, so much of section four of the Museums and Gymnasiums Act, 1891, as authorises the provision of museums in England and Wales shall cease to have effect, without prejudice however, subject as hereinafter provided, to the power of maintaining under that Act any museum established thereunder before the said date (a): Power of providing museum under 54 & 55 Vict. c. 22 to cease.

Provided that, where the district for which a museum has been provided under the said Act at the said date is, or is part of, or at any time after the said date becomes, or becomes part of, a district which is a library district (b) within the meaning of the Public Libraries Acts, the museum shall be transferred to the library authority of the district, and be maintained by that authority as though it had been provided under those Acts (c).

(a) See the section of the Act of 1891 referred to in the text, ante, p. 4828. Under s. 11 of the 1892 Act, ante, p. 4842, a library authority had power to provide not only public

Note to Section 9. libraries, but also public museums, schools for science, art galleries, and schools of art. See now, however, as to schools for science and art, s. 8, ante, p. 5241.

(b) See the Act of 1892, s. 1, ante, p. 4840.

(c) I.e., under s. 11 of the 1892 Act, ante, p. 4842.

Interpretation.

10. For the purposes of this Act—

The expression “the Public Libraries Acts” means the Public Libraries Acts, 1892 to 1901 and this Act (a);

The expression “the Board” means the Board of Education;

The expression “existing library area” means a district as respects which the Public Libraries Acts are in force and in which expenses have, within the last preceding financial year, been incurred for the purposes of those Acts, or in which a public library has been established and is being maintained under or by virtue of any local Act;

The expression “financial year” means the year ending on the thirty-first day of March.

(a) The Public Libraries Acts are now Public Libraries Act, 1892; Public Libraries (Amendment) Act, 1893; Libraries Offences Act, 1898; Public Libraries Act, 1901 ante, pp. 4840, 4871, 4948, 4995, and this Act.

Short title and repeal.

11.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Public Libraries Act, 1919, and shall be construed as one with the Public Libraries Acts, 1892 to 1901, and those Acts and this Act may be cited together as the Public Libraries Acts, 1892 to 1919 (a).

(2) The enactments mentioned in the Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that schedule (b).

(a) See note (a) to s. 10, supra.

(b) This subsection and the Schedule referred to therein were repealed by S. L. R. A., 1927 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1183).

ELECTRICITY (SUPPLY) ACT, 1919 (a).

(9 & 10 GEO. 5, c. 100.)

An Act to amend the Law with respect to the supply of electricity.

[23rd December, 1919.]

Electricity Commissioners.

1.—(1) For promoting, regulating, and supervising the supply of electricity there shall be established as soon as may be after the passing of this Act, a body to be called the Electricity Commissioners, who shall have such powers and duties as are conferred on them by or under this Act, and, subject thereto, shall act under the general directions of the Board of Trade (b).

Appointment of Electricity
Commissioners.

(2) The Commissioners, not exceeding five in number, of whom one shall be chairman, shall be appointed by the Board of Trade: in the case of two of the Commissioners the term of office shall be such as may be fixed by the Board of Trade at the time when the appointment is made; the other Commissioners shall hold office during His Majesty's pleasure.

(3) Three of the Commissioners shall be whole-time officers.

(4) Three of the Commissioners shall be selected for practical, commercial, and scientific knowledge and wide business experience, including that of electrical supply.

(5) A person shall be disqualified for being appointed or being a Commissioner if he has, directly or indirectly, any share or interest in any undertaking for the supply of electricity, otherwise than as a ratepayer in the case of an undertaking of a local authority.

(6) The Commissioners may act by two of their number and notwithstanding a vacancy in their number.

(7) The Electricity Commissioners may appoint a secretary and such inspectors, officers and servants (c) as the Commissioners may determine, and there shall be paid out of the fund hereinafter established to the Commissioners, and to the secretary, inspectors, officers and servants of the Commissioners, such salaries and remuneration, and on retirement [or death] (d) such pensions or gratuities as the Board of Trade (e) may determine, and any expenses incurred by the Commissioners in the exercise and performance of their powers and duties under this Act, shall be defrayed out of the said fund (f).

(8) Every document or instrument purporting to be an order or instrument issued by the Commissioners, and to be signed by the secretary to the Commissioners, or any person authorised to act on behalf of the secretary, shall be received in evidence, and be deemed to be such order or instrument without further proof unless the contrary is shown.

(a) This Act is one of the Electricity (Supply) Acts, 1882–1936, which include the Electric Lighting Acts, 1882, 1888 and 1909, ante, pp. 4642, 4700, 5096, and the Electricity (Supply) Acts, 1922, 1926, 1928, 1933, and 1935, and the Electricity Supply (Meters) Act, 1936, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 778, 792, 826; 26 Halsbury's Statutes 137; 28 Halsbury's Statutes 51; 29 Halsbury's Statutes 133.

(b) The powers and duties of the Board of Trade under this Act and the Electric Lighting Acts have been transferred to the Minister of Transport by Order in Council made under s. 39 (1) of this Act, post, p. 5265, but by a proviso to that sub-section it is enacted that the power of appointing Electricity Commissioners shall be exercised by the Minister of Transport with the concurrence of the Board of Trade.

(c) An officer or servant appointed under this subsection may be appointed to act as a meter examiner under the Electricity Supply (Meters) Act, 1936, s. 1 (2), Vol. V. and 29 Halsbury's Statutes 133.

(d) The words in brackets were added by s. 50 and Sched. VI., Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 821, 825.

(e) For Board of Trade now read Minister of Transport. See note (b), supra.

Note to
Section 1.

(f) See Superannuation (Various Services) Act, 1938, Sched. (31 Halsbury's Statutes 627), as to certain superannuation benefits which may be paid to dependants and to legal personal representatives.

Exercise of powers through Electricity
Commissioners.

2. The Board of Trade (a) may exercise through the Electricity Commissioners any of their powers and duties under the Electric Lighting Acts (b) or the orders or regulations made thereunder or under any local Acts relating to the supply of electricity or under any enactment relating to matters incidental to such supply.

(a) See note (b) to s. 1, ante, p. 5243.

(b) This expression is defined to mean the Electric Lighting Acts, 1882 to 1909 (s. 36, post, p. 5263).

Power to conduct experiments.

3. The Electricity Commissioners may, either by themselves or through any joint electricity authority established under this Act, or any authorised undertakers (a), or other competent body, conduct experiments or trials for the improvement of the methods of electric supply or of the utilisation of fuel or water-power, and, subject to the approval of the Board of Trade (b), incur such expenditure as may be necessary for the purpose.

(a) This expression includes authorised distributors and power companies (s. 36, post, p. 5263). As to who are authorised distributors and power companies, see the same section.

(b) See note (b) to s. 1, ante, p. 5243.

Advisory Committee.

4. The Electricity Commissioners may appoint a committee or committees consisting of chairmen or other members of joint electricity authorities established under this Act, or representatives of authorised undertakers or other specially qualified persons for the purpose of giving to the Commissioners advice and assistance on such matters connected with the general improvement and development of the supply of electricity as may be referred to the committee by the Commissioners, and the Commissioners shall take into consideration any representations which have been made to them by any such committee.

Reorganisation of Supply of Electricity.

Electricity
districts.

5(a).—(1) The Electricity Commissioners may provisionally determine that any district in the United Kingdom shall be constituted a separate electricity district for the purposes of this Act, and, in considering what areas are to be included in a district, areas shall be grouped in such manner as may seem to the Commissioners most conducive to the efficiency and economy of the supply of electricity and to convenience of administration. Before finally determining the area of any such district, the Electricity Commissioners shall publish notice of their intention so to do and of the area proposed to be included in such district, and shall also give notice thereof to all county councils, local authorities, and authorised undertakers any part of whose county district or area of supply is proposed to be included in the electricity district, and, if any objection or representation be made on account of the inclusion in or the exclusion from the proposed district of any area, the Electricity Commissioners shall hold a local inquiry with reference to the area to be included in the proposed district :

Provided that, where a local inquiry is held as hereinafter provided regarding the improvement of the organisation of the supply of electricity in any district, the area of that district shall not be finally determined until after that inquiry has been held.

(2) Where it appears to the Electricity Commissioners with respect to any electricity district so provisionally determined that the existing organisation for the supply of electricity therein should be improved, the Commissioners shall give notice of their intention to hold a local inquiry into the matter, and shall give to authorised undertakers, county councils, local authorities, railway companies using or proposing to use electricity for traction purposes, large consumers of electricity, and other associations or bodies within the district which appear to the Commissioners to be interested, an opportunity to submit, within such time as the Commissioners may allow, a scheme or schemes for effecting such improvement, including proposals for altering or adjusting the boundaries of the district and, where necessary, the formation of a joint electricity authority [or other body] (b) for the district.

Section 5.

(3) If no such scheme is submitted within the time so allowed, or if no scheme submitted is approved by the Commissioners, the Commissioners may themselves formulate such a scheme.

(4) The Electricity Commissioners shall publish, in such manner as they think best adapted for ensuring publicity, any scheme which they have approved, with or without modifications, or which they have themselves formulated, and shall hold a local inquiry thereon.

(a) See now the substituted section in s. 36, Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 815.

(b) These words were added by s. 19 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, Vol. V., post.

6 (a).—(1) A scheme under the last-foregoing section may provide for the establishment and (where desirable) the incorporation with power to hold land without licence in mortmain, of a joint electricity authority representative of authorised undertakers (b) within the electricity district, either with or without the addition of representatives of the council of any county situate wholly or partly within the electricity district, local authorities, large consumers of electricity, and other interests [(including the persons employed in connection with the supply of electricity)] (c) within the electricity district, and, subject as hereinafter in this Act provided, for the exercise by that authority of all or any of the powers of the authorised undertakers within the electricity district, and for the transfer to the authority of the whole or any part of the undertakings of any of those undertakers, upon such terms as may be provided by the scheme, and the scheme may contain any consequential, incidental, and supplemental provisions which appear to be expedient or proper for the purpose of the scheme (d), including provisions determining the area included in the electricity district: [and the conditions of employment of persons employed by the joint electricity authority] (e).

Joint electricity authorities.

Provided that no such scheme shall provide for the transfer to the authority of any part of an undertaking except with the consent of the owners thereof.

(2) The scheme may provide for enabling the joint electricity authority to delegate, with or without restrictions, to committees of the authority any of the powers or duties of the authority, and for the payment out of the revenues of the authority of travelling and subsistence expenses of members of the authority, and reasonable compensation for loss of remunerative time.

(a) The construction of this section was considered in R. v. Electricity Commissioners, Ex parte London Electricity Joint Committee Co. (1920), Ltd., [1924] 1 K. B. 171; 88 J. P. 13; Digest Supp. A scheme which compelled the joint electricity authority to appoint two committees and assigned to each of the committees separate portions of the district and delegated separate powers and duties to each committee was in that case held to be ultra vires.

A joint electricity authority, although authorised by a scheme under this Act to promote "any" bill "for the purposes of this scheme," cannot promote a bill to enlarge the limits of their area as defined by the scheme or to obtain additional powers which might have been but were not conferred by the scheme (Att.-Gen. v. London and Home Counties Joint Electricity Authority, [1929] 1 Ch. 513; 93 J. P. 115; Digest Supp.).

(b) See definition in s. 36, post, p. 5263.

(c) The parenthesis in brackets was added by s. 20 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 788.

(d) The scheme may also contain provisions (a) for the carrying out by the joint electricity authority for the development of the supply of electricity within the district; and

Note to
Section 6.

(b) for the subsequent alteration of the constitution of the joint electricity authority (see s. 37, Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926; Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 815).

(e) These words were added by s. 20 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, Vol. V., post.

Confirmation of schemes.

7.—(1) The Electricity Commissioners may make an order giving effect to the schemes embodying decisions they arrive at as the result of such inquiry as aforesaid, and present the order for confirmation by the Board of Trade (a), who may confirm the order either without modification or subject to such modifications as they think fit (b).

(2) Any such order shall be laid, as soon as may be after it is confirmed before each House of Parliament, but shall not come into operation unless and until it has been approved either with or without modification by a resolution passed by each such House, and when so approved shall have effect as if enacted in this Act (c).

(3) An order made under this section may be altered by a subsequent order made, confirmed, and approved in like manner as the original order (d).

(a) Now M. of T. See note (b) to s. 1, ante, p. 5248.

(b) A writ of prohibition issued to prohibit the commissioners from holding a local inquiry and proceeding further with the consideration of an ultra vires scheme notwithstanding the provisions of this section (R. v. Electricity Commissioners, Ex parte London Electricity Joint Committee Co. (1920), Ltd., [1924] 1 K. B. 171; 88 J. P. 13; 20 Digest 197, 1).

(c) As to the effect of this provision, see Ex parte Ringer and the cases cited therewith at p. 4506, ante.

(d) This provision includes power by a subsequent order to constitute a joint electricity authority where the original order did not provide for the constitution of such an authority, and such an order shall apply s. 16 of this Act, post, p. 5242, as amended to the officers and servants of the body displaced by the joint electricity authority (s. 38, Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926; Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 815).

General powers and duties of joint electricity authorities.

8.—(1) It shall be the duty of every joint electricity authority constituted under this Act to provide or secure the provision of a cheap and abundant supply of electricity within their district, and for that purpose every such authority shall have such powers and duties as are conferred or imposed upon them by the scheme under which they are constituted or by this Act with respect to—

(a) the supply of electricity within their district (including the construction of generating stations (a), main transmission lines (a), and other works required for the purpose);

(b) the acquisition of the undertakings or parts of the undertakings of authorised undertakers (a);

and such powers incidental thereto, as are in the scheme or in this Act mentioned, and every such authority shall comply with any general directions given to them by the Electricity Commissioners as to the exercise and performance of their powers and duties (b).

(2) A joint electricity authority may, with the approval of the Electricity Commissioners, establish or join with any other such authority in establishing a scheme for the payment of superannuation allowances and gratuities to any of their officers and servants who become incapable of discharging their duties by reason of permanent infirmity of body and mind or old age upon their resigning or otherwise ceasing to hold office, and the expenses incurred under any such scheme shall be treated as part of the expenses of the authority in carrying out their powers and duties under this Act (c).

(a) See the definitions in s. 36, post, p. 5268.

(b) See the power given to discharge purchase price by the issue of stock by s. 4 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, Vol. V., post, and see s. 8 of the same Act, Vol. V., post. See also the power to lease undertakings to joint electricity authorities given by s. 6 of the same Act, Vol. V., post.

(c) Section 33, Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 812, gave specific power to a joint electricity authority to adopt the provisions of the Local Government and other Officers' Superannuation Act, 1922 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 863), without prejudice to the provisions of this section, so that apparently the approval of the Electricity Commissioners was required to such adoption. But see now s. 34 of the L. G. Superannuation Act, 1937, ante, p. 2090.

Note to
Section 8.

Generating Stations.

9. A joint electricity authority may, with the consent of the Electricity Commissioners, by agreement with the owners thereof acquire any generating station or any main transmission line from any such station on such terms as may be agreed (a). Power to acquire generating stations, etc.

(a) See s. 12 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, Vol. V., post, for a power to make agreements as to working of generating stations. For meanings of "generating station" and "main transmission line," see s. 36, post, p. 5268.

10. Where a joint electricity authority or any authorised undertakers (a) are authorised by order made after the passing of this Act to acquire or use any land for the purpose of a generating station (a), no person shall be entitled to restrain the use of the land for that purpose. Right to use for generating stations land acquired for that purpose.

(a) See definitions in s. 36, post, p. 5268.

11. Notwithstanding anything in any special Act or order in force at the passing of this Act, it shall not be lawful for any authority, company, or person to establish a new or extend (a) an existing generating station (b) or main transmission line (b) without the consent of the Electricity Commissioners (c) (which consent shall not be refused or made subject to compliance with conditions to which the authority, company, or person object, unless a local inquiry (d) has been held), but this restriction shall not apply to the establishment or extension of a private generating station: provided that, in the case of the establishment of a new private generating station, the owner thereof shall comply with any regulations made by the Electricity Commissioners as to the type of current, frequency, and pressure to be used; but such regulations shall be so framed as not to interfere with the economical and efficient working of the business for which the supply is generated: Restrictions on the establishment of new generating stations (a).

Provided that, in the case of a railway company using or proposing to use electricity for traction, and in the case of the owners of a dock undertaking regulated by Act of Parliament using or proposing to use electricity for the purposes of their undertaking, consent shall not be refused unless it is proved to the satisfaction of the Electricity Commissioners that a joint electricity authority or authorised undertakers are or will be willing and in a position to give the railway company or owners a supply of electricity, adequate in quantity and regularity to meet the present and prospective demand of the railway company or owners, at a cost not greater than would have been incurred by the railway company or owners in supplying themselves:

Provided also that—

- (a) where a group of persons carrying on or intending to carry on businesses in which large quantities of electricity are used for purposes other than for provision of mechanical power or light propose to establish a generating station for the purposes of such businesses; or
- (b) where a manufacturer, having a business in which electricity can be generated from energy derived from a process of manufacture carried on in his premises, proposes to establish a generating station for the purpose of supplying electricity not only for his own business but also to other manufacturers whose businesses are associated therewith:

the Electricity Commissioners may authorise the establishment, by or on behalf of those consumers or that manufacturer, of a generating station,

Section 11. subject to the condition that any surplus electricity generated beyond that required by those consumers or, as the case may be, by the business of that manufacturer or the associated businesses shall (if required by the Electricity Commissioners) be supplied to the joint electricity authority, or any authorised undertakers, at such prices as the Electricity Commissioners may think fit and proper, and may by order authorise the exercise of such other powers (including the breaking up of roads, railways, and tramways) as may be necessary for the purpose of such supply, and the generating station shall be treated for the purposes of this Act as though it were a private generating station.

(a) The substitution for existing plant of smaller but more efficient plant in a generating station is an extension of a "generating station" within s. 36, post, p. 5263, and requires the consent of the commissioners under this section (Att.-Gen. v. Ealing Corp., [1924] 2 Ch. 545; 88 J. P. 153; 20 Digest 200, 15).

(b) See definition in s. 36, post, p. 5263.

(c) See s. 18 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, Vol. V., post, for conditions under which the restriction on generating stations and obligations to take supplies from same are not to apply. See also s. 25 of the Act of 1922, Vol. V., post, as to the power of persons not being undertakers to supply electricity. In giving consent under this section regard must be had to the provisions of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, and the effect of any scheme or proposed scheme thereunder (see s. 18 (2) of that Act; Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 806). See R. v. Electricity Commissioners, Ex parte Chester Corporation, [1924] 2 K. B. 247; 104 J. P. 324; Digest Supp.

Powers of Joint Electricity Authorities (a).

Powers of joint electricity authorities in respect of the supply of electricity.

12.—(1) A joint electricity authority shall have power to supply electricity within their district subject to the following limitations, that is to say, the authority shall not supply electricity—

(a) in any area which for the time being forms part of the area of supply of any authorised distributors without the consent of those distributors, except to railway, canal, or inland navigation companies or authorities for the purposes of traction or haulage, or for lighting vehicles and vessels for the haulage or traction of which electricity is supplied, or for the purpose of charging or re-charging electric vehicles not running on rails; or

(b) in any part of the area of supply of a power company for any purpose for which the company are therein authorised to supply electricity, without the consent of the company, except to the previous owner of a generating station which has been transferred to the joint electricity authority or for the purpose of charging or re-charging electric vehicles not running on rails (b):

Provided that, where the authorised distributors or power company refuse or withhold their consent, the joint electricity authority may appeal to the Electricity Commissioners as to whether the consent is unreasonably refused or withheld, and the Board of Trade (c) on the recommendation of the Electricity Commissioners may dispense with such consent if in their opinion it is unreasonably refused or withheld, and the consent shall be deemed to be unreasonably refused or withheld if the authorised distributors or power company are not willing and in a position to give the requisite supply upon reasonable terms and within a reasonable time, and in considering what are reasonable terms and what is a reasonable time the Board of Trade (c) shall amongst other things have regard to the terms upon which and the time within which the joint electricity authority and the authorised distributors or power company are respectively willing and able to give the supply, and, where the authorised distributors or power company are themselves supplied by the joint electricity authority, the terms upon which they are so supplied, including the period of time for which such terms are to be binding (d).

(2) This Act shall, in relation to every joint electricity authority, be deemed to be a special Act for the purposes of the Electric Lighting Acts (e), Section 12. and every joint electricity authority shall be deemed to be undertakers within the meaning of those Acts, and for the purposes of this section there shall be incorporated with this Act the provisions of the Schedule to the Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899 (f), subject to such exceptions and modifications as may be prescribed by the order constituting the joint electricity authority:

Provided that sections two and three of the Electric Lighting Act, 1888 (which relate to the purchase of undertakings by local authorities), shall not apply to the undertakings of joint electricity authorities.

(3) Subject to the limitations hereinbefore contained on the powers of a joint electricity authority to supply electricity, the Electricity Commissioners may by order, after such inquiry as they think fit, impose on any joint electricity authority an obligation to supply electricity in such circumstances within such areas, and on such terms and conditions as to price and otherwise as may be specified in the order (g).

(a) See the provision as to the mode of exercising their powers by joint electricity authorities contained in s. 15 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, Vol. V., post.

(b) The words in italics were deleted by s. 16 (1) of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, Vol. V., post.

(c) Now the M. of T. See note (b) to s. 1, ante, p. 5243.

(d) The words in italics were deleted by s. 16 (1) of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, and by the same sub-section the following proviso was inserted at the end of the sub-section in the text: Provided that, if in any particular part of the area of supply of a power company, the power company are not willing and in a position to supply electricity to any local authority, company or person who is prepared to enter into a binding contract with that power company to continue to receive and pay for a supply of electricity upon such terms and conditions (including the payment of a minimum annual sum) as will, in the opinion of the Electricity Commissioners, afford an adequate return to the power company, and is also (in the case of a company or person) prepared to give to the power company (if required by them so to do) security for the payment of all sums which may become due to the power company under the contract, then and in such case the Electricity Commissioners may, by special order under s. 26 of the principal Act, post, p. 5260, authorise a joint electricity authority to supply electricity in that particular part of the area of supply of the power company without the consent of the power company. In determining what terms and conditions will afford an adequate return to the power company, the Commissioners shall have regard to the following amongst other considerations: (i) The period for which the authority, company or person requiring the supply guarantees to take the supply; (ii) The amount of electricity and the maximum power required; (iii) The hours during which the power company can be called upon to give the supply; (iv) The capital expenditure in connection with the supply; and (v) To what extent capital expended in connection with the supply may become unproductive to the power company upon the discontinuance of the supply.

(e) These are the Electric Lighting Acts, 1882 to 1909 (s. 36, post, p. 5263). See these Acts at ante, pp. 4642, 4700, 5096.

(f) See this Act at ante, p. 4949.

(g) See the provision contained in s. 18 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, Vol. V., post, as to the limitation on the prices to be charged.

13.—(1) Any local authority being authorised distributors (a) may, with the consent of the Electricity Commissioners, agree with the joint electricity authority of the district in which the area of supply (b) of the local authority or any part thereof is situated for the transfer to the joint electricity authority of the whole or any part of the undertaking of the local authority within that district:

Provided that, where part of the area of supply of the local authority is situated in a locality which is not included in an electricity district, the powers of purchasing that part may, if the Electricity Commissioners consent, be exercised by a joint electricity authority within whose district any part of the area of supply is situated (c).

(2) Where under the Electric Lighting Acts, or under any order made thereunder or under any special or local Act, any right to purchase the Transfer of undertakings to joint electricity authorities.

Section 13. whole or any part of the undertaking of any authorised distributors is vested in any local authority (including a county council), the right may, by any order under this Act constituting a joint electricity authority for the district comprising the area of the local authority, [or by any amending order under section seven of this Act] (d), be transferred to and vested in the joint electricity authority, subject to the order providing for adequate representation on the joint electricity authority of the local authority from whom the right is transferred, and, on any such right being so transferred, the order or Act conferring the right shall be construed accordingly, and any question as to the adequacy of such representation shall be determined by the Electricity Commissioners (e) :

Provided that, if the area of the local authority is situate partly in the district of one joint electricity authority and partly in that of another, the right shall be transferable to such one of those joint electricity authorities or divisible between them as the Electricity Commissioners may determine, and where part of such area is situate in a locality which is not included in an electricity district the right of purchasing that part may, if the Electricity Commissioners consent, be transferable to a joint electricity authority within whose district any part of such area is situate.

(3) Where any such right as aforesaid becomes exercisable before the date of the constitution of a joint electricity authority, the right shall not be exercised by the local authority without the consent of the Electricity Commissioners, and such consent may be given subject to such conditions as the Commissioners may think fit, and it shall be lawful for the local authority to comply with any conditions so imposed.

(4) A joint electricity authority with the consent of the Electricity Commissioners may at any time acquire the whole or any part of the undertaking of any authorised undertakers not being a local authority, by agreement, and it shall be lawful for any such undertakers to sell their undertaking or any part thereof to a joint electricity authority.

(a) See definition in s. 36, post, p. 5268.

(b) This expression has the same meaning as in the Electric Lighting Act, 1909 (s. 86). See s. 25 of the Act of 1909, ante, p. 5108.

(c) See with reference to the provisions of this sub-section, note (b) to s. 8, ante, p. 5246.

14. [Special provisions as to power companies] (a).

(a) This section was repealed by s. 17 (3) of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922. See the substituted provisions in s. 17 (1), (2) of that Act, Vol. V., post.

Subsidiary powers of joint electricity
authorities.

15.—(1) The Board of Trade (a) on the representation of the Electricity Commissioners, may by order authorise any joint electricity authority or any authorised undertakers (b) to abstract water from any river, stream, canal, inland navigation or other source, and to do all such acts as may be necessary for the purpose of enabling the joint electricity authority or authorised undertakers to utilise and return the water so abstracted, subject to such conditions as may be specified in the order, but the Board shall not in any case make such an order until notice of their intention to make the order has been given by advertisement or otherwise as the Board may direct and an opportunity has been given to any person who appears to the Board to be affected of stating any objections he may have thereto, and such order may provide for the recovery in a summary manner of penalties for infringement of the order:

Provided that—

(a) where the source from which the water is to be abstracted is a canal, inland navigation, or harbour regulated by Act of

Section 15.

Parliament, or where any existing rights of riparian owners will be affected by the abstraction of the water, the order authorising the abstraction shall be a special order, and shall provide that the water not consumed shall, subject to any agreement to the contrary, be returned at a level not lower than that at which it was abstracted ; and

- (b) the order shall require that all water not consumed (and in no case less than ninety-five per centum of the water abstracted) shall be returned in a condition not less pure than when it was abstracted and at a temperature not higher than such as may be specified in the order (which temperature shall be fixed at such a degree as appears to the Board necessary to avoid injury to public health or to fisheries, if any, or in the case of a canal or inland navigation to the works thereof, or to vessels using the same, or to the trade or business carried on by any person using the same for the purposes of or in connection with his trade or business) ; and
- (c) no order shall be made authorising the abstraction of water from any dock regulated by Act of Parliament except with the consent of the owners thereof and subject to such terms and conditions as may be agreed.
- [(cc) No order authorising the abstraction of water from any reservoir or other works used by any statutory water undertaker for the purposes of the undertaking shall be made without the consent of such undertaker (which consent shall not be unreasonably refused) and if any question arises as to the reasonableness of any refusal or of the terms sought to be imposed as a condition of giving consent the question shall be referred to a single arbitrator nominated by the Lord Chief Justice, or in Scotland by the Lord President of the Court of Session, and in any such order there shall be inserted such provisions as the Minister of Health (or in the case of Scotland, the Scottish Board of Health) may consider proper for safeguarding the interests of the water consumers] (c) ; and
- (d) in any order authorising the abstraction of water from the Manchester Ship Canal there shall be inserted such provisions as the Board of Trade may consider adequate for preventing interference with the navigation of the canal.

(2) A joint electricity authority and any local authority, company, or person may, with the consent of the Electricity Commissioners, enter into arrangements for the utilisation, for the purposes of the joint electricity authority, of water power, waste heat, or other form of energy which the local authority, company, or person may be able to dispose of, or for the supply by the joint electricity authority of any form of energy other than electricity, and, where such an arrangement has been made, the joint electricity authority may be authorised by order (d) to exercise such powers (including the power to break up roads, railways, and tramways) as may be necessary for the purpose of conveying such energy :

Provided always that such joint electricity authority, local authority, company, or person shall in no case have the power to enter into arrangements for the supply by the joint electric authority of any form of energy, other than electricity, in any area or district within which any undertakers may be authorised by Parliament to supply such form of energy unless and until such undertakers consent thereto, and then only upon such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon with such undertakers.

(3) The purposes for which a joint electricity authority may be authorised to acquire compulsorily or use land under section one (e) of the Electric 9 Edw. 7, c. 34.

Section 15. Lighting Act, 1909, shall include the development of water-power for the generation of electricity.

(4) A joint electricity authority may, with the consent of the Electricity Commissioners, erect, maintain, alter, improve, and renew by-product plant with all necessary machinery and apparatus, and do all such acts as may be proper for working up and converting the residual products arising directly or indirectly from the generation of electricity :

Provided that, where it appears to the Electricity Commissioners that the establishment of any such by-product plant could properly be undertaken by any existing company, authority, or person, a joint electricity authority shall not establish such plant without first giving to such company, authority, or person an opportunity for so doing.

(a) By s. 39 (1), post, p. 5865, and an Order in Council made thereunder, the powers of the Board of Trade under this Act have passed to the Minister of Transport.

(b) See definition in s. 36, post, p. 5263.

(c) The words in brackets were added by s. 50 and Sched. VI., Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 821, 825, to meet the decision in Metropolitan Water Board v. Minister of Transport (1925). 90 J. P. 52 ; Digest Supp. In that case it was held that an order of the Minister of Transport under this section might authorise the abstraction of water from a reservoir of the Board against the wishes of the Board. The amendment requires the consent of a statutory water undertaker to the making of an order authorising the abstraction of water from a reservoir, etc., of such an undertaker.

(d) See s. 32 (3), post, p. 5262, as amended by the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 792, which provides that an order empowering the breaking up of streets, railways, and tramways, other than such as can be broken up under any order or special Acts relating to the particular joint electricity authority or undertakers, shall apply or incorporate the provisions of the Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899, ante, p. 4949, relating to the breaking up of streets, railways, and tramways. The amending provision dispenses with the necessity for a special order and a departmental order only will now be necessary.

(e) See this section at p. 5096, ante.

Compensation
for deprivation of employment,

16. If after the eighth of May nineteen hundred and nineteen, and within five years from the date when under this Act (a) a transfer of the whole or any part of an undertaking has been effected, [or an authorised undertaker has ceased to operate or changed the method of operation of the whole or any part of an undertaking in pursuance of—

- (a) a scheme for the improvement of the supply of electricity in any district ; or
- (b) an agreement or arrangement between various authorised undertakers for the rendering of mutual assistance to one another] (aa) any officer or servant who has, before the said eighth day of May (b), been regularly employed in or about the undertaking or any authorised undertaking (bb) proves to the satisfaction of a referee or a board of referees appointed by the Minister of Labour that in consequence of this Act (c) he—

- (i) has suffered loss of employment, or diminution of salary, wages or emoluments, otherwise than on grounds of misconduct, incapacity, or superannuation ; or
- (ii) has relinquished his employment in consequence of being required to perform duties such as were not analogous or were an unreasonable addition to those which before the said eighth day of May (b) he had been required to perform ; or
- (iii) has been placed in any worse position in respect to the conditions of his service (including tenure of office, remuneration, gratuities, pension, superannuation, sick or other fund, or any benefits or allowances, whether obtaining legally or by customary practice), and the body to which the undertaking or part thereof was transferred, or, as the case may be, the authorised undertakers who are affected by the scheme or are parties to the agreement or arrangement, do not show to the satisfaction of the referee or board of referees that equivalent employment [was available on the like conditions as those obtaining with respect to him at the date of such transfer, cessation of operation, or change in the method of operation as is hereinbefore mentioned] (aa) there shall be paid to him by that body or those undertakers, or such of them as the referee or board of referees may think just, such compensation as the referee or board of referees may award, including any expenses which the officer or servant necessarily incurs in removing to another locality (d):

Provided that such compensation shall, in the case of an officer employed on an annual salary, be based on but not exceed the amount which would have been payable to a person on abolition of office under the Acts and rules relating to His Majesty's Civil Service in force at the date of the passing of the Local Government Act, 1888, but, in computing the period of service of any officer, service under any authorised undertakers shall be reckoned as service under the authorised undertaker in whose employment he is at the time that he suffers such loss or diminution as is mentioned in this section; and, where any such officer or servant was temporarily absent from his employment whilst serving in or with His Majesty's Forces or the forces of the Allied or Associated Powers, or in any other employment of national importance during the present war, such service shall be reckoned as service under the authorised undertakers in whose employment he was immediately before and after such temporary absence.

(a) Sect. 21 (1) of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, substituted the words "under or in consequence of this Act" for the words "under this Act." See the full terms of s. 21 (1), Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 788.

(aa) Words in square brackets substituted for the original, by the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1933 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 137).

(b) Words in italics repealed by the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1928, s. 1, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 826.

(bb) The officer need not have been employed in a transferred undertaking (Stimpson v. Portsmouth Corporation, [1939] 2 K. B. 227; [1939] 2 All E. R. 411; 103 J. P. 195; Digest Supp.).

(c) Sect. 21 (1) of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, substituted the words "in consequence of any such transfer, scheme, agreement, or arrangement," for the words "in consequence of this Act." And the words "cessation of operation or change in the method of operation" were in turn substituted for the words "scheme, agreement, or arrangement" by Act cited in note (aa), supra. See the full terms of s. 21 (1), Vol. V., post. In a claim under this section as amended it was held that the referee appointed by the Minister of Labour is in the position of an arbitrator and has power to determine whether the transfer giving rise to the claim has been effected "under" this Act. If the claimant fails to satisfy the referee that the transfer was "under" this Act, the question whether it was "in consequence of" this Act must be determined by the Commissioners under the proviso to s. 21, Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922 (R. v. Minister of Labour, [1924] 2 K. B. 210; 88 J. P. 131; 20 Digest 216, 103). This defect is now avoided by the amendment of the proviso to s. 21 of the 1922 Act by s. 50 and Sched. VI. of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926. The proviso as amended (q.v., Vol. V., post) provides that any question as to whether a transfer scheme agreement or arrangement was made under or in consequence of this Act is to be determined by the Commissioners.

(d) This section applies when a company is an authorised undertaker at the time when the claim arises, and if the claimant is employed at a weekly salary the compensation must be calculated accordingly (Naylor v. Peacehaven Electric Light and Power Co., Ltd. (1931), 47 T. L. R. 535; Digest Supp.).

17. A joint electricity authority before incurring any capital expenditure above such amount as the Electricity Commissioners may prescribe shall submit for approval to the Electricity Commissioners such details, plans, and estimates with respect to the proposed expenditure as the Electricity Commissioners may require.

Submission of plans, etc., with respect to capital expenditure.

Transitory Provisions.

18.—(1) It shall be lawful for the Board of Trade (a), after consultation with the Electricity Commissioners, at any time after an electricity district has been provisionally determined and before the establishment of a joint electricity authority for the district, and for two years after the establishment

Power of Board of Trade (a) to construct interim works.

Section 18. of any such authority, with the consent of such authority, to construct any generating station, main transmission line, or other works, and exercise any other powers which a joint electricity authority can or can be authorised to exercise under this Act;

Provided that, where the Board of Trade (a) propose to construct a generating station before the establishment of a joint electricity authority for any district, the Electricity Commissioners shall consult with the county councils, local authorities, and authorised undertakers any part of whose county, district, or area of supply is within the electricity district as provisionally determined as to the site of the proposed station.

(2) The Treasury may issue to the Board of Trade (a) out of the Consolidated Fund of the United Kingdom, or the growing produce thereof, any sums not exceeding in the aggregate twenty million pounds, required for the construction of any such works, or the acquisition of land for that purpose, or required for providing working capital for such works, on such terms and conditions as to interest, repayment, and otherwise as the Treasury may think fit.

The Treasury may, if they think fit, at any time for the purpose of providing for the issue of sums out of the Consolidated Fund under this section or for the repayment to that fund of all or any part of the sums so issued, or for the paying off of any security so issued under this subsection so far as that payment is not otherwise provided for, borrow money by means of the issue of Exchequer Bonds, and all sums so borrowed shall be paid into the Exchequer.

Any sums received on account of the payment of principal or interest on the advances made to the Board of Trade (a) shall be paid into the Exchequer, but any part of sums so paid which represents the repayment of principal shall be transferred to the National Debt Commissioners and applied by them as and when they think fit in purchasing or paying off as occasion requires any securities issued under this subsection, and sums so applied shall be invested and accumulated by the said Commissioners.

The principal of and interest on any Exchequer Bonds issued under this subsection shall be charged on and payable out of the Consolidated Fund of the United Kingdom or the growing produce thereof.

(3) At the expiration of two years after the establishment of a joint electricity authority for any district, or at any earlier time which may be agreed on between the Board of Trade (a) and the joint electricity authority, any generating station, main transmission lines and other works, and any land acquired for the purpose thereof for the Board of Trade (a) under this section which are situate within the electricity district, shall vest in that authority, subject to the payment by the joint electricity authority to the Board of Trade (a) of such sum as may be certified by the Treasury to be sufficient to repay the advances made by them to the Board of Trade (a) (including the cost of redeeming any of the securities issued under the preceding subsection) in respect of the construction of and provision of working capital for such works, and the acquisition of such lands, and any interest thereon which may be outstanding, after deducting the amount applied or applicable towards the repayment of the sums issued to the Board of Trade (a) for defraying that cost.

(4) The prices, fixed by the Board of Trade (a) for electricity supplied by them from generating stations established under this section, shall be such that their receipts therefrom will be sufficient to cover their expenditure on income account (including interest and sinking fund charges in respect of such advances as aforesaid) with such margin as the Board may think fit.

(a) By s. 39 (1), post, p. 5265, and an Order in Council made thereunder the powers of the Board of Trade under this Act have passed to the Minister of Transport.

Section 19.

Power of authorised undertakers to render mutual assistance to one another.

19.—(1) During the period between the passing of this Act and the establishment of a joint electricity authority for a district, any two or more of the authorised undertakers (a) within the locality may, with the approval of the Electricity Commissioners (b), and if so required by the Electricity Commissioners shall, enter into and carry into effect arrangements for mutual assistance of the one by the other, with regard to all or any of the following purposes:—

- (a) The giving and taking of a supply of electricity and the distribution and supply of the electricity so taken :
- (b) The management and working of the generating stations or any part of the several undertakings of the undertakers who are parties to any such arrangement :
- (c) The provision of capital required for carrying into effect, and the appropriation and division of receipts arising under, any such arrangement :
- (d) Any matters or things incidental or connected with any of the purposes aforesaid :

and the arrangement shall be made on such terms and conditions as may be agreed, or, if the arrangement is made in pursuance of a requirement by the Electricity Commissioners, on such terms and conditions as in default of agreement may be settled by those Commissioners :

Provided that the authorised undertakers entering into any such arrangement shall remain and be subject to all and the same obligations and liabilities to all persons not being parties to the arrangement as they would have been subject to if no such arrangement had been entered into.

(2) Where such an arrangement has been made, any authorised undertakers who are parties to the arrangement may be authorised by order to exercise such powers (including the power to break up roads, railways, and tramways) as may be necessary for the purpose of carrying the arrangement into effect (c).

(3) The provision of capital required for giving effect to any such arrangement, and the payment of interest on any such capital raised for the purpose of effecting intercommunication or development of supply in bulk, whilst the expenditure remains unremunerative, shall be purposes for which a local authority may borrow under the Electric Lighting Acts.

(a) See definition in s. 36, post, p. 5263.

(b) The Commissioners have jurisdiction to refuse to approve an agreement for mutual assistance between authorised undertakers, if the policy embodied in such agreement cuts across the line of policy which the Commissioners propose to adopt under the Act as to the consolidation of areas (R. v. Electricity Commissioners, Ex parte Ealing Borough Council (1922), 86 J. P. 191 ; 20 Digest 198, 2). In determining whether or not to approve an agreement under this section the Commissioners must have regard to the provisions of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, and the effect of any scheme or proposed scheme thereunder (s. 18 (2), Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 806).

(c) See note (d) under s. 15 (2), ante, p. 5251.

Amendments of Electric Lighting Acts.

20. There shall be transferred to the Electricity Commissioners the powers of the Minister of Health and the Secretary for Scotland and the London County Council with respect to the sanctioning of borrowing by local authorities under the Electric Lighting Acts, or under any special Act or order relating to the supply of electricity, but in exercising the powers so transferred the Electricity Commissioners shall act in consultation with the Department or Council from which the powers were transferred (a).

Transfer of powers of certain departments.

(a) As to the sanctions hitherto required for borrowing, see s. 8 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, ante, p. 4648, and the notes thereto. In March, 1924, the Commissioners issued a memorandum of procedure under this section. The memorandum is set out at ante, p. 2663.

Section 21.

Overhead wires.

21. Where the consent of the Board of Trade (a) is obtained to the placing of any electric line above ground in any case, the consent of the local authority [(including a county council)] (b) shall not be required, anything in the Electric Lighting Acts, or in any order or special Act relating to the undertaking to the contrary notwithstanding, but the Board of Trade (a) before giving their consent shall give the local authority [and (where it is proposed to place the line along or across any county bridge or any [county road] vested in a county council) the county council] (c) an opportunity of being heard (c).

(a) See note (a) to s. 1, ante, p. 5243.

(b) The words in brackets were inserted by s. 50 and Sched. VI., Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 821, 825. The amendment obviates the necessity for obtaining the consent of the county council where such consent would have been necessary, but gives the county council in the circumstances prescribed a right to be heard in objection.

The words "county road" are substituted for "main road" in consequence of L. G. A., 1929, s. 29 (1), Vol. V. and 10 Halsbury's Statutes 903.

(c) See as to consent of local authority, s. 14 of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, ante, p. 4652, and clause 10 (b) of the Schedule to the Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899, ante, p. 4954. The Minister in determining whether to give or withhold consent must have regard to the provisions of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, and the effect of any scheme or proposed scheme thereunder (s. 18 (2), Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 806). An undertaker may now proceed under this and the following section simultaneously without waiting to obtain the consent of the Minister first (s. 44 (1), Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 818).

Wayleaves.

22.—(1) A joint electricity authority or any authorised undertakers (a) may place any electric line below ground across any land, and above ground across any land other than land covered by buildings or used as a garden or pleasure ground in cases where the placing of such lines above ground is otherwise lawful, and where any line has been so placed across any land the joint electricity authority or undertakers may enter on the land for the purpose of repairing or altering the line (b) :

Provided that, before placing any such line across any land, the joint electricity authority or undertakers shall serve on the owner and occupier of the land notice of their intention, together with a description of the nature and position of the lines proposed to be so placed; and if, within twenty-one days after the service of the notice, the owner and occupier fail to give their consent or attach to their consent any terms or conditions or stipulations to which the joint electricity authority or the undertakers object, it shall not be lawful to place the line across that land without the consent of the Board of Trade (c); and the Board of Trade (c) may, if after giving all parties concerned an opportunity of being heard they think it just, give their consent (d) either unconditionally or subject to such terms, conditions, and stipulations as they think just; and in deciding whether to give or withhold their consent, or to impose any terms, conditions, or stipulations (including the carrying of any portion of the line underground) the Board shall, among other considerations, have regard to the effect, if any, on the amenities or value of the land of the placing of the line in the manner proposed.

(2) The power of placing lines across land conferred by this section shall include the power of placing a line across or along any railway, canal, inland navigation, dock or harbour, subject to the rights of the owners thereof and to the following conditions:—

(a) In respect of any electric lines placed or proposed to be placed across any line of railway from side to side thereof sections fifteen, sixteen, nineteen, twenty, and seventy-seven of the schedule to the Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899, shall, without prejudice to any protection given to the railway company by the Electric Lighting Acts and this Act, apply as though the said electric lines were placed or proposed to be placed in accordance with powers contained in a special order as defined in the Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899 (e):

Section 22.

(b) In respect of any electric lines placed or proposed to be placed across any canal or inland navigation from side to side thereof, whether by being carried above or below ground, sections fifteen, nineteen, and seventy-seven of the schedule to the Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899, shall, without prejudice to any protection given to the owners of the canal by the Electric Lighting Acts and this Act, apply as though the said electric lines were placed in accordance with powers contained in a special order, as defined in the Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899 (e):

(c) In respect of any electric lines placed or proposed to be placed over or upon or under any line of railway along its course, the provisions contained in the proviso to subsection (1) of this section shall not apply, and in lieu thereof the following conditions shall apply:—

(i) Failing agreement between the joint electricity authority or authorised undertakers proposing to place such electric lines and the railway company, the joint electricity authority or authorised undertakers may apply to the Board of Trade (f) who may decide either that the lines shall not be so placed or may refer the question to the Railway and Canal Commission, and that Commission may, after an inquiry, make an order for the placing of the electric lines, subject to such pecuniary terms as the Commission think just, or refusing to allow such lines to be placed, and any such inquiry may be held by any one or more of the members of the Commission or by an officer appointed by the Commission for the purpose, and Parts I. and IV. of the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1888 (g) (except the sections relating to appeals), shall apply as far as applicable to any such inquiry, and any officer appointed to hold the inquiry shall have power to administer an oath;

51 & 52 Vict.
c. 25.

(ii) The joint electricity authority or authorised undertakers shall, upon receiving notice in writing from the railway company, remove or alter within a reasonable time, and to the reasonable satisfaction of the railway company, any such electric lines which shall interfere with the existing or any proposed works of the railway company or the traffic thereon: Provided that, if within twenty-one days after receipt of such notice the joint electricity authority or authorised undertakers object to the removal or alteration required by such notice, a difference shall be deemed to have arisen, which shall be referred to and determined by the Railway and Canal Commission;

(iii) Save as herein provided, sections fifteen, sixteen, nineteen, twenty, and seventy-seven of the schedule to the Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899, shall, without prejudice to any protection given to the railway company by the Electric Lighting Acts and by this Act, apply as though the said electric lines were placed in accordance with powers contained in a special order as defined in the Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899 (e):

(d) In respect of any electric lines placed or proposed to be placed over or upon or under any canal or inland navigation along its course, the provisions contained in the proviso to subsection (1) of this section shall not apply, and in lieu thereof the following conditions shall apply:—

Section 22.

- (i) The provisions of paragraph (c) (i) and (c) (ii) of this subsection shall apply as in the case of railways and for that purpose the expression "railway company" shall mean the owners of the canal or inland navigation:
- (ii) Save as herein provided, sections fifteen, sixteen, nineteen, and seventy-seven of the schedule to the Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899, shall, without prejudice to any protection given to the owners of canals by the Electric Lighting Acts and this Act, apply as though the said electric lines were placed in accordance with powers contained in a special order as defined in the Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899 (h):
- (e) No electric line shall be placed in the tunnels of any tube railway within the Metropolitan Police area, except with the consent of the company owning such railway:
- (f) In respect of any electric lines placed or proposed to be placed across any lands or works forming part of any dock or harbour undertaking regulated by Act of Parliament, whether by being carried above ground or below ground, sections fifteen, sixteen, seventeen, nineteen, and seventy-seven of the schedule to the Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899, shall, without prejudice to any protection given to the authority owning or managing the undertaking by the Electric Lighting Acts and this Act, apply as though the said electric lines were placed in accordance with powers contained in a special order as defined in the Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899 (h):
- (g) The sections of the schedule to the Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899, by this subsection applied to canals, inland navigations, docks and harbours, and lands or works forming part thereof, shall apply thereto as if references in those sections to streets and persons liable to repair streets and to canals and canal companies included, respectively, canals, inland navigations, docks and harbours, and lands and works forming part of a dock or harbour, and the authority owning or managing the same.
- (3) For the purposes of this section, any company or body or person entitled by virtue of any Act of Parliament to receive tolls or dues in respect of the navigation on or use of any canal, inland navigation, dock or harbour shall be deemed to be owners of such canal, inland navigation, dock or harbour.
- (4) Section fourteen of the schedule to the Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899 (i), so far as it relates to the Postmaster-General, shall be incorporated with this section, and shall apply to the execution of any works which will involve the placing of lines across or along any land, whether below ground or above ground, under this section in like manner as it applies to the execution of works which will involve the placing of lines in, under, along, or across any street or public bridge.
- (5) Nothing in this section shall prejudice or affect the rights of the Postmaster-General in relation to railways, canals, docks, and harbours under the Telegraph Acts, 1863 to 1916, or any agreement or award made thereunder, or shall operate in such a manner as to interfere with or involve additional expense in the exercise of any such rights.
- (6) A notice under this section may be served on the owner or occupier of any land by delivering it to him, or by leaving it or forwarding it by post addressed to him at his usual or last known place of abode, and may be addressed by the description of the owner or occupier of the lands (naming them) without further name or description.

Note to
Section 22.

- (a) See definition in s. 36, post, p. 5263.
- (b) Sub-sect. (1) in the text is an enabling section, and does not affect the powers which the undertakers have under the Electric Lighting Act, 1882, ante, p. 4642 (incorporating ss. 6 and 7 of the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, ante, p. 4165), to do necessary works in a street without the consent of the owner of the subsoil (Porter v. Ipswich Corpn., [1922] 2 K. B. 145; 20 Digest 201, 20). See s. 11 of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, Vol. V., post, for a power to continue wayleaves, which could have been obtained under the provisions of the section in the text. See also s. 34, Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 813, which enables authorised undertakers to lop trees and hedges obstructing electric lines. Proceedings may now be taken concurrently under this and the preceding section (s. 44 (1), Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 818).
- (c) See note (a) to s. 18, ante, p. 5253.
- (d) In determining whether to give or withhold consent, the Minister must have regard to the provisions of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, and the effect of any scheme or proposed scheme thereunder (s. 18 (2) Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 806). He must also take into consideration recommendations of the Minister of Works and Planning as to ancient monuments which might be prejudicially affected by the overhead lines (s. 44 (3), Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 818). The "terms, conditions, and stipulations" subject to which the M. of T. may give this consent do not include a power to impose pecuniary compensation (West Midlands Joint Electricity Authority v. Pitt, Minister of Transport v. Same, [1932] 2 K. B. 1; 96 J. P. 159; Digest Supp.).
- Where supports have been erected under this section, the undertakers are to be deemed persons having an interest in the land on which the supports are erected for the purposes of s. 8, Mines (Working Facilities and Support) Act, 1923 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 187) (s. 44 (2), Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926).
- (e) See the definition in Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899, Sched., r. 1, ante, p. 4049.
- (f) See note (a) to s. 18, ante, p. 5253.
- (g) See this Act at p. 4705, ante.
- (h) See the definition in Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899, Sched., r. 1, ante, p. 4049.
- (i) See this section, ante, p. 4956.

23.—(1) A joint electricity authority and any local authority authorised by special Act or by order to supply electricity may provide, let for hire, and in respect thereof may connect, repair, maintain and remove (but shall not, unless expressly authorised to do so by the special Act or order, manufacture or sell) electric lines, fittings, apparatus and appliances for lighting, heating and motive power and for all other purposes for which electricity can or may be used, and with respect thereto may demand and take such remuneration or rents and charges, and make such terms and conditions, as may be agreed upon (a). Supply of apparatus.

(2) Any electric lines, fittings, apparatus, and appliances provided by or on behalf of any authorised distributors (b) on consumers' premises either before or after the passing of this Act, and any lands, buildings, or works held by them in connection therewith shall be deemed to form part of the undertaking authorised by the special Act or order relating to such authorised distributors.

(a) As to the construction of this sub-section, see Att.-Gen. v. Liverpool Corporation, [1922] 1 Ch. 211; 20 Digest 199, 11. See also s. 43, Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 819, which authorises joint electricity and local authorities to sell electrical fittings, appliances, etc. As to including in a fixed or service charge for electricity, rent or hire-purchase instalments on fittings, etc., leased or sold, see s. 42, Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 817.

(b) See definition in s. 36, post, p. 5263.

24. The Electricity Commissioners may require any authorised undertakers to amend or alter the type of current, frequency or pressure employed by them in their undertaking, and the execution of the works necessary to comply with such an order shall be a purpose for which a local authority may borrow under the Electric Lighting Acts: Provided that this section shall not apply to electricity generated at a railway generating station existing at the passing of this Act, and that, if on appeal by any authorised undertakers, the Board of Trade (a) are satisfied that compliance with the order Alteration of type of current, etc.

Section 24. would entail unreasonable expense, the Board of Trade (a) may direct that the order shall not apply to those undertakers, or apply only subject to such conditions as the Board of Trade (a) may prescribe (b).

(a) See note (a) to s. 18, ante, p. 5253.

(b) The powers of the Commissioners under this section will cease to be exercisable in any area in respect of which a scheme under the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, has come into force (s. 9 (6), Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 800).

Amendment of
s. 26 of Act of 1882.
45 & 46 Vict.
c. 56.

25. Section twenty-six of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882 (a) (which contains provisions for the protection of the Postmaster-General), shall have effect as if the words "or the laying of connections with mains where the direction of the electric lines so laid down crosses the line of the Postmaster-General at right angles at the point of shortest distance, and continues the same for a distance of six feet on each side of such point" were omitted, and as if for the words "not more than twenty-eight nor less than seven clear days" there were substituted the words "one month, or, in the case of the laying of service lines to consumers' premises, seven clear days."

(a) See this section at p. 4656, ante.

Substitution of special for provisional orders.

26. Anything which under the Electric Lighting Acts may be effected by a provisional order confirmed by Parliament may be effected by a special order (a) made by the Electricity Commissioners and confirmed by the Board of Trade (b) under and in accordance with the provisions of this Act, or by an order establishing a joint electricity authority under this Act (c), and references in those Acts and the Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899, to provisional orders shall be construed as including references to such special orders and orders as aforesaid, except that the paragraphs numbered (1) to (4) of section four of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882 (d), shall not apply to such special orders as aforesaid, and any provisional order made under the Electric Lighting Acts and confirmed by Parliament may be amended or revoked by any such special order or order as aforesaid:

Provided that a special order made in pursuance of the powers conferred by this section shall be laid before each House of Parliament, and shall not come into force unless and until approved, either with or without modifications, by a resolution passed by each such House.

(a) As to special orders, see s. 35 (1), (2), post, p. 5263.

(b) See note (a) to s. 18, ante, p. 5253.

(c) See hereon ss. 6 and 7, ante, pp. 5245—6.

(d) These relate to notice of application for a provisional order and its confirmation by Parliament. See the section set out, ante, p. 4645.

Power to require accounts, statistics, and returns.

27. It shall be the duty of joint electricity authorities and authorised undertakers to furnish to the Electricity Commissioners at such times and in such form and manner as the Commissioners may direct such accounts, statistics, and returns as they may require for the purposes of their powers and duties under this Act.

Financial Provisions (a).

Revenue and expenditure of joint electricity
authorities.

28.—(1) Every joint electricity authority shall establish a fund to which all receipts by the authority shall be carried, and out of which all payments by the authority shall be made.

(2) Every joint electricity authority shall annually, at such time as the Electricity Commissioners may fix, submit to the Electricity Commissioners such a statement of income and expenditure on revenue account as the Electricity Commissioners may require.

(3) The accounts of every joint electricity authority and their officers shall be audited by the auditors appointed by the Electricity Commissioners, and the audit shall be conducted in accordance with such regulations as may be prescribed by the Electricity Commissioners, and the regulations may apply with the necessary modifications the provisions relating to the accounts and audit of accounts of county councils and their officers. Section 28.

(4) Every joint electricity authority shall, annually at such date and in such form as the Electricity Commissioners may prescribe, make to the Electricity Commissioners a report of their proceedings during the preceding year.

(a) See the borrowing powers conferred upon joint electricity authorities by s. 1 and the following sections of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1922, Vol. V., post.

29.—(1) The Electricity Commissioners shall, at the beginning of each financial year, prepare an estimate of their receipts and expenditure during the year, and submit it for approval by the Board of Trade (a). Expenses of Electricity Commissioners.

(2) The Electricity Commissioners shall apportion the amount by which the estimated expenses so approved exceed the estimated receipts so approved amongst the several joint electricity authorities and authorised undertakers within the United Kingdom in proportion to the number of units of electricity generated by or on behalf of those authorities and undertakers respectively in the preceding year; and every such authority or undertaker shall, on demand from the Electricity Commissioners, pay to them as a contribution towards their expenses the sum so apportioned:—

Provided that, during the first two years after the passing of this Act, the amount of such excess shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament, but such payments shall be treated as advances and shall be repaid, with interest at such rate as the Treasury may fix, by the Commissioners by equal annual instalments in the next three succeeding years.

(3) All sums received by the Commissioners shall be paid into a separate fund (b), and out of that fund the salaries, remuneration, pensions and gratuities of the Commissioners, their secretary, officers, and servants and all expenses incurred by the Commissioners shall be paid, and the Treasury may determine that that fund shall be a public fund within the meaning of the Superannuation Act, 1892.

(a) See note (a) to s. 18, ante, p. 5253.

(b) Fees taken by a meter examiner under the Electricity Supply (Meters) Act, 1936, may be payable into this fund (see ibid., s. 1 (3), Vol. V. and 29 Halsbury's Statutes 133).

30. Subject to the consent of the Electricity Commissioners, joint electricity authorities or any authorised undertakers may, out of the revenue of their undertakings, pay reasonable subscriptions, whether annual or otherwise, to the funds of any association formed for the purpose of consultation as to their common interests and the discussion of matters relating to the supply of electricity, and to the funds of any recognised association conducted on a non-profit earning basis for developing the use of electricity, and may purchase reports of the proceedings of any conferences or meetings, and may pay the reasonable expenses of attendance of any members or officers of the joint electricity authority or undertaker at conferences or meetings of the said association or any of them. Subscription to associations.

General

31. Section four of the Conspiracy and Protection of Property Act, 1875 (a) (which relates to breaches of contract by persons employed in the supply of gas or water), shall extend to persons employed by a joint electricity authority or by any authorised undertakers in like manner as it applies to persons mentioned in that section, with the substitution of references to electricity for the references to gas or water. Application to electricity of 88 & 89 Vict. c. 86, s. 4.

(a) See this section at p. 4543, ante. See also the provisions of the Emergency Powers Act, 1920 (3 Halsbury's Statutes 501).

32.—(1) Where under this Act a joint electricity authority are authorised to enter into an agreement or arrangement with any authorised undertakers Provisions as to agreements and arrangements under this Act.

Section 32. or any other authority, company, or person for any purpose, it shall be lawful for those undertakers, authority, company, or person to enter into and carry into effect such an agreement or arrangement.

(2) Where a local authority, as authorised undertakers, enter into an agreement or arrangement with a joint electricity authority or any other authorised undertakers in pursuance of this Act, any expenses incurred by the local authority in carrying the agreement or arrangement into effect shall be deemed to be expenses incurred by them under or in pursuance of the Electric Lighting Acts and the provisions of section seven and section eight of the Electric Lighting Act, 1882 (a), shall apply accordingly and any moneys received by any such local authority under any such agreement or arrangement shall be deemed to be moneys received by the local authority in respect of their undertaking.

(3) Where by this Act an order may be made conferring on a joint electricity authority or authorised undertakers or other persons such powers as may be necessary for carrying into effect an agreement or arrangement entered into by them under this Act or for doing anything which under this Act they are authorised to do, and amongst the powers to be conferred by the order are included powers of breaking up streets, railways and tramways other than such as can be broken up under any order or special Act relating to the joint electricity authority or undertakers, the order, unless it is an order made under section seven of this Act, shall be a special order (b), and shall apply or incorporate the provisions of the Electric Lighting Acts and the Electric Lighting (Clauses) Act, 1899, relating to breaking up of streets, railways, and tramways.

(a) See these sections at ante, pp. 4647—8.

(b) The words in italics were repealed by s. 50 and Sched. VI., Electricity (Supply) Act, 1926, Vol. V. and 7 Halsbury's Statutes 821, 825. The effect of the amendment is to do away with the necessity for special orders authorising agreements involving the breaking up of streets, etc. The authorisation will in future be by departmental order.

Power to hold inquiries.

33.—(1) The Electricity Commissioners may hold, or cause to be held, such inquiries as they consider necessary or desirable for the purposes of this Act, and the Commissioners, and, if authorised by the Commissioners, the person appointed to hold any such inquiry may by order require any person, subject to the payment or tender of the reasonable expenses of his attendance, to attend as a witness and give evidence or to produce documents at the inquiry, and, if any person fails without reasonable excuse to comply with any of the provisions of any such order, he shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five pounds, and the Commissioners or person holding the inquiry shall have power to take evidence on oath and for that purpose to administer oaths.

(2) Notices of inquiries may be given and published in accordance with such general or special directions as the Commissioners may give.

Power to make rules.

34.—(1) The Board of Trade (a) and the Electricity Commissioners may respectively make rules (b) in relation to applications and other proceedings before them under this Act, and to the payments to be made in respect thereof, and to the publication of notices and advertisements and the manner in which and the time within which representations or objections with reference to any application or other proceeding are to be made, and to the holding of inquiries in such cases as they may think it advisable, and to the costs of such inquiries, and to any other matters arising in relation to their powers and duties under this Act.

(2) Any rules made in pursuance of this section shall be laid before Parliament as soon as may be after they are made, and shall have the same effect as if enacted in this Act (c).

Note to
Section 34.

(a) See note (a) to s. 18, ante, p. 5253.

(b) See the Rules at ante, pp. 2619 et seq.

(c) Where a statute authorised the making of rules and orders, and declared that they should have effect as if enacted in the Act, but should be laid before Parliament, and if either House so resolved within 60 days should be annulled, it was held that a court could not consider whether orders so made and not annulled were ultra vires (Patent Agents' Institute v. Lockwood, [1894] A. C. 347; 42 Digest 613, 139); and see Re London and General Bank (1894), 38 Sol. Jo. 682. The decision in the Patent Agents' Institute Case was distinguished in Waterford Corporation v. Murphy, [1920] 2 I. R. 165, which dealt with by-laws whose scope was limited, and it was held that the limit has been exceeded. See also per YOUNGER, L.J., in R. v. Electricity Commissioners, Ex parte London Electricity Joint Committee Co. (1920), Ltd., [1924] 1 K. B. 171, at p. 212; 88 J. P. 13, at p. 19; Digest Supp.; Minister of Health v. R., Ex parte Yaffe, [1931] A. C. 494; sub nom. R. v. Minister of Health, Ex parte Yaffe, 95 J. P. 125; Digest Supp.

Where an Act declared that an order made under it shall be final and have effect as if enacted in the Act, and that confirmation by the L. G. B. or M. of H. shall be conclusive evidence that the requirements of the Act have been complied with, and that the Order has been duly made and is within the powers of the Act, the courts cannot interfere if some requirement has not been complied with (Ex parte Ringer (1909), 73 J. P. 436; 25 T. L. R. 718; 42 Digest 2, 1; R. (Eustace) v. Local Government Board (1910), 44 I. L. T. 176, not following R. (Whyte) v. Local Government Board (1909), I. L. T. 216); and see R. v. L. G. B. for Ireland, [1917] 2 I. R. 454. Where a resolution of the local authority did not require the confirmation of the department and the Act provided that the effect should be as if the order had been confirmed so that the resolution was to have effect as if enacted in the Act and to be deemed to be duly made and within the powers of the Act, the court refused to give any decision on the law and relied on the facts of the case (Woodford Land and Building Co., Ltd. v. Woodford U. D. C. (1921), 19 L. G. R. 559).

35.—(1) A special order made under this Act by the Electricity Commissioners shall not have any effect unless and until confirmed by the Board of Trade (a). Procedure for making special orders.

(2) Sections eighty and eighty-one of the Factory and Workshop Act, 1901, 1 Edw. 7, c. 22 relating to the making of regulations under that Act, as set out and adapted in the Schedule to this Act, shall apply to the confirmation of special orders made under this Act (b).

(3) Before any special order, other than a special order which is not valid unless approved by a resolution passed by each House of Parliament, comes into force it shall be laid before each House of Parliament for a period not less than thirty days during which that House is sitting, and, if either of those Houses before the expiration of those thirty days presents an Address to His Majesty against the order or any part thereof, no further proceedings shall be taken thereon without prejudice to the making of any new order.

(4) A special order so made and confirmed as aforesaid shall have effect as if enacted in this Act (c).

(a) See note (a) to s. 18, ante, p. 5253.

(b) Where, however, the making of the special order is unopposed, see now Public Works Facilities Act, 1930, s. 5, Vol. V. and 23 Halsbury's Statutes 775.

(c) See note (c) to s. 34, supra.

36. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires—

The expression "Electric Lighting Acts" means the Electric Lighting Acts, 1882 to 1909 (a);

The expression "authorised undertakers" includes authorised distributors and power companies:

The expression "authorised distributors" means any local authority, company or person, authorised to supply electricity within any area of supply, but does not include a power company except in relation to any supply given by the company under an order made under the Electric Lighting Acts:

The expression "power company" means any company or person (other than a railway company being the owners or lessees of a railway generating station) authorised by special Act to supply electricity to authorised distributors and lighting authorities or to other persons for power purposes, whether with or without a subsidiary power to supply electricity for lighting purposes :

The expression "lighting authority" means any authority, company or person, authorised by any public general or special Act, to undertake or contract for the lighting of streets, bridges or public places :

The expression "generating station" means any station for generating electricity, including any buildings and plant used for the purpose, and the site thereof, and a site intended to be used for a generating station, but does not include any station for transforming, converting, or distributing electricity :

The expression "railway generating station" means a station for generating electricity for use solely or mainly by a railway company for the purposes of their undertaking :

The expression "private generating station" means a generating station for the generation of electricity for use solely or mainly on the owner's or joint owners' premises or for the purposes of his or their undertaking or undertakings, or, where the owner is a subsidiary company, solely or mainly on the premises or for the purposes of the undertaking of the principal company, in any case where the undertaking of the owner or the principal company is not an undertaking belonging to authorised undertakers or to a railway, tramway, canal, inland navigation, harbour or other undertaking providing facilities for or incidental to the transport of goods or passengers :

The expression "subsidiary company" means a company under the control of some other company or companies, whether by reason of the majority of the voting power being vested in the other company or companies, or their nominees or shareholders, or otherwise, and such other company, or companies, are in relation to the subsidiary company, referred to as the principal company :

The expression "main transmission lines" means all extra high-pressure cables and overhead lines (not being an essential part of an authorised undertaker's distribution system or the distribution system of a railway company or the owners of a dock undertaking) transmitting electricity from a generating station to any other generating station, or to a sub-station, together with any step-up and step-down transformers and switch-gear necessary to, and used for, the control of such cables or overhead lines, and the buildings or such part thereof as may be required to accommodate such transformers and switch-gear :

The expressions "railway company" and "railway" have the same meaning as in the Regulation of Railways Act, 1873 :

The expression "sinking fund charges" includes any charges for the repayment of loans whether by means of a sinking fund or otherwise.

Other expressions have the same meaning as in the Electric Lighting Act, 1909.

References to orders under the Electric Lighting Acts shall include references to deeds of transfer executed in pursuance of powers conferred by those orders.

38(a). . . .

(a) Section 38 relates to Ireland.

39.—(1) All the powers and duties of the Board of Trade under this Act or the Electric Lighting Acts, or the orders and regulations made thereunder, or any local Act relating to the supply of electricity, or any enactment relating to matters incidental to such supply shall, as from such date as His Majesty in Council may fix, be transferred to the Minister of Transport, and accordingly references to the Board of Trade in any such Acts, orders, regulations, or enactments shall be construed as references to the Minister of Transport : Section 39.

Transfer of powers of Board of Trade to Minister of Transport.

Provided that the power of appointing Electricity Commissioners under this Act shall be exercised by the Minister of Transport with the concurrence of the Board of Trade (a).

(2) The Electricity Commissioners shall be solely responsible to the Minister of Transport and, under his direction, shall carry into effect the powers and duties conferred upon them by this Act, and the Minister of Transport shall refer to the Electricity Commissioners for their advice all matters connected with the exercise and performance of the powers and duties transferred to him under this section, except the appointment of the Commissioners and except where any act of, or order by, the Commissioners is by this Act expressly made subject to the approval of or an appeal to the Minister.

(a) The transfer of the powers of the Board of Trade was effected on January 28rd, 1920, by the Ministry of Transport (Electricity Supply) Order, 1920.

40.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1919, and the Electric Lighting Acts, 1882 to 1909, and this Act may be cited together as the Electricity (Supply) Acts, 1882 to 1919. Short title and construction.

(2) This Act shall be construed as one with the Electric Lighting Acts (a).

(a) As to the effect of this provision, see the note under s. 14 of the Midwives Act, 1926, ante, p. 1555.

SCHEDULE.

Section 35.

PROVISIONS OF THE FACTORY AND WORKSHOP ACT, 1901, APPLIED TO SPECIAL ORDERS MADE UNDER THIS ACT.

80.—(1) Before the Board of Trade (a) confirm any special order under this Act, they shall publish, in such manner as they may think best adapted for informing persons affected, notice of the proposal to confirm the order, and of the place where copies of the order may be obtained, and of the time (which shall be not less than twenty-one days) within which any objection made with respect to the order by or on behalf of persons affected must be sent to the Board of Trade.

(2) Every objection must be in writing and state—

- (a) the order or portions of order objected to;
- (b) the specific grounds of objection; and
- (c) the omissions, additions, or modifications asked for.

(3) The Board of Trade (a) shall consider any objection made by or on behalf of any persons appearing to them to be affected which is sent to them within the required time, and they may, if they think fit, amend the order, and shall then cause the amended order to be dealt with in like manner as an original order.

(4) Where the Board of Trade (a) do not amend or withdraw any order to which any objection has been made, then (unless the objection either is withdrawn or appears to them to be frivolous) they shall, before confirming the order, direct an inquiry to be held in the manner hereinafter provided, and may, after considering the report of the person who held the inquiry, confirm the order either without modification or subject to such modification as they think fit, or may refuse to confirm the order.

81.—(1) The Board of Trade (a) may appoint a competent and impartial person to hold an inquiry with regard to any order, and to report to them thereon.

(2) The inquiry shall be held in public, and any objector and any other person who, in the opinion of the person holding the inquiry, is affected by the draft order, may appear at the inquiry either in person or by counsel, solicitor, or agent.

Schedule.

(3) The witnesses on the inquiry may, if the person holding it thinks fit, be examined on oath.

(4) Subject as aforesaid, the inquiry and all proceedings preliminary and incidental thereto shall be conducted in accordance with rules made by the Board of Trade ⁽¹⁾.

(5) The fee to be paid to the person holding the inquiry shall be such as the Board of Trade ^(a) may direct.

(a) See note (a) to s. 18, ante, p. 5253.
